

Later from Cuba.

CHARLESTON, Sept. 2.

By the schooner Merchant, at Savannah, letters have been received from some of the principal mercantile houses at Havana, which contradict entirely the reported success of Lopez, as mentioned in the verbal accounts by the Merchant.

These letters, several of which we have been permitted to peruse, bear date, August 23d, and state that Lopez has but one hundred and fifty men left, and it was the belief of the writers that they would be soon captured or destroyed.

Of the remainder of the expedition, some two hundred had been shot.

No mention is made, in any of these letters, of Creoles joining the standard of Lopez.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 2.

Advices received by the Cincinnati from Havana are up to the afternoon of the 25th.

The accounts are so conflicting that it seems almost impossible to obtain reliable information. It seems, however, that Gen. Lopez still held out against the Spanish troops though his force was much reduced.

It does not appear that he has been joined by any Cubans.

Lopez and his men are represented to be in the most abject condition, though they fight with the utmost desperation, expecting hourly reinforcements from the United States.

The Spanish Government has offered a reward for Gen. Lopez, dead or alive, but had promised a pardon to those of his followers who would surrender.

No vessels have left here for Cuba since the departure of the Pampero, though it was generally believed that one or more steamers lying below New Orleans for some days were about leaving with "fillibusters."

The death of General Enna, the commander of the Spanish forces seems to be doomed in certain quarters.

The report that Gen. Lopez was advancing on Havana, is untrue. He and his followers are falling back towards the mountains, disputing every inch of ground.

President Fillmore has removed the collector of this port for refusing to stop the Pampero.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 4.

By the Cherokee we have advices to September 1st.

Passengers by her report having witnessed the execution of Lopez at Havana.

His force had been completely dispersed and he was finally left to wander about in the mountains, where he was pursued by blood-hounds and finally captured.

He is said to have met his fate manfully. His last words were "ADIEU, DEAR CUBA."

A great crowd witnessed the execution. Gen. Pragy, the Hungarian officer, had been killed at Las Pozas.

Of the force taken by Lopez to Cuba, 550 had been shot. 436 were in prison.

The remainder of his band, some 30 in number, had fled to the mountains.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.

The Union of this morning has the following despatch, which is not so late as the report received by the Cherokee, but it contains some interesting facts:

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 3.

A messenger in the employ of Lopez, who arrived here in the steamer Cincinnati, brings a letter from Lopez's camp to Mr. Lightcap of this city, which states that Lopez had gained two battles with the loss of but nine men killed and twelve wounded; that more than six hundred Cubans joined him after the defeat of Gen. Enna, and that he has now fifteen hundred men in the field.

The same messenger also brings private despatches from Lopez, to Mr. Sigur, editor of the Delta, who is now absent. His wife has the letters and refuses to give them up. He is expected home to-morrow.

The above you may rely upon as positively true.

No force has left here since the departure of the Pampero, but three thousand men are ready and will soon be off. Col. Bell and Pickett are here; O'Hara is in the West.

H. B. TAYLOR.

The Washington papers had not received the Cherokee's news when they went to press. The Republic is silent in regard to Cuban affairs. The Intelligence admits the probability of the death of General Enna, but believes Lopez is almost captured.

By the magnetic telegraph we received a despatch from the Picayune office, announcing the arrival, at New Orleans, of the Steamer Cherokee, with Havana dates to Sept. 1st—one week later than previous advices.

This despatch, though brief, indicates the destruction of the invading force.

The Picayune's Havana correspondent states that Gen. Lopez was captured at San Cristoval, taken to the city of Havana, and there publicly garrotted on the 29th of August. All his men were likewise captured and executed.

It was reported that the insurgents of the Eastern part of the Island were still maintaining their stand in the mountains near Puerto Principe.

The details of this shocking intelligence may be expected every moment by the Empire City, which may arrive at New York before we go to press.

The Carotte is the instrument of execution employed in criminal cases of ignominy in Cuba. The Condemned is placed in a chair, where he is fastened down securely. An iron collar, with spikes in it, is then placed around his neck and by the gradual pressure of a screw behind, the victim is strangled and his neck broken.

Whether Lopez's unhappy followers suffered this death or were allowed the more honorable mode by shooting does not appear.

In the Savannah papers of Tuesday last we have the details of the news by the schooner Merchant, giving the report of the death of Gen. Enna. Many of the reported successes are of course neutralized by the sad news from New Orleans, but there are some new facts. The list of the officers of Lopez's command, which we publish complete, will be read with sad interest as it is probable that the greater part of them have suffered death by this time:

[From the Savannah Republican Sept. 2.]

By the arrival yesterday at this port of the schooner Merchant, Captain Westendorff, from Havana, whence she sailed on the 22d ult., we are in receipt of further advices from Cuba, which confirm the reports previously received of the battles between the Spanish troops and the Patriots under Gen. Lopez in which the latter were victorious.

We cannot rely upon the ordinary channels for news from Havana, but the information we have received, though very scanty, we believe to be from a source which may be fully relied upon. We are informed that

Gen. Enna, the first in command of the Spanish troops, and the second in command of the Island, was killed by the Patriots in the battle of the 17th, together with four or five other Spanish officers and five hundred Spanish troops. Gen. Enna's body was exposed in state two days at Havana and was afterwards buried with great pomp.

We also learn that Gen. Lopez was everywhere successful, and was marching towards Havana with a force of 1500 to 2000 men, and was in position east of Mariel.—The Creoles at Havana were highly elated at Lopez's success, and are daily making concessions to his army. American vessels are closely searched and a strict watch is constantly kept on all American citizens on the Island. There are reported to be only about 700 Spanish troops at Havana. The accounts of the death of Gen. Enna explains the report received here by a despatch having been put on board the steamer Cherokee, just before sailing from Havana, to the Spanish minister at Washington, informing him of the Capture of Gen. Lopez. We presume the despatch to the Spanish minister related to the death of Gen. Enna was not instantly killed, but was wounded in one of his legs, from which he died the day after the battle.

The reports of the inhuman massacre of Col. Crittenden's command, and the cruelties and outrages perpetrated upon their bodies, are fully confirmed.

By the Merchant we have received our regular files of the Faro Industrial to the 29th ult.

We learn from this paper that on the 17th the Captain General distributed brevets &c, to thirty-five officers and soldiers, who were wounded in the battle of Las Pozas.

It also contains an official communication of the Captain General, dated the 19th, which states that Gen. Enna was dangerously wounded in a battle with Lopez, at a place called Carambola.

General Lopez Garrotted.
PICAYUNE OFFICE,
NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 4, P. M.

The steamer Cherokee left Havana on the 1st instant, and arrived at the Balize this morning.

From despatches to the Picayune office, we learn that Gen. Lopez was captured at San Cristoval and brought to the city of Havana, where he was publicly garrotted on the 29th ult.

All his men were likewise captured and executed.

The insurgents were still maintaining themselves in the mountains near Puerto Principe.

The punishment of the garrote is described as placing the victim in an easy chair, clamping his limbs, placing a band around the neck, and gradually pressing a screw until the neck breaks.—Rep.

Sailing of Kossuth for America.
The Mayor of New York has received the following letter in reference to the sailing of Kossuth for this country:

LEGATION OF THE UNITED STATES,
CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 4th, 1851.

Dear Sir:—As I believe it will interest you to know it from a reliable source, I do myself the honor and pleasure of informing you that since my arrival here, I have in the absence of the Minister resident, received from the Turkish minister of foreign affairs, the formal and official assurance, in the name of H. I. M., the Sultan, that on the 1st of September, (our 12th) M. Kossuth and all the refugees at Kutahia, in Asia Minor, will be liberated, and permitted to go where they please. M. K. has sent to this legation a declaration that he and his associates, with the exception of Count Bathyan and his lady, will proceed to the United States in the steamship Mississippi, which vessel, as you are aware, has been designated for the purpose of removing them there by the President.

I learn that the Austrian Government is still protesting and will continue to protest against their release; yet I believe the Sultan's government will act with firmness, and carry out His Majesty's generous and humane intent. I consequently suppose that as the Hon. Secretary of State has directed M. Kossuth to be conveyed to New York, you may expect him there in the latter part of the month of October. M. K. still entertaining the highest opinion of our country and of its government will land upon our shores a warm advocate of the institutions which have rendered the United States so prosperous and so happy. I have the honor to remain, dear sir, respectfully, yours truly,

JOHN P. BROWN.

To His Honor, the Mayor.

Ploughing Match.—A grand Ploughing Match to be confined to ploughmen of Lancaster county and ploughs manufactured within the limits of the county, is to be held in the immediate vicinity of Lancaster city, on Monday, September 29. The following are the premiums offered for competition:—For the best ploughman, $40; 2nd best do., $30; 3rd do., $20; 4th do., $10; 5th do., $5; for the best plough, $10; second best plough $5 dollars.

Ex-President Adams.—John Quincy Adams who was not very prodigal of blood, declared on the floor of Congress, that he would draw every drop of blood from his own arms, and vote to draw every drop from the arms of the nation, before he would suffer Cuba to belong to any other nation.

Railroad Riot in New Jersey.

Easton, Pa. Sept. 5.

A very serious difficulty occurred among the Irish hands employed on the New Jersey Central Railroad, near Spruce Run, about twelve miles from this place.

It seems that a quarrel took place last Sunday between the natives of the different counties of Ireland, relating of some local difference in their own country. Since that time the laborers, employed at different points of the road, have formed themselves into parties and have had several battles, in which firearms have been freely used.—Several men have been shot, and two at least are known to be killed.

The Sheriff has called out the military but as yet they have made but little impression upon the rioters. The Irishmen have procured fire-arms, and very serious trouble is feared all along the line of the road.

Yesterday the Irishmen expected, and had prepared themselves for a grand battle, but up to last evening nothing of a serious character had occurred.

Mr. Thomas Beardon, a Catholic Priest of Easton, has used his influence among them to quiet them. The whole neighborhood of course, is in a state of great excitement. The Military yesterday succeeded in taking the arms from a party of Irishmen marching to attack another set, and they dispersed. They are armed with guns, pistols and clubs, and compel their fellow laborers to join them, whether disposed to do so or not.

business, in all its various branches, at the old stand, where the same business was followed by Joseph Kramer, in South Allen street. They have prepared themselves with materials to manufacture all kinds of

from a one-horse buggy to a four-horse coach, or in any style that may suit the fancy of the customer.

The acknowledged ability of the partners, in Building, Painting and Trimming, is a sufficient guarantee that their vehicles will stand the tests for beauty and durability with any manufactured in Pennsylvania.

Old vehicles repaired at the shortest notice and at very moderate prices. Their work will be warranted to be durable.

Thankful for the many favors heretofore received by one of the partners, he feels assured that no one who will favor the firm now, will go away dissatisfied.

American

Repository of Inventions.
TO MERCHANTS, INVENTORS, and Manufacturers. Seventh volume of the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN. Messrs. Munn & Co., American and Foreign Patent Agents, and Publishers of the Scientific American, respectfully announce to the public that the first number of this widely circulated and valuable journal will issue on the 20th of September. The new volume will commence with new type, printed on paper of a heavier texture than that used in the preceding volumes. It is the intention of publishers to illustrate it more fully, by introducing representations of prominent events connected with the advancement of science; besides furnishing the amount of engravings of new inventions.—It is published weekly in form of binding, and affords, at the end of the year, a splendid volume of over four hundred engravings, together with a vast amount of practical information concerning the progress of invention and discovery throughout the world.—There is no subject of importance to the mechanic, the inventor, manufacturer, and general reader, which is not treated in the most able manner—the editors contributors and correspondents, being men of the highest attainments. It is, in fact, the leading scientific journal of the country.

The inventor will find in it a weekly list of American Patent Claims, reported from the Patent Office, an original feature not found in any other weekly publication.

TERMS.—$5 a year,—$1 for six months. All Letters must be post-paid, and directed to "MUNN & Co., Publishers of the Scientific American, 128 Fulton-st., New York."
