* Br. Jonn, July 23. The steamship Caledonia arrived at Halifax, on Thursday, bringing news from Europe seven days later. The Calcdonia has 45 passengers for Bos ton, exclusive of 18 of the 42 survivors of the ill-fated barque Charles Bartlett, of Plymouth, Mass., Wm. Bartlett, master, which on Wednesday, the 24th ult. at about 31 o' clock, P. M. when 700 miles to the westward of Cape Clear, was run down by the steamer Europa, and sunk in three minutes with 134 of the passengers and crew.

The catastrophe occured during a dense fog, and although the boats of the Europa were instantly lowered, and every possible assistance rendered, only 42 out of the 176 souls were saved. The captain, second mate and ten of the crew were among the survivors.

FRANCE AND ROME. - Surrender of the Eternal City .- The Legislative Assembly has been the scene of much turbulence and recrimination during the last week. The despotic spirit which marks the proceedings of the Government, is having the effect to heretofore friendly, into a compact in opposiof Republicanism. Towards the close of ment was in preparation. The statement, however, was so vaguely given by the Hon. member, that it appeared to have no foundation in fact and it soon ceased to produce any impression.

Surrender of Rome-On the 30th ult. the further resistance to the French arms would be in vain, ceased hostilities, and virtually surrendered the eternal city to the besiegers.

that in consequence of the arrangement en-·fect quietness and order.

Entry of the French Army into Rome. A corresspondent, writing from Paris, says, just as the Bourse was closing, it was stated positively that the Government had a telegrapic despatch, announcing the entry of the they were recieved with acclamation by the people. This communication produced a great sensation in the chamber.

Religious liberty secured .- The election in the city of London took place on Wednesday last, and resulted in the re-election of Baron Rothschilds by an overwhelming majority. The event is looked upon as an unwhat is termed full religious liberty. The opposing candidate was Lord John Manvers. who was beaten by a majority of over three thousand.

The fall of Rome. The sudden and in glorious termination of the heroic struggle of the Romans, appears inexplicable; but the following extract from the European Times throws some light on the causes which led to it :-

the walls by the French have not been the rent at from $100 to $200 per month. ed to be made. From hints thrown out in rents for $3,000 per year. the Italian papers, French gold has perhaps corrupted parties in the city. Divisons have arisen; supplies have become more and more scarce; and in this state of things we learn that the French Covernment has 5½ per cent. unexpectedly recieved a despatch announceing that the Assemby, or, as some say, perhaps, more correctly, the Municipality; has authorised the Triumvire to make terms, and M. de Corcelles, and M. D'Harcourt, and M. de Rayneval are all repairing to head quarters to meet the Roman authorities.

It is said that, in the two days preceding the suspension of arms, there was some hard fighting, in the course of which both French and Romans suffered severely; and that it was in consequence of the alarms of the inhabitants of Rome, that the Triumvirate at last determined to abandon the defence.

The Roman Republic. The New York Evening Post publishes. a letter from a gentleman resident in Rome, who formerly held a diplomatic appointment from this Government; in which he says: "One of the South American States has this day, [June 16th] through its minister, acknowledged the Republic.

We find in the correspondence of a late English paper the following melancholy statement of things in Rome, caused by the second attack of the French on the city:

"The work of destruction has already begun to be irreparable. Shells have fallen on the Palazzo Farnesc, Palazzo Concellaria, (where the Assembly meet,) Plazza Navona and the hospitals of St. Spirite and the Pellegrini (in spite of the black flag.) Others have been pertinaciously directed towards the Quirinal and the Capitol, and an antique vase in the entry hall of the Capitol, Museum has been injured by one of these projectiles, The boys and woman of Trastevero carry on quite a little commerce by picking them up before they explode, as the government pays 1½ bajocco [three farthings] a pound for all whole balls and shells, and since many of them weigh 60 pounds each, a good day's

At Valparaiso, which port that gentleman left on the 30th of May, the excitement occasioned by the report of the abundance of gold in California still continued. The emigration from Chiti was on the same scale as at first, and passengers had been taken from Valparaiso to San Francisco for $30. A short time previous to Mr. Cleeman's departure from that port, a ship named the Godeffroy had been purchased for $10,000, to be fitted up for passengers for the golden land. Her real value was scarcely $15.000, and she had previously to her arrival been offered for $20,000 by her consignee. In Peru there has been considerable full in the spirit of enterprise as regards California; the intelligence which had reached Callao of the low prices of merchandise of all descriptions in the markets of San Francisco had put a stop to further exports. The disposition to emigrate, however, still maintained its force among the lower classes of the Peruvian pop-
