NEW Music .- We have just received, from our enterprising music dealer, Mr. Carter, some choice selections of music, comprising a duet for violin and piano, from the opera of "Le Pestilla de Lonjumeau;" two songs entitled "Hark! Hark! How Sweetly," and "Good Night Fair Maiden," together with the "Storm King Quickstep," for violin; all published by Lee & Walker, and to be had at O. C. B. Carter's, No. 93 Market street, where all the latest music is received as soon as published.

Ar a stated meeting of the Friendship Fire Company, No. 1, held in their hall on Monday evening a complete if not inglorious end this forenoon. last, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved. That a vote of thanks is due, and is hereby tendered, to the people of our city, and the railroad and insurance companies, who have already so liberally contributed towards the purchase of a steam fire engine for our use; and we now appeal to all citizens, railroad and insurance companies, who have not yet contributed towards our enterprise, to do so as soon as possible, as our engine will be ready for delivery early in May Resolved, That the foregoing be published in the daily papers of this city.

WHY MR. LINCOLN WENT TO WASHINGTON ON FRIDAY NIGHT .- We have it in our power to state positively why Mr. Lincoln went off so suddenly to Washington from Harrisburg. The stories of the Peace Conference, of anticipated assassination, and of desiring to avoid the fatigue of receptions, &c., are all bosh. His real object was to get to the White House early on Saturday morning, so as to have an opportunity of privately assuring Mr. Buchanan that, in his opinion, the most elegant garments in the world are those made at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chesnut street, above Sixth, Philadel-

REMAINS OF A MASTODON.—Last September, in quarrying limestone, in a gorge, about 16 feet from the surface, on the land of Mr. Eli Blackburn, in St. Clair township, Bedford county, nearly the whole skeleton of what was supposed to be a mastodon, were discovered by Mr. John Caliban. The leg bones were about fifteen or eighteen inches in circumference, and the others were about in the same proportion. After being exposed to the air, the bones all crumbled to dust, except the teeth, three of which were discovered. The enamel on these grinders is about one-fourth of an inch in thickness, and in an excellent state of preservation; the balance of the tooth is petrified, and much like soapstone.

MASON AND DIXON'S LINE .- In conventional usage, "Mason and Dixon's line" is the boundary line between the free and the slave States. Concerning the origin of that line, and its actual extent, the following are the historical facts:

On the 4th of August, 1793, Thomas and Richard Penn, and Lord Baltimore, being together in London, agreed with Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon, two mathematicians or surveyors, to mark. run out, settle, and fix a boundary line between Maryland on one hand, and Delaware and Penn-sylvania on the other. Mason and Dixon landed in Philadelphia on the 16th of November following, and began their work at once. They adopted the peninsular lines, and the radius and tangent point of the circular of their predecessors. They next ascertained the north-eastern coast of Marv. land, and proceeded to run the dividing parallel of latitude. They pursued this parallel a distance of 23 miles, 18 chains and 21 links, from the place of beginning at the N. E. corner of Maryland to the bottom of a valley on the Dunkirk creek, where an Indian war-path crossed their route, and here, on the 19th of November, 1767-ninety-three years ago, their Indian escort told them it was the will of the Sioux Nation that the surveys should cease, and they terminated accordingly, leaving 30 miles, 6 chains and 50 links as the exact distance remaining to be run west and south-west angle of Pennsylvania, not far from the Broad Tree tunnel on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. Dixon died at Durham, England, 1777; Mason died in Pennsyl-

QUININE AS A REMEDY FOR HEADACHE. - Dr. J. A. Symonds, a well known English medical writer, says that in respect to those medicines which are at once tonic, anti-periodic and anti-neuralgic, quinine appears to be, of all remedies, that which is most extensively and constantly serviceable in headaches, whether strictly nervous or neuralgic. It at one time helps to remove that irritable condition of the nerves, which makes them take offence at anything unusual in the degree or kind of cerebral action, or at what is occurring in distant organs, and at another time it proves subversive of that very condition of nerves in which the paroxysm of pain consists.

Dr. S. expresses the belief that quinine would be less frequently productive of disappointment were it given more liberally and more unflinehingly; small doses will not avail. If the case be of recent origin, three grains of quinine thrice daily will usually be a sufficient dose; but if it has been of long standing, this quantity must be doubled, and, in some instances, ten-grain doses must be administered thrice in the day. Many substances may be advantageously combined with the quinine in order to render it more agreeable to the stomach, especially sedatives, such as extract of hemlock and of hope.

For the Patriot and Union. POST MASTER IN HARRISBURG .- A few days after the Presidential election, George Bergner, one of the proprietors of the Republican organ in this city, made an announcement that his name had been mentioned in connection with the Post Office appointment, but that, under no consideration, would he be an applicant for that position — We regret that we did not save the paper containing this emphatic declaration, at the time, for we had a presentiment that the statement was false. Others, however, were misled by the bombastic ebullition of that patriotism which prompted Mr. Bergner to announce himself as a private in the ranks, without ambition to hold the Post Office; and many were induced to risk the chance of getting it for themselves. While these things were going on, Mr. Berguer did not come out openly, and acknowledge that he lied for the purpose of deceiving his own party friends, and throwing them off their guard, but, in a sneaking, covert and ungentlemanly manner, circulated his petition for signatures among strangers, who have no interest in the appointment of a Post Master in this city! He confines his operations to strangers because the people of Harrisburg could not be prevailed upon to sign any recommendation in his behalf. Of this we shall take an early opportunity to inform the powers at Washington, and we shall do it in such a manner as to leave no doubt as to the estimation in which Bergner is held in this city. In justice to Messrs. Jones, Fenn, Ott. Shoemaker and Harris, we are now making arrangements for a full, fair and unmistakable expression of the Republicans of Harrisburg, through the medium of ballots, in the same way the question has been decided in all the large Western, and some of the Eastern towns. Mr. Bergner has had his arms in the State Treasuary up to the clows for several years past, and an audit of his accounts will show that he is selling a great deal of stationery to the State at pretty much whatever he pleases to ask for it, to say nothing of the printing of the Record, furnishing Purdon's Digest, manuals, &c., &c. Is it possible that other, and more deserving Republicans, are to stand back to shower additional favors upon a man who has already made $40,000 by partizan fealty? MANY REPUBLICANS.

THE LAST OF THE SONS OF MALTA. - This order, invested with such a deep and impenetrable mystery to many, appears to be "drying up" in some places. In the New York Post of Friday, "it is recorded" that the "ancient and honorable order of the Sons of Malta," which is represented as being "ancient because the memory of man knoweth not its origin, and honorable because the great and wise of every age have been numbered with its firm friends and steadfast supporters," came to The furniture of Pro Patria Lodge, the largest, most thoroughly equipped, and most famous in the United States, was sold at auction, under mortgage, at eleven o'clock, together with all the regalia and warlike implements which seem to have entered largely into the initiatory services of this mystic brotherhood. The sale occurred in the lodge room, a spacious hall at 814 Broadway, the first floor from the roof and the fifth from the earth. The hall was fitted up in a peculiar style of elegance. The floor was richly carpeted, and the room was surrounded by long sofas, while the walls were decorated with 24 knights in armor, with tapestry, and with the red cross of St. John, which appears to have been the symbol of the Order.

The articles sold were classified as follows: 1st, the useful; 2d, the instrumental; 3d, the ornamental and mystical. Under the first head were sold the sofas, chairs, &c., one of the carpets containing three hundred yards, and selling for 75 cents per yard, half what it cost. Under the second head were sold an Alexandre organ, which was started at $50 and sold at $90. Also, a Chinese gong, which, the "brothers" assert, was formerly owned by the Emperor Chow Chow, and which brought $11. An immense tin trumpet and a quantity of horns were also sold for a trifle.

Under the third head were sold five "bloodless swords." When the auctioneer reached these articles, one of the initiated called out at the top of his voice: "Now, let the stranger feel the weight of the sword! Now, stranger, be strong and brave, and leap with all your might, for this will put your courage to the test!"-whereupon, those who appeared to understand it laughed heartily, and outsiders concluded that this must have been a part of the initiation ceremonies.

According to the handbill, these swords were made of Damascus steel, and used in the terrible wars of the Knights of Malta, with roast beef and plum pudding, eighteen hundred years before the Deluge ;" and "were presented to Pro Patria Lodge by Alexander the Great." Among them was said to be the celebrated sword which was suspended by a single thread. The purchasers, however, did not seem to be impressed with their great value, for the five swords only brought $5.

Then there were five terrible tin spears, which were sold in a lot, for four shillings. Then seven helmets, said to have descended from the Crusaders under Peter the Hermit, with vizors complete, were also sold in a lot, for the same amount. Then came the mail and armor, which went on like easy terms, five or six shillings paying for the whole.

Next were sold eight rusty muskets, with fixed bayonets, for four shillings each. Several hundred dominoes, with cowls, black and white, were sold at twelve and fifteen cents apiece. "The Rugged Path" was not sold, but, judging from its appearance, the "strangers" who passed over it must have had a rough journey over the rollers. After the furniture and other articles named had seen sold, the auctioneer withdrew to the back room, and proceeded to sell regalia, which he said must not be exposed to the gaze of the uninitiated. The mystic volume, said to be a large octavo work, was sold unseen.

The "sacred bath," however, was displayed to the crowd. It sold for $1.50, and appeared to be nothing more nor less than a large punch-bowl. In conclusion, the "brothers" joined in a song, to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne," beginning...

"When old Maltesia first was born." The crowd dispersed; and thus ends the mystic brotherhood of the L. O. S. M.

LCCAL BILL.-Yesterday Mr. Boughter read a bill in place in the Senate to change the place of holding the election in the Fifth ward. There is no school house in the ward, and, if the bill proposes changing the place to a tavern, we, as a resident of the ward, shall object; and we have no doubt but two-thirds of the voters would signaremonstrance against such a change. We never heard of any petition asking for the change.

PROF. Wood's Restorative Cordial.—It is recorded in the Classics that Psyche was once sent to a climate warmer than the West Indies, to procure a sample of the beauty of Prosperine in a box. After some delay the mes senger returned, and as soon as the lid of the box was removed, out flew all the ills that flesh is heir to.—Fortunately, hope was found in the bottom of the box. Prof. WOOD'S Restorative Cordial revives the recolication of the story, for it invigorates the blood, aids the ELMBOLD'S Extract Business and the story of the tion of the story, for it invigorates the blood, aids the organs of digestion, imparts strength to the nervous system, and fortifies the ottade of health, so as to bid defiance to the assaults of disease. It is a healthy tonic, composed entirely of vegetable productions, and while it is exhilarating as pure wine, no injurious results can possibly follow its use. It is a desideratum in the medical world, and those who are afflicted with loss of appetite, Dyspepsia, Consumption, Faintness, Giddiness, Neauralsia, Palpitation of the Heart, &c., will find here an infallible panacea.—St. Louis Daily Express.

PROF. Wood's RESTORATIVE CORDIAL AND BLOOD REN-ovator is, without doubt, the best tonic Cordial in the world. To those who are suffering from General Debili-ty, we would recommend its use, for it is pleasant to the taste, is strengthening to the system, and will at once tend to remove all impurities of the blood, and eradicate all traces of disease. It can be taken by the weakest stomach, while those in good health will at once feel its exhibitating power. We are confident that after using one bolte of this Cordial none will be for a day without it.—New York Leader.

LOOK TO YOURSELF IN TIME.—How many, in consequence of a false delicacy, suffer from suppressed, pain ful or obstructed menstruction, and think because they are young that bye-and-bye nature will work itself clear from obstructions, and all come right in the end, little dreaming that the seeds of death are already germinating in the system because the vital energies are impaired, and the entire animal economy deranged, debilitated; and yet, careless of themselves as they are, if a remedy were set before them which would restore all the functions of the system, and re-invigorate the body, they would take it, and thus be in time to save their lives.—Parents think of this, and at once give them a bottle of would take it, and thus be in time to save their lives.— Parents think of this, and at once give them a bottle of Prof. Wood's Restorative Cordial and Blood Renovator.— New York Conv.
