

Constitution of New Mexico.

We understand from the National Intelligencer that a copy of the Constitution framed by the Convention of the people of New Mexico for the government of the State of New Mexico has been received in Washington city; but, as it requires the formal assent and concurrence of the people of the proposed State, it is to be considered as yet in an inchoate condition.

The first session of the Legislature of the State of N. Mexico shall be held at Santa Fe, on the first of July 1850.

The Military and Civil Governor of the Territory shall be requested, immediately after the adjournment of this Convention, to issue writs of election to the Prefects of the several counties, requiring them to cause an election to be held on the 20th day of June, 1850; the electors to vote for or against this Constitution, for a Governor and Lieutenant Governor, a Representative in the Congress of the United States, Senators and Representatives to the Legislature; and the returns of such election shall be made to the Prefect's clerk, who shall count the votes given, and certificates of election shall be given by them to such persons as shall have received the highest number of votes for members of the Legislature.

The returns of the electors for or against this Constitution shall be certified to by the Governor elect, or the Lieutenant Governor acting as such, who shall dispatch the same to the Secretary of State of the United States within thirty days of the day of election.

To satisfy a very natural curiosity on the part of the public to know what are the provisions of the Constitution in relation to the questions of Slavery and of Bondage, we are glad to be able also to place exact copies of those provisions before our readers.

"All men being born equally free and independent, and having certain natural, inalienable, and inalienable rights, amongst which are the enjoying and defending life and liberty, the acquirement, possession, and protection of property, and the pursuit and attainment of happiness; therefore no male person shall be held by law to serve any person as a servant, slave, or apprentice, after he arrives at the age of twenty-one years, nor female, in like manner, after she arrives at the age of eighteen years, unless they be bound up by their own consent after they arrive at such age, or are bound by law for punishment of crime."

The limits and boundaries of the State are defined as follows:

"Beginning at the dam in the Rio del Norte which supplies with water the 'asequia,' or irrigating canal of the town of El Paso del Norte, and running thence due east to the hundredth parallel of longitude, west from Greenwich; thence due north on said parallel to a point where the same intersects the river Arkansas; thence up the middle of the channel of said river to its source; thence in a direct line to a point of the Rio Colorado of California, where the same is intersected by the one hundred and tenth parallel of longitude west from Greenwich; thence due south on said parallel of longitude to a point on the Rio Gila, intersected by the same; thence up the middle of the main channel of said river to the point which may be designated by the Commissioners appointed to establish the line between the United States and the Republic of Mexico, as the point where said river, or one of its branches, shall be intersected by the western line of New Mexico; thence southerly on said line, as the same shall be established by the Commissioners, to the angle formed by the State of Chihuahua, Sonora, and New Mexico; thence easterly on the line between the United States and the Republic of Mexico, as it shall be laid down by said Commissioners, to a point where the same may intersect the Rio del Norte; thence down said river to the place of beginning."

Another Victim of the Explosion of Tuesday.—An inquest says the Evening Bulletin, was held by the Coroner, at the Pennsylvania Hospital this morning, on the body of William L. Bachman, aged 32, one of the victims of the Explosion of Tuesday, who expired in that institution yesterday. The deceased at the time of the explosion, was in the upper part of Ridgway & Budd's store. He was struck over the eye with a brick, and precipitated through the hatches the distance of four stories, and knocked all to pieces. Mr. Bachman was one of the deputy gain measurers of the site for Philadelphia. He resided in Kensington, and was formerly from Easton. A wife and four children are left to mourn his loss.—L. v. Bul.

Presidential Statistics.

Generals Harrison and Taylor are the only two Presidents who died during the terms for which they were respectively elected. General Taylor's case is peculiar in this respect, that it is the only death of a President which has occurred during the session of Congress. It is the only one, therefore, which has drawn around it all the imposing funeral ceremonies which the arrangements of Congress will gather around it; and it is, of course the only case which has caused the installation of his Vice Presidential successor to be witnessed and solemnized under the auspices of the Senators and Representatives of the people.

General Washington closed his administration on the 3d of March, 1797, and survived that event near three years, having died on the 21st of December, 1799, in the 68th year of his age.

John Adams followed General Washington on the 4th of March, 1797, and his administration ceased on the 3d of March, 1801. He survived 25 years, as he breathed his last on the same day with Mr. Jefferson, viz; on the 4th of July, 1826.

Thomas Jefferson succeeded on the 4th of March, 1801, and his two terms ceased on the 3d of March, 1809. He survived the expiration of his office 17 years, as he died on the 4th of July, 1826, in the 84th year of his age.

James Madison succeeded his illustrious friend on the 4th of March, 1809. On the 3d of March, 1817, his administration was brought to a close. He survived until the 28th of June, 1836, in the 86th year of his age.

James Monroe succeeded Mr. Madison on the 4th of March, 1817, and closed his administration on the 3d of March, 1825. He died on the 4th of July, 1831, in the 72d year of his age.

The administration of Mr. John Q. Adams (the only President who was elected by the House of Representatives,) commenced on the 4th of March, 1825, and closed on the 3d of March, 1829. He breathed his last on the 23d of February, 1848.

Gen. Andrew Jackson succeeded Mr. Adams on the 4th of March, 1829, and closed his administration on the 3d of March, 1837. He died on the 8th of June 1845.

Martin Van Buren succeeded on the 4th of March, 1837, and closed his administration on the 3d of March, 1841. He is still living.

General W. H. Harrison commenced his administration on the 4th of March, 1841, which continued only for one month—having breathed his last on the 4th of April, 1841, in the sixty-ninth year of his age. He died at Washington during the recess of Congress.

John Tyler was the first Vice President who succeeded to the Presidency upon the death of the President. He followed Gen. Harrison in April, 1841, and closed his administration on the 3d of March, 1845. He is still living. When Mr. Tyler became the acting President, Mr. Southard became the acting Vice President; and upon his death, Mr. Mangum, one of the present Senators from North Carolina, was elected, and remained as the presiding officer of the Senate until the end of Mr. Tyler's term of office.

James K. Polk succeeded Mr. Tyler on the 4th of March, 1845, and closed his administration the 3d of March, 1849. A few months after he closed his eventful life.

Gen. Taylor came to the Presidency on the 4th of March 1849, and expired on the night of the 9th of July, 1850, whilst Congress was in session.

He is succeeded by Millard Fillmore, the second Vice President, who takes the place of the deceased President. He has succeeded to office in the midst of a crisis which has never before occurred. Every friend to the country wishes him success in contributing his best and most earnest efforts towards adjusting all these questions, and wishing peace to his distracted country.—Washington Union.

Gen. Taylor's last Letter.

The following letter from General Taylor, in reply to an invitation to attend the Annual New York Agricultural Fair, may have been the last written by him. Although a soldier by profession, his tastes were strongly inclined towards agricultural pursuits.

WASHINGTON, July 5, 1850.

Sir: I have duly received your favors of May 18th and June 25th, the former wishing me to attend the Annual Fair of the New York State Agricultural Society in September next, the latter kindly asking my company at your house on that occasion.

In the extreme uncertainty attending the adjournment of Congress, until which event I cannot leave the seat of Government, I find it quite impossible to give any assurance in regard to my presence at the State Fair. I was greatly disappointed when circumstances prevented my attendance at the Fair of last year, and it is my hope this season to have the gratification of witnessing a similar exhibition. Unless prevented by an extraordinary prolongation of the session of Congress, or by other circumstances, not now foreseen, I shall certainly comply with the invitation which you have extended to me as President of the Agricultural Society.

The Slavery Question.

The United States at the present hour presents a curious spectacle to the world. We are perfectly satisfied that if the opinions of the American people of all classes could be obtained, the result would show that four-fifths of them are in favor of the passage of the Compromise bill introduced by the Committee of Thirteen, and yet there is no prospect of its passage by either house of Congress, for a week or two to come, if ever. This is certainly a remarkable spectacle, and we hope that those who have made themselves conspicuous in thwarting and opposing the will of the people, will be yet called to an account for their conduct in this matter.

If the discussion last much longer, we shall be in favor of recommending an adjournment, for members are doing nothing but keeping up an agitation which their constituents have become heartily tired of.—New York Herald.

Explosion.—The old system of high prices among our tailors is pretty generally exploded, and every body of good sense and taste, now gets his garments from the cheap stores. There is no place in the city where all articles of male apparel can be got so good, so handsome, so fashionable, and so cheap as at Shepherd's fine store, in Chestnut street above Third, Philadelphia.

Horses.—Let it be a matter of duty with you to visit your stables daily, see that they are kept clean, that ample beds of straw are provided, the horses at each meal actually receive their allowance of food, and last, but not least, that a bottle of Merchant's Gargling Oil is always kept in the stable to be applied on the first appearance of any injury or swelling.

See advertisement in another column. Get a pamphlet of the agent and see what it has done for others.

Tuggart's Flying Machine.—At Lowell, on the Fourth, at 4 P. M. Capt. Tuggart made a balloon ascension with his flying machine attached.—He was up 1 1/2 hours, travelled about 75 miles, and showed himself over Braintree, Tewksbury, Haverhill, Reading, Andover, Danvers, Ipswich, Georgetown, Lawrence, Methuen, Salem, and other towns. He also went some distance out to sea.—On his way back to Lowell, at Middle-town, the gearing of his flying machine broke.—Had not this accident happened, he would have landed in or near Boston, the place where he started from.
