REPAIRED -The gates in the canal lock at the foot of Walnut street, which we mentioned yesterday as being so much out of order as to place an embargo on navigation for some time, are now repaired, and navigation on the "tempestuous canawl" is resumed.

ACQUITTED OF THE CHARGE.-E. S. Waterbury, Co. G. 55th regiment P. V., was lately tried at Fort M'Henry for an act of incendiarism alleged to have been committed at Camp Curtin last winter. and acquitted of the charge. He will promptly rejoin his company at Hilton Head, of which his father, I. S. Waterbury, is Captain.

RUNAWAY.—Yesterday morning a horse, belonging to Dr. Martin, took fright while standing at the corner of Fourth street and Strawberry alley, and started on the rampage down the alley toward Front, dragging along with him the buggy to which he was attached. Being "sincerely attached" (as "Artemus" would say) to the vehicle, he did not part with it along the route, but brought up with it uninjured in front of Buehler's, at which place he was stopped. It is lucky that the bevies of children playing in the alley escaped unhurt.

IMPORTANT TO JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.—It may not be generally known that, by the amended stamp duty act, all transcripts of judgments from dockets of justices of the peace will require a five cent stamp to be attached, which must be canceled by the justice giving the transcript. The person ordering the transcript will, of course, be bound to pay the duty; but it would save time and trouble for justices to keep a supply of stamps on hand, in order that they may be affixed when required. A neglect to comply with the provisions of this act renders the transcript worthless.

FRUIT PROSPECTS .- All information which we can gather from those who ought to know represents the promise of the coming fruit crop in this most promising. The trees have pu forth blossoms profusely, and the unusual backwardness of the season has placed their germs beyond the blight of frost. Nothing but an unforseen and unexpected mishan can now cut off the promise of the crop, and we may reasonably anticipate the prospect of soon indulging in the sweets that come from nature's bountiful hand.

The growing grain crop is also looking strong and thrifty hereabouts. The accounts from the Western States are cheering, and the promise of abundance was never greater than at present. The labor of the husbandman seems to presper, and there is cause to be thankful that, in the time of our national extremity, the blight of femine is not to be added to the curse of war.

Too Hasty.—The prejudices or passions of men frequently lead them into pronouncing harsh and unfair judgments in relation to their fellow men. The Telegroph of Tuesday evening appears to have been betrayed by some personal or political motive into a one-sided account of the arrest, by officer Fleck, of one George Wood, who keeps a boarding and eating house at a place on the corner of Pine and Second streets, known as the "Leibtren House." It pronounces the place "a regular resort for soldiers, who were seen reeling to and from it in beastly states of intoxication," and records its decision in regard to the character of the place and that of its owner in the most positive and unscrupulous terms. All this indiscriminate denunciation is founded on hearsay and the suspicions of a detective officer. We have made inquiry of officers and soldiers boarding there, whose statements run directly counter to those above alluded to .-They speak of the place as orderly and decent, and say that they have seen men come there drunk. but no liquor was given them, and they were sent away as they came. We do not now pass judgment upon this case, but simply place one statement against another, leaving the decision as to guilt or innocence in the hands of the courts, where it properly belongs.

IMPUDENT BEGGARS .- The impudent importunities of a saucy beggar—one who plies the business as a regular trade, and prefers his claims with an air of undoubted right-are not calculated to sweeten a man's temper or put him in a proper frame of mind for the performance of deeds of real charity. As a community, we appear to have a fair share of this class of mendicants. The pertinacity and effrontery with which they urge their pretensions is annoying and frequently alarming. A few days ago one of the most able-bodied of this class entered a store in town, and behaved in an outrageous manner, soliciting money with such a significant air that the lady in attendance was forced to comply with his demand. It would be no misfortune if the draft should fall on such useless adjuncts to society, but it is not likely so to do, as beggars are the most notoriously lucky individuals extant. Of course, in our remarks on this head, we only mean to apply them to the undeserving From a meritorious fellow-being asking alms or food none should turn away; but when a fellow with a form as straight as a ramrod, and with muscles like a blacksmith, "bones" you for a "lift," the thing is absurd enough to make Charity tighten her purse-strings. To this branch of beggary belongs that class, amounting to something more than a brigade, who scour the country every year, getting their living on the strength of the "eruption of Mount Vesuvius," which occurred some time during the last century. Their brief generally sets forth that the Count, their father, was killed by a red-bot stone of eleven tons weight being vomited out upon him during that calumity, producing injuries from the effects of which he died. Point all such toward the door.

Row in State Street.-Yesterday afternoon a ow occurred in East State street, which for a time threatened serious if het fatal results. The confusion in which such scenes are always involved, and the various versions given of the affair, render it difficult to arrive at the facts in the case; but as near as we can ascertain the circumstances, they are as follows: A large number of soldiers, belonging to the 134th regiment, (now in camp,) more or less intoxicated by liquor, were passing by the shop of John Casey, a butcher in State street. They accosted John, one of them swearing that they had been fighting for the Constitution and the old Union. John finally declared that they "would a d-d sight rather fight for the niggers than the Irish," whereupon an indiscriminate assault was made upon him from all sides. The dauntless John, seeing that the enemy was too many for him, and that the day was going against him, retired in disorder from the field, but immediately rallied and reappeared in front of his shop with a cleaver in his hand and a determination to do or die.

With this he maintained the unequal contest for short time, inflicting slight wounds on many of the attacking party, and nearly severing the forefinger of one of his assailants. He finally beat a retreat into his shop, hotly pursued, but was rescued by a reinforcement of the women of the neighborhood, who surrounded the shop and prevented all ingress or egress. Meantime a young son of Casey's, named Michael, came to his father's assistance and squared himself for a turn at the foe. Resort was now had to stones and bludgeons, and a general melee seemed imminent; but the ubiquitous Barney came up at this juncture, and succeeded in breaking through the lines and putting a stop to further operations. The alarm of the neighborhood subsided, and the crewd slowly dis-

Oncey was much battered and bruised, but we did not learn that he received any serious injuries. "E Erin pluribus, unum go bragh!" would be an appropriate motto to be engraved on his family escutcheon.

The following note from Mr. Casey explains itself:

Editors Patriot and Union :- I am known as a peaceable citizen. To-day a lot of soldiers attempted to commit some ugly work on my premises, and when I thought to stop them they hammered me, and about five of them gave me a pretty good beating, but without much hurt. I advise any person not to come to fight with us; for from this night after we will do all we can in the way protecting ourselves. JOHN CASEY. May 20, 1863.

POLICE AFFAIRS .- Before Alderman Kline .-Emma Utz, an old offender, found drunk and prowling around the depot yesterday morning, was taken in charge by officer Deeters, and committed to jail for thirty days. She is a renowned bummer," and has been in and out of jail for a good part of her natural life.

An individual who had been imbibing to freely to stand the pressure was also before the magistrate yesterday. He gave his name as John Drunk, was charged with drunkenness, and it was clearly settled that John was drunk. He got twenty-four hours of quiet retirement.

An insane man, loitering about the door of a boarding house in Walnut street, seemingly without purpose or knowledge of where he was or what he wanted, was handed over to officer Campbell. He said he was from New York, had a railroad ticket on his person for that city, and was committed to prison over night for safe keeping. He left town yesterday morning.

A wounded soldier, badly disabled by a wound in the leg which had partially healed, was wheeled before the Magistrate, and by him sent to prison for twenty-four hours.

THER Pic-Nic.-The first pic-nic of the "Eintracht" Singing Association is announced to come off at Haehnlen's woods on Monday next. The association has made every preparation to render it a most attractive and agreeable rural entertainment. We commend the seeker after pleasure or relaxation to the inducements which this occasion holds forth. There will be good company, good music, and a hearty welcome to all respectable comers.

Omnibuses will run every hour from L. Konig's residence in Chestnut street.

TROUBLE BREWING .- There seems to be serious trouble brewing at the Lykens Valley coal mines, leased by our townsman, Henry Thomas. The miners, it appears, are on a strike for higher wages, and it is feared that, unless the strike can be checked, the destruction of property must be large. Mr. Thomas telegraphed for Sheriff Boas, who left for the scene of the disturbance yesterday noon, since which time we have not heard from the rieters. We will endeavor to give the facts as early as possible.

PERSONAL.-Hon. Horace Maynard and Hon. Baillie Peyton, the former a member and the latter an ex-member of Congress, were in town yesterday, stopping at the Jones House. The object of their visit is to obtain authority from the Governor to raise a brigade in this State for operations in Tennessee.

Col. Strawbridge, 76th regiment P. V., left this city yesterday to rejoin his command in the Department of South Carolina.
