Trade of the Rio Grande. The intelligent Deputy of Matamoras, and President of the State Congress of Tamaulipas, Senor Lo. Manchacs, has submitted a proposition to tians may take lessons of humanity and justice that body, to petition the General Government of from Mahomedans. Mexico, to enter into negotiations with the American Government, in relation to the improvement of the navigation of the Rio Grande. Mr. John T, Hughes, a resident of the Upper Rio Grande, describes the fruitful valley of El-Paso, in the most glowing colors. "This settlement," he says, "extends from the falls of the Rio Grand on the north to the Presidio on the south, a distance of 22 miles, and is one continuous orchard and vineyard, embracing in its ample area and industrious population of at least 8,000. It is situated nearly midway between Santa Fe and Chihuahua, Its breadth is about ten miles. Its chief productions, at present, are fruits and wines, the latter | York Custom House. amounting to 200,000 gallons annually. From this cultivated point on the river, Mr. Hughes recommonds that a canal should be constructed to the head waters of navigation, which he says can be done with great facility and ara moderate expence. The fertile valleys of the Puerco and other tribituary streams below, are also said to be highly productive, and to offer great attractions to an industrious and enterprising people. The valley of the Lower Rio Grande is described as being adopted to the culture of the sugar cane and cotton, and oranges, figs, olives and other tropical fruits.

Cheese Factories in Ohio. C. C. Wick, Esq., has begun making chcese on a large scale at Ashtabula, Ohio. He commands, the product of 1,100 cows, owned in that and adjacent townships, and employs men and teams who every morning take prescribed routes varying from five to ten miles each, and gather the "curds," which are neatly sacked by the dairiman and the brought to the factory, where the process of "chesse making" is completed. This furnishes employ for a large number of men and women, and by the aid of recent improvements and machinery much of the labor requisite is rendered light, more convenient and simple than the usual mode. He had a few days since about 3,000 cheese on hand, made within about thirty days, and for beauty and fine flavor they are noted be excelled. The weight of "curds" daily received amount in the aggreate to some 3,500 lbs., and the number of cheese made daily about 75, varying somewhat as regards size. They are put up in sacks and intended for the English, West India and California trades, and vary from 15 to 35 pounds-the former we believe are intended exclusively for the California market. There are other similar cheese fastories, where the farmers can dispose of their "curds" to advantage. We should think it an excellent arrangement.

Gen. Taylor and Slavery.

The Washington Union puts the inquiry direct to the Republic-"In the event of the passage of a law containing the Wilmot Proviso, or any similar provision, will Gen. Taylor veto it, or will he approve it !"

This query is unnecessary, if the Union has marked Gen. Taylor's position. If Congress should pass the Wilmot Proviso, or any similar provision, Gen. Taylor will sign it. If not, he violates the pledge given to the people. And again, if Congress should pass a law allowing slavery in New Mexico and California, he will sign that ! He is bound not to oppose the wishes of the people, as expressed through their representatives. Neither the North nor the South can expect legislation from the President; but either and both have a right to expect that he will not oppose his veto to the action of Congress, on a question which the action of the government, since its establishment, has shown to be constitutional.

Death of Ex-Presdent J. K. Polk. The eleventh President of the United States is no more. Mr. Polk died on Fri-day night, the 15th of June, near Nashville, of a chronic diarrhœa, after a very short illness .- President Harrison closed his career within a month of the day of his entrance upon the duties of his office ; President Polk, in about three months after his term had expired. Of eleven ex-Presidents, Messrs. Van Buren and Tyler alone remain among us. Mr. Polk was the youngest man ever inaugurated as President ; only 49 years and 4 months old when he took office. His connexions were members of the old Revolutionary party who had aided and favored independence before & during the War of 1776. James Knox Polk was born in Mecklenburgh County, North Carolina, November 2, 1795, and at the time of his disease was 53 years and 7 months old. His father is, we think, still alive-he was a farmer, and removed to Tennessee in 1806, when James K. Polk was in his eleventh year. James K. is the oldest of ten children-acquired the rudiments of an English and classical education near his home, and after years of suffering from a very painful complaint, was relieved by a surgical operation. He gained high honors at the University of North Carolina-was assiduous, persevering, and regular in his attendance—a good mathe-matical and classical scholar. In 1819, he egan to study the law with the celebrated Felix Grundy of Nashville, was admitted as a member of the bar of Tennéssee in 1820, and was well employed in his line. He served as Clerk to the Tennessee Legislature, was next a member for, Maury, his place of residence, and in 1825, in his 30th year, elected to Congress. If he was opposed to a National Bank, he hesitated to express that opinion for the first two years he sat in Congress, but after Mr. Van Buren went to Washington as Secretary, to wit, in August 1830, Mr. Polk began to give the Tennessecians some hints about "the monster." Andrew Jackson stated in 1844, that he had known James K. Polk from his boyhood, and that "a citizen more exemplary in his moral deportment, more punctual and exact in business, more energetic and manly in his expression of his opinions, and more patriotic does not live." Upward of twenty-four years since he married the daughter of Joel Childers, Esq., a merchant of Rutherford county, Tennessee. Mr. Polk had no childron-was unostentatious, quiet, domestic and religiousnot fond of show, dancing, dissipation and late hours .- Mr. Polk was a member of the Presbyterian Church. It is greatly to his credit that he had the reputation of being no duelist, no gambler, but a steady opponent to speculation. He was fourteen years in Congress, and two or three of these years Speaker, having been chosen in December, 1835, and in September, 1837. No more thorough going party man could be found than Polk-he was very industrious, and while on the floor of Congress was reported never to have missed a vote. As he received a vote of thanks at the close of the session of 1837, for his impartiality as Speaker, it may be inferred that he had great control over his temper. He was a ready debater; delivered long and animated speeches, and was one of the few hard-working legislators in his day. In his intercourse with the public he was affable and courteous : his voice was strong but musical; he was clear headed, and capable of grasping, comprehending and explaining, complicated matters of public interest ; a polite and attentive listener; and so regular and devout in early life that Governor Branch affirms that during the four years that he was at college he [Mr.

Polk never once missed prayers. His personal character was irteproacha "Of Mr. Polk, as a private gentleman, ble. and as known to us in his social and domesic relations," said the editors of the Nation al Intelligencer, "we have no disposition to speak any otherwise than with entire respect. California .- The ship Europe leaves this port for San Francisco this day week. She takes of the "California Gold Mining Association of Philadelphia," numbering about sixty five, with sevr of Comeral other passengers. A br zette office, President ; J. B. Illick; Vice President Edward T. Secretary, and Dr. James S Hams, Treasurer and Surgeon.

The Europe takes out a heavy and valuable cargo, among which are a number of frame houses, to be erected at San Francisco. The Europe is a fine vessel, with three splendidly fitted cabins, and has always been a fast sailer. The California Gold Mining Association is composed of some of the most active, enterprising, clevcr and enthusiastic young men, who have ever been affected with the "yellow fever."-North American, June 23d.

California Ships .- We have information from Valparaiso to April 3d, that the ship Grey Eagle, Power, and the barque Louisiana, Williams, from Philadelphia for San Francisco, had arrived there. The day of their arrival is not stated, but as the Grey Eagle went to sea from Philadelphia on the firening of the 21st of January last, she has made the run in the exceedingly short period of seventy-two days-probably in less.

Little Fortune .- We have read a letter, from a passenger in the steamer Panama, which says : "I have now a fellow passenger who has been one of the fortunate ones, without the trouble of digging gold. In the course of six months he has realized a fortune of four hundred and fifty thousand dollars by regular mercantile specula. tion, chiefly in flour.
