The Patriot & Union.

THURSDAY MORNING, JULY 9, 1863. STATE RIGHTS AND STATE REMEDIES—No. 1.

To the Editors of the Patriot and Union: GENTLEMEN:—I submit a series of numbers on the subject of "State Rights and State Remedies," addressed to His Excellency A. G. Curtin, so that the younger members of society may have an easy reference through the columns of your able and widely circulated paper, to a truthful history of the principles upon which the Federal Government was founded, and the vital importance of protecting State Rights; for I do most honestly and firmly believe that in the reserved rights of the States abides the only safety for the liberties of the people, and the only guarantee for the perpetuity of the Union.

REJOINDER OF THE OHIO COMMITTEE TO PRESIDENT LINCOLN.

New York City, July 1, 1863. To His Excellency, the President of the United States: Sir:—Your answer to the application of the undersigned for a revocation of the order of banishment of Clement L. Vallandigham requires a reply, which they proceed with as little delay as practicable to make.

REJOINDER OF THE OHIO COMMITTEE TO PRESIDENT LINCOLN.

They are not able to appreciate the force of the distinction you make, between the Constitution and the application of the Constitution, whereby you assume that powers are delegated to the President at the time of invasion or insurrection, in derogation of the plain language of the Constitution, remaining the same in time of insurrection or invasion, as in time of peace, the President can have no more right to disregard their positive and imperative requirements at the former time than at the latter. Because some things may be done, by the terms of the Constitution at the time of invasion or insurrection, which would not be required by the occasion, in time of peace, you assume that anything whatever, even though not expressed by the Constitution, may be done on the occasion of insurrection or invasion, which the President may choose to say is required by the public safety.
