The Election is Over.

We now trust that the political waters, which have been lashed into such violent turbulence, will quietly subside, and that a calm more conducive to reflection will follow. The Republicans have got their victory; they will enjoy it with their accustomed enthusiasm, while the Democracy, now quiescent, will look forward to the future, when they will roll back defeat and obtain in its place a substantial and permanent triumph.

The Result of the Late Election, and its Bearing upon the Future of the Country.

The October elections in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Iowa have gone against us; and since the same influences which have produced this result will most likely continue to operate, we may as well be prepared for defeat in the elections which take place in November in other States.

tion and extermination policy, and this ruinous war will be continued unremittingly while the power remains in radical hands, at whatever cost of blood and treasure. As we believe it would be impossible to exterminate the South—even if such a barbarian world were permitted by the civilized world—so we believe it to be impossible to restore the Union on the basis of emancipation under any circumstances.

We believe that if the power of the Government was in the hands of the conservative men in the North, the Union men of the South would be encouraged to join hands with them, put down the heresy of secession, and restore the Union; but we do not believe it ever will be restored until that event takes place; hence we say again, we deeply regret the defeat of the Democracy on Tuesday last.
