Centre Valley Hotel.

The undersigned begs leave to inform his friends and the public in general, that he has rented and now occupies the new Centre Valley Hotel, in Upper Saucon township, Lehigh county, lately held by Geo.

Wetherhold. The House is beautifully situated, large and roomy, with first rate stabling and water close at hand. Being somewhat experienced in keeping public house, he flatters himself to be able to give full satisfaction to those who may think proper to favor him with their custom. He will furnish his bar with the best of liquors, and his table with the choicest the market affords. His bedding are all new, and cleanliness will be observed throughout his establishment. He invites such of his friends who pass and repass his house, to give him a call. JAMES WILT.

Wood's Patent Improved, Self-Feeding, Shingle

Stave Cutting Machine.

This valuable Machine was exhibited by Horse-power in the yard of Col. Eli Steckel's baper discontinued, until all arrearages are paid Eagle Hotel, in Allentown, on the 27th and 28th of May last, and operated to the entire satisfaction of all present. It was proven by said operation, that from 2500 to 4000 perfect shingles can be manufactured from one cord of Wood, at a cost not exceeding One Dollar per Thousand.

The Machine is capable of cutting from 2 to 4,000 shingles per hour, and if permanently located in the county, it would not only prove advantagous to the operator and obsumer, but would add greatly to the alue of timber land in Lehigh county.

Oak, Poplar and Chestnut shingles and staves have been manufactured with this Machine, under my own knowledge in the counties of Bucks, Delaware, Chester and Berks, by large quantities, and used to perfect satisfaction. The machine can be seen in operation by horse-power, at Mr. Jacob B. Brumbach, in Reading, or by calling on the subscriber who has two manhines in operation, one at Coatsville, by horse power, and one at his mill by water power.

I'm tired of going to school, said Herbert Allen to William Wheeler, the boy who sat next to him. I don't see any great use for my part, in studying geometry, and navigation, and surveying and mensuration, and a dozen or other things that I am expected to learn. They'll never do me any good. I can't feel so, Herbert replied, tossing his head, and I don't believe that my father to Callao, and want a man to go to superin-

William said no more, but turned to his esson with earnest attention. The difference in the character of the two boys is too plainly indicated in the brief coversation we have recorded, to need further illitstration. To their teacher it was evident, in numerous particulars in their conduct, their habits, and manners. William recited his lessons correctly, while Herbert never learned a task well. One was always punctual at school, the other a loiterer by the way. William's books were taken care of; Herbert's torn, disfigured and broken externally

I am really sorry to hear you say so, Mr. Allen, replied the merchant in a kind tone ;

how much can you earn now?

If I had steady work, I could earn nine or ten dollars a week. But our business is very bad; the substitution of steam engines on railroads for horses on turnpikes, has broken in seriously upon the harness making business. The consequence is, that I do not average six dollars a week the year

Is it possible that railroads have wrought such a change in your business? Yes, the harness-making branch of it; especially in large cities like this, where the heavy wagon trade is almost entirely broken up.

Did you say that six dollars a week were all that you could average.

I am president of a newlyprojected railroad, and we are about putting on the line a company of engineers, for the purpose of surveying and engineering, and as you studied those sciences at school the same ime I did, and I suppose have stilla correct knowledge of both, I will use my influence to have you appointed surveyor. I am very sorry, Mr. Allen, the merchant replied, in real concern. If you were a good accountant, I might perhaps get you into a store. What is your capacity in this

I ought to have been a good accountant. sir for, I studied mathematics long enough; but I took little interest in figures, and now, although I was many months at school, pre-tending to study bookkeeping, I am utterly incapable of taking charge of a set of books:

At length he said, I can think of but one thing that you can do, Mr. Allen. and that will not be much better than your present employment.
