Selling Off!
 —AT—REDUCED PRICES!!

Messrs. Kern & Kline, proprietors of the New York Store, take this method to inform their friends and customers, that they will after the 15th of March next, adopt the CASH SYSTEM!
 They have already reduced the price of their stock of Goods, which by these means they propose to sell out, in order to lay in an entire new by the above specified time.

 Persons will find it to their advantage to call at the New York Store to make good bargains. Now is your time!
CLOTHS, CASSIMERES,
 Satinets, Vestings, Coatings, all of which are reduced at least 20 per cent. from their former prices.

SILKS, SHAWLS,
 Bombazines, besides all other fine articles of Dress Goods are offered 20 per cent. from former prices.
 To Country Merchants great inducements are held out, as we offer a stock of the best selected Goods ever brought to Allentown:

GROceries AND QUEENSWARE,
 They have on hand a large supply of fresh Groceries, Fish, Salt, and Queensware, all of which they will dispose of very cheap.
 They would also state, that under no circumstances will goods be given on account of wood, before the same is delivered at their yard.
 With many thanks to their former friends and patrons, they hope by introducing the Cash System, to be able to sell cheaper and not only to retain their present customers, but be the means of bringing to the New York Store many new ones.

A Certain and Effectual Cure.

The subscriber, Druggist in the Borough of Bethlehem, Northampton county, adopts this method to inform sufferers of a Rheumatic complaint, be it Inflammatory, Chronic or Acute, that he prepares an article of medicine, that will effect a certain cure of this wide spread and painful disease. It is put up in Quart bottles, each bottle accompanied by a box of Ointment. The liquid is taken internally, and the ointment externally. The genuine article can be had only by the undersigned, a practical Druggist and Chemist, and originator of the medicine.
 Price two dollars per bottle, or six bottles for ten dollars—which will be sent to invalids in any part of the county, free of charge. All orders must be accompanied with the Cash, or they will receive no attention.
 This medicine needs no puffing, it speaks for itself, while perfectly harmless in its operation it eradicates the system from the effects produced by unskillful treatment. It has already produced some astonishing cures, and of cases where the patient has been confined to the house for years, and those that got abroad only with the use of Crutches, were set at liberty by the use of from one to six Bottles. Certificates of cures can be shown from the most respectable citizens.
 None is genuine without his written signature in blue ink.

BOUNTY LAND AND PENSION AGENCY,
 At Washington, D. C.

The undersigned Attorney and General Agent at the City of Washington, offers his services in procuring Bounty Lands and Pensions for those entitled.—Being permanently located at the seat of Government, with a thorough and familiar acquaintance with the necessary forms and routine of business, and having access to registers and Rolls filed in the U. S. war office, he possesses facilities for the speedy and satisfactory adjustment of Government claims of every kind.
 By a late Act of Congress, Bounty Land is granted to the officers and Soldiers of the war of 1812, and of the various Indian wars since 1790. To those who served nine months 400 Acres, to those who served four months 80 Acres, and to those who served one month 40 Acres.
 Arrangements have been made with gentlemen of the Legal professions in different sections of the country, for the location of warrants and the sale of the patents, when issued, on the most advantageous terms: for the payment of taxes, redemption of Lands, sold for taxes; collection of debts; and for the transaction of general Law business, in the different States, and Territories.
 He tenders his services to members of the profession at a distance, and when, claims against the Government, are prepared by a local Agent, will abate one half his usual fee. The necessary forms and instructions, and information on all subjects appertaining to a successful prosecution of this business, will be furnished to regular correspondents without charge.
 Information cheerfully given, and all communications promptly replied to, if addressed, post-paid to

NOTICE.
 The young girl was so overwhelmed by the shock which a perusal of the fatal letter caused, that she was thrown into a brain fever. And little hopes are entertained of her recovery, and we may soon be called on to give the intelligence of her death, as the finale of this sad tragedy.—Fankee Blade.

NOTICE.
 The following circumstances which have come to our knowledge in the most reliable manner, some of which indeed, fell under our own observation, illustrate the truth that the way of the transgression is hard, and that our Heavenly Father watches over and protects the weak and friendless.—
 About the first of September last, a young man in this city, formed an acquaintance with an amiable, confiding, and affectionate girl, about twenty-one years of age, and by a series of attentions commenced at that time, won completely her heart. She was dependent upon her own labor for support, and as her health was far from robust, the prospect of gaining a home, and her love for her wooer, induced her to consent to marry him at some convenient season. He was a clerk in an establishment in the city, and represented to her that he possessed a snug farm in a neighboring State, and that he had sisters residing a few miles from the city. He was desirous that their marriage should be consummated at Thanksgiving, or at New Year's, but she postponed that anticipated event until Spring. He subsequently gained her consent to accompany him on a sleighing excursion to his sister's house, who resided, as he said, about fourteen miles from Boston, and with whom they were to remain two days. The fond girl was making preparations for the New Year's ride, anticipating much pleasure from it, but a few days previous to the beginning of the year, her spirit was taken ill, his disease assumed a dangerous type—indeed he was attacked by a complication of dangerous diseases which soon brought him face to face with the king of terrors. The girl flew to his bed-side to minister to his wants, but, strange to say, her presence seemed obnoxious to him. When she attempted to wipe the moisture from his brow, which was assuming the ashen hue which tells of coming dissolution, he repulsed her with strange words which almost broke her heart, and which were received by the kind family with whom he was, as tokens of mental derangement. His physicians averred that something preyed upon his mind, producing an agitation which was hastening his end.
 The lady of the house, on coming into the room in the afternoon, to make arrangements for having him removed to another apartment, surprised him in the act of reading a letter, which he immediately thrust out of sight. While busying herself about the apartment she saw him attempting to throw the letter into the grate, but he was too weak to accomplish his purpose, and upon observing her, he thrust it into his bosom. Her suspicions that all was not right being aroused, she resolved that he should have no opportunity to burn the letter unobserved. He seemed to be overwhelmed by mental agony. Once after this, he called the devoted girl, his betrothed, to his bedside, as if to make some revelation, but waved her back immediately, and in a few minutes was dead. The letter in his bosom was drawn forth, and proved to have been written by a loving wife, who in it reproached him gently for his long silence, expressed her fears that he was sick—implored him if such was the fact, to send her word, and she would fly to him on the wings of love and tend him with her own hands. It appeared that his true name was not the one which he had assumed in Boston, that he owned no farm or other property, and the inference from all the circumstances was plain and inevitable, that he had deliberately planned the ruin of the young girl, whose heart he had won, and had deserted a fond wife, who was earning her own support in a neighboring State.
 Well might he be overwhelmed with mental anguish under such circumstances. Although safe from the reproaches of any mortal tongue, for no one in this city knew his treachery, unless perhaps, it was the driver who was to carry him on his anticipated sleighride—he was in the hands of God and his own conscience. Reader, can you imagine the feelings of that wretched man, with that devoted girl hovering around his bed-side, yearning to perform any kind of office for his comfort, to clasp his pain-racked form in her fond embrace, and pour the balm of affection upon his heart—with that letter from his absent wife, containing the evidence of her undying attachment to him who had sworn at the altar to love and cherish her, secret in his bosom. How that letter must have burned upon his false heart. How every affectionate word in it must have cut him like a poignard! How every glance of love from her, who had flown to his bed-side, must have scorched his brain! Could the Arch Fiend have invented a torture so keen, so exquisite as that he had endured during the last days of his sickness—when he exclaimed in agony, "If I live, all may yet be right; but, my God! if I die, all will be wrong!"
