CROWDED.—The crowded state of our columns makes localizing almost out of the question to-day.

WITHIN a day or two, two of our oldest residents have passed from amongst us—Peter Pancoke, aged 82 years, and Mrs. Mary Porter, widow of the late John Porter, aged 80 years. Both these persons have resided at Harrisburg for about 70 years, and as the town was surveyed for the sale of lots in November, 1786, it follows that the deceased have witnessed nearly its whole growth, from its inception as Harris Ferry, then Harrisburg, then Lewisburg, (a name it took from the King of France, the county being called Dauphin, the title of his her presumptive), then Harrisburg again, to its present importance as the city of Harrisburg, with a population exceeding 15,000. Where now are massive buildings, at this early day were gullies and wooded knolls; where now are imposing churches, then were wild swamps; turnpikes, canals and railroads now pass the rugged hills or the lowly meadow of that day. Both the deceased have made family connections throughout this, and all collateral offshoots throughout this, and most of the States west of us. How few who, by their counsel and influence, who by their enterprise or judgment, have aided to bring this town to its present wealth and standing! The deceased, in the sobriety of their lives, the purity of their conduct, simplicity and honesty of their domestic affairs, were examples of the best Pennsylvania citizens of the olden time.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.—Thursday.—Com. vs. Samuel Freeborn, selling liquor on Sunday, on oath of Daniel Carbanah. True bill, and case continued until next Court.

Com. vs. Josiah Hicks, larceny, on oath of Jacob Stroth. After a due trial the defendant was acquitted.

Com. vs. Samuel Miller, assault and battery, on oath of Oliver Conrad. The jury acquitted the defendant, and ordered the prosecutor to pay the costs.

Com. vs. William Griffe, malicious mischief. Acquitted, and Ann M'Neal, the prosecutrix, ordered to pay the costs.

Com. vs. Joseph Scott and Robert Parker, assault and battery, on oath of Thomas Henry. The jury acquitted Scott, but convicted Parker.

Same vs. same, assault and battery, on oath of John A. Brooks. Verdict guilty.

Com. vs. John A. Hines, assault and battery, on oath of Harriet Haines. Plead guilty.

Com. vs. John Brooks, selling liquor to a minor, on oath of Malcolm M'Collum. Guilty.

Com. vs. William Small, assault and battery, on oath of Christian Snyder. Verdict guilty.

Com. vs. Joseph Scott, assault and battery, on oath of Caroline Boon. Verdict guilty.

Com. vs. Joseph C. Seltzer, assault and battery on oath of Walter S. Graham. The jury found a verdict of guilty as to assault, but not guilty as to battery.

The Grand Jury ignored a large number of bills of a petty character.

In the following cases the Grand Jury found true bills, but owing to the absence of witnesses, and other causes, they were continued until the next term. Com. vs. George Weaver, fornication and bastardy. Com. vs. Samuel Knox and Levi G. Huber, carrying a gambling house. Com. vs. William Carr, fornication and bastardy. Com. vs. Daniel Miller, fornication and bastardy. Com. vs. George B. Cole, false pretence. Com. vs. Isiah Baptist, fornication and bastardy. Com. vs. Benjamin F. Umberger, fornication and bastardy. Com. vs. Panny Gibb, Eliza Foster, Elizabeth Jones, Catherine Allen and Mary Main, for keeping bawdy houses. Com. vs. William Cooper, Philo C. Sedgwick and others, keeping a gambling house. Com. vs. John Preston, assault and battery.

A GRAND LIVERY AT THE MAYOR'S OFFICE.—Happening in at the Mayor's office yesterday morning about ten o'clock, we had the felicity of seeing a parade of the forces accommodated at the lock-up during the night previous.

Patrol No. 1 was brought in.

Pat Fortine was the first one called. The man with the misnomer had been working in Pottsville, wandered away, and was going back. Permitted to depart.

Geo. Hughes, a stage-driver, whose occupation is evidently gone, was in search of work. Ordered to ramose.

Obed Peters, a hard looking boy from Maria Forges, Blair county, was found lying about the furnace house. Arrangements made by the Mayor to send him home.

Bill Smith was hard up, and from no place in particular. Told to go.

Frans Hietel, ex lager beer brewer, has been in the country four months, and notwithstanding the great amount of teutonic beverage annually consumed in this country, has been unable to secure a job. He was permitted to resume his search.

John M'Ginley, a red-headed furnace loofer, was let off with the assurance that he would receive thirty days if he came up for a second hearing.

John Combs, from Pottsville, on his way home, was permitted to pursue his journey.

Thomas Jefferson was also on his way to Pottsville, while he thought he was quietly sleeping in his grave at Monticello. Pottsville must be a great place for lofers, as nearly all lofers seem to come from that place. The namesake of the great statesman was ordered to travel.

The second installment was now brought in.

It consisted of

Charles H. Stewart and Robert Taylor, two Irish lads who had enlisted to serve their adopted country, but were rejected by the surgeon, at Carlisle, and were on their way back to New York. Let off.

Lorenso Rite, a tauton, on his way to Reading, invited to leave by first train.

Chas. Young, a Boston loofer with a superabundant moustache, on his way to Pottsville, in search of work. Permitted to pursue his journey.

John Handel, of Massachusetts, a carrier by trade, in search of employment. Ordered to migrate.

TO THE PRESIDENT AND MEMBERS OF THE CITIZEN FIRE COMPANY.—Gentlemen:—Deeming it fitting and right that we should, in the spirit of wisdom, endeavor to improve the sad dispensation of Providence by which, in the death of John W. Boyer, your company has lost a worthy associate, and our Church an upright member, I respectfully invite you to attend services at the Fourth Street Bethel on next Sabbath evening, at which time a discourse appropriate to the occasion will be delivered.

Yours truly,
JAMES GOLDEN.

By the kindness of the Rev. Mr. Collier, and at his request, the members of the Citizen Fire Company will meet at the Hall on Sunday evening, the 27th day of January, at 6 o'clock, to proceed in a body to the Fourth Street Bethel Church. We most cordially invite the members of the different fire companies of this city to meet with us on the above occasion.

HARRISBURG, January 24, 1860.

A SNOW STORM.—An "old fashioned" snow storm set in this morning. The flakes descended right merrily, and the boys were as happy as boys generally are under such circumstances. Their seniors moved more sedately through the falling crystals, and they entrenched themselves within erect coat collars and warm mufflers. Speaking of coats—the most comfortable people we saw abroad in the storm, were the elegant and seasonable over-garments made at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut street, above Sixth, Philadelphia.
