CLIMATIC CHANGES .- In vesterday's issue we gave our theory on which to account for the sudden atmospheric changes to which our climate is subject. We had intended to elaborate the subject, but have concluded instead, to advise our readers, if it rains, to procure an umbrella at M. H. Lee's, 69 Market street; if the sun shines, get an umbrella or sunshade at Lee's, where you can also procure a magnificent cane and other fancy articles cheap.

MUSTERED OUT AT LAST,-After awaiting patiently the routine which attends the mustering out process, the 127th regiment begins to see the end. Some of the companies were yesterday mustered out, and the rest seon will be. The delay has been caused by informality in some of the company rolls, which we understand has been corrected. Company F led off yesterday, being the first to don the garb and title of citizens; the remaining companies were to follow suit forthwith.

TO THE OFFICERS AND SOLDIERS OF THE 127TH REGIMENT .- EDITORS PATRIOT AND UNION :- Not having an opportunity to bid my comrades in arms a farewell, I take the medium of the press to express to the officers and members of the 127th regiment P. V., my heartfelt thankfulness for the many acts of kindness shown me, and their good attention to the teachings of the Holy Writ, for the nine months we served together. They shall never be forgotten, and in my prayers, to Him who brought us safely through the battles will I commend them. Officers and members of the 127th regiment, God bless you! Farewell! Late your JOHN C. GREGG. chaplain.

HARRISBURG, May 28, 1863.

POLICE AFFAIRS. Before Alderman Kline. Late on Thursday night officer Fry arrested a woman, who refused to give her name, for street running and vagabondizing generally. Sent to prison for ten days.

Yesterday afternoon two soldiers, James Clark and John Depuy, were arrested in the midst of a drunken and disorderly career on the corner of Third and Walnut, by officers Deeters and Brooks. One of them had just been amusing himself by shying brickbats at a darkey's cranium. Committed for twenty-four hours.

In the evening, officers Fry and Essig arrested Julia Ann M'Keel in the neighborhood of South street, where she was found wretchedly drunk. She will stay in jail until sober.

Knows ALL ABOUT IT .- Mendacity has of late years become reduced to a science. It has its degrees, its novices and its experts. It is a manysided science, assuming all manner of modes and guises. Falsehood may take the form of a gentle suppression of the truth, of an economical use of the truth, of direct and palpable untruth. or of boundless exaggeration of fact. The most accomplished expert in this latter branch of the science that has yet come within the range of our observation is the Harrisburg correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer. Let us take a statement or two from his letter to that paper, describing the late disturbance between the soldiers and negroes back of the Capitol.

He says that, after the assault made by Toop upon the soldiers, "a regiment appeared from Camp Curtin at the scene of the fray, at about 11 o'clock, and gutted the establishment from cellar to garret." This is correct enough, with the exception that no assault was made by Toop, no regiment came down from Camp Curtin, and the whole affair was over before 11 o'clock.

We further learn that "a negro, much exasperated, firing at the soldiers from a concealed place, shot one of them through the hand; and in returning the fire the soldier, by accident, hit a comrade of the 135th, the ball passing through the left side." Correct again, with the exception that no shot was fired by a negro, no soldier was shot through the hand, (but a young man from Alteona cas wounded in the hand by a random shot from a soldier,) and no soldier of the 135th, or any other regiment, was wounded in the side, or any other part of the body, by either soldier, citizen or ne-

Here is an item of news for our firemen : "Fears were entertained that the soldiers would fire that quarter of the town, and the fire bells were rung. and several fire companies were prepared to proceed to the scene should their services be required." So far from being "prepared" for anything of the kind, the most of our firemen, being men of good habits, were asleep in bed at the time the "fire bells were rung." The only slarm sounded that night was by a single bell, about midnight, for a supposed fire in the suburbs of town.

Our enterprising Munchausen further indulgeth a conjecture as to the probable results of a fire in Tanners alley: "This quarter of the town is almost entirely eccupied by light wooden buildings, and a fire originating there must have swept with its devastating flames for a half mile around, en dangering the Capitol." Indeed? Prithee, tell us, friend "Jenkins," what has become of the fire companies, which you had in readiness a moment ago, prepared to prevent any conflagration? By the way, we would remind "Jenkins" of certain "devastating flames" once seen by a hely man in Apocalyptic vision, which also swept for miles around, greatly endangering all capital story-tel-

The indefatigable correspondent is also at fault in his chronology. He says: "All this was accomcomplished between the hours of eleven and twelve." All this was over long before that time. The charge that "Toop is clearly amenable for selling liquor in contravention" of the Mayor's six o'clock proclamation, is also an item of news in this section.

The whole letter is one of the most original that was ever made up in Harrisburg. It is of a piece with dozens of others named here by the same master hand. Let any one take up a file of the Inquirer, and he will find just such jewels scattered along its pages in a string that would "stretch out to the crack of doom." Their author should be crowned prince of fiction, and gartered a Knight of the Order of Munchausen, for, in the matter of lying, he has "got the start of this majestic world" in a manner wonder ful to behold.

Interesting to Hotel Keepers .- The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has made the following decision concerning licenses of hotel keepers and liquor dealers: "The act of Congress of the first day of July, 1862, called the Excise Law, directs that 'every place where food and lodging are provided for, and furnished travelers and sojourners in view of payment, shall be regarded as a hotel, inn or tavern, under the act.' In order, therefore, to be entitled to carry on that branch of business which consists in accommodating travelers and sejourners with food and lodging for pay, the keeper must have a license; and the class to which his hotel belongs, reckoned according to its rental value, determines the sum of money which the license will cost him. If that value is $10,000, he must pay $200; but if it is $100, he must pay $5. The license fee is graded according to the rent or rental value, and there are three different classes to which the fee assigned is less than $20. "If to the business of providing for travelers and sojourners, the hotel keeper adds the retailing of spirituous liquors, he is required to pay an additional sum of $20 for license; and this he must pay, whether his botel belongs to the first, last or any intermediate class.

"By the 43d section of the supplement approved March 3d, 1863, no alteration is made in the act of July 1, 1862, except that the latter prohibits the person licensed to keep an hotel from selling liquors to be taken off the premises. This is intended to prevent an hotel keeper licensed to sell liquors, as well as food and lodging, from pursuing, under cover of his license, a distinct branch of business, and entering into competition with apothecaries, merchants or others, who may be allowed by the local law to sell, by retail, liquors to be carried off the premises, and who like the hotel keeper must, in each case, pay for his privilege a license fee of $20."

ALL Over .- The long agony is over. Dan Gardner has been, and seen, and conquered, and gone with his circus. All that was left of it yesterday was a ring of heaped up turf, a lot of tentpin holes sticking in the ground, and a few pecks of peanut hulls. The scene of Thursday's proceedings had an air of interest about it, like the mournful glory of a deserted battle-field. It was difficult for one to realize, as he tramped around among the empty ground-nut bulls, that the gifted acrobats and the talented clown and mules had moved upon that self-same spot but a few hours before, and that Pennsylvania's capital had gathered there, and "lamps shone o'er brave women and fair men." Yet such was the melancholy

We shall always cherish tender recollections of the side-show-of the "fattest woman in the known the side-show—of the "fattest woman in the known world"—of the "double-headed calf"—of the "happy family," consisting of one man and one monkey —of the "prairie welfves," and of the man what eat stones like bread, and swallowed swords as if they had been lozenges. The boy who ground the organ in the corner gives evidence of a high order of musical talent, and will make a muscular man if he keeps at it. We found nothing inside to correspond with the pictures on the canvas of the "young gorilla, which lives upon the flesh of African infants," or of the "variegated flamingo," which sticks its bill into the sand and whistles—as best it can; but we nevertheless found much to adbest it can; but we nevertheless found much to admire in the pictures as works of fice art. But we forbear to pursue further this mournful theme .-Past joys turn to sorrows in the retrospect. Let us turn our gaze hopefully toward the fature, and await the coming of the next hippodrome.

DEAD .- The death of Mr. John M'Vey, a conductor on the Pennsylvania railroad, long known as a resident in this community, is announced as having occurred in Philadelphia on Tuesday last. | risburg, and dealers everywhere

HARRISBURG CEMETERY .- It is shown by an official statement that the managers of this association have invested in United States bonds $2,000; that the treasurer has a cash balance of $621, and that the income exceeds the expenditures about $2,000 a year. It is known that, with all this surplus, there are many farmer's fences better kept than those of this corporation, and that the means of access to its beautiful ground is of the most primitive-one may almost say most dangerouscharacter. This accumulation of a fund is a wrong to the proprietors of the ground, and a plain violation of section 5, which provides that as soon as the ground is paid for, every lot holder shall become a corporator, and "that all the money raised thereafter from the sale of lots shall be expended in improving, repairing and maintaining said cemetery"-evidently not contemplating, nay forbidding, the accumulation of money in United States bonds or any thing else. The various tickets presented for the public support on Monday show how much interest is felt in the proper ornament and maintenance of this beautiful "city of the dead," which indeed it should be our care to cherish and adorn. From Rev. J. Newton Brown, D. D., Editor of Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge.

Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingredients and effects, I yet know of no sufficient ressons why a man may not testify to the benefit he believes himself to have received from any simple preparation, in the hope that he may thus centrioute to the benefit of others.

in the hope that he may thus centribute to the benefit of others.

I do this more readily in regard to "Hoofland's Germar Bitters," prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this city because I was prejudiced against them for years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture. I am indebted to may friend, Robert Bhommaker, Esq., for the removal of this prejudice by proper test, and for encouragement to try them when suffering from great and long continued debility. The use of three bottles of those Bitters, at the beginning of the present year, was followed by evident relief and restoration tendegree of badily and mental rigor which I had not fet for six months before, and had almost despaired of regaining. I therefore thank God and my friend for directing me to the use of them
