the old expedient of barbarism and blood, of which even Europe is beginning to be ashamed, for its combined folly and brutality.

Permit us, also, respectfully to remind you that the evils of war,—as we know to our bitter cost in the old world,—do not end with itself. On the contrary, it bequeaths to posterity a sinister legacy of hatred, jealousies and rivalries, and a trail upon the conscience of the world.

Entertaining these views, I cannot counsel Maryland to take sides against the General Government until it shall commit outrage upon the rights which would justify us in resisting its authority. As a consequence, I can give no other counsel than that we shall array ourselves for the Union and peace, and thus preserve our soil from being polluted with the blood of our brethren.

It seems to me that, independent of all other considerations, our geographical position forces us to this, unless we are to witness the State the theatre of a long and bloody civil war, and the consequent utter destruction of every material interest of our people, to say nothing of the blood of brave men and innocent women and children, which will cry out from our soil for vengeance upon us if we fail to do all that in us lies to avert the impending calamity.

It is my belief, however, that the full consciousness that throughout the whole of the harrassing and painful incumbency of the gubernatorial chair, I have labored honestly and faithfully for the peace, the safety, and the interests of Maryland and of our common country.

PLEA FROM ENGLAND FOR PEACE. Mr. Editor:—I have just received from the accomplished Secretary of the London Peace Society the following document, with the request that I would secure for it as early and as wide publicity as possible.

ADDRESS FROM THE PEACE SOCIETY OF LONDON TO THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES. FRIENDS AND FELLOW CHRISTIANS:—It is in no presuming or dictatorial spirit that we venture to address to you these few words of earnest sympathy and respectful expostulation, in reference to the perilous crisis in your national history through which you are now passing.

My dear son does look, and he sees Aladdin owning millions of dollars, and of all the doing good societies he is chief director. His name is as good as gold. He has bought pictures, and books, and statues. He is housed in luxury, and he pricks his mouth with a silver fork. He has a home for a poet, but he boasts that he never reads anything but the newspapers. He goes to church twice on Sundays, and only wakes up when the preacher reviles and denounces the sinners of Salem, and those tough old Jews of Jerusalem, and those tall and shaggy men in the sermons that have hit it off just thick of it! He began with nothing, and now look!
