MORE MILITARY.—The Lancaster Fencibles have completed their arrangements to visit this place, accompanied by their excellent band, on the 22d.

WORKINGMEN.—The workingmen of this city are to meet at the hall of the Hope engine house this evening, at 7 o'clock, to appoint delegates to the Workingmen's National Convention, which is to assemble in Philadelphia on Monday next.

CITY DELEGATES.—The following delegates were elected on Saturday evening to represent the city in the Democratic County Convention, which assembles to-day: First ward, Alexander, Bergstresser, —— Hocker; Second ward, A. W. Watson, J. H. Ziegler; Third ward, J. J. Osler, M. J. Kreiter; Fourth ward, J. M. Bay, L. Barnhart; Fifth ward, J. B. Hutchinson, W. F. Osler; Sixth ward, John Stemler, J. Hummelbach.

The Convention will meet in the court room, at Brant's Hall, at half past two o'clock this afternoon.

WASHINGTON HOSE COMPANY.—The anniversary of the Washington hose company will be celebrated by a supper at the hose house, in Chesnut street, on the evening of the 22d. The music will be furnished by the Van Tries cornet band. We have a well-grounded suspicion that this little reunion will be one of the most delightful fetes of the season. We shall avail ourself of an invitation extended to us to be present, if possible.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION.—On Friday evening a darkey named Richard Carter was arrested by officers Radabaugh and Wickert, on suspicion of having some connexion with the robbery of Bellman's shoe store last spring. Carter gave the officers leg bail when near the Mayor's office, and, although fleet of foot, they succeeded in re-capturing him. He was committed for trial, and it is intimated that facts are against him.

PNEUMATIC mail dispatches are under experiment both in London and Paris. In tubes from which the air is exhausted by a small steam engine, moveable pistons fitting tightly are made to carry letters and papers from the general post office to the various stations, where they are taken out and delivered. Carriers are thus spared miles of walking. The rate of dispatch will be forty miles an hour.

A HEAVY DECLINE.—There has been a heavy decline in the price of horse-flesh in Pottsville.—The Record says:

The hard times affect horse-flesh, as well as anything else. Lately a horse was sold for $2.50, which thirty years ago was sold for $9.

How are you on dogs? They were held at former quotations, in this city, up till last week, when there was a slight decline, in consequence of some being bitten by dogs supposed to be rabid.—The stock on hand is unlimited.

THE CELEBRATION.—The progress of arrangements making all over the country to visit this place on the 22d, justifies the belief that there will, in all probability, be a hundred thousand people here. The liberal provision made by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to carry all uniformed soldier companies and bands of music free of charge, will meet a response from the base of the Alleghany Mountains to the Delaware.

We received the following letter on Saturday:

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa., Feb. 15, 1861.

FRIEND JONES: The "Van Tries Cornet Band" will be with you on the evening of the 21st, at 5.10 p. m. They go as the guests of the Washington Hose Company. The Fencibles and Rifles from here, also the Knight Templars and Logan Rifle Band, from Altoona, will visit Harrisburg on the 22d.

At the time the above was penned it was not known to a certainty that soldiers would be carried free. We can safely set down Blair county for six or seven companies.

We met Gen. Lane on Saturday, who gave it as his opinion that all the companies of Huntingdon county will be here, and in the evening we learned that about six companies from Perry county are making arrangements to attend. These, with probably two companies from Mifflin, and two from Juniata, will swell the number from the Juniata region alone to upwards of twenty companies. The Philadelphia soldiers will take action in the matter early this week, and it is confidently expected that several regiments will come from that city alone. So far, it is certain that some 5,000 troops will be here. On the whole, we shall have a gala day, unequalled by any public event in this city, or even the State.

THE UTILITY OF REFUSE THINGS.—The prussiate of potash is made in large quantities in Cincinnati, from the hoofs, horns, and other refuse of slaughtered grunters.

Cow-hair, taken from the hides in tanneries, is employed in making plastering mortar, to give it a fibrous quality.

Saw-dust is sold for sprinkling the floors of markets. It is also used for packing ice for shipping.

The rags of old, worn-out shirting, calico dresses, and the waste of cotton factories, are employed to make the paper upon which these lines are printed.

Old ropes are converted into fine note paper, and the waste paper itself, which is picked up in the gutters, is again re-converted into broad, white sheets, and thus does duty in revolving stages.

The parings of skins and hides, and the ears of cows, calves and sheep, are carefully collected and converted into glue.

The finer qualities of gelatine are made from ivory raspings, the bones and tendons of animals.

Bones converted into charcoal by roasting in retorts are afterwards employed for purifying the white sugar with which we sweeten our coffee, &c.

The ammonia obtained from the distillation of coal in making gas, is employed for saturating orchil and cudbear, in making the beautiful lilac colors that are dyed on silk and the fine woolen goods.

Carbonic acid, obtained in the distillation of coal tar, is employed with other acids to produce beautiful yellow colors on silk and wool.

The shavings of cedar wood, used in making pencils, are distilled to obtain the otto of cedar wood.

Brass fillings and old brass kettles are re-melted and employed to make the brass work of printing presses and pumps.

Old copper scraps are used in the construction of splendid bronze chandeliers, for illuminating our churches and the mansions of the wealthy.

Old horse-shoe nails are employed to make the famous steel and twist barrels of fowling-pieces.

IMPROVEMENTS IN THE COMPASS.—Since screw steamers have come into general use, the compass by which the ship is guided is subject to great deviations, on account of the shaking caused by the screw. Frequent lurches are the consequence, and the helmsman finds the greatest difficulty in steering the ship, a circumstance which occasions delay, late arrivals, and waste of fuel. To remedy this evil, several contrivances have been attempted, but only one has succeeded, viz: the apparatus called the liquid compass, which consists of two hemispherical compass boxes—an inner and an outer one—the former moving freely within the other, so that there is a hemispherical space between them. This space is closed by an elastic diaphragm, which does not prevent the inner compass-box from rising and sinking in the other. The disphragm is pierced with a hole, through which a liquid is introduced into the vacant space, so that the inner compass-box floats in the liquid contained by the outer one. The liquids used are generally sea-water, alcoholized water, and liquid tar, all which present different inconveniences, besides being liable to congeal in cold regions, and to evaporate in warm latitudes. Alcoholized water, morever, has not sufficient density to give the inner compass-box sufficient stability; sea-water attacks the copper of which the box is made; and as to liquid tar, although it answers the purpose, it is dirty to handle, and not sufficiently transparent. As a substitute for these, M. A. Santi, in a paper addressed to the academy of sciences, recommends glycerine, which congeals only at 35 deg. below freezing point, is not volatile, and quite dense enough to prevent the oscillations of the ship from influencing the needle. Glycerine offers another advantage. Copper compass-boxes are not convenient for night observations, on account of their want of transparency; M. Santi makes his boxes of crystal, an improvement which would be useless in the case of liquid air, but which is extremely valuable when glycerine, a perfectly transparent liquid, is used.

THE COTTON-CARRYING TRADE.—We find the following suggestive statements, in relation to the cotton-carrying trade, in the Pittsburg Evening Chronicle:

"The secession movement bids fairly to change altogether the route of so much of the cotton crop of the South as was wont to find its way via New Orleans and Charleston to the Eastern States. Instead of taking the seaboard route now, shippers have their cotton brought to Pittsburg by river from Memphis, and sent hence by the Pennsylvania railroad to Philadelphia. Large quantities are also carried over the Central Illinois, Southern Michigan and Grand Trunk railways, and from Parksburg over the Baltimore and Ohio road. The distance is accomplished with incredible speed, and the rates but little higher than under the old system. There are three steamers running regularly between Pittsburg and Memphis, all of which get as much cotton as they can carry for the return trip. Besides these the transient steamers bring up more or less every trip; so that between all, the quantity arriving here every week now is large beyond precedent.

"In November, as we find by the books of the Pennsylvania railroad, six thousand one hundred and six bales went over that line. The amount shipped in December, owing to the condition of the river, was but three thousand and sixty-six bales; but in January it reached eight thousand nine hundred and fifty-one, so that, for the last three months we have a total of eighteen thousand one hundred and twenty-three bales. There are three thousand bales on their way here now, and much more lying at Memphis and Cincinnati, the whole destined for Philadelphia, New York, Lowell, &c., via the Central road. And with all this the business has but begun to develop itself. Six months hence, should the present troubles continue, and the great bulk of the cotton-carrying trade of the seceding seaboard cities will take the inland route to the Eastern States."

A SHOCKING AND FATAL ACCIDENT.—This morning about 8 o'clock, says the Lancaster Express of Friday, a most shocking accident occurred on the farm of Mr. Jacob Myers, in Manheim township, about one mile from this city, by which a little girl, aged 11 years, named Mary Buch was instantly killed. Mr. Myers was engaged in threshing in his barn with a machine, which was connected with the horse-power on the outside, by means of a horizontal shaft. The child was sent from the house to Mr. Myers to inquire for a key, and before she entered the barn she stepped over the shaft. In returning, however, and while in the act of stepping over the shaft a second time, her clothing caught fast, and she was whirled around a number of times with great force, her head striking upon the ground and scattering her brains in all directions. When the child had turned to go out of the barn Mr. Myers resumed his work and had just put in two sheaves of wheat, when he heard a dull thumping upon the ground and going to look for the cause, found the child as above described. Dr. John L. Atlee, Sr., was immediately sent for, but the unfortunate child was beyond the reach of human aid. Mary was a daughter of Israel Buch, of Warwick township.

DESERTION CASE ON THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.—The express train from Pittsburg, which arrived in this city on Friday morning, brought a child about five or six days old, that had been cruelly deserted by its mother. It appears that a man and woman, in company, got upon the train at Tyrone station, the woman having with her the child. As the train approached Huntingdon, the woman entered the saloon attached to the ladies' car, and at that station she, and the man accompanying her, got out. After the train had proceeded fifteen or twenty miles, a passenger entered the saloon, and found the baby lying upon the seat, snugly wrapped up. He apprised Mr. Solomon D. Grone, the conductor, who got one of the lady passengers to take charge of the child until something could be done in the matter. The lady was a German, and expressed a willingness to keep the child and raise it. She and her husband stopped at Harrisburg. Conductor Grone telegraphed to Huntingdon as soon as possible, and we learn that the mother, and the man accompanying her, were both arrested yesterday morning. The child was a healthy boy, and its mother an unmarried female, who is still confined to her room in Tyrone, Blair county.

VISIT OF THE BAND TO HARRISBURG.—We have heretofore mentioned that the Infantry Silver Band of our town, have in contemplation a professional visit to the seat of our State Government. We have now the privilege of announcing that the arrangements then proposed, have since been satisfactorily consummated, and the railroad companies been induced to issue excursion tickets at about half the usual fare—thus enabling our citizens who have never seen the Capital city of the Commonwealth, to gratify their curiosity in the matter, at a comparatrvely insignificant expense. The excursion cars will leave here for the purpose on the morning of Tuesday, the 26th inst. The Band will give two grand concerts during their stay—Brant's Hall having already been engaged for the purpose. As the good people of Harrisburg are known to be appreciative judges of musical performances, and as our townsmen are not easily taken down in that department, we do confidently expect a favorable report after they shall have given the Harrisburgers a touch of their quality.

We copy the above from the Hanover Citizen, and beg to state that we shall be happy to chronicle the success of the Band.

THE IRON RAILROAD FREIGHT CAR.—A freight car has recently been placed upon the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad, at Pittsburg, that is something of a novelty in its way. It was built at the works of Merrick, Hanna & Co., New Brighton, and is constructed wholly of iron. Its appearance is decided in its favor, while those who ought to know give it as their opinion that in every thing that goes to constitute a first-class freight car it is far ahead of that class of cars now in use. It is much stronger than the wooden car, and as it cannot be affected by either heat, rain or cold, it must last much longer. Should it come up to the expectations formed of it by its friends, a number of cars of the same kind will be placed on the road.

MORAL AND PERSONAL BEAUTY.—In a novel at Margate Library, this passage was marked and much thumbed: "There is no object so beautiful to me as a conscientious young man. I watch him as I do a star in heaven." "That is my view exactly," sighed Miss Josephine Hoopes as she laid down the volume. "In fact, I think there's nothing so beautiful as a young man, even if he ain't conscientious, provided he dresses in the elegant garments made at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chesnut street, above Sixth, Philadelphia."

DONEGAL AHEAD!—Mr. Benjamin Sherbahn killed at Maytown, on Monday of last week, a hog which weighed, when dressed, nine hundred and forty-one pounds! Maytown against the world.

PATRIOT AND UNION.—THE DAILY PATRIOT AND UNION can be had by Dauphin subscribers, every morning, at the periodical store of J. S. FRAIM.

MITCHELL'S NEW GENERAL ATLAS.—Says the Principal of one of our best seminaries: "I have examined Mitchell's New General Atlas, and find it to be decidedly the best work of the kind that I have ever seen. As a map view of the world, it seems to leave nothing to be desired. The statistical tables, and the plans of the principal cities evidently prepared with much care and accuracy, add greatly to its worth. The enlarged maps of the several States, showing the county boundaries—and, also, of all the countries to which any special interest attaches, add immensely to its value. The typographical execution of the work is beyond all praise, and it is indeed a splendid illustration of the progress of art in that direction. Every teacher should have a copy, for reference, in his school. It should be in every library and reading room—and no family that can afford the expense should be without it." †

GLUE.—Our advertising columns contain some testimonies to the value of a new article known as "Spalding's Prepared Glue," useful to housekeepers for mending furniture. It is prepared with chemicals, by which it is kept in the proper condition for immediate use, the chemicals evaporating as soon as it is applied, leaving the glue to harden. We can assure our readers that this article has the excellent phrenological quality of "large adhesiveness."

ON THE NATURE, TREATMENT AND RADICAL CURE OF SPERMATORRHŒA, or Seminal Weakness, Sexual Debility, Nervousness and Involuntary Emissions, inducing Impotency, and Mental and Physical Debility.
BY ROB. J. CULVERWELL, M. D.
Author of the "Green Book," &c.

The world renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-abuse may be effectually removed without medicine and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically. This Lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.
