

Experiment With Corn.

The ground upon which the experiment was made was as near alike, and prepared as near alike as could be. The corn was planted the 4th of May, three by five feet. That which was plowed, was plowed the widest way only. Four rows were plowed exclusively with the coulter, from eight to ten inches deep. Plowing repeated four times, at suitable intervals. The next four rows were cultivated entirely with the hoe. The balance was plowed as is usual here; first throwing the earth from, and then to the corn, and plowing four times. All was kept clean throughout the season. Two rows of that cultivated as usual when gathered, weighed 45 pounds. The next two, hoed corn, weighed 43 1/2 pounds. The two, hoed rows of hoed, weighed 43 pounds. Two rows of contered corn, side by side with the preceding, and having the same number of hills and ears of corn weighed 46 1/2 pounds. The hoed corn was nearly prostrated twice by wind and rain. I had to set up the greater part of it, just before and just after it tasseled. The contered corn suffered hardly so much as the hoed. The residue suffered comparatively little. These are the facts. Deductions for you and your readers. The quantity raised on the ground is of no consequence. I conducted various other experiments with corn, but do not deem them of sufficient interest to burden your columns, nor bore your readers with them. These little things are interesting to me, however, and I always have some such under headway. I book-farmed that famous bottom I spoke of you about, and made a fair crop of corn. Last year, it took sixty of the largest ears to shell a bushel; this year forty-eight do it. This book farming makes me the subject of great ridicule and merriment. For instance, you advised us, last spring, to plow deep and pulverize well. I did so, but was laughed at therefor. You advised the sowing of corn broadcast. I sowed something like four acres. This threw a great many neighboring diaphragms into convulsions, and ejections were rife and boisterous thereat. So well am I pleased, however, that I shall give them an opportunity to spit the larynx outright another year. The quantity of fodder produced was enormous, besides a pretty considerable sprinkling of corn. You apprised us that it might be well to sow rye for early grazing, soiling, &c., next spring, and I have done so. It is too green to laugh at now. You instructed us to sow twelve quarts of Timothy seed per acre. I did it. And if they do laugh at that, it is mighty green. (Fearing that some of our readers may not understand the full meaning of the word "green" as here used by our correspondent, we explain, that the Timothy and rye sowed by him, agreeably to our directions, have already covered the land with a thick green herbage, and give promise of uncommonly large crops of hay and grain.—Eds.) To renovate land, you incite us to use green crops. I capitalized all my clover-meadows displayed themselves of great length and breadth. Of all the green things, the wheat on that clover land is the greenest; and rather to green to laugh at. The land having been put in order by plowing, harrowing, and crushing, the wheat was sowed in about three inches the 1st of September, and I harvested it the 1st of October. It looks very well.—Cor. American Agriculturist.

The Northwest Passage.

Lieut. Maury, of the National Observatory, enclosing to Com. Warrington some results of observation of the habits and places of resort of whales—sperm and right, says: I have reason to believe the right whale of this southern hemisphere is quite a different animal from that of the northern; that the two are separated by (to them) an impassable barrier. I have also reason to suspect from results that have been elicited in the course of these investigations, that the same whale which is taken in Behring's Straits is taken in Baffin's Bay also; and if this be so, these investigations prove beyond question that this animal cannot pass from the one region to the other except through the Arctic ocean; and hence we are entitled to infer that there is, at times, at least, an open water communication between these Straits and the Bay; in other words, that there is a northwest passage. This interesting piece of circumstantial evidence in favor of a passage there, was called to the notice of Lieut. De Haven when he left this office to take command of the expedition in search of Sir John Franklin and his companions. So much was that enterprising officer impressed with the importance of this suggestion, and the consideration growing out of it, that he expressed the intention, after reaching the Arctic Sea, to observe too closely the habits of the whale, and should these fish be observed to take a westerly course to use them as pilots by the way. The wind and current charts give me reason to conjecture that the whaler who attempt to cruise in high Southern latitudes will find it a region of heavy weather, for though our researches have not yet been extended to that quarter, the results attained with regard to the trade winds indicate, that in the general system of atmospheric circulation the prevailing winds are less liable to interruption, and that the general system of circulation is more active in the southern than in the northern hemisphere; and therefore it may be suggested by way of precaution, that none but staunch well fitted and sound vessels should undertake the high southern cruise.

Heavy Cattle.—The four thousand pound ox of Col. Baldwin, of Cleveland, Ohio, has been beat by the great ox Red Jacket, raised by Mr. Riley, of Erie county, exhibited in New York last October at the cattle show. His owner, Mr. Clark, said he weighed 4,485 lbs. last May. He, too, intended to take that Ox to the World's Fair in London.

The Territory of Utah.

Yesterday a number of gentlemen connected with the Territorial Government of Utah, and the Indian Department in that quarter, Elder Pratt and a number of Mormons and several persons connected with the commerce of the Valley, left on the Robert Campbell, for Council Bluff, en route for the Salt Lake. A number of persons connected with the trade of Santa Fe and New Mexico, left on the same boat. The overland emigration to California this season will be small, but the number going out to Utah Oregon and New Mexico will be considerable. The largest portion of them will go to the Salt Lake.—The great rush to that quarter is not confined to members of the Church of Latter Day Saints, but embraces men of various pursuits and professions. The time is near when the whole valley of the Salt Lake and base of the Rocky Mountains will be closely retted by white men. Notwithstanding all that is said of that ruggedness and barrenness of much of that country, a population is pouring into it the extent of which no one not familiar with or informed in regard to it would believe; and which in a few years, by its own aggregation, if unaided by continuous accessions, would necessarily spread over an immense territory.—St. Louis Republican, April 23.

Pacific and Mississippi Rail Road.

Professor Forrest Shepherd, writes from Sacramento City, to the New Haven Palladium, in relation to the projected Railroad from the Mississippi River to the Pacific, that the Road can be constructed from the Pacific to the Mississippi, without crossing any mountains, or encountering so much snow as between Boston and Albany. He says the route is from the head or southern portion of Tularo valley, through Walker's pass, thence to the Mojave River, thence north-eastward to high grounds on the tributaries of the Rio Colorado, thence crossing said river above the great Canon, thence east to Pilot Mountain, near Santa Fe, passing Pilot Mountain on the north side thence to Santa Fe and the Mississippi at the Apple Creek below St. Louis, where there is a good landing and open navigation to New Orleans through the winter, and of course a road on the bank of the Mississippi to St. Louis. This route will be 600 or 800 miles nearer than any other has wood and water nearly the whole distance, and abundance of stone and coal at Santa Fe. The above route will accommodate both north and south, New Mexico and California, and ocean steamers will soon render a trip from San Francisco to Astoria as light a matter as at present from Buffalo to Chicago or Mackinaw. The route further north is very objectionable on account of the snow ever on the table lands on the head waters of Feather River. I have traveled over snow apparently undrifted, varying from 12 to 20 feet in depth in the month of June. Fine specimens of native silver, reported to be abundant, have been brought to me from the line of the southern route.

Rev. Dr. Henry, of South Carolina, has written a long and very able letter to the South Carolinian, most earnestly deprecating secession as the beginning of an "Mill of evils."

ANOTHER SCIENTIFIC WONDER.—Pepsin, an artificial Digestive Fluid, or Gastric Juice, a Great Dyspepsia Curer, prepared from Rennet, or the fourth stomach of the Ox, after directions of Baron Liebig, the great Physiological Chemist, by J. S. Houghton, M. D., No. 11, North Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Pa. This is a truly wonderful remedy for Indigestion, dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Constipation, and Debility, curing after Nature's own method, by Nature's own agent, the Gastric Juice. Allentown Academy.

The summer (closing) quarter of the present year commences on Monday, May 12th. The following is the Board of Instructors: R. C. CHANDLER, A. M., Principal. ASSISTANT CLAXTON, G. S. WOODRILL, A. B. F. C. H. C. LAMPE, Mrs. R. C. CHANDLER, Mrs. E. A. LIANO. The teachers employed are fully capable both from education and experience, for the several duties which devolve upon them in their respective stations. The Principal appeals with confidence to a discerning public for the support necessary to the sustenance of the institution under its present complete organization. The Academy is a Home Institution; that it may ever be the pride of the county to which it belongs, shall ever be our earnest wish, and no pains or expense will ever be spared, to make it deserving of the kind patronage which may fall to its share. Three additional boarding scholars, under 14 years of age can be received in the family of the Principal.—N. B. Frequent applications are made for admission of pupils who are unable to read; such are uniformly declined. If accepted, the Principal does not hold himself responsible for their satisfactory advancement. Allentown, May 8.

Captain Fagle Is in the Field Again!

Captain HENRY F. NAOLE, respectfully announces that by the encouragement of his friends he has leased the large and commodious house formerly occupied by his father, on Hamilton street, (continued) in East Allentown, as a Saloon and House of General Refreshment, which he has now fitted up in a style consistent with the high reputation of his friends. The accommodations consist of a large dining room, a bar, a billiard room, and a room for private parties, where visitors can enjoy themselves apart from the bustle of the main saloon, and where they can be accommodated with a variety of choice refreshments. He will spare no expense to render his house worthy the patronage he solicits. His bill of fare will consist as follows: Ale, Porter and Beer, of the best manufacture, Oysters, raw, stewed and spiced, Lobsters, Crabs, Clams, and all other kinds of shell fish in their season, Pigs-feet, Tripe, smoked Tongue and French Bolognese, Sardines, and in fact every thing the markets of Philadelphia, New York and our own vicinity afford. His ICE CREAMS are too well known and celebrated to need encomium, and he will only say that he will be found as heretofore the ne plus ultra of Restaurateurs. May 8.
