FOURTH WARD DEMCCRACY .- In pursuance of a call, a large and enthusiastic meeting of the Democracy of the Fourth ward was held at the public nouse of Michael Hair, in Canal street, on Wednesday evening, 10th inst. Several addresses were delivered, and resolutions reaffirming the devotion of the party to the Constitution and Union were ananimously passed. An adjournment was then had, to meet again at the call of the president.

A MISTAKE .- A day or two since we stated as a defences for the various bridges along their line. We announced this on the authority of those whom we trusted; but, as we have heard the statement officially denied, can pronounce it incorect. It is in itself a matter of no great imporcance to any but those directly interested, yet we should be sorry to have misled our readers or the public touching any matter whatever.

THE WERVIL IN CUMBERLAND COUNTY,-This insect, which has proved so destructive to the grain in some parts of this State, has visited some of the felds in Camberland, Lancaster and other counties. Some varieties are but little disturbed, but the common white variety suffers greatly in some localities. The farmers express the hope, however, that the grain crop will be very good, if not visited by heavy rains or strong winds, which will have

VANDALISM.—Some time during this week the grounds of Mr. Christian Hachnlen were entered ty trespassers, and much damage done to the grove and to the young fruit trees growing in the field adjoining. A large number of the latter were cut down. This barbarity was, it is supposed, perpe_ rated by parties who were in attendance at a picaic there. As a consequence the grove, familiarly snown as "Haebnlen's woods," will no longer be allowed for pic-nic purposes. Thus, by the vanialism of a few destructionists, the public is deprived of one of its favorite places of summer re-

Police Affairs .- Before Alderman Kline .-Testerday was comparatively a dull day at police headquarters, but three cases being up. Eliza Green, a negro vagrant, was arrested by officer Campbell, and committed ten days.

Christiana Thomas, another of the same sort, was also rushed up to the "captain's office" by

Barney, and booked for a like period. James Shay was arrested by officer Campbell yesterday morning for assaulting John Harrington cear the City Hotel. The assault was very aggraated, and was unprovoked on the part of Harrington, who is a much smaller man than his astailant. He was followed up, knocked down and severely kicked, so that he was carried away from the scene of the outrage in an almost insensible condition. Shay, who works at one of the iron foundries in town, was, in default of bail, committed to answer at court.

Needless Severity.—On Tuesday a soldier was arrested for misconduct at a house of ill fame in this city, and brought before Alderman Peffer, who committed him for a further hearing. Arrived at the prison door, the prisoner, who was doubtless drunk and to a certain extent irresponsible, made a show of resistance to the constable who had him in charge. Whereupon the valiant officer drew his mace and dealt the unfortunate man a stunning blow on the head, rendering him quite powerless. The exercise of such power under such circumstances was needless and cruel, as the constable could by a single word have commanded the assistance of the bystanders. It is seldom that a good police officer draws the mace, and it is only in cases of extreme peril that he considers a resort to its use at all justifiable. In cases like the one in question, its use was an abuse of privilege on the part of the Mastodon, whose conduct will be denounced as cruel and uncalled for by men of true courage and Rindly feeling.

NEW MILITARY DEPARTMENT .- A new military department has just been organized by the government, the headquarters of which will be in Pittsburg. It comprises Western Pennsylvania and Western Virginia, and will be known as the "Department of the Monongahela." No commandant has yet been assigned to the department. Gen. Bernhard, an eminent government engineer, left Washington, it is said, on the 7th, for the purpose of superintending the erection of defensive works at Pittsburg and other points, and it is thought that those places will soon be defended by works strong enough to repel any force of rebels likely to be sent against them. We learn that offers of troops, to be raised for "home defence" along the border, - have been made to the authorities at Washington, but that none can be accepted except such as are willing to go whenever needed to any other points which may be endangered. Be that as it may, it is probable that Pennsylvania will soon be in a position to repel the invader and defend her goodly possessions from the hands of the spoiler.

A RAID AMONG THE "COPPERBEADS."-The pecple of Northampton and Monroe counties were considerably excited last week by reports that resistance had been offered to the enrolling officers in Monroe county. From the accounts which reach us from that section, we gather the following facts: It seems that a Mr. Tidd, who had been employed to make the enrollment in a certain portion of Monroe county, is quite a young man and disposed to be saucy in his intercourse with the people. He called at a blacksmith shop in Polk township, and whilst there got into an altercation on political topics with a young man who was not at all backward in expressing his detestation of Abelitionists in general and the administration in particular. This led to some personal remarks between Tidd and some other bystanders, one of whom in a joking way suggested that he be rode on a rail. Thereupon Tidd flourished a revolver, and the old blacksmith called to his wife for his rifle, when Tidd took to his heels and never stopped till he reached Gilbert's store, about one mile distant. He then went to Easton and laid the facts before Provost Marshal Yohe. This officer, on Friday afternoon, summoned a posse of about twenty-five men, armed them with muskets and handcuffs, and started in five twohorse conveyances for the Blue Mountains. Making his headquarters at a hotel in that vicinity, the Marshal sent out scouts to accortain the whereabouts of the enemy and arrest the guilty parties. But neither of these gentlemen were to be found. They had "smelt a mice" and gone on a fishing excursion. One old gentleman was taken from his bed, handcuffed and brought before the Marshal, who discharged him on being satisfied that he was the wrong man. The houses of the accused parties were searched, and three men, riding by on horseback, were brought before the Marshal and. after a hearing, discharged. On Saturday the entire party returned, with no prisoners, but satisthe street sprinkler, was lost yesterday afternoon | fied with the excellent hotel accommodations which they had received. . This is all there was of it. Of course, this little episode will be swelled into immense proportions, and we look to see the Abolition journals announcing the fact in flaming capitals that a bloody resistance has been offered to the enrollment—that Col. Yohe was repulsed in his first attack upon the "disloyal copperheads," but had been reinforced and had driven the enemy across Tobyhanna creek, capturing their gans and ammunition, 10 charcoal wagons, 500 pounds of maple sugar and 3,000 prisoners.

The disturbance in Monroe county was provoked by the insolonce and bravado of the enrolling officer. He was not attending to his business, but turned aside to higgle on politics. Instead of enrolling the names, he took upon himself the supererogatory task of teaching lessons of "loyalty" to men old enough, perhaps, to be his father. When such an official malapert attempts to foist hateful political doctrines upon an old citizen of tried loyalty and courage, he ought not only to be "resistfact that the Pennsylvania railroad was preparing | ed," but kicked out. In this case the officer got off easy; a mile foot-race was a light punishment for his superserviceable insolence. Very few men will be interfered with in the legitimate discharge of their duties as enrolling commissioner. We venture to assert that a sensible, courteous, judicious man could enroll any county in the State without difficulty or danger.

EXTRAORDINARY CASE.—We had the pleasure yesterday of conversing with Lieutenant William Geety, a citizen of this place, who belongs to the Forty-seventh Pennsylvania regiment, Col. Good, and was wounded in the battle of Pocotaligo, South Carolina, on the 22d of October last. His case is the most extraordinary we have ever seen. While standing on the field that day, giving orders to his men, a shraphell shell from the enemy's batteries struck the ground about five feet in front the effect of laying and injuring the coming har- of him, expleded, and threw easing and balls in every direction. One of these balls, a cast-iron one, fully half an inch in diameter, struck him fairly between the eyes, entered his head in an upward direction, struck the base of the skull and then glanced down behind the left jaw. lodging at last in the left side of his neck, close behind the carotid artery. There it remained ever since, as its extraction was deemed a bazardous operation by the various surgeons who examined it, in consequence of its dangerous proximity to that artery. As its long lodgment there had become annoying and unsightly, the patient determined to risk its extraction, and on Friday last the operation was successfully performed by Dr. J. P. Wilson, hospital surgeon at Camp Curtin.

> Lieut, G. informs us that he knew nothing of his injury at the time he received the wound-in other words, "didn't know what hurt him"-and that he lay partially insensible for three days. When he at length "became aware of himself," he found that his left eye had been entirely destroyed and his face badly torn by a portion of the shellcasing, and that the nerves of sensation on the left side of his face and neck had been destroyed. To this fact he attributes his recovery, as no man with nerves could have endured the suffering which would otherwise have ensued. One of the strange effects of his wounds is the partial destruction of the sense of tuste, which was so much interfered with as to render him unable to distinguish with accuracy between different flavors.

> Lieutenant Geety is now at home in this city on recruiting service. His wounds have all healed. thanks to a healthy habit of body; and, although never more vigorous than the average of men, he is now in the enjoyment of better health than when he went into the service. He must be a wonder to himself as well as to others, for he has stood on the extremest verge of the dark river and felt the splashing of its floods.
