A LAW POINT. -- We understand that the Court has made a decision that a landlord who receives a license for the sale of liquor cannot extend the provisions of that license to another party doing business in his basement, either by sub-letting the entire business, or permitting the keeper of the restaurant to sell on commission. In pursuance of this decision Constable Lewis and Wickert are shout to return a number of the subterranean retorts, when the question will be more fully tested.

ALBXANDER L. HICKEY, a printer, was buried with Masonic honors on Friday afternoon, at the M. E. Cemetery, in Dover, Delaware. Mr. Hickey was a native of that place, but served his apprenticeship in the Pennsylvanian office, Philadelphia in which city he had many friends. He is also well known in Washington, D. C., and in this city, by the typographical craft. He was an estimable young man, and his death will be much regretted by a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

Szow Storm .- On Saturday afternoon we had an old-farbioned snow storm-decidedly the best of the sesson-and the sleighing for the time being is most glorious. How long it will last, however. is another question, and those who wish to enjoy it had better pitch in while the opportunity offers. The sun was warm yesterday—quite warm enough te melt the snow on the sunny side-and a few days' repetition of old Sol's smiles would put a veto on sleigh riding, perhaps for the winter.

Rook On.-We noticed yesterday at the store of H. Gilbert, a jar of crude rock oil, or petroleum. in the natural state in which it is taken from the earth. It is of a greenish red muddy tint, and emits a smell not much unlike naptha. As a contrast, Mr. Gilbert has also a bottle of the oil in a refined state. For lubicating purposes, the rock oil is driving every other oleaginous substance out of use. We are told that on the Western Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad alone a saving of $1,000 per month is effected by its use.

APPOINTMENTS BY THE GOVERNOR .- Charles II. Israell, of Allegheny, Notacy at Pittsburg. Joseph S. Elliott, of Schuylkill, Notary at Pottsville.

Henry Stump, Flour Inspector, Philadelphia. Clerks in State Department .- William W. Hays, of Dauphio, Chief; Benjamin F. Chandler, of Dauphin, Military Clerk; Joseph S. Bates, of Wayne. John L. Hammer, of Northumberland, William H. Brown, of Crawford, Transcribing Clerks. Samuel D. Miles, of Centre, Messenger in Exe-entive office. P. Henry Shough, of Franklin, Messenger in State Department.

CURE FOR FROSTED FRET .- It is said that frozen feet can be speedily and certainly cured by being bathed and well rubbed, with kerosene or coal oil, for a few times at night before retiring to bed. Several persons have already tried it, all of whom unite in pronouncing it an effectual cure, which, if they are correct, is an easy and cheap mode of getting rid of a very sore and troublesome affliction. Those who have tried it inform us that the feet should be well warmed by a hot stove during and after the application of the oil, and it will certainly effect a speedy cure. Persons suffering from the pain of frosted feet will no doubt do well in giving it a trial, for it is surely a very cheap ointment as one which is very easily applied.

BEFORE THE MAYOR.-Lorenzo Blue, a Teuton, got balmy on lager on Friday, and found himself in hos for the second time since Monday. On a promise not to get blue again, and leave the city, he was permitted to travel. Edward Welsh and Willian Sweeney, travelers, look lodgings for the night and were permitted to wander off on their winding way.

Yesterday morning three customers turned up. George Lindsay had been traveling about the city sampling the quality of strychnine until overtome, when he came to an anchor in a shoemaker shop, from which place it required an officer to eject him. He had a drover's pass over the Pennlylvania railroad, with which he was permitted to depart.

John Haley, a revolving Irish vagrant, was let

SUDDEN WHITENING OF THE HAIR .- A correspon dent of the Medical Times, having asked for authentic instances of the hair becoming gray within one night, Dr. D. Parry, Staff Surgeon at Aldershott, writes the following very remarkable account of a case which he says he made memoranda shortly after the occurrence :

On Friday, February 19, 1859, the column under Gen. Franks, in the south of Oude, was engaged with a rebel force at the village of Chamba, and leveral priseners were taken; one of them, a Sepoy of the Bengal Army, was brought before the sutherities for examination, and I, being present, had an opportunity of watching from the commencement the fact I am about to record. Divested of his uniform, and stripped completely naked, he was surrounded by the soldiers, and then first ap-parently became alive to the danger of his posi-tion; be trembled violently, intense horror and ir were depicted on his countenance, and although he answered the questions address d to him, he seemed almost stupefied with fear; while actually under observation, within the space of half an hour, his hair became gray, on every portion of his head, it having been when first seen by us, the glossy jet black of the Bengalee, aged about fifry-four. The attention of the bystanders was first hitranted he should be seen to be the bystanders was first Miracted by the Sergeant, whose prisoner he was. ally, but decidedly, the change went on, and a READING RAILROAD.—From the report to the stockholders of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, we extract the following which may be of interest to our readers.

Number of passengers carried, 1860, 129,978, against 126,076 in 1859. The revenue from this source was $333,359. There was 499.727 tons of merchandise carried, for which $599,620 was received. 1,878,156 tons of coal were carried, the tolls, &c. on which amounted to $2,328,158, making the gross receipt $3,312,546. The gross expenditures amounted to $1,686.582; leaving a net profit of

$1,625,984, which is an increase over last year of

$380,169. The report says: "The net income for the past year, after paying all charges applicable to the future, including interest, was $894,863.67, which was $384,368.75 more than in 1859. If it should be again increased to the same extent in the coming year, the fund would be amply sufficient to these arrearages with the accruing similar charges, and after November, 1861, the surplus profits could be divided in cash. as the managers are not aware of any necessity for material expenditures in the future for construction or capital account. If, however, the income should only be the same as last year, about $200,000 of the profits of 1862 would be required

o liquidate these liabilities before dividends can be resumed." After the reading of the report a series of resolutions were passed. They extend full powers to the Directors to carry on their suggestions, and return thanks to the officers and managers "for the very efficient and satisfactory manner in which the affairs of the road have been conducted during the past year." Asa Whitney was chosen President J. Dutton Steele, Vice President; W. H. Mc-Illhenny, Secretary; and Samuel Bradford, Trea-

MAIL ROBBERY .- Some ten days ago the mailpouch from Tyrone to Philadelphia, by the night train, was stolen from the car at the depot, and subsequently found in a freight car near Porter's Furnace, cut open. The letters had all been taken out and opened, but it has not been ascertained that any of them contained anything of value.-The theft was an exceedingly adroit one, perpetrated almost immediately under the eyes of the watchman, and the usual employees who work the train, and all efforts to ferret out the operators proved unavailing, until at last it is supposed that clue has been obtained to the thieves.

On Friday evening Radabaugh arrested one John Sexton, for whom a warrant was issued some time ago, charged with stealing eggs in market. and Saturday morning he arrested a lad named Alexander Curdy, alias Patton, on a charge of stealing a coat from the store of Schweitzer & Co.. in Market Square. From certain information made by Sexton, it is supposed that himself and Curdy, and probably one or more of the furnace loafers were engaged in this robbery. Curdy admitted to Radabaugh that he stole the coat, but denied most emphatically that he had anything to do with the mail robbery. They will be kept in prison to answer the present charge against them. They are hard stock, and have been engaged in peddling shoe-strings and pilfering promiseuously for several years in this city, in Lancaster and through the country. The community will be well' rid of them, if they are convicted and sent to prison for a good long term, as it would be if a large number of others now graduating in the same school of crime were similarly disposed of.

Mode of Appointing Postmasters .- Some information is given in Holbrook's United States Mail as to the mode of acting upon applications for appointments as postmasters. According to general practice, they are placed on file in the corresponding bureau of the New York, New England and other divisions embracing the office applied for. The clerk, to whom they are referredat once prepares a "brief," placing it upon the outside of the papers, and setting forth the material points in the case, with a list of the names of the principal petitioners or remonstrants, so that when it is called up for examination or final action the Postmaster General and his First Assistant can, without wandering through the superfluous and collateral matters which a majority of these applications contain, get at the gist of the case at once. It not unfrequently happens that when the influences, pro and con, for and against leading candidates, are so nearly balanced, the applicants are all discarded, and the appointment given to some individual who had not been considered as a candidate at all. The course stated above applies more particularly to appointments which yield less to the incumbent than $1,000 per annum. All paying over that are referred to the President. Of this kind there are only 433 out of 28,598 post offices, and they require confirmation by the Senate.

MANAGEMENT OF A Householf.-No young woman ought to feel herself qualified to become a wife until she is sure she understands how to do the most that can be done with her husband's money. The management of a household is not a thing to be properly and safely entrusted to hireling hands. A servant is a broken reed for the head of a family to lean upon. There are a thousand little ways in which money must be expended, in which real shrewdness and enterprise are requisite in order to use it to the best advantage; and there are a thousand other ways of saving money, known only to those who have studied aright the art of economy. The Turkish proverb has it that 'a prudent woman is a mine of jewels," and, like many other Oriental sayings, this is beautiful for the truth it embodies. A wasteful housekeeper not only robs those for whom she undertakes to manage, of the comforts it is her duty to provide for them, but keeps her husband head over ears in debt, and makes the domestic life of a poer man a continual series of experiments in shinning it from one day to the next; and in keeping the stomach full, though the purse be empty.

TRUE AND FALSE GOOD BREEDING .- It is truly said that a little gentility is a dangerous thing. There are no such sticklers for etiquette as the would-be fashionable, who have heard of good society, but have never seen it. Having no inpate good-breeding, they hedge in their lives with conventionalities and rules borrowed from the "Handbook of Politeness." It is unsafe to do an original and spontaneous act in their presence, or let full a remark that's not correctly common-place, if you would beware of offending their fastidiousness. On the other hand, there's no such freedom anywhere as in really good society. Truly well-bred persons never act by rule, or fear giving offence by the freedom of their conduct and conversation. It is the high tone of their behavior that preserves them from vulgarity, not the observance of etiquette. Innate politeness and nobility of charater show themselves in every gesture, in every atcent of the voice and glance of the eye; humble dress and occupation cannot conceal them; neither can vulgarity put on those high qualities, though it be clad in purple and gold, and housed in a palace.

IMPEDIMENTS TO NAVIGATION .- New Orleans and Pensacola are following the lead of Charleston. and placing all sorts of obstacles in the way of the navigation of their barbors. Philadelphia is not governed by any such policy. The navigation of the Deliware river is free from artificial obstru . tions, and it will be kept so. All the world "and the rest of mankind" are welcome to approach our exclaiming, "He is turning gray," and I, with g ores, and to proceed to the Brown Stone Clothseveral other persons, watched its progress. Gradu- ing Hall, Nos. 603 and 605 Chesnut street, Phila uniform grayish color was completed within the delphia, and procure themselves elegant and sea-period above named. sonable garments there.

THE INSTITUTION OF THE BLIND .- We have received the twenty-eighth annual report of the managers of the Pennsylvania Institution for the instruction of the blind, located at Philadelphia, presented at the annual meeting in December last, from which we glean the following items of inte-

The number of pupils in the institution on the 1st of December, 1860, was 165. On the 1st of January, 1860, there were 153; 27 were received during the year, 14 were discharged, and 1 died. Of those remaining, 138 are from Pennsylvania, 9 from New Jersey, 4 from Delaware, and 4 from other States. Twenty-four of these contributes chiefly or in part to their own support as assistant teachers, or by their industry, while eight are pay pupils, in whole or in part.

Eight hours a day are devoted to school studies, music and work, and four evenings a week to hearing reading and lectures. The branches taught are reading, writing, pin-type printing, orthography, etymology, grammar, geography, arithmetic, algebra, geometry, physiology, natural history and philosophy, history, moral science, "useful knowledge," physical geography, elements of geology and general literature. One hour daily is devoted to gymnastic exercise. They have an orchestra of thirty instruments, to whose instruction four hours a week are devoted. The institution is furnished with one large church organ, one small organ and fourteen pianos (one grand.) ufactured work made during the year is valued at $12 717, and consisted of 34,680 brushes and 27,410 brooms. Broom-making is a favorite branch of industry with the blind, as they can easily acquire the whole art, and pursue it, with a small capital, wherever broom corn is produced. A "Dictionary of the English Language," in three large volumes, printed on raised type, has just been completed at the institution; it will be of great value to blind pupils. The "Home," for ndustrious graduates, containing sixteen members, four males and twelve females, is in successful operation. The health of all the inmates has been excellent during the year.

There is no inmate of the institution from this

A writer in the Lutheran Observer states that in the year 1750 the proportion of the populatian to the members of the evangelical churches was thirteen to one. In 1775, before the commencement of the Revolutionary war, when the entire population was about 3,000,000, one to sixteen was connected with the churches. From the commencement of the war till 1792, the whole country was convulsed, and the number of professors at the latter period to the entire population was one to eighteen. In 1800 the population was 5,505,940, and by reason of the growth of French infidelity and Unitarianism the same proportion was preserved. About the year 1809 extensive and powerful revivals took place, and multitudes were gathered into the church. This was soon felt, and in 1825, the population being 10,500,000, one out of fourteen was a professor of religion. In 1855, the population being then about twenty-six millions and a half, we have one professor of religion to six and three-eights. Within the last five years the accessions have been so great that the church members now number one to five and a half of the entire population.

PRETTY WOMEN.-A pretty woman is like the "institutions" of the country—an angel in dry goods and glory. She makes sunshine, blue sky and happiness wherever she goes. Her rath is one of delicious roses, perfumes and beauty. She is a poem written in rare curls and choice calico and good principles. Her words float around the ear like music, birds of Paradise, or the chime of Sabbath bells. Without her, society would lose its truest attractions; the church its firmest reliance, and young men the very best of comforts and company. Her influence and generosity restrain the vicious, strengthen the weak, raise the lowly, flannel shirt the heathen, and strengthen the faint heart. Wherever you find the virtuous woman, you also find fireside boquets, clean clothes, order, good living, gentle hearts, music, right and model institutions generally. She is the flower of hu mility, the very Veous in divinity, and her inspiration is the very breath of heaven.
