Democratic State Convention.

Hannisnono, March 4.

The Democratic State Convention met in the hall of the House of Representative at eleven o'clock; an immense concours of spectators were in attendance, the Buchanan men looking provokingly confident, the Cass men dogged and determined.

Judge Wm. S. Ross, of Luzerne, was elected temporary Chairman, and the Convention proceeded to consider the contested scats of delegates in numerical order. The Erie and Crawford district case being the first in order, on a motion that the contestants be permitted to state their claims, a great variety of amendments were proposed and much discussion prevailed, and the chair evidently became bothered. The motion to hear both sides finally prevailed, limiting the speakers to twenty minutes Mr. Lowrie advocated his claims, and Mr. Mc-Arther replied. Much discussion followed, and-numerous-motions-were-made-;-muchexcitement prevailed; an angry altercation ensued between Mr. Lowrie, Judge Gillis hnd othess, during which there was much disorder, hissing, stamping and applauding. After the passage of a resolution in reference to the permanent organization of the Convention, a motion for adjournment prevailed, to meet at three o'clock this afternoon.

AFTERNOON SESSION .- The Convention assembled at 3 o'clock. The crowd increasing, and the steam getting up. The consideration of contested seats was continued and concluded.

The Chairman of the Committee on Orthe Convention, and a large number of Vice Presidents and Secretaries.

The President, upon taking the Chair, made an elequent address.

Mr. Hist, from Philadelphia, presented a resolution to the effect, that this Convention proceed to vote viva voce for a candidate to be presented to the National Convention for President, and that the one receiving a majority of the votes of this Convention shall be the choice of Pennsylvania.

The roll being called, resulted as follows; -James Buchanan received 97-votes : Lewis Cass, 31 votes; Samuel Houston, 2; and Robert J. Walker, 2.

It was then moved that the Convention | unanimously concur in the nomination of James Buchanan. The year and mays begin called, were, 102 yeas, 30 mays. This vote created considerable sensation.

A resolution was offered, authorizing the President of the Convention to appoint a committee of one for each congressional district, to report to the Convention, subject to its approbation, the names of Delegates to represent this State in the National Convention; and that no one should be nominated who is not known to be the firm friend of Mr. Buchanan, and having no other preference; which was amended by Mr. Scott. of Huntingdon, to the effect that the Delegates from the several congressional districts be requested to report to this Convention the name of one person from each district, as a delegate to the Baltimore Convention, to nominate candidates for President and Vice-President. A very exciting and animated debate upon this question ensued, pending with the Convention adjourned to incet at 74 o'clock this evening.

EVENING SESSION .- The Convention met at 71 o'clock. The discussion on the resolution and amendment, in refference to the appointment of Delegates to the Baltimore Convention, was resumed and continued. Many warm speeches were made on both sides, after which, the amendments were all voted down by most decisive votes, and the original resolution adopted by a vote sf91 to 41. The chair declined to vote. Mr. Scott, of Huntingdon, on behalf of himself and others, presented a paper, signed by twenty-four delegates, protesting, in the most emphatic and decided terms against the action of the majority, and expressing a determination to decline participating any further in the selection of delegates to the National Convention. The paper is quite lengthy, and the language exceedingly strong. Here follows the objections:

The Protest of the Cass Men.

We solemnly protest against the resolution just adopted, as a wanton disfranchisment of the Congressional Districts, which we in whole or in part represent. We denounce it as a flagrant usurpation of power -as a desperate alternative resorted to by a tyrannical majority, to manacle and silence a large minority in this Convention upon a vital question .- it is a trampling under foot of an usage sanctioned by the action of the Democratic party in its Convention for the last 17 years,-it is not only a violation of usage but it is a sacrifice for a tempoary purpose, of a cardinal Democratic principle.— While the democracy of other States are bringing the election of Delegates nearer to the people Pennsylvania by this action of the majority of her Convention, removes it futher from them, and displays a humiliaating distrust of the popular will.

The whole proceeding is an usurpation of our rights, and the rights of the people whom we represent-directly branding them and us as unfit to choose the electors and delegates to represent them in the National Convention. It is justifiable by no exigency—it can be justified by none; it is pregnant with the seeds of discord and dissatisfaction in the ranks of the Democratic party of Pennsylvania:

The violation of that right is a violation or part of the vitality of our organization, and we refuse submission to the resolution.

We decline all further participation in he selection of District Delegates. We assert the right of the delegates from the several districts, and the right of our Constituents themselves to disregard the selection of delegates and electors made by an outrage upon party law, and to select them in accordance with established usage.

We therefore protest against this act as unjust, unnecessary and in disregard of venole of democracy—as an act of disorganizaion, fraught with anarchy and dismemberment of the democratic party-and we ask that this our carnest protest against it, be entered upon the journal of the convention's
