THE DAILY PATRIOT AND UNION may be had at Jack's Book Store, corner of Third and Market streets.

PATRIOT AND UNION.—The DAILY PATRIOT AND UNION can be had by Dauphin subscribers every morning, at the periodical store of J. S. FRANK.

SLOW TRAVELING.—We received yesterday a copy of the Houston Republic, printed on the 17th of November. It must have been traveling among the foreign States of the Confederacy.

A CHANGE.—It was quite cool yesterday, compared with the four days previous. More seasonable—better for the health of the people, and the future welfare of vegetation.

OLD ABE'S FLIGHT.—The Cincinnati Enquirer perpetrates the following: Besides the plaid which old Abe wore, as he passed on through Baltimore, a feather too was plain in sight. The chiefest mark—but Abe's was white.

THE CANAL.—The company purpose, weather permitting, to let the water into the main line about one week from to-day. The entire line has been placed in most excellent order, and there is every prospect that a brisk business will be done on all the canals in the State during the ensuing season.

CHRONIC INVALIDS.—Those who are suffering from any old standing disease should consult Dr. Stewart, at the Buehler House. Dr. S. has been here for several months, and effected some wonderful cures. He can refer to the best families in the city, and brings the most respectable testimonials from abroad. See his advertisement.

DEATH OF AN OLD CITIZEN.—We are called upon to chronicle the demise of another of our old citizens, William Colder, Sr., who died at an early hour, at his residence, in this city, yesterday morning, at the advanced age of 73 years.

Mr. Colder came to this city in 1812, and commenced life in the capacity of a stage-driver. By frugality and industry, he soon entered a more enlarged field of operations, and became a horse-racer, stage proprietor, and eventually was largely interested in the canal packets, from the day they first were placed upon the canal until the railroad crushed them out. When the enterprises in which he had taken such an active part expired, by the force of circumstances, Mr. Colder invested his profits in real estate adjoining the city, much of which has tumbled in value. Lately he has been keeping a lively stable, and running an omnibus line, nominally, but, in reality, doing nothing.

Mr. Colder was always regarded as a good, moral, straightforward, honest man, who had few enemies—but many friends. He lived a few years over the time allotted to man, and leaves behind him four children to mourn his loss. He was a native of Maryland, where he has relatives still living.

LANCASTER, Pa., March 24, 1861. At a meeting of the Union fire company No. 1, of Lancaster, held on Friday evening, March 1st, 1861, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, On the occasion of the visit of the Union fire company to the State Capital, on February 22d, we were so kindly received by our brother firemen of the Hope fire company and were the recipients of such a multiplicity of attentions; and whereas, the poorest return we can make for the favors so profusely bestowed is to express our deepest gratitude; and hope that at some future time we may be enabled to partially repay the numerous acts of courtesy so freely tendered, therefore be it

Resolved, That we return our hearty and sincere thanks to the members of the Hope fire company for their courtesy, kindness and attention while their guests.

Resolved, That to the members of the Hope, industrially and cordially, we acknowledge our indebtedness; and should an opportunity be afforded us, we gladly "HOPE" to still more firmly cement the bonds of "UNION" now existing between the companies, by similar reciprocal acts.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to each company of Harrisburg, and that copies be transmitted to the Harrisburg papers for publication.

In behalf of the company, S. A. WYLLIE, A. N. THOMAS.

IMPORTANT TO INVENTORS.—The bill "to promote the progress of the useful arts," introduced on the 22d of December, 1859, by Mr. Mallory, in the Senate, after various important modifications and two conference reports, passed both Houses on Saturday. The bill is radical and important. It changes the present patent law in many most essential particulars. Its most important provision is in force for seventeen years from the date of issue, and all extensions of such patents are thereby prohibited. This cuts off all the intricate and corruption incident to the extension of valuable patents by the Commissioner of Patents; and, although it does not cut off, of course, bind a future Congress, its moral effect will be to stop the bad practice of extension by Congress itself. This was the last patent submitted to the conference committee. Douglas, Cameron and Fitch, of the Senate, and Cox, Frank and Barr, of the House, as the conference committee, insisted on this radical reform, and it was passed the last day of the session.

It provides, where extensions are now applied for, in cases of existing patents, for compulsory process for witnesses, in order to make a thorough investigation of the merits of the case.

It gives the Commissioner of Patents a larger salary, as it imposes additional duties and responsibilities.

It provides for certain additional examiners.

It allows the Commissioners to refuse to recognize patent agents who have been guilty of misconduct.

It does not alter the law as to payment of fees. It enlarges the right to patent in relation to moulding, casting, electrotyping, &c.

It cuts off all patents not prosecuted within two years after filing.

It requires labels on patented articles.

It enables the Commissioners to dispose of models of rejected applications, and to dispense with models when he thinks the design can be sufficiently represented by a drawing.

It allows the Commissioner to require the printing of papers in certain cases.

An important part of the bill relates the laws now in force fixing the rates of the Patent Office to be paid, and discriminating between the inhabitants of the United States and those of other countries.

SOME GOOD THINGS—WITH A REASON.—It is a good thing when one has a hobby, not to ride it too hard—for it may wear out before others are ready to take a passage.

It is a good thing for those who are inclined to try experiments, or to adopt some new theory, to move cautiously—for the world is full of humbug.

It is a good thing for a man to oversee all his work, especially attend to the details—for Pat is very apt to slip over many things that should be done.

It is a good thing to be neat and tidy about one's premises—for it is pleasing to the eye, and is desirable every way.

It is a good thing to be neat and tidy about the barn—to have the stables kept clean and the cattle mangers cleaned of oats at least twice a day—for this will add much to their health and comfort.

It is a good thing to see that fodder is not scattered about under foot—for cattle do not relish their food after it has been trodden upon with dirty feet; much is often wasted in this way.

It is a good thing to let cattle have access to water twice a day—for if watered but once they are apt to drink too much, and thereby become chilled and uncomfortable.

It is a good thing to card cattle every day—for it promotes health and gives them a pleasing appearance, and it is a luxury they enjoy much.

It is a good thing to keep all animals thriving, or at least not suffer them to fall away in flesh during cold weather—for all they lose in flesh is a dead loss to the owner.

It is a good thing to furnish the hog-pen with plenty of straw and litter—for grunter will manufacture it into the best of manure, besides, a warm nest will make him comfortable, therefore cause him to thrive.

It is a good thing to keep manure in snug piles for it will reach less by the melting snow and rains.

It is a good thing to increase the manure heap in every possible way—for it will give a larger dividend than railroad or bank stock.

It is a good thing to draw out manure the latter part of winter, or early in the spring—before the frost is out of the ground—for it is easier done then than later, and it injures land to go on to it with a team when soft.

It is a good thing to keep farming tools in order, for it often saves great vexation and loss of time, when wanted for use.

It is a good thing to have a place for everything and everything in its place, for it is trying to the flesh to be obliged to hunt for scattered tools.

It is a good thing to have a year's stock of wood at the door—sawed—split and seasoned—for it is bad economy, to say nothing of discomfort, to burn green wood.

It would be a good thing for those who practice burning green wood—drawing and cutting it as wanted—to let their wives wear the breeches—for quite likely they would be the most capable of managing affairs.

It is a good thing sometimes not to say all you have on your mind at once—lest a painful silence ensue—therefore, finally,

It is a good thing to "be subject to the powers that be"—to love our country, and to live peaceably with all men—the reason is obvious.

THE GENERAL APPROPRIATION BILL.—The general appropriation bill read in place in the House of Representatives on Friday last, makes the following appropriations for the year commencing on the 1st day of June, 1861, to be paid out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated:—For repairs to the Eastern Penitentiary, $15,000; House of Refuge, $25,000; Colonization Society, $5,000; for the publication of the meteorological observations made by order of the State, under the directions of the Franklin Institute, $1,500; for roofing and re-paving the State Arsenal in Philadelphia, $2,500, in lieu of the appropriation of last year, to be expended by the Major General of the First Division Pennsylvania Volunteers, and accounted to the Auditor General; for repairs to the Pennsylvania Magazine, the sum of $300, or so much thereof as may be necessary; for the instruction of the indigent pupils in the Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, $25,000; for Friendless Children, $5,000; for the Pennsylvania Institution for the Instruction of the Blind, $24,800; for the Penn Widows' Asylum, $5,000; for the Pennsylvania Lunatic Hospital, at Harrisburg, for the payment of salaries and wages, $10,000, and for the repairs to the building and machinery, for the further sum of $5,000; and for the Pennsylvania Training School for Feeble Minded Children, at Media, in the county of Delaware, the sum of $10,000; for the support of schools, to be paid on warrants drawn by Superintendents in favor of the several school districts of this Commonwealth, in proportion to the number of taxable therein, $328,000, inclusive of an appropriation of $10,000 to each of the State Normal Schools at Millersville and Edinboro, and also of the county superintendent, to be accounted for in the usual manner, on the basis of taxable of the year 1860, in the several counties: Provided, That the city of Philadelphia shall be entitled to an appropriation on said basis, without contributing to the salaries of the county superintendents or the Normal Schools; for the payment of the interest of the funded debt of this Commonwealth that falls due on the 1st day of July and August, 1861, and on the 1st day of June, 1862, the sum of $1,214,175.

ARE BUSINESS TOKENS CONTRA FEIT COIN?—A novel case was tried before Judge Shipman, in the U. S. Circuit Court, New York, on Wednesday. It appears that the city has been flooded lately with a large quantity of bogus cents, which on close scrutiny turned out to be business tokens of one Samuel Black. A police officer went to Black, who made no scruple of acknowledging himself the manufacturer of this coin, bearing a strong resemblance in many points to the old cent, and that he sold the same at 5 per cent. Black was arrested, and on the trial the Government offered to call evidence that the coin was made to induce the belief that it was genuine, and that they had purchased it as such. This the court excluded, unless it was shown that the parties who had sold it were connected with the prisoner. Under this ruling the Government were out in the midst of their case. Notwithstanding this circumstance in favor of the accused, the jury were out three hours before they could agree upon a verdict of acquittal.

At a regular stated meeting of the Good Will Fire Company, the following resolutions were adopted: Resolved, That the thanks of the Good Will Fire Company be tendered to Messrs. W. K. Verbeke and A. Kohrer, for furnishing the company material to trim our apparatus for the parade on the 22d of February.

Resolved, That the Good Will Fire Company also return their sincere thanks to Messrs. W. K. Verbeke and W. L. Hellock, for the kind manner in which they entertained the company and band on the 23d of February.

Resolved, That the foregoing resolutions be published in the daily papers of this city.

BRUTAL MURDER.—A pedlar, named Jacob Mash, traveling through Chester county, was attacked on the public road, on Friday last, and murdered. His pockets were rifled of their contents. Considerable money was obtained from the murdered man. Mash was a resident of Philadelphia, and was about twenty-five years of age. Several persons were arrested on suspicion, but liberated for want of evidence. A reward has been offered. He carried a pack of goods and a box of jewelry.

THE HEAVENS.—The planet Mercury may now be seen a short time after sunset passing from its superior conjunction to its greatest elongation, when it is in its greatest brilliancy. About twelve or fifteen degrees west of the Pleiades may be seen the planet Mars, of inferior brilliancy. In the east may be seen the planet Jupiter, in its great brilliancy, being superior to any other body in the heavens. Passing east, by Regulus, and distant about ten degrees, may be seen the planet Saturn, also in its greatest brilliancy.

MR. LINCOLN'S INAUGURAL.—The Inaugural Address of President Lincoln will be criticised with more severity than any similar production which ever came from any former President. If it were as eloquent as Mark Anthony's Address over the dead body of Caesar, and as true as Holy Writ, it would be carped at by some; while it would have to be poor and unsatisfactory indeed not to please many. We think Mr. Lincoln would have gratified men of all parties, in all portions of the Union, if he had managed to introduce in his address a first class notion of the elegant spring garments sold at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut street, above Sixth, Philadelphia.

The Democratic citizens of the different wards of the city of Harrisburg are requested to meet in their respective wards, on Saturday, the 9th inst., at 7 p. m., as follows, for the purpose of making nominations for ward and city officers: First ward at the house of C. J. Saus.

Second ward at the Seven Stars Tavern. Third ward at Military Hall. Fourth ward at the house of James W. Morgan. Fifth ward at the Fifth Ward House. Sixth ward at the Park House.

By order of the Democratic Ward Executive Committees.

THE STRONGEST BOND OF UNION YET DISCOVERED BETWEEN THE NORTH AND SOUTH, IS PROF. WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.

READ WHAT A DISTINGUISHED PHYSICIAN OF ST. LOUIS SAYS OF IT.

St. Louis, July 10th, 1860. O. J. Wood, Esq.: Dear Sir—Allow me the pleasure and satisfaction to testify to you the beneficial effects of your Hair Restorative after a trial of five years. I commenced using your Restorative in January, 1855, since which time I have not been without a bottle on hand. When I commenced using it, my hair was falling out, and in three weeks there was not a gray hair to be found, and there has been up to this time.

My hair was completely restored, I continued its use by applying two or three times per month. My hair has ever continued healthy, soft and glossy, and my scalp perfectly free from dandruff. I do not imagine the facts above mentioned will be of any particular advantage to you, or even flatter you vainly, but I will state that I have used it, and it has done me good, and even more wonderful ones throughout the Union. I have occupied my time in traveling the greater part of the time the past three years, and have seen and heard of the effects of your Restorative in several instances, and have met with people who had used it, and it had done them good, however, it proved by probing the matter, that they had not used the article at all, but had used some other article, and as you are so good as to sell it at a low price, I have noticed two or three articles myself advertised as above, which I have no doubt are humbug.
