Keep Him Down.

Aye, keep him down, what lasiness has a poor man to attempt to rise without a namewithout friends-without Lonorable blood in his veins? We have known himsever since he was a boy-we knew his tather before him and he was a mechanic-and what merit can there be in the young strippling? Such is the ery of the world, when a man of sterling charneier attempts to break away the coids of poverty and ignorance and rush to position of truth and honor. The multipode are excited by envy -they cannot endure to be obtsteipped by those \ who grew up with them or dear children side by side, hence the opposition a man encounters in his native place. Despite of this feeling many noble minds have arisen from obscurity and lived down their opponents, but others have yielded to discouragement-lived in obsenrity, and 'died and made no sign.' Let it -mount up and starily the world.

Fire in Catasaugua.

On the night of the 25 h of September, a fire broke out in the store of Messrs. Gross & Coleer, in Catasangea. The store was keptin the large three story brick building of Mr. as a public house. The event-2 previous to the fire, a vendue was kept in the store room, and, with a view of selling out their stock of Goods. when no deabt a spark, from light or segar, sat it on tire. The Goods were covered by an insurance of $3,200 in the "Upper and Lower Saucon Mutual Insurance Company," the appraisers of which agreed upon $2,000, as the amount of damages. The building is insured in the "Lycoming Minual Fire Company," the damages are not yet assessed, but are believed to be between five and six handred dollars.
