POLICE AFFAIRS.-Yesterday's police calendar was uninteresting. But two arrests were madenot worth noticing. It will be lively enough next week, however.

THE German Reformed Minister, Rev. Kurtzmar, will preach in the Good Will engine house, Ridge road, to-morrow (Sunday) forencen at 10 o'clock in the German, and in the afternoon at 3 o'clock, in the English language.

HARRISBURG TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION, No. 14 .heir hall this (Saturday) evening at 61 o'clock.punctual attendance is respectfully requested. HARRY SLEP, Sec'y.

CITIZEN FIRE COMPANY .- The members of the Citizen fire engine and hose company will assemat their hall this (Saturday) evening, June 13 .-Punctual attendance is requested, as business of importance will be transacted. By order of the PRESIDENT.

FIRST WARD DEMOCRATIC CLUB .- A stated meeting of this club will be held at the Ward House, (Louis Kosnig's,) Paxton street, this evening at 72 o'clock. The meeting will be addressed by several able speakers. The Democracy of the city are invited to attend. By order of the club. GEO. G. WEAVER, JR., Sec'y.

AROTHER .- Mr. Rebert Stoppel, of Homer, Indiana county, a brakesman on the Pennsylvania railroad, was caught between the bumpers of two freight cars, a day or two since, crushing his legs in a horrible manner, and causing his death in a few minutes. The accident occurred near Beatty's station, and was caused by the breaking of an

NOT AS BAD AS REPORTED .- Mr. Christian Haehnlen informs us that in yesterday's paper we overstated the amount of damage done his grove and fruit trees lately by malicious parties. He says that but few trees were injured, and that the grove is now engaged by the Paxton hose company, who will hold a picnic there on the Fourth. He has not fully determined to close the grove. So our informant is mistaken, and, if he knew better, we wish he had one of those young fruit trees playing on him from behind.

STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL .- At the last meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association it was resolved to give a strawberry festival for the purpose of raising funds for the increase of the Association library. The festival will be given next week, the precise day to be announced hereafter. We have no doubt that the novelty of the entertainment, as well as the cause whose interest is to be promoted, will call forth the earnest co-operation of our citizens. Boquets of flowers and other contributions in aid of the festival are solicited.

AN OUTRAGE, -About midnight of Thursday a man and woman drummed Alderman Kline out of bed and demanded to be married. Although a little ruffled at being dragged from the "arms of Murphy" at such an unseasonable hour on such an unreasonable errand, he complied with the best grace he could, hitched them, and bade them go in peace. The whole affair is about equal to the Vallandigham outrage. But then people will marry, "in season and out of season," and the man who would oppose Cupid in his arbitrary arrests and demands is too big a fool to be a magistrate.

heavy rains fell throughout the western part of the State yesterday, thus putting an end to the drouth which was prevailing in that section .-Very little rain had fallen in that vicinity for six weeks, and the crops, at one time exceedingly promising, were beginning to suffer severely in consequence. The calamity of a short harvest has been mercifully averted, however, and the people will be rejoiced in consequence more than at the fall of Vicksburg or a victory on the Rappahannock.

At Brant's Hall To-night .- A somewhat rare and promising programme is announced at Brant's Hall to-night. "The Southern Refugee," better known as the "Scout of the Shenandoah Valley," will appear in full rebel uniform and give a description of the rebel army, the rebel generals, life in the South during the rebellion, &c. Added to this there will be on exhibition a museum of rebel curiosities. The Scout's story will doubtless prove an interesting one, filled as it is with "hairbreadth 'scapes and moving accidents by flood and field." His manner is said to be pleasing, and his treatment of his subject is highly spoken of by the critics and the journalists.

THE NEW MILITARY DEPARTMENT .- Major Gen. Brook has assumed command of the new military department lately erected by the President, which we noticed in yesterday's paper, with headquarters at Pittsburg. The department, as stated by the order of the Secretary of War, will embrace all that portion of Western Pennsylvania west of Johnstown and the Laurel Hill range of mountains, the counties of Hancock, Brooke and This in the State of Virginia, and the counties of Columbiana, Jefferson and Belmont in the State of Ohio. Gen. Bernard, an accomplished engineer, is now in Pittsburg, laying out defences for the city.

INDEPENDENCE ISLAND .- This pleasant, shady retreat, lying like an emerald in the clear bosom of the Susquehanna, is now open to the public, as will be seen by reference to an advertisement elsewhere. Those who resort to its grateful shades may be assured of a cheerful welcome at the hands of its gentlemanly and agreeable proprietors, Messrs. Becker and Folk, under whose auspices it will remain during the present season. The swings scattered here and there, and the dancing platform raised in the centre of the island, afford ample means of amusement to parties and picnics, and its proximity to town is not the least inducement it holds out to the seeker after pleagure and recreation.

GOING TO CELEBRATE.—The members of the Hope fire company intend to celebrate the coming anniversary of our national Independence with a grand pic-nic, to be given at Hoffman's woods on the afternoon of the glorious Fourth. It will be-Providence and the draft permitting-a friendly, free-hearted and patriotic re-union of the "Hope" boys, who have for a time past been disunited by the chances of war, in which every mother's son of them is expected to give his patriotism full swing and "pitch in" to make an old fashioned celebration-a celebration that will show to sinners and secessionists that the immortal Fourth isn't exactly "played out" yet. The Goddess of Liberty is expected to be there in person, having just arrived from Europe and been engaged for the occasion at seventy-five dollars a week. There isn't a particle of doubt about everything being lovely and the bird soaring high on the ogeasion All ladies and gentlemen of good moral character will please consider themselves invited without further notice.

IMPROVEMENT IN THE ART OF FISHING .- It has been customary heretofore to catch fish either by drag-net, spear or hook and line, and we little dreamed until day before yesterday that these old and simple methods would ever be improved upon by the restless and inventive mind of this nineteenth century. But "old things pass away and all things become new;" and we now make the announcement that a new method of fishing has been sought out and found by a gentleman in our midst-by one of our own bright and promising sports, living right in this town, in this very department of the Susquehannock. It came about in this way : A party of the disciples of Izaak Walton were over at Oyster's dam on a piscatorial excursion. One of the party, after watching his cork vainly for "time, times and a half a time," finally, despaired of a nibble in that spot, and jerked hook and line out of the A stated meeting of this Union will be held at | water in order to throw them further out into the stream. In swinging out over his head, the hook eaught in an overhanging limb, leaving the cork to droop gracefully below and float upon the rippling water. And there through a long dreary hour sat the patient fisher, his artistic eye watching intently the slightest motion of the cork. The little innocent "caddies" didn't understand itdidn't "see the point," in fact, of such fishingseemed to think there was too much cork and too little worm-and accordingly laughed at the innovating angler. Turning to a friend, he cursed his bad luck, to which the friend, glancing first at him and then at the, tree mildly remarked that "a man's luck in fishing depended much on where he put the bait. You know, C., if the worm is up in a tree like that, no fish has wind enough to climb up to it on a warm day!" The patient angler looked aloft. The scales fell from his eyes. The oath and the look which followed was a scene for a painter, and we don't know any one that could paint it better than the angler himself.

GOTTSCHALK .- Gottschalk is coming. The simple announcement will be sufficient. His fame as a pianist, now world-wide and supereminent, will draw to him every lover of the wonderful and beautiful in music. He is the greatest of living pianists. Only those who hear him know what music lies in the piano, ready to be called forth by a master hand. The eye and ear follow him in bewilderment, as his fingers press the keys with most delicate touch or sweep over them with incredible swiftness, now lulling the listener with far-off music, soft and clear as the "horns of Elfland faintly blowing," and anon sounding some thunder march, loud and majestic as the roar of a cataract. Concerning his performance, a great and competent musical critic says:

The execution of Gottschalk is of that character which carries everything before it-neither prejudice, prepossession, precedent or favoritism can stand before the majesty of his power. He is im-mense. He arcuses at will, with his delicate touches or the fullness of his effort, all the finer emotions of the soul, and the imagination is led like a little child, through the varied beauties, or down into the abysmal horrors of fancy. Now the plaintive breathings of his theme charm you into sweet forgetfulness, from which you are aroused by sonorous thunders of awful melody-again merging into rich pastures and wandering beside still waters of peace. From the roar of a tempest to the low wail of an infant's lullaby, is but the transition of a mement-and you may hear the howl of demons "from the vasty deep" which only prepares you for the hymns of angels from the singing spheres. The laugh of children in pleasant meadows; whispers of winds among the pines; the murmurs of multitudes in growing anger; the lowing ot herds in lonely valleys, and the tinkle of pastoral bells: the sound of the woodman's ax, and the echoings of bird-songs in the trees above; the noise of machinery; the rumble of incoming trains; the roar of the gale in the shrouds of ships at sea; the soothing, monotonous echoes of waterfalls; all these you remember—you hear—embellished with all the mellifluous concord of sweet sounds embodied in the poetry evoked by the power of his gehand to-thong ins. No matter what he outs his you may say in your heart you cannot like thisyou will find yourself enraptured irresistibly ere the finale dies away. His effects are always startling-ever free and entrancing.

WARS AND RUMORS OF WARS .- The air of the city was full of portents yesterday, and rumors flitted about like flies in twilight. One man said that four thousand rebels were within four days' march of this place. The next man we met was in the first stage of demoralization, and hurriedly told us that forty thousand rebs, under command of Stonewall Jackson, were within ten miles of the city, and thought that something ought to be done. Men stood here and there in squade, the more valorous laying out the plans of the campaign. and the timid ones, "whispering with white lips, The foe-they come! they come!!" hurrying off to take a drink. It is due to the militia of last September, to which we had the honor of belonging, to say that their conduct through the trying scenes of yesterday was cool, determined and selfpossessed. They are a sheet-anchor in time of MUST WEAR THE UNIFORM .- A recent order from the Provost Marshal General directs all provost marshals to wear the captain's uniform, as prescribed by the army regulations. Heretofore they have been clad only in citizen's dress. We cannot see that any change was necessary, as it only serves to make him more conspicuous in the discharge of a duty that is sometimes hazardous and disagreeable, and it is not, of course, needed to distinguish him on the battle field.

FATAL ACCIDENT .- On Wednesday a man named Snider was run over by the express train, going west, near Latrobe, on the Pennsylvania railroad, and instantly killed. Mr. Snider was an aged man and very deaf. He was in a wagon at the time. driving his horse, and was in the act of crossing the track when struck by the engine.
