

RATES OF ADVERTISING. Four lines or less constitute half a square. Ten lines or more than four, constitute a square. Half sq., one day, $1.00; one week, $5.00; one month, $10.00; three months, $25.00; six months, $45.00; one year, $80.00.

Patriot & Union. HARRISBURG, PA. TUESDAY, JUNE 23, 1863. PRICE TWO CENTS.

PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING, SUNDAYS EXCEPTED, BY O. BARRETT & CO. THE DAILY PATRIOT AND UNION will be served to subscribers residing in the city for one year in advance.

Business Cards. ROBERT SNODGRASS, ATTORNEY AT LAW, Office with Hon. David Mumma, jr., Third Street, above Market, Harrisburg, Pa.

WHITE SULPHUR AND CHALYBEATE SPRINGS, At Doubling Gap, Penn. JAMES D. HENDLEY, Proprietor, Late of Kirkwood House, Washington.

Medical. DR. SWEET'S INFALLIBLE LINIMENT, THE GREAT EXTERNAL REMEDY, FOR RHEUMATISM, GOUT, NEURALGIA, LUMBAGO, STIFF NECK AND JOINTS, SPRAINS, BRUISES, CUTS & WOUNDS, PTILRS, HEADACHES, AND ALL RHEUMATIC AND NERVOUS DISORDERS.

The Patriot & Union. TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 23, 1863. THE DEMOCRATIC PRESS OF THE STATE ON THE NOMINATIONS.

we are certain that no honest man, Democrat or Republican, will be disappointed on learning the results. The contest between democratic republicanism and despotic centralized power will soon open; let patriots flock to the standard of liberty and right, resolved to win.

public with such State officials as Horatio Seymour, Joel Parker and Geo. W. Woodward. They will see that the rights of the people are not trifled with. Next week we will speak in full of the proceedings. The meeting was one of the largest and most enthusiastic ever held in the State. VIVE REPUBLIC.

WM. H. MILLER, R. E. FERGUSON, ATTORNEYS AT LAW, OFFICE IN SHOE MAKER'S BUILDINGS, SECOND STREET, BETWEEN WALNUT AND MARKET SQUARE.

SEASON OPENS 15th JUNE, 1863. These Springs are in Cumberland county, Penn., 30 miles west of Harrisburg. They are accessible from all the principal cities by railroad to Harrisburg, thence by the Cumberland Valley railroad to Newville; from Newville, 8 miles good stage to the Springs. The stage is always in waiting upon the arrival of the cars at Newville.

DR. SWEET'S INFALLIBLE LINIMENT, THE GREAT EXTERNAL REMEDY, FOR RHEUMATISM, GOUT, NEURALGIA, LUMBAGO, STIFF NECK AND JOINTS, SPRAINS, BRUISES, CUTS & WOUNDS, PTILRS, HEADACHES, AND ALL RHEUMATIC AND NERVOUS DISORDERS.

The Reading Democrat, published at the home of Mr. Clymer, says: The Democratic State Convention, which met at Harrisburg on Wednesday last, has given to the people of this Commonwealth two candidates of whom they have every reason to feel proud.

The nomination of the Hon. George W. Woodward was greeted with the wildest enthusiasm. The unspotted integrity of his character, his eminence as a jurist, his large experience, his quiet but firm adherence to the principles of the Democratic party, and the high respect with which he is regarded by all and every class of citizens, render him worthy an honor which he will adorn.

We extract the following from the Philadelphia correspondence of the New York Tribune: "We are gratified beyond measure at the whole-souled promptitude of New York. What Governor Seymour has done to aid the good work has been a surprise as well as a gratification. We did not expect as much at his hands. Your 7th regiment has played a most important and useful part, and is entitled to the lasting gratitude of all Pennsylvania. In New Jersey Governor Parker has surprised us in the same way. On Tuesday he addressed one of the returned regiments in very appropriate terms. He told them that if New Jersey was anywhere to be defended, it was on Pennsylvania soil—that one veteran among them was equal to a dozen raw recruits, and urged them to again march for the defence of their friends. The appeal was made in response to a dispatch from Gov. Curtin that he would urge these returned men to fly to Harrisburg."

THOS. C. MACDOWELL, ATTORNEY AT LAW, MILITARY CLAIM AND PATENT AGENT, Office in Burke's Row, Third Street, (Up Stairs) Having formed a connection with parties in Washington City, we are reliable business men, and connected with any of the Departments will meet with immediate and careful attention.

FIRE! FIRE! FIRE! PHILADELPHIA, May 30, 1863. M. C. Sadler, Esq., Dear Sir:—During the night of May 19, 1863, our Grocery and Provision Store, at North Second and Willow streets, took fire at about 2 o'clock a. m., and before the fire engines could get upon the fire, our whole stock of goods, including much combustible material, and amounting to over $2,000, were wholly destroyed. We had one of your No. 11 Chilled Iron Safes, which was in the hottest part of the fire, and it came out of the fire not in the least injured, and the contents inside were not affected in the least, and we consider the safe just as good a protection against fire now as before, and we use it hereafter with increased confidence. The lock works as perfectly as before the fire. Yours truly, M. C. SADLER, 110 North Second St.

DR. SWEET'S INFALLIBLE LINIMENT, THE GREAT EXTERNAL REMEDY, FOR RHEUMATISM, GOUT, NEURALGIA, LUMBAGO, STIFF NECK AND JOINTS, SPRAINS, BRUISES, CUTS & WOUNDS, PTILRS, HEADACHES, AND ALL RHEUMATIC AND NERVOUS DISORDERS.

The Convention transacted its business promptly. Its proceedings were not impeded or delayed by protracted discussions upon minor points of difference, or factious disputes in regard to important questions. The nomination of George W. Woodward was but a young man, yet his ability, clearness and logical acumen caused him even then to be regarded as one of the most promising men in Pennsylvania.

Of this all parties may be certain, that Judge Woodward understands the Constitution and laws of the United States and of the State of Pennsylvania, and when he takes the oath required as Governor of Pennsylvania, he will keep it in the letter and spirit. Of the Hon. Walter H. Lowrie, candidate for Justice of the Supreme Court, it is needless to speak here. Comparatively unknown, he was elected a member of the Supreme Court, and is at present Chief Justice. As to the dignity and ability with which he has fulfilled his duties, all parties, no matter how diverse in political sentiment, can testify.

Some people call this bloody-minded Abolitionist a General—we do not think he is much in that line, but all will agree that he is a fast traveller, and knows how to run from an enemy as well as any other boaster in the field. The Pittsburgh Chronicle, a paper sufficiently Administration to pass for a "loyal" sheet, remarks: We hear on all sides praises of Milroy's heroic defense. Notwithstanding this, we believe it will turn out that the abandonment of Winchester was a great blunder, if not a disgrace; that it will form the subject of a court of inquiry; that the force opposed was not larger than our own army, although Milroy was able to hold his position against thirty thousand men, and that the retreat was conducted without skill, and with every evidence of a panic. The strong and well-armed works at Winchester were constructed and occupied as an ample garrison, expressly to prevent an advance of the enemy down the Shenandoah valley. The outlying post at Berryville, with the cavalry there, were designed to guard against surprise and to check the enemy if he should menace Winchester. Yet, Berryville was surprised and had to be abandoned, and Winchester was surrounded almost without the knowledge of its garrison. The result was that, after a show of resistance, the Union troops, ten or twelve thousand strong, were marched out from their fortified works, and before an attacking force of but fifteen thousand at the utmost, leaving all their stores and cannon behind. The circumstances of the flight were most humiliating. The cavalry went off in one direction and the main body of the infantry in another. Many of the fugitives became the helpless victims of their audacious pursuers, and another body, sixteen hundred strong, that escaped to Hancock, were so disorganized and demoralized by the absence of their officers that they fled, like startled sheep, at the mere report of an advance of the enemy. At first we were told that General Milroy had spiked and abandoned his guns but had saved his "artillery." This was a mystery among the mystics of the war, until General Milroy himself tells us that he had lost all his artillery and stores.

DR. C. WIGHEL, SURGEON AND OCUList, RESIDENCE THIRD NEAR NORTH STREET. He is now fully prepared to attend promptly to the duties of profession in all his branches. A large and well equipped surgical experience justifies him in promising full and ample satisfaction to all who may favor him with a call, be the disease chronic or any other nature. m-d-45-46

TO PAPER MANUFACTURERS. Sealed Proposals will be received at the office of the Superintendent of Public Printing, for supplying the paper used by the State for the year commencing July 1, 1863. Said paper to be Book Paper, measuring 26 by 40 inches, and of the weight of 24 and 30 pounds to the ream. Also, Double Flat Cap, measuring 17 by 26 inches, weighing 26 pounds to the ream. Bids can be handed in up to WEDNESDAY, JULY 1, at 10 o'clock a. m., and must state specifically the price per pound of paper. All parties intending to bid will be sent to any parties upon application to the undersigned, and can also be seen on the day of letting. L. H. FUNK, Superintendent of Public Printing, 75 Market St., Harrisburg.

DR. SWEET'S INFALLIBLE LINIMENT, THE GREAT EXTERNAL REMEDY, FOR RHEUMATISM, GOUT, NEURALGIA, LUMBAGO, STIFF NECK AND JOINTS, SPRAINS, BRUISES, CUTS & WOUNDS, PTILRS, HEADACHES, AND ALL RHEUMATIC AND NERVOUS DISORDERS.

The Convention met at Harrisburg on Wednesday last, and on the ninth ballot nominated Hon. Geo. W. Woodward, of Philadelphia, for Governor. Hon. Walter H. Lowrie, of Allegheny county, was nominated by acclamation for re-election to the supreme bench. Better nominations than those agreed upon by the convention could not have been made. The convention has nobly discharged its duty. An overwhelming majority will ratify the nomination.

The delegates to the Democratic State Convention met at Harrisburg on Wednesday last, and on the ninth ballot nominated Hon. Geo. W. Woodward, of Philadelphia, for Governor. Hon. Walter H. Lowrie, of Allegheny county, was nominated by acclamation for re-election to the supreme bench. Better nominations than those agreed upon by the convention could not have been made. The convention has nobly discharged its duty. An overwhelming majority will ratify the nomination.

Some people call this bloody-minded Abolitionist a General—we do not think he is much in that line, but all will agree that he is a fast traveller, and knows how to run from an enemy as well as any other boaster in the field. The Pittsburgh Chronicle, a paper sufficiently Administration to pass for a "loyal" sheet, remarks: We hear on all sides praises of Milroy's heroic defense. Notwithstanding this, we believe it will turn out that the abandonment of Winchester was a great blunder, if not a disgrace; that it will form the subject of a court of inquiry; that the force opposed was not larger than our own army, although Milroy was able to hold his position against thirty thousand men, and that the retreat was conducted without skill, and with every evidence of a panic. The strong and well-armed works at Winchester were constructed and occupied as an ample garrison, expressly to prevent an advance of the enemy down the Shenandoah valley. The outlying post at Berryville, with the cavalry there, were designed to guard against surprise and to check the enemy if he should menace Winchester. Yet, Berryville was surprised and had to be abandoned, and Winchester was surrounded almost without the knowledge of its garrison. The result was that, after a show of resistance, the Union troops, ten or twelve thousand strong, were marched out from their fortified works, and before an attacking force of but fifteen thousand at the utmost, leaving all their stores and cannon behind. The circumstances of the flight were most humiliating. The cavalry went off in one direction and the main body of the infantry in another. Many of the fugitives became the helpless victims of their audacious pursuers, and another body, sixteen hundred strong, that escaped to Hancock, were so disorganized and demoralized by the absence of their officers that they fled, like startled sheep, at the mere report of an advance of the enemy. At first we were told that General Milroy had spiked and abandoned his guns but had saved his "artillery." This was a mystery among the mystics of the war, until General Milroy himself tells us that he had lost all his artillery and stores.

JOHN W. GLOVER, MERCHANT TAILOR! Has just received from New York, an assortment of SEASONABLE GOODS, which he offers to his customers and the public at MODERATE PRICES. W. HARRY WILLIAMS, CLAIM AGENT, 402 WALNUT STREET. General Claims for Soldiers promptly collected, State Claims adjusted, &c., &c. mar20-41m

SMITH & EWING, ATTORNEYS AT LAW, THIRD STREET, HARRISBURG. Practice in the several Courts of Dauphin county. Collections made promptly. A. G. SMITH, J. B. EWING.

DR. SWEET'S INFALLIBLE LINIMENT, THE GREAT EXTERNAL REMEDY, FOR RHEUMATISM, GOUT, NEURALGIA, LUMBAGO, STIFF NECK AND JOINTS, SPRAINS, BRUISES, CUTS & WOUNDS, PTILRS, HEADACHES, AND ALL RHEUMATIC AND NERVOUS DISORDERS.

The Convention met at Harrisburg on Wednesday last, and on the ninth ballot nominated Hon. Geo. W. Woodward, of Philadelphia, for Governor. Hon. Walter H. Lowrie, of Allegheny county, was nominated by acclamation for re-election to the supreme bench. Better nominations than those agreed upon by the convention could not have been made. The convention has nobly discharged its duty. An overwhelming majority will ratify the nomination.

The delegates to the Democratic State Convention met at Harrisburg on Wednesday last, and on the ninth ballot nominated Hon. Geo. W. Woodward, of Philadelphia, for Governor. Hon. Walter H. Lowrie, of Allegheny county, was nominated by acclamation for re-election to the supreme bench. Better nominations than those agreed upon by the convention could not have been made. The convention has nobly discharged its duty. An overwhelming majority will ratify the nomination.

Some people call this bloody-minded Abolitionist a General—we do not think he is much in that line, but all will agree that he is a fast traveller, and knows how to run from an enemy as well as any other boaster in the field. The Pittsburgh Chronicle, a paper sufficiently Administration to pass for a "loyal" sheet, remarks: We hear on all sides praises of Milroy's heroic defense. Notwithstanding this, we believe it will turn out that the abandonment of Winchester was a great blunder, if not a disgrace; that it will form the subject of a court of inquiry; that the force opposed was not larger than our own army, although Milroy was able to hold his position against thirty thousand men, and that the retreat was conducted without skill, and with every evidence of a panic. The strong and well-armed works at Winchester were constructed and occupied as an ample garrison, expressly to prevent an advance of the enemy down the Shenandoah valley. The outlying post at Berryville, with the cavalry there, were designed to guard against surprise and to check the enemy if he should menace Winchester. Yet, Berryville was surprised and had to be abandoned, and Winchester was surrounded almost without the knowledge of its garrison. The result was that, after a show of resistance, the Union troops, ten or twelve thousand strong, were marched out from their fortified works, and before an attacking force of but fifteen thousand at the utmost, leaving all their stores and cannon behind. The circumstances of the flight were most humiliating. The cavalry went off in one direction and the main body of the infantry in another. Many of the fugitives became the helpless victims of their audacious pursuers, and another body, sixteen hundred strong, that escaped to Hancock, were so disorganized and demoralized by the absence of their officers that they fled, like startled sheep, at the mere report of an advance of the enemy. At first we were told that General Milroy had spiked and abandoned his guns but had saved his "artillery." This was a mystery among the mystics of the war, until General Milroy himself tells us that he had lost all his artillery and stores.

DENTISTRY. B. M. GILDEA, D. D. S., NO. 119 MARKET STREET, RY & KUNKEL'S BUILDING, UP STAIRS. J. COOK, Merchant Tailor, 27 CHESTNUT ST., between Second and Front. Has just returned from the city with an assortment of CLOTHS, CASSIMERS AND VESTS. Which will be sold at moderate prices and made up to order; and also, an assortment of READY MADE Clothing and Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods. mar21-3yd

MORTON'S UNRIVALLED GOLD PEN—FIRST QUALITY WARRANTED. NONE BETTER IN THE WHOLE WORLD. A GREAT LUXURY! PERSONS in want of a superior and really good pen will find with me a large assortment to select from, and have the privilege to exchange the Pens until they find one perfectly suited. And by far means the best. I will make a special break of during twelve months, the purchaser shall have the privilege to select a new one, without any charge. MORTON'S GOLD PEN, made by Mr. Morton, not warranted, in strong silver-plated cases, for $1, $1.25, $1.50, $2.00. For sale at SCHEFFER'S BOOKSTORE, No. 18 Market Street, Harrisburg, Pa.

DR. SWEET'S INFALLIBLE LINIMENT, THE GREAT EXTERNAL REMEDY, FOR RHEUMATISM, GOUT, NEURALGIA, LUMBAGO, STIFF NECK AND JOINTS, SPRAINS, BRUISES, CUTS & WOUNDS, PTILRS, HEADACHES, AND ALL RHEUMATIC AND NERVOUS DISORDERS.

The Convention met at Harrisburg on Wednesday last, and on the ninth ballot nominated Hon. Geo. W. Woodward, of Philadelphia, for Governor. Hon. Walter H. Lowrie, of Allegheny county, was nominated by acclamation for re-election to the supreme bench. Better nominations than those agreed upon by the convention could not have been made. The convention has nobly discharged its duty. An overwhelming majority will ratify the nomination.

The delegates to the Democratic State Convention met at Harrisburg on Wednesday last, and on the ninth ballot nominated Hon. Geo. W. Woodward, of Philadelphia, for Governor. Hon. Walter H. Lowrie, of Allegheny county, was nominated by acclamation for re-election to the supreme bench. Better nominations than those agreed upon by the convention could not have been made. The convention has nobly discharged its duty. An overwhelming majority will ratify the nomination.

Some people call this bloody-minded Abolitionist a General—we do not think he is much in that line, but all will agree that he is a fast traveller, and knows how to run from an enemy as well as any other boaster in the field. The Pittsburgh Chronicle, a paper sufficiently Administration to pass for a "loyal" sheet, remarks: We hear on all sides praises of Milroy's heroic defense. Notwithstanding this, we believe it will turn out that the abandonment of Winchester was a great blunder, if not a disgrace; that it will form the subject of a court of inquiry; that the force opposed was not larger than our own army, although Milroy was able to hold his position against thirty thousand men, and that the retreat was conducted without skill, and with every evidence of a panic. The strong and well-armed works at Winchester were constructed and occupied as an ample garrison, expressly to prevent an advance of the enemy down the Shenandoah valley. The outlying post at Berryville, with the cavalry there, were designed to guard against surprise and to check the enemy if he should menace Winchester. Yet, Berryville was surprised and had to be abandoned, and Winchester was surrounded almost without the knowledge of its garrison. The result was that, after a show of resistance, the Union troops, ten or twelve thousand strong, were marched out from their fortified works, and before an attacking force of but fifteen thousand at the utmost, leaving all their stores and cannon behind. The circumstances of the flight were most humiliating. The cavalry went off in one direction and the main body of the infantry in another. Many of the fugitives became the helpless victims of their audacious pursuers, and another body, sixteen hundred strong, that escaped to Hancock, were so disorganized and demoralized by the absence of their officers that they fled, like startled sheep, at the mere report of an advance of the enemy. At first we were told that General Milroy had spiked and abandoned his guns but had saved his "artillery." This was a mystery among the mystics of the war, until General Milroy himself tells us that he had lost all his artillery and stores.

RELIGIOUS BOOK STORE, TRACT AND SUNDAY SCHOOL DEPOSITORY, E. S. GERMAN, 37 SOUTH SECOND STREET, ABOVE CHESTNUT. Depot for the sale of Religious Tracts, Bibles, Prayer Books, Music and Musical Instruments. Also, subscriptions taken for religious publications. mar21-41f

JOHN G. W. MARTIN, FASHIONABLE CARD WRITER. HERR'S HOTEL, HARRISBURG, PA. All manner of VISITING, WEDDING AND BUSINESS CARDS executed in the most artistic style, and most reasonable terms. dec14-41f

DR. SWEET'S INFALLIBLE LINIMENT, THE GREAT EXTERNAL REMEDY, FOR RHEUMATISM, GOUT, NEURALGIA, LUMBAGO, STIFF NECK AND JOINTS, SPRAINS, BRUISES, CUTS & WOUNDS, PTILRS, HEADACHES, AND ALL RHEUMATIC AND NERVOUS DISORDERS.

The Convention met at Harrisburg on Wednesday last, and on the ninth ballot nominated Hon. Geo. W. Woodward, of Philadelphia, for Governor. Hon. Walter H. Lowrie, of Allegheny county, was nominated by acclamation for re-election to the supreme bench. Better nominations than those agreed upon by the convention could not have been made. The convention has nobly discharged its duty. An overwhelming majority will ratify the nomination.

The delegates to the Democratic State Convention met at Harrisburg on Wednesday last, and on the ninth ballot nominated Hon. Geo. W. Woodward, of Philadelphia, for Governor. Hon. Walter H. Lowrie, of Allegheny county, was nominated by acclamation for re-election to the supreme bench. Better nominations than those agreed upon by the convention could not have been made. The convention has nobly discharged its duty. An overwhelming majority will ratify the nomination.

Some people call this bloody-minded Abolitionist a General—we do not think he is much in that line, but all will agree that he is a fast traveller, and knows how to run from an enemy as well as any other boaster in the field. The Pittsburgh Chronicle, a paper sufficiently Administration to pass for a "loyal" sheet, remarks: We hear on all sides praises of Milroy's heroic defense. Notwithstanding this, we believe it will turn out that the abandonment of Winchester was a great blunder, if not a disgrace; that it will form the subject of a court of inquiry; that the force opposed was not larger than our own army, although Milroy was able to hold his position against thirty thousand men, and that the retreat was conducted without skill, and with every evidence of a panic. The strong and well-armed works at Winchester were constructed and occupied as an ample garrison, expressly to prevent an advance of the enemy down the Shenandoah valley. The outlying post at Berryville, with the cavalry there, were designed to guard against surprise and to check the enemy if he should menace Winchester. Yet, Berryville was surprised and had to be abandoned, and Winchester was surrounded almost without the knowledge of its garrison. The result was that, after a show of resistance, the Union troops, ten or twelve thousand strong, were marched out from their fortified works, and before an attacking force of but fifteen thousand at the utmost, leaving all their stores and cannon behind. The circumstances of the flight were most humiliating. The cavalry went off in one direction and the main body of the infantry in another. Many of the fugitives became the helpless victims of their audacious pursuers, and another body, sixteen hundred strong, that escaped to Hancock, were so disorganized and demoralized by the absence of their officers that they fled, like startled sheep, at the mere report of an advance of the enemy. At first we were told that General Milroy had spiked and abandoned his guns but had saved his "artillery." This was a mystery among the mystics of the war, until General Milroy himself tells us that he had lost all his artillery and stores.

UNION HOTEL, Ridge Avenue, corner of Broad Street, HARRISBURG, PA. The undersigned informs the public that he has recently renovated and re-furnished. It is pleasantly situated on Ridge Avenue, near the Round House, and is prepared to accommodate citizens, students and travelers in the best style, at moderate rates. His table will be supplied with the best markets afford, and at his bar will be found superior brands of liquors and neat beverages. The very best accommodations for railroad and employes in the city and its vicinity. [14] dtc HENRY BOSTON.

FRANKLIN HOUSE, BALTIMORE, MD. This pleasant and commodious Hotel has been thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished. It is pleasantly situated on North West corner of Howard and Franklin streets, a few doors west of the Northern Central Railway Depot. Every attention paid to the comfort of his guests. G. L. KENTZING, Proprietor. (Late of Solina Grove, Pa.) 1415-17

DR. SWEET'S INFALLIBLE LINIMENT, THE GREAT EXTERNAL REMEDY, FOR RHEUMATISM, GOUT, NEURALGIA, LUMBAGO, STIFF NECK AND JOINTS, SPRAINS, BRUISES, CUTS & WOUNDS, PTILRS, HEADACHES, AND ALL RHEUMATIC AND NERVOUS DISORDERS.

The Convention met at Harrisburg on Wednesday last, and on the ninth ballot nominated Hon. Geo. W. Woodward, of Philadelphia, for Governor. Hon. Walter H. Lowrie, of Allegheny county, was nominated by acclamation for re-election to the supreme bench. Better nominations than those agreed upon by the convention could not have been made. The convention has nobly discharged its duty. An overwhelming majority will ratify the nomination.

The delegates to the Democratic State Convention met at Harrisburg on Wednesday last, and on the ninth ballot nominated Hon. Geo. W. Woodward, of Philadelphia, for Governor. Hon. Walter H. Lowrie, of Allegheny county, was nominated by acclamation for re-election to the supreme bench. Better nominations than those agreed upon by the convention could not have been made. The convention has nobly discharged its duty. An overwhelming majority will ratify the nomination.

Some people call this bloody-minded Abolitionist a General—we do not think he is much in that line, but all will agree that he is a fast traveller, and knows how to run from an enemy as well as any other boaster in the field. The Pittsburgh Chronicle, a paper sufficiently Administration to pass for a "loyal" sheet, remarks: We hear on all sides praises of Milroy's heroic defense. Notwithstanding this, we believe it will turn out that the abandonment of Winchester was a great blunder, if not a disgrace; that it will form the subject of a court of inquiry; that the force opposed was not larger than our own army, although Milroy was able to hold his position against thirty thousand men, and that the retreat was conducted without skill, and with every evidence of a panic. The strong and well-armed works at Winchester were constructed and occupied as an ample garrison, expressly to prevent an advance of the enemy down the Shenandoah valley. The outlying post at Berryville, with the cavalry there, were designed to guard against surprise and to check the enemy if he should menace Winchester. Yet, Berryville was surprised and had to be abandoned, and Winchester was surrounded almost without the knowledge of its garrison. The result was that, after a show of resistance, the Union troops, ten or twelve thousand strong, were marched out from their fortified works, and before an attacking force of but fifteen thousand at the utmost, leaving all their stores and cannon behind. The circumstances of the flight were most humiliating. The cavalry went off in one direction and the main body of the infantry in another. Many of the fugitives became the helpless victims of their audacious pursuers, and another body, sixteen hundred strong, that escaped to Hancock, were so disorganized and demoralized by the absence of their officers that they fled, like startled sheep, at the mere report of an advance of the enemy. At first we were told that General Milroy had spiked and abandoned his guns but had saved his "artillery." This was a mystery among the mystics of the war, until General Milroy himself tells us that he had lost all his artillery and stores.

THEO. F. SCHEFFER, BOOK, CARD AND JOB PRINTER, NO. 18 MARKET STREET, HARRISBURG. All manner of printing, ruling and binding of Railroad Books, Manifests, Insurance Policies, Checks, Bills, Heads, &c. Wedding, Visiting and Business Cards printed at very low prices and in the best style. jan21

MESSRS. CHICKERING & CO. HAVE AGAIN OBTAINED THE GOLD MEDAL! AT THE MECHANICS' FAIR, BOSTON, HELD THE PREVIOUS YEAR. OVER SIXTY COMPETITORS! Warroom for the CHICKERING PIANO, at Harrisburg, 18 Market Street. W. KNOCH'S MUSIC STORE.

DR. SWEET'S INFALLIBLE LINIMENT, THE GREAT EXTERNAL REMEDY, FOR RHEUMATISM, GOUT, NEURALGIA, LUMBAGO, STIFF NECK AND JOINTS, SPRAINS, BRUISES, CUTS & WOUNDS, PTILRS, HEADACHES, AND ALL RHEUMATIC AND NERVOUS DISORDERS.

The Convention met at Harrisburg on Wednesday last, and on the ninth ballot nominated Hon. Geo. W. Woodward, of Philadelphia, for Governor. Hon. Walter H. Lowrie, of Allegheny county, was nominated by acclamation for re-election to the supreme bench. Better nominations than those agreed upon by the convention could not have been made. The convention has nobly discharged its duty. An overwhelming majority will ratify the nomination.

The delegates to the Democratic State Convention met at Harrisburg on Wednesday last, and on the ninth ballot nominated Hon. Geo. W. Woodward, of Philadelphia, for Governor. Hon. Walter H. Lowrie, of Allegheny county, was nominated by acclamation for re-election to the supreme bench. Better nominations than those agreed upon by the convention could not have been made. The convention has nobly discharged its duty. An overwhelming majority will ratify the nomination.

Some people call this bloody-minded Abolitionist a General—we do not think he is much in that line, but all will agree that he is a fast traveller, and knows how to run from an enemy as well as any other boaster in the field. The Pittsburgh Chronicle, a paper sufficiently Administration to pass for a "loyal" sheet, remarks: We hear on all sides praises of Milroy's heroic defense. Notwithstanding this, we believe it will turn out that the abandonment of Winchester was a great blunder, if not a disgrace; that it will form the subject of a court of inquiry; that the force opposed was not larger than our own army, although Milroy was able to hold his position against thirty thousand men, and that the retreat was conducted without skill, and with every evidence of a panic. The strong and well-armed works at Winchester were constructed and occupied as an ample garrison, expressly to prevent an advance of the enemy down the Shenandoah valley. The outlying post at Berryville, with the cavalry there, were designed to guard against surprise and to check the enemy if he should menace Winchester. Yet, Berryville was surprised and had to be abandoned, and Winchester was surrounded almost without the knowledge of its garrison. The result was that, after a show of resistance, the Union troops, ten or twelve thousand strong, were marched out from their fortified works, and before an attacking force of but fifteen thousand at the utmost, leaving all their stores and cannon behind. The circumstances of the flight were most humiliating. The cavalry went off in one direction and the main body of the infantry in another. Many of the fugitives became the helpless victims of their audacious pursuers, and another body, sixteen hundred strong, that escaped to Hancock, were so disorganized and demoralized by the absence of their officers that they fled, like startled sheep, at the mere report of an advance of the enemy. At first we were told that General Milroy had spiked and abandoned his guns but had saved his "artillery." This was a mystery among the mystics of the war, until General Milroy himself tells us that he had lost all his artillery and stores.

WANTED—$75 A MONTH! I want experienced Agents in every county, $75 a month expenses paid to sell my new cheap Family Sewing Machine. Address, M. MADISON, m-d-42m

WANTED—$60 A MONTH! We want Agents at $60 a month, expenses paid; to sell our Everlasting Pencils, Oriental Banners, and all other new and curious articles. Fifteen circulars sent free. Address, m-d-43m BRAW & OLARK, Biddeford, Maine.

DR. SWEET'S INFALLIBLE LINIMENT, THE GREAT EXTERNAL REMEDY, FOR RHEUMATISM, GOUT, NEURALGIA, LUMBAGO, STIFF NECK AND JOINTS, SPRAINS, BRUISES, CUTS & WOUNDS, PTILRS, HEADACHES, AND ALL RHEUMATIC AND NERVOUS DISORDERS.

The Convention met at Harrisburg on Wednesday last, and on the ninth ballot nominated Hon. Geo. W. Woodward, of Philadelphia, for Governor. Hon. Walter H. Lowrie, of Allegheny county, was nominated by acclamation for re-election to the supreme bench. Better nominations than those agreed upon by the convention could not have been made. The convention has nobly discharged its duty. An overwhelming majority will ratify the nomination.

The delegates to the Democratic State Convention met at Harrisburg on Wednesday last, and on the ninth ballot nominated Hon. Geo. W. Woodward, of Philadelphia, for Governor. Hon. Walter H. Lowrie, of Allegheny county, was nominated by acclamation for re-election to the supreme bench. Better nominations than those agreed upon by the convention could not have been made. The convention has nobly discharged its duty. An overwhelming majority will ratify the nomination.

Some people call this bloody-minded Abolitionist a General—we do not think he is much in that line, but all will agree that he is a fast traveller, and knows how to run from an enemy as well as any other boaster in the field. The Pittsburgh Chronicle, a paper sufficiently Administration to pass for a "loyal" sheet, remarks: We hear on all sides praises of Milroy's heroic defense. Notwithstanding this, we believe it will turn out that the abandonment of Winchester was a great blunder, if not a disgrace; that it will form the subject of a court of inquiry; that the force opposed was not larger than our own army, although Milroy was able to hold his position against thirty thousand men, and that the retreat was conducted without skill, and with every evidence of a panic. The strong and well-armed works at Winchester were constructed and occupied as an ample garrison, expressly to prevent an advance of the enemy down the Shenandoah valley. The outlying post at Berryville, with the cavalry there, were designed to guard against surprise and to check the enemy if he should menace Winchester. Yet, Berryville was surprised and had to be abandoned, and Winchester was surrounded almost without the knowledge of its garrison. The result was that, after a show of resistance, the Union troops, ten or twelve thousand strong, were marched out from their fortified works, and before an attacking force of but fifteen thousand at the utmost, leaving all their stores and cannon behind. The circumstances of the flight were most humiliating. The cavalry went off in one direction and the main body of the infantry in another. Many of the fugitives became the helpless victims of their audacious pursuers, and another body, sixteen hundred strong, that escaped to Hancock, were so disorganized and demoralized by the absence of their officers that they fled, like startled sheep, at the mere report of an advance of the enemy. At first we were told that General Milroy had spiked and abandoned his guns but had saved his "artillery." This was a mystery among the mystics of the war, until General Milroy himself tells us that he had lost all his artillery and stores.

WANTED—$75 A MONTH! I want experienced Agents in every county, $75 a month expenses paid to sell my new cheap Family Sewing Machine. Address, M. MADISON, m-d-42m

WANTED—$60 A MONTH! We want Agents at $60 a month, expenses paid; to sell our Everlasting Pencils, Oriental Banners, and all other new and curious articles. Fifteen circulars sent free. Address, m-d-43m BRAW & OLARK, Biddeford, Maine.

DR. SWEET'S INFALLIBLE LINIMENT, THE GREAT EXTERNAL REMEDY, FOR RHEUMATISM, GOUT, NEURALGIA, LUMBAGO, STIFF NECK AND JOINTS, SPRAINS, BRUISES, CUTS & WOUNDS, PTILRS, HEADACHES, AND ALL RHEUMATIC AND NERVOUS DISORDERS.

The Convention met at Harrisburg on Wednesday last, and on the ninth ballot nominated Hon. Geo. W. Woodward, of Philadelphia, for Governor. Hon. Walter H. Lowrie, of Allegheny county, was nominated by acclamation for re-election to the supreme bench. Better nominations than those agreed upon by the convention could not have been made. The convention has nobly discharged its duty. An overwhelming majority will ratify the nomination.

The delegates to the Democratic State Convention met at Harrisburg on Wednesday last, and on the ninth ballot nominated Hon. Geo. W. Woodward, of Philadelphia, for Governor. Hon. Walter H. Lowrie, of Allegheny county, was nominated by acclamation for re-election to the supreme bench. Better nominations than those agreed upon by the convention could not have been made. The convention has nobly discharged its duty. An overwhelming majority will ratify the nomination.

Some people call this bloody-minded Abolitionist a General—we do not think he is much in that line, but all will agree that he is a fast traveller, and knows how to run from an enemy as well as any other boaster in the field. The Pittsburgh Chronicle, a paper sufficiently Administration to pass for a "loyal" sheet, remarks: We hear on all sides praises of Milroy's heroic defense. Notwithstanding this, we believe it will turn out that the abandonment of Winchester was a great blunder, if not a disgrace; that it will form the subject of a court of inquiry; that the force opposed was not larger than our own army, although Milroy was able to hold his position against thirty thousand men, and that the retreat was conducted without skill, and with every evidence of a panic. The strong and well-armed works at Winchester were constructed and occupied as an ample garrison, expressly to prevent an advance of the enemy down the Shenandoah valley. The outlying post at Berryville, with the cavalry there, were designed to guard against surprise and to check the enemy if he should menace Winchester. Yet, Berryville was surprised and had to be abandoned, and Winchester was surrounded almost without the knowledge of its garrison. The result was that, after a show of resistance, the Union troops, ten or twelve thousand strong, were marched out from their fortified works, and before an attacking force of but fifteen thousand at the utmost, leaving all their stores and cannon behind. The circumstances of the flight were most humiliating. The cavalry went off in one direction and the main body of the infantry in another. Many of the fugitives became the helpless victims of their audacious pursuers, and another body, sixteen hundred strong, that escaped to Hancock, were so disorganized and demoralized by the absence of their officers that they fled, like startled sheep, at the mere report of an advance of the enemy. At first we were told that General Milroy had spiked and abandoned his guns but had saved his "artillery." This was a mystery among the mystics of the war, until General Milroy himself tells us that he had lost all his artillery and stores.

WANTED—$75 A MONTH! I want experienced Agents in every county, $75 a month expenses paid to sell my new cheap Family Sewing Machine. Address, M. MADISON, m-d-42m

WANTED—$60 A MONTH! We want Agents at $60 a month, expenses paid; to sell our Everlasting Pencils, Oriental Banners, and all other new and curious articles. Fifteen circulars sent free. Address, m-d-43m BRAW & OLARK, Biddeford, Maine.

DR. SWEET'S INFALLIBLE LINIMENT, THE GREAT EXTERNAL REMEDY, FOR RHEUMATISM, GOUT, NEURALGIA, LUMBAGO, STIFF NECK AND JOINTS, SPRAINS, BRUISES, CUTS & WOUNDS, PTILRS, HEADACHES, AND ALL RHEUMATIC AND NERVOUS DISORDERS.

The Convention met at Harrisburg on Wednesday last, and on the ninth ballot nominated Hon. Geo. W. Woodward, of Philadelphia, for Governor. Hon. Walter H. Lowrie, of Allegheny county, was nominated by acclamation for re-election to the supreme bench. Better nominations than those agreed upon by the convention could not have been made. The convention has nobly discharged its duty. An overwhelming majority will ratify the nomination.

The delegates to the Democratic State Convention met at Harrisburg on Wednesday last, and on the ninth ballot nominated Hon. Geo. W. Woodward, of Philadelphia, for Governor. Hon. Walter H. Lowrie, of Allegheny county, was nominated by acclamation for re-election to the supreme bench. Better nominations than those agreed upon by the convention could not have been made. The convention has nobly discharged its duty. An overwhelming majority will ratify the nomination.

Some people call this bloody-minded Abolitionist a General—we do not think he is much in that line, but all will agree that he is a fast traveller, and knows how to run from an enemy as well as any other boaster in the field. The Pittsburgh Chronicle, a paper sufficiently Administration to pass for a "loyal" sheet, remarks: We hear on all sides praises of Milroy's heroic defense. Notwithstanding this, we believe it will turn out that the abandonment of Winchester was a great blunder, if not a disgrace; that it will form the subject of a court of inquiry; that the force opposed was not larger than our own army, although Milroy was able to hold his position against thirty thousand men, and that the retreat was conducted without skill, and with every evidence of a panic. The strong and well-armed works at Winchester were constructed and occupied as an ample garrison, expressly to prevent an advance of the enemy down the Shenandoah valley. The outlying post at Berryville, with the cavalry there, were designed to guard against surprise and to check the enemy if he should menace Winchester. Yet, Berryville was surprised and had to be abandoned, and Winchester was surrounded almost without the knowledge of its garrison. The result was that, after a show of resistance, the Union troops, ten or twelve thousand strong,