The election of officers of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, I. O. of O. F., commenced on Monday, the 8th inst., in the various lodges in the State, and continues until Saturday next, inclusive. The result will not be officially made known until the annual session, which will be held in Philadelphia in May next.

THIRD WARD CONSTABLE .- Our announcement a few days ago that the constable of the Third ward, Mr. Henry Becker, would not serve, was premature. Upon the solicitation of his friends, Mr. B. has concluded to serve. He has made an excellent officer, and just at this time the services of such men cannot well be dispensed with.

OPENING BALL .- The room in the Exchange, lately occupied by the Harrisburg gymnasium, has been re-fitted by Mr. Charles Davis, and on tomorrow (Wednesday) evening it will be opened by a musical soirce and ball by the Young Men's Club, under the direction of Mr. Frank Mather .---Those who delight in "tripping it upon the light fantastic toe" should not fail to be present.

MEETING OF PRESEVTERY .- The Presbytery of Carlisle will meet in the Old School Presbyterian Church, of this city, this evening, at 72 o'clock .---The opening sermon will be preached either by Rev. Dr. Creigh, of Mercersburg, or the Rev. I. N. Hays, of Middle Spring. The public are cordially invited to attend upon this and all the other services connected with the sitting of the Presbytery.

POLICE AFFAIRS .--- Officer Garman yesterday arrested Mrs. M'Girk, on complaint of Mrs. Christopher Columbus Van Riper. The charges against Mrs. M'Girk were three several; that is, keeping a disorderly house, giving liquor to persons of intemperate habits, and to keep the peace towards Mrs. Van R. The defendent in this case is a female of very intemperate habits, and has annoyed numerous persons on former occasions, and Mrs. M'G. was accordingly held for her appearance for the next sessions.

MUSIC .-- We have received from Mr. William Knoche, the music dealer of Harrisburg, the following pieces of new music: "Military Polka,"

THE PENNSYLVAIA RAILROAD, --- Its Management. -The Management of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad by President Thompson, Thomas A. Scott, and others, calls forth enconiums from all parts of the country, alike from railroad and business men. The following partial sketch of the working of the road is from the Lancaster Herald: We spent a night some time ago in the office of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, just beyond

Market street bridge, and were never more impressed with the conviction that our railroad men are entitled to all the salary they receive. The Pennsylvania Bailroad is divided into sections, each under the care of a Superintendent, with the necessary assistants. The head-quarters of the eastern division are at the office, about 300 yards west of Market street bridge. The division ex-tends to Columbia, Pa., and is under the care of George C. Franciscus, Esq., Superintendent. The corps of assistants comprises, besides an engineer and his clerk, Mr. Samuel Laverty, train master, one clerk and three telegraph operators. The train master's duties are extremely arduous, requiring constant vigilance and attention at his post. He is the executive of the division so far as the trains are concerned, occupying the same relation to the Superintendent that first lieutenant of a frigate occupies toward the officer commanding. Before the telegraph was invented, railroading was far less safe than it is now. Upon this divivision of the Pennsylvania railroad there is a telegraph operator stationed at about every ten miles upon the line. Call upon Mr. Franciscus or Mr. Laverty, and you will be told the exact spot between here and Pittsburg of any train on the line at any hour of the day or night. Every operator reports direct to head-quarters as each train passes his station, and the clicking needle at the main office is thus as constantly employed as the apparatus in the office of the Associated Press. Between Philadelphia and Columbia there are run no less than twenty trains every day. Colum-bia and Marietta are the head-quarters of the Susquehanna lumber trade, and furnish vast amounts of freight to this company. At five o'clock every morning three trains leave the city for Columbia. They start together only for the reason that one or two engines could not take them. At six o'clock, only an hour later, three more trains go out, at ten o'clock another train goes, and at five o'clock in the afternoon five more are despatched for the same destination. To Columbia there is a double track, and the freight trains have the road to themselves. The talking by telegraph is incessant, and the messages are often of the greatest importance. As we sat beside the telegeaph ope-rator and watched him receiving reports through the whole line, the marvels of the telegraph were illustrated in a manner especially effective. As a sample of the intercourse between the officers and the Superintendent at head-quarters, we copied a few of the dispatches. "Downingtown-Conducter F----- of freight train has met with an accident-fractured leg.-

He is at Blank's hotel here." This is reported to Mr. Franciscus, or in his absence to Mr. Laverty and an answer is thus dictated:

"See that F. is taken good care of. Let the first brakesman run the train to Gallaghersville." When the train reaches Gallaghersville, a man, already notified by the same means, is ready to take the train, and on it moves precisely as though nothing had happened. The system of running the trains is so admiable that, as we have said, passengers upon our first-class railroads are as safe as if in their own houses. The Superintendent, by means of the elegraph, has all the movements of the trains before his eyes, and as much under his control as the operator of a magic lantern has control over the pictures he exhibits upon the canvas. A crevasse, or a land slide might occur, but detention could be the only consequence. Excepting that cattle occasionally leap their enclosures and get upon the track, or an intoxicated or bewil-dered man is run down by an advancing engine, our railroad companies have singularly few ca sualities to account for All this immunity from peril, however, is only secured at great expense, and a degree of vigilance alike intelligent and unremitting.

Every train must be fully equipped with men, and the employment of a large force of conductors, brakesmen, flagmen, switch tenders, and underlings, is an expensive but indispensable requisite. In this point economy must be exercised with extreme judiciousness, or it becomes culpable and ruincus to the company by whom it is practiced. The work of a railroad is hard work from beginning to end, and people who aspire to it, in general, have very little idea of its cares and tions upon railroads are by no means remunerative, and for the simple reason that the competition between our railroads is as great as the ri-valry between nowspapers and hotels. When the reader next passes an ill-smelling fire stoker, therefore, let him remember that to the labors of that fire stoker, conjointly with that of others, railroad traveling is indebted for its safety and its expedition.

bills are now before the Senate, (lately introduced) which, not having been noticed by our newspapers, are unknown to the citizens of the State at large. One of them stipulates "that all laws and parts of laws exempting real estate of any kind from taxation, except such as is exempted by acts of incorporation, be, and the same are hereby, repealed." The other bill stipulates the repeal of all laws exempting property from taxation, except churches and the ground on which they stand. Had those bills come to the knowledge of the charitable and religious institutions which they will affect, vast numbers of remonstrances would have been presented against them; it is now too late, as you intend to close your sessions on the 18th instant.

Those bills would not have been introduced by Messrs. Gregg and Smith, if these two Honorable Senators had reflected on the fatal consequences that will result from their enactment. Are you going to crush by taxation the Penn Hospital and the Lunatic Asylum that are the pride of our city? Increase their burdens, the Managers will diminish the number of their inmates, who, of course, will be thrown on the almshouse, and thus some of our most respectable citizens reduced to poverty by misfortune, but nevertheless still respectable, will be found under the same roof and mixed in the yard when breathing fresh air, with the common paupers of the city ! What will the public exchequer gain by this new legislation?

It is computed that there are in Philadelphia at least thirty Parish Schools where about twenty thousand children are educated with the surplus of the pew rents; take this away by taxation, the State will have to provide for this additional number of children in the public schools, and build twenty new school-houses.

Tax all our Asylums for Widows and Orphans, the sick and the disabled, all supported by private charities, (to the benefit of the city,) what will be the result? Many who would, otherwise, have been admitted, will be refused ! to the almshouse they will have to go for relief. Again, exonerate incorporated churches from taxation, and tax the others, what will be the consequence ? Next year your labor will be increased by their applications for incorporation, which, without a denial of justice, you will not be able to refuse. As observed above, what will the public exchequer gain by your new enactments that are intended to repeal all judicious and commendable protection heretofore granted by laws enacted by the wisdom of our successive Legislatures from the time of William Penn? Do not, gentlemen, let it be recorded in the history of Pennsylvania that Republican rule has, blindly, swept away all the charitable laws enacted by the various parties that have, alternately, ruled the State to the present time. Let the sober second thought be your guide, and let those two unwise bills be postponed indefinitely. AN OLD CITIZEN.

THE BUILDING SEASON .--- The building season has commenced, but the present depressed times will doubtless have the effect to make operations limited. We notice that workmen have commenced the erection of two brick houses in Locust street. near Third, which are being crected by the heirs of the late William Colder, Sr. With the exception of a few frame houses, this is the only improvement we have yet noticed.

THE STRONGEST BOND OF UNION YET DISCOVERED BETWEEN THE NORTH AND SOUTH,

IS PROF. WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.

READ WHAT A DISTINGUISHED PHYSICIAN OF ST. LOUIS SAYS OF IT.

St. Louis, July 10th, 1860. St. Louis, July 10th, 1860. O. J. Wood, Esq.: Dear Sin-Allow me the pleasure and satisfaction to transmit to you the beneficial effects of your Hair Restorative after a trial of five years. I commenced using your Restorative in January. 1835, since which time I have not been without a bottle on hand. When I commenced the use, my hair was quite thin, and at least one-third gray. A few applications stopped its falling, and in three weeks time there was not a gray hair to be found, nother has there been up to this time.

not a gray hair to be found, n ither has there been up to this time. After my hair was completely restored, I continued its use by applying two or three times per month. My hair has ever continued healthy, soft and glossy, and my scalp perfectly free from dandruff. I do not imagine the facts above mentioned will be of any particular aivantage to you, or even flatter your vanity at this late day, as I an well aware they are all well known already, and even more wonderful ones throughout the Union. I have oc-cupied my time in traveling the greater part of the time the past three years, and have taken pride and pleasure in recommending your Resterative and exhibiting its effects in my own case. In several instances I have met with people that have pronounced it a humbug; saying they had used it, and without effect. In every instance, however, it proved by probing the matter, that they had not used the article at all, but had used some new arti-cle, said to be as good as yours, and selling at about half not used the article at all, but had used some new arti-cle, said to be as good as yours, and selling at about half the price. I have noticed two or three articles myself advertised as above, which I have no doubtare humougs. It is astonishing that people will patronize an article of no reputation, when there is one at hand that has been proved beyond a doubt.

Apparently, some of those charlatans have not brains enough to write an advertisement, as I notice they have copied yours, word for word in several instances, merely inserting some other name in place of yours. I have, within the past five years, seen and talked with more than two thousand persons that, have used your preparation with perfect success—some for baldness, gray hair, scald head, dandruff, and every disease the scalp and head are subject to. I called to see you, personally, at your original place of business here, but learned you were now living in New York.

York.

You are at liberty to publish this or to refer parties to me. Any communication autressed with truly, 1920, will be promptly answered. Yours, truly, JAMES WHITE, M. D. ication addressed to me, c

Warren Springs, Perry Co., PA., June 7th, 1850. Paor. Woon: Dear Sir—I was induced more than a year ago to try yout valuable Hair Restorative, for the purpose of cleansing my head of dandiuff I bad suf-fered with it upon my head for years, and had never been able to get anything to do me any good in removing it, although I had tried many preparations, until I saw your advertisement in a Harrisburg paper. Being there at the time, I called at Gross & Ross's Drug Store and bought a bottle, and now am prepared to recommend it to universal use, for it has completely removed all dand-ruff from my head, and an application once in two weeks keeps it free from any itching or other unpleasantness.— I must also state that my hair had become quite white in places, and, by the use of your preparation, has been restored to its original color. I an now 50 years of age, and although I have used two bottles of the Restora-tive, no one has any knowledge of it, as I allow a few gray hairs to remain in order to have my appearance comport with my age. My head is now of less trouble to me, in keeping it clean, &c., than at any time since I have been achild. I consider your preparation ofgreat value, and althourh I do not like to expose myself, I consider it my day to say so. You can use this, or any part of it, in any shape you think proper, if it is worth anything to you. Yours, &c., H. H. ETTER.

Bloomington, Ind., July 30th, 1859. Dear Sir:—I here send you a statement that I think yeu are entitled to the benefit of. I am a resident of Bloomington and have been for over thirty years. I am now over 50 years of age. For about twenty years past my hair has been turning considerably gray, and was almost entirely white, and very stiff and unpliant. I had seen a number of certificates of the very wonderful effect of your Hair Restorative, but supposed there was more fiction that truth in them; but entertaining a strong desire to have my hair, if possible, restored to its original color and fineness, as it was in my younger days a beautiful black, I concluded I would make the experi-ment, commencing in gamall way. I purchased one of your small bottles, at one dollar, and commenced using, iollowing directious as nearly as I could. I soon discor-ered the dandruff removed, and my hair, that was fall-ing off in large quantities, was consid-rably tightened, and a radical change taking place in the color. I have continued to use it till I have used three of your sma'l bottles, and just begun on the fourth. I have now as pretty a head of durk brown, or light black hair, as any man, or as I had in mv youthful days when a boy in the hills of Western Virginia. My head is entirely clear of as soft and fine, and feels as oily, as though it was just from under the hands of a French shampooer. Many of my acquasintances frequently say to me, "Butler, where did you get that fine wig?" I tell them it was the ef-fects of your Restorative. It is almost impossible to convince them that it is the original hair of the same old gray head. Yours. true. FREDERICK T. BUTLER, oc22-d3mw1y BUEHLER HOUSE, INPROVED FUSES .--- A time fuse has been invented, in which the fuse composition is lodged in an angular groovs, the continuity being broken by a stop, on one side of which this fuse is regulated by causing it to be ignited either at its commencement or at some intermediate point between its commencement and its termination. This is effected by means of a revolving cover, furnished with a tightening screw to fit it at any particular point, and containing a passage through which a jet of flame is directed upon the place where the burning of the fuse composition is intended to commence. This jet of flame is produced by the flash of a detonating composition which is contained in the body of the fuse, and is fired by the penetration of a point actuated by the force exerted on the projectile at the instant of firing the gun. This invention appears to be one of remarkable simplicity, and, according to the accounts given, its action is certain and efficient.

IMPORTANT ARREST OF A HORSE THIEF .- FOR some time past the citizens of Lancaster and adjoining counties have suffered considerably by the depredations of horse thieves. Last week a man named Manassah Price was tried and convicted in Philadelphia, on a charge of uttering counterfeit money, and sentenced to three years in the Eastern Penitentiary for the same. Among other parties suspected of being in complicity with him was one Elvin Arthur, well known to the police of Lancaster county, as having been in Columbia about the time several horses were stolen from that vieinity.

From developments made during the trial of Price, Deputy Marshal Jenkins gathered proof to justify the belief that Arthur had stolen some dozen or more horses in that county and handed them over to his accomplices in Philadelphia, who "shoved them off." Arthur was accordingly arrested and placed in prison in Lancaster to await his trial. The Lancaster Express says that they are authorized to state that the whereabouts of an unclaimed stolen horse is known to the police of Philadelphia, and will be forthcoming when identified by the lawful owner. The animal is thus described: A bay horse, nine or ten years old, about fifteen hands high, with three white spots on the left hip, a white spot on the right shoulder, and star in forehead. Any person who has lost an animal answering to this description, can obtain full particulars by addressing officer P. S. Baker, of this city.

It would be premature to state all the facts in relation to this case now in our possession, but we have good reason to believe that this arrest of Arthur will prove one of the most important ever made in the annals of horse stealing in this county. The accused hails from Muncy, but has a wife and family in Philidelphia. While in Columbia his ostensible business was employment in a rolling mill, but while there he was the object of suspicion to the police, who had reason to believe that he was one of a gang engaged in running off horses between Muncy and Philadelphis, having "stations" at the Gap and other points along the route. His trial will no doubt result in some interesting and important developments.

LIEUTENANT SMITH'S REMAINS .--- Workmen have been engaged for some days past in removing the remains from a grave-yard near the city of Philadelphia, and it was reported that the remains of Lieutenant Smith, who was hung some forty years ago, were in a perfect state of preservation. The reporter of the Philadelphia Butletin gives the following sketch of the circumstances attending his death:

"After the war, Smith became acquainted in this city with a dashing woman, of questionable rep-ntation, named Ann Carson, who kept a china store at the southwest corner of Second and Dock streets. Captain Carson, the husband of Ann, was absent from home and at sea, and two or three years elapsed without anything being heard from him. During this prolonged absence Smith and Mrs. Carson were married, and they were living together at Second and Dock streets, when the first husband suddenly returned home. Carson insisted upon his legal right to claim his wife, while the latter protested her unwillingness to live with him, and declared that her affections centered on Smith .-This condition of things led to a series ef quarrels, and finally to an attempt upon the part of Carson to eject Smith from the house. The latter then drew a pistol and fired, mortally wounding his antagonist. Mrs. Carson used every means in her power to save her paramour from the consequences of his orime; but he was convicted and ultimately executed. Between the time of the conviction of the murderer and his execution, Mrs. Carson re-sorted to every possible expedient to save him from the gallows. When efforts to procure a par don from Governor Snyder by fair means failed, extraordinary schemes were resorted to for the ac complishment of the purpose by foul measures. One of these plans was the seizure of a son of the late John Bins, who was an intimate personal and pelitical friend of the Governor's, and the holding of the boy as a hostage until a pardon could be extorted. Another scheme was to seize the Governor himself, and force him to sign a pardon under the penalty of the loss of his own life.--Plans of escape from the prison were also contrived; but all these exertions were in vain, and the murderer died miserably upon the gallows Mrs. Carson had him decently interred in the old graveyard which is the subject of our sketch, and she placed a neat stone over his grave. The double widow led a dissolute life after the enaciment of the domestic tragedy in which she had figured so prominently, and after being implicated in several crimes, she finally died miserably in a cell in the old Walnut-street prison."

ONE DIME TO THE MEMORY OF WASHINGTON .-What has become of the box in the post-office that was placed there, some time ago, to receive subscriptions to aid in erecting a monument to the memory of the Father of his Country? We have not had a report from it for a long while, and have no doubt it has become entirely neglected. In contrast to this negligence it gives us pleasure to state that our patriotic friend, "Uncle Davy" Krause, in Second street near Walnut, keeps in h's establishment a neat tin box with the inscripticy. One Dime to the Memory of Washington," to which he gives his especial attention. There is accumulated in the box quite a considerable sur. which Mr. K. intends shortly to send to the managers of the monument in Washington city. We commend "Uncle Davy's" patriotism as well worthy the imitation of our citizens.

Wood's HAIR RESTORATIVE.—Unlike most specifics, this is proved, by unimpeachable evidence, to possess great efficacy as a restorer of the hair to its pristine vigor. Where the head had become almost bald because of sickness, the use of this article has produced a bean-tiful growth of thick, glossy hair. It is therefore a val-uable preparation for all classes. Its ingredients are such as to effectually eradicate dandruff and other im-purities, which operate so injuriously to the hair. It also has curative properties of another descriptin In many cases pimples and other disfourements of the skin disappear wherever it is used. There is no hazard at-taching to the trial of this remedy, and its effects can only be beneficial, as the compound. QUACE NOSTRUM — The majority of hair washes, hair dyes, hair tonics, hair oils, and the numberless prepara-tions which are now before the public under such ex-travagant, hyperbolical and fantastic titles as we see paraded in show windows and new-paper headings, as hair preparations, are all humbugs of the first water; their real merit, when they possess any, is, that they do no harm. Hog's lard, whale oil, lard oil, sweet oil, scented and colored, make up, when in beauliful wrap-pers, and white fint glass bottles, the costliest character of tonics, and when thus costly, are baptised with some tri.syllable term, and acught at by verdant young and old of both sexes. Such as not the character of Prof. Wood's Haur Restorative. This geatleman comes before the world without any "highfautin" Xilophloforium or any other astounding and startling catch-penny term; he simply advertises a Hair Restorative=_what it expresses, precisely—and as a Restorative it acts. Buy Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and as you value your scalp, aye, your very brains, arply nothing else; for it may be that you will get some worse substance than periumed lard oil on your cranium.
