MONDAY MORNING, JUNE 15, 1863.

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS.

The following sound and sensible article we clip from the Pittsburg Post:

PEACE CONVENTIONS. The peace convention lately held in New York city, is causing the most influential of the Democratic press of the country considerable discussion.

There has been much depreciation of a division of the Democratic party. We share in admiration of the moderation of the platform, and we are glad to see that it will stand as a champion to the utterance.

Under the name of the Democratic party, we look to regularly elected and constituted conventions for the promulgation of platforms, and the resolves of one of these are always considered binding until superseded by those of a new organization legitimately chosen.

Desirable as peace is, and anxious as we all are for its speedy return to distracted America, there is one separation of the States of the Union—under circumstances. This fact being as under as destiny, we should like to know how, at the present time, Fernando Wood is to bring about the only sort of peace which our people will even hesitate to consider.

Under the name of the Democratic party, we look to regularly elected and constituted conventions for the promulgation of platforms, and the resolves of one of these are always considered binding until superseded by those of a new organization legitimately chosen.
