Mr. Quincy was born in 1772. He was a mamber of Congress in 1805, and served until 1813, and throughout this period of his life he did not cease to expose and denounce the ambitious projects of the shaveholding interest. He was in the Massachusetts Senate from 1813 to 1821. He was then elected to the House of Representatives, and chosen Speaker. In 1828 antil 1828. He was then appointed President Chervard University, and held office until the since which time he has lived in private. mblican candidate for the Presidency, making est speech in Quincy."

We are sorry the Tribune had not made its Miographical aketch of this venerable gentleman a little more complete especially that portion of it relating to his service in Congress from 1805 to 1813, during which time, that paper says, "he did not cease to expose and sounce the ambitious projects of the slavehelding interest." We shall be obliged to supplement the Tribune's article, with a passage from Mr. Quincy's Congressional life, which will show him to have been the first seces-MONIST—to have maintained the right and duty of secession by force of arms—against the rebuke and protest of a member from a slave-holding State. We copy the following account from a trust-worthy source; At the third session of the Eleventh Congress, in 1811, the dissolution of the Union was spoken of for the first time by a member from the State of Massachusetts, as a possible event of the future. The manner in which this was received by that Congress seemed to indicate that it was looked upon by them almost with sentiments of abhorrence. The cirsemstances are interesting at this time. The bill to form a Constitution and State Government for the Territory of Orleans, and the admission of such State under the name of Louimans into the Union, was under consideration."

Mr. Quincy, of Massachusetts, in opposition to the bill, said: "I am compelled to declare it as my deliberate opinion, that if this bill passes the bonds of this Union are virtually dissolved; that the States which compage it are free from their obligations; and that as it will be the right of all, so it will be the duty of some, to prepare definitely for a separation, amicably, if they can, wielently, if they must."

Mr. Quincy was here called to order by Mr.

Mr. Quincy repeated and justified the remark he had made, which, to save all misaprehension, he committed to writing, in the following words: "If this bill passes it is my dibberate opinion that it is virtually a dissolution of this Union; that it will free the States from Their moral obligations; and as it will be the right of all, so it will be the duty of some, definitely to prepere for a separation, amicably, if they can, violently, if they must."

After some little confusion Mr. Poindexter

required the decision of the Speaker, whether it was consistent with the propriety of debate, to use such an expression. He said it was ments going to dissolve the Government, and numble this body itself to dust and ashes. It would be found from the gentleman's state-ment of his language that he had declared the right of any portion of the people to

Mr. Quincy wished the Speaker to decide, for if the gentleman was permitted to debate the question, he should lose one-half of his

The Speaker said that great latitude in deintes was generally allowed; and that, by way of argument against a bill, the first part of the rvations was admissible; but the latter member of the sentence, viz. : "That a would be the duty of some States to prepare the a separation; smicably, if they can, violently, if they must," was contrary to the order

Mr. Quincy appealed from his decision, and required the ayes and noes on the appeal. The question was stated thus: "Is the decition of the Speaker correct?" And decided, ages, 53; noes, 56.

We have here the origin of Secessionism. R was first proclaimed as a "right" and "duty" by a Massachusetts Federalist, on the floor of Congress. And a Mississippi slaveholder pro-tested against it, and called the speaker to order on the ground that the utterance of such a sentiment on the floor of that body exceeded the license of debate and was out of order. What an illustration of the mutations of humen opinion! How it should teach charity to all men and especially to the New England radicals, who now propose to crush out of existence the Southern States and divide the soil among their freed negroes, for doing what one of their leading statesmen, in 1811, proposed to de! The spirit of conciliation would be becoming in such a quarter.—Albany Argus.

PARTY AND COUNTRY.

The love of power has so strong a hold upon the leaders of the Republican party, that they are willing to sacrifice country rather than that their success as a political organization should me jeonardized.

So apparent has this become, that they no Imper make a secret of their atrocious policy, but boldly avow it upon the stump and through their presses. A few weeks ago, one Armstrong, speaking in Philadelphia for the Abolition candidate for Governor, said:

election in Pennsylvania."

Immediately after the reverse sustained by Gen. Rosecrans, the editor of the Philadelphia Press (Abolition Republican) published the foltowing infamous paragraph :

*The repulse at Chattanooga would be a mere trifle compared with the success of the Democratic party in Ohio and Pennsylvania.-The one can be retrieved by bravery, but the other would be an evil beyond the power of wisdom to remove, and would only end with the next gubernatorial term."

To the same effect the Chicago Tribune, a leading Abolition Republican organ in the West,

"The campaign in Georgia is of great consequence, but not so great as that of Ohio." And the Cleveland Leader, another adminisiration journal recently contained the follow-

A greater calamity could not befall Chio the nation than the deteat of the Union * ticket in Ohio. Its consequence would be more And these traitorous sentiments had their weight at Washington. Thousands of veteran troops were withdrawn from the Army of the Potomas, not to reinforce Rosecrans, but to infactor the election in Maine, and intimidate the citizens of New York; and the result was all that these stump orators and radical writers could desire—the election in Maine was carried and the gallant Rosecrans, overpowered by numbers, was forced back, with a loss of 2 000 brave men! It will be strange, indeed, If the people do not soon arouse to a full realisation of the atrocity of this policy and the general ruin that it involves.

An enraged mother in Illinois recently swisted her little effspring's nose until she Spetured the bone; broke another pledge's arm, and killed a third with a rolling pin.
