Horrible Accident.—At 11 o'clock on Friday evening the train of cars going west, on the Pennsylvania Central Railroad, ran over a man named Whitaker, at a point near the Wire Bridge, and completely severed his head from his body. His remains were removed to the station-house, where the coroner was notified to attend.

A Moderate Thier .- On Saturday night some fellow got into the back yard of Mr. Reel's grocery, corner of State and Third streets, opened a barrel of flour, and took therefrom about twentyfive cents worth! Whether the thief was disturbed before he filled his bag, whether the bag held no more, or whether he just stole enough to keep himself from starving, are questions hard to solve.

PLANT TREES .- The season of the year is now approaching when those who wish to set out shade or fruit trees should make arrangements to having it attended to. There is no more economical way of beautifying one's premises—and we may also say of adding value to them-than by planting trees that afford pleasant shade or yield fine fruit.

RETURNED .-- Mr. E. S. C. Schmidt, to whom we referred in our paper last week as having left his home in Easton while laboring under partial derangement of mind, returned to Easton, and was taken home by Mr. C. Yard. His friends are, of course, greatly rejoiced at his return. He has been in Philadelphia since his departure.

OLEAGINOUS .- The fat contributor to Vanity Fair

"Mecca has its jokes; the following is one of them: Some of the oil territory is held at enormous rates. A man from Cleveland, who had been looking for a spot to sink a well in, returned to the hotel after a day's search, and was saked, what luck? He replied that he found one first-rate spot, but the land-holder held it rather high. 'He wants all the oil, two hundred dollars bonus, and requires that I shall paint both heads of the barrels. I told him I would paint one head, but I would be hanged if I would agree to paint both."

THE RIVER.—The warm weather of the last few days has melted the snow and ice in the mountain gorges, and the natural consequence is that the river has been rising gradually since Saturday night. It is now about at a stand, and likely to continue so for some time to come. We may therefore look for lumber rafts and arks in a few

On Sunday and Monday large numbers of ducks and wild geese were seen on the river above the city.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Mr. Adam Otto, a highly respectable citizen of Jackson township, Northumberland county, was killed on the railroad, at the Trevorton junction, on Wednesday last. Mr. Otto was in Sunbury, and got into the cars to go home in the 10 o'clock train. He got off at the Trevorton station, and, after the passenger train left. be got on the Trevorton sideling to go home. A train was backing down at the time, and he being deaf, was unconscious of the approach of the cars. The men on the train tried to draw his attention by throwing stones and calling him, but before they could stop the train, it ran over him, mangling and tearing him in such a manner that he died within an hour.

An Alarming Theory.—The sudden appearance of oil in such immense quantities in those regions in which it could not have existed but a short time, has given rise to numerous theories respecting its origin. Among the last and most feasible of these is the one advanced by the Pittsburg Gazette, in its issue of the 20th ult. It says:

The internal fires of the earth, known to exist, are making their way to the surface where, in accordance with the prophecy—"the elements are to melt with fervent heat." The caloric from these subterranean fires has just reached the coal strata and oil, which forms the igneous portion of that carbonatic compound, is driven from it, and forced by superincumbent pressure to occupy fis-Sures, and the softer formations of the earth until relieved by apartures from the surface .-Those living in the coal regions are nearest Hades. and, of course, find the oil first.

New Court House Belt .- The commissioners have removed the steel bell from the cupola of the Court House and placed in it one of those manufactured by Mencely & Bro., of Troy, N.Y. It was rung at intervals on Friday and Saturday, and there was but one opinion as to its merits. A steel bell is very nice in its way, and much cheaper than bells made of the ordinary bell metal; but, after all, when you want the clear, melodious, sonorous ring, you must fall back upon the fusion of metals that were made into bells nearly coeval with the first building of cities. Experiments of a thousand years have failed to produce anything better, and it is doubtful whether any marked improvement will be made between this and " the last syllable of recorded time."

We have not learned the cost of the present bellneither have we learned how the commissioners will shirk their contract with Mr. Gilbert for the purchase of the steel bell.

APPLICATION OF CHLOROFORM IN NEURALGIA.-The Edinburgh Medical Journal contains an account, by Dr. Little, of his successful mode of applying chloroform in neuralgia, &c. Dr. L's mode of application is, to take a piece of lint a little less in size than the watch-glass to be used-which need not be more than two inches in diameterputting it on the hollow side of the glass, pour on it a few drops of choloform sufficient to saturate it, and then applying it at once to the part affected, keeping the edges of the glass closely applied to the skin, by covering it with the hand, for the purbose of keeping it in position, as well as of assisting the evaporation of the chloroform. This done from five to ten minutes, according to the amount of irritation wished for. The patient during this time will complain of a burning sensation-not so severe as that produced by a mustard sinapismwhich reaches its height in five minutes, and then abates, but does not entirely disappear for more than ten minutes. To insure the full operation of the remedy, it is necessary that the watch-glass be rather concave, that it be closely applied to the skin, and that the hand applied over it be sensibly warm. The immediate effect of the application is this year of more than ordinary interest, and is to remove all local pain in neuralgia.

GAS, AND WHAT IS IT?-The New York Advertiser says that several of the best chemists of that city are now engaged in making extensive experiments with coal gas and other illuminating sub-

Coal gas was first made by Dr. Clayton, an Englishman, in 1739, but was not used for illuminating purposes until about the year 1800, when it was first employed in London manufactories. The chief constituents of gas are hydrogen and carbon, and according as it is made from whale or other animal oils, or from mineral oil, coal, rosin, or wood, it is found combined with sulphureted hydrogen, carbonic acid, bi-sulpheret of carbon, ammonis, asphaltum, coal tar, pyroligneous acid and other matters.

The illuminating power of gas depends upon the amount of carbon that it contains, and consequently the better gas is that which contains most carbon, with hydrogen to aid its combustion, and is more free from other ingredients which injure the brilliancy of its flame and generate noisome

To purify gas, its manufacturers use lime and the oxides of iron and manganese, and the cost of its production depends upon the price of coal or other substances to be distilled, the direct expense of apparatus and labor, the value of the residium after distillation, or of the matters separated from the gas by chemical analysis, the expense of supplying gas to consumers, and the loss by leakage. Consumers of gas, in addition to these points, are specially interested in the modes by which the amount of gas used is determined, the proportion of carbon in the gas farnished, and the amount of carbon escaping without combustion. A ton of gas coal will yield nine or ten thousand feet of gas, containing carbon sufficient to make a flame equal to fifteen candles of six to the pound, when it is burning five feet to the hour.

The less carbon is supplied, so much less will be the proportionate value of the gas, but so much greater the amount. In California, gas has been sold at $10, and is now $9 per thousand cubic feet. In second class towns throughout the United States and Canada it is supplied at $3, $4 or $5 per thousand cubic feet, and in New York at $2.50 per thousand cubic feet-the quality being, however, so widely different as to afford small basis for comparison. The gas produced from a ton of coal may thus be supposed to bring the company between $20 and $50, but there is a wide margin both of profit and loss that this calculation does not in-

The proportionate expense of labor and apparatus is much greater in small than in extensive gas works. In some works, the coal tar, asphaltum, ammonia and other matters separated from the gas have already become a source of considerable revenue, and chemical science is now directed to the discovery of new modes of rendering them valuable. The expense of mains and other pipes to supply gas is a beavy tax, and the leakage is stated to be equivalent to 22 per cent. of the whole amount of gas produced.

The joints where sections of mains come together are caulked with hemp and lead. The gas dries the hemp, which shrinks, and heat and cold alternately expand and contract the iron much more than the lead, and consequently in a very short time the seams are widely opened and an immense amount of leakage ensues. In Liverpool the sections of the mains are lathe-turned to fit into each other, like the ground stoppers of glass bottles, so as to be perfectly air-tight, and consequently the loss by leakage is only II per cent.

TEN YEARS' IMPRISONMENT IN THE DUNGEONS OF NAPLES,-English journals notice the newly published narrative of Antonio Nicolo, one of the sixty political prisoners from the horrid dungeons of the late King of Naples, who were enabled a year and a half ago, by the dexterity and boldness of the young sailor Settembrini, to alter the course of the vessel appointed for their transportation beyond the Atlantic, and to seek the protecting hospitality of Great Britain. Nicolo was concerned in a revolt of the National Guard in Reggio:

"Defeated and dispersed by General Nunziante's army, they fled to hide themselves in every house or hole where desperate lives could find shelter all over the country side. Wandering from one friend's dwelling to another's, and encountering some romantic adventures, the author of this little book contrived to escape being arrested until September, 1850, when he voluntarily surrendered, that his family might be relieved from the incessant persecutions to which they were subjected to compel them to confess where he was. He was condemned to nineteen years imprisonment with chains, reduced afterwards to thirteen years .-Linked in the dreadful irons with a savage murderer, crammed with sixty or seventy other persons, many of the vilest criminals, into a filthy chamber of the Bagno at Nisida, amidst stench and smoke. and beastial neglect—then removed to the subterranean cells of Procida, where the stone payement. twenty yards below the level of the soil, is almost hidden under a coating of humid filth, the slimy walls emit a horrid stench, and fetid green water drips from the ceiling—constantly kept fettered day and night, scarcely fed, and sleeping on dirty straw or rags infested with the most loathsome vermin-liable to be cruelly beaten by the servants of the gaol for the smallest offence, and insulted or abused in every way by the licensed ruffianism of his companions—this unhappy Italian gentleman, as well as Baron Poerio and Signor Settembrini, passee through several years of an existence as painful to men of their constitution and previous habits as we can easily conceive. It was the fate of some hundreds beside them, as we perfectly well know. Latterly they were beset with menaces and importunities to make each of them sign a confession and apology addressed to Ferdinand II, the Jesuit Father Vigilante prescribing this form that being seduced by the enemies of the throne, he was led to offend against the most righteous of monarchs, but that he is now penitent and implores his Majesty's elemency. This was after the Piedmontese and English denunciations had made the King's atrocious and notorious misgovernment a scandal to all the world, so that he was anxions to diminish the number of political prisoners, whom our own correspondent at Naples contrived now and then to count. The scheme of shipping them off to a condition of little better than slavery in the wilderness of South America, which Ferdinand latterly entertained, was suggested by the same motive to afford him an answer to our diplomatic remonstrances."

THE PATENT OFFICE. The management of the United States Patent Office has, within the last few years, been very greatly improved, and its usefulness enlarged. Its annual mechanical reports are very valuable records of the many useful inventions for which the United States has become famous. Of its agricultural bureau too much cannot be said in commendation. Its distribution of seeds, in immense variety, though necessarily in small quantities, gives an annual impetus to agricultural enterprise, and gives to hundreds, we might say thousands, of small farmers and gardeners, an opportunity they could not otherwise have of testing the adaptation of the various kinds of fruits, cereals and vegetables, to the land they occupy and till. The value of this to the community at large cannot be overestimated. Besides this, the plan adopted by the Patent Office gathers from other countries the choicest of their seeds, adding to the number and variety, and often very largely improving the quality of our own staple crops. In this branch of the Patent Office there also appeared to be very judicious management. The seeds adapted to each latitude are well discriminated, and the time for their distribution is always well chosen. Those adapted for the Southern States have already been distributed, for the good reeson that their season is the earliest, and the distribution for the North and West is just about commencing. The report of this branch of the office is full of instruction.

THE STRONGEST

BOND OF UNION YET DISCOVERED BETWEEN THE NORTH AND SOUTH,

PROF. WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE. READ WHAT A DISTINGUISHED PHYSICIAN OF ST. LOUIS SAYS OF IT.

St. Louis, July 10th, 1860.

O. J. Wood, Esq.: Dear Sir—Allow me the pleasure and satisfaction to transmit to you the beneficial effects of your Hair Restorative after a trial of five years. I commenced using your Restorative in January, 1855, since which time I have not been without a bottle on hand. When I commenced the use, my hair was quite thin, and at least one-third gray. A few applications stopped its falling, and in three weeks time there was not a gray hair to be found, neither has there been up to this time.

After my hair was complete.

After my hair was completely restored, I continued its After my hair was completely restored, I continued its use by applying two or three times per month. My hair has ever continued healthy, soft and glossy, and my scalp perfectly free from dandruff. I do not imagine the facts above mentioned will be of any particular advantage to you, or even flatter your vanity at this late day, as I am well aware they are all well known already, and even more wonderful ones throughout the Union. I have occupied my time in traveling the greater part of the time the past three years, and have taken pride and pleasure in recommending your Restorative and exhibiting its effects in my own case. In several instances I have met with people that have pronounced it a humbug; saying effects in my own case. In several instances I have met with people that have pronounced it a humbug; saying they had used it, and without effect. In every instance, however, it proved by probing the matter, that they had not used the article at all, but had used some new article, said to be as good as yours, and selling at about half the price. I have noticed two or three articles myself advertised as above, which I have no doubt are humbugs. It is astonishing that people will patronize an article of no reputation, when there is one at hand that has been proved beyond a doubt.

Apparently, some of those charlatans have not brains enough to write an advertisement, as I notice they have copied yours, word for word in several instances, merely inserting some other name in place of yours.

copied yours, word for word in several instances, merely inserting some other name in place of yours.

I have, within the past five years, seen and talked with more than two thousand persons that have used your preparation with perfect success—some for baldness, gray hair, scald head, dandruff, and every disease the scalp and head are subject to.

I called to see you, personally, at your original place of business here, but learned you were now living in New York

You are at liberty to publish this or to refer parties to me. Any communication addressed to me, care box 1920, will be promptly answered. Yours, truly, JAMES WHITE, M. D.

Warren Springs, Perry Co., PA., June 7th, 1850.

Prof. Wood: Dear Sir—I was induced more than a year ago to try your valuable Hair Restorative, for the purpose of cleansing my head of dandruff. I had suffered with it upon my head for years, and had never been able to get anything to do me any good in removing it, although I had tried many preparations, until I saw your advertisement in a Harrisburg paper. Being there at the time, I called at Gross & Ross's Drug Store and bought a bottle, and now am prepared to recommend it to universal use, for it has completely removed all dandruff from my head, and an application once in two weeks keeps it free from any itching or other unpleasantness.—I must also state that my hair had become quite white in places, and, by the use of your preparation, has been restored to its original color. I am now 50 years of age, and although I have used two bottles of the Restorative, no one has any knowledge of it, as I allow a few gray hairs to remain in order to have my appearance comport with my age. My head is now of less trouble to me, in keeping it clean, &c., than at any time since I have been achild. I consider your preparation of great value, and although I do not like to expose myself, I consider it my duty to say so. You can use this, or any part of it, in any shape you think proper, if it is worth anything to you.

Yours, &c.,

Bloomington, Ind., July 30th, 1859.

Dear Siz:—I here send you a statement that I think you are entitled to the benefit of. I am a resident of Bloomington and have been for over thirty years. I am now over 50 years of age. For about twenty years past my hair has been turning considerably gray, and was almost entirely white, and very stiff and unpliant. I had seen a number of certificates of the very wonderful effect of your Hair Restorative, but supposed there was more fiction than truth in them; but entertaining a strong desire to have my hair, if possible, restored to its original color and fineness, as it was in my younger days a beautiful black, I concluded I would make the experiment, commencing in a small way. I purchased one of your small bottles, at one dollar, and commenced using, following directions as nearly as I could. I soon discovered the dandruff removed, and my hair, that was falling off in large quantities, was considerably tightened, and a radical change taking place in the color. I have continued to use it till I have used three of your small bottles, and just begun on the fourth. I have now as pretty a head of dark brown, or light black hair, as any man, or as I had in my youthful days when a boy in the hills of Western Virginia. My head is entirely clear of dandruff, and the hair ceased entirely falling off, and is as soft and fine, and feels as oily, as though it was just from years the head of a French shampoer. Many dandruff, and the hair ceased entirely falling off, and is as soft and fine, and feels as oily, as though it was just from under the hands of a French shampooer. Many of my acquaintances frequently say to me, "Butler, where did you get that fine wig?" I tell them it was the effects of your Restorative. It is almost impossible to convince them that it is the original hair of the same old gray head.

Yours, truly,

FREDERICK T. BUTLER. Yours, truly, FREDERICK T. BUTLER,

Bloomington, Monroe County, Indiana. PROF. WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.—In another column will be found an advertisement of this well-known and excellent preparation for restoring gray hair to its original color. The Hair Restorative also cures cutaneous eruptions, and prevents the hair falling off. We have seen many authentic testimonials in proof of these assertions, some of which are from gentlemen whom we have known for many years as persons of the most rehave known for many years as persons of the most re-liable character. Don't dye till you have tried this Re-storative.—Boston Olive Branch.

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE .- We are not in the habit WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.—We are not in the habit of puffing every new discovery, for nine cases of ten they are quack nostrums, but we take great pleasure in recommending Professor Wood'sarticle to all whose hair is falling off, or turning gray. Our well-known contributor, Finley Johnson, Esq., has experienced the benefits of its application, and joins with us in speaking of its virtues. Let all try it, and bald heads will be as rare as snow in Summer.—Baltimore Patriot.

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE —Unlike most specifics, this is proved, by unimpeachable evidence, to possess great efficacy as a restorer of the hair to its pristine great efficacy as a restorer of the hair to its pristine vigor. Where the head had become almost bald because of sickness, the use of this article has produced a beautiful growth of thick, glossy hair. It is therefore a valuable preparation for all classes. Its ingredients are such as to effectually eradicate dandruff and other impurities, which operate so injuriously to the hair. It also has curative properties of another descriptin Inmany cases pimples and other disfigurements of the skin disappear wherever it is used. There is no hazard attaching to the trial of this remedy, and its effects can only be beneficial, as the compound, if it does not cause a manifest improvement, is incapable of doing harm, as its component elements are perfectly innoxious.—Boston Transcript, April 22, '59.

A GENUINE BOON .- In our capacity as conductor of a public journal we are called upon to advertise the cure-alls of the day, each of which claims to be unadultera-ted in its composition and infallible in its curative ef-fects—with what justice we leave our readers to deterfects—with what justice we leave our readers to determine. In one instance, however—Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative—we are so well assured of the notable qualities of the article that we give it our endorsement as all that its inventor and vender claims it to be. Its effect upon a falling head of hair is universally known to be magical; like lime or guano on exhausted land, it brings its crop wherever applied. Our own thatch is fortunately healthy, but we advise our friends with sparsely growing hair to try the Restorative.—Columbia Spy.

QUACK NOSTRUM—The majority of hair washes, hair dyes, hair tonics, hair oils, and the numberless preparations which are now before the public under such extravagant, hyperbolical and fantastic titles as we see paraded in show windows and newspaper headings, as hair preparations, are all humbugs of the first water; their real merit, when they possess any, is, that they do no harm. Hog's lard, whale oil, lard oil, sweet oil, scented and colored, make up, when in beautiful wrappers, and white flint glass bottles, the costliest character of tonics, and when thus costly, are baptised with some tri-syllable term, and caught at by verdant young and old of both sexes. Such is not the character of Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative. This gentleman comes before the world without any 'highfalutin' Kilophloforium or any other astounding and startling catch-penny term; he simply advertises a Hair Restorative—what it expresses, precisely—and as a Restorative it acts. Buy Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and as you value your scalp, aye, your very brains, apply nothing else; for it may be that you will get some worse substance than perfumed lard oil on your cranium. Remember, Wood's Restorative for the Hair is the best article extant.—New York Day Book. ANTER PARTIE
