Synopsis of School Decisions.

School Houses with a convenient lot and curtilage, are dedicated to public use for public purposes, and no law authorizing the laying out of a State road could be construed so as to warrant the interference with the School House lot or curtilage, unless terms.

Where there are no duly qualified township or borough Auditors, the district, Treasurer's account may be settled by the board of School Directors.

School Directors may permit subscription schools to be taught in the school houses owned by the district, when not needed for the use of the public schools. They may also permit Sunday schools to be taught in them. In such cases the person occupying them, are responsible for any injury the school houses may sustain during or in consequence of such occupancy.

A farmer, within the meaning of the law is one who carries on the business of farming—a cultivator of the soil on his own account. The owner of the land may not be a farmer, while his tenant is.

A tax-payer cannot be relieved from the payment of a tax upon property, of which he was the owner when the tax was levied, upon the allegation that he has since sold or transferred such property. He is chargeable for the entire year, and the fact that he has for that time, the proceeds of the property so sold, without any tax upon such proceeds, is a sufficient reason why he should be required to pay on the original assessment.

As to the proof that should be required by the Board of a transfer of property, in order to relieve the party assessed from the payment of the tax, the above general proposition shows must be confined to transfers before the laying of the tax. The sufficiency of such proof should properly be left to the sound discretion of the Directors. It would be hard in most instances, to apply the strict rules of legal evidence; ex parte affidavits of the fact from credible persons, might in most instances be satisfactory.

The warrant of the district Treasurer to the Constable or Collector of School tax does not extend beyond the year for which it is issued, and collections can not be enforced under it after the expiration of that year. The district, however may bring suit against the delinquent tax-payers and collect the tax in that manner.

All property acquired by a widow in our intestate laws, that is otherwise subject to taxation for school purposes, continues so to be in her hands.

The requirement of the school law that the schools of each district "shall be put and kept in operation" "not less than three months" in each school year is peremptory; and if neglected, the directors render themselves liable to be dismissed from office and prosecution for misdemeanor in office. If this requirement of the law is not strictly fulfilled, the collection of school tax can not be enforced—the Directors can not legally authorize its collection. The fact that the Directors expend the money of the district in building school houses, is neither an excuse or extenuation for the offence of refusing to "put and keep the school in operation" for at least the shortest time designated in the law. One generation can not be required to build school houses for another and be thereby deprived of the benefit of the common schools. The first duty of the Directors is to give every child an opportunity to attend school for the length of time required by law, and then to build appropriate school houses if they have the means and if not then to rent a suitable place in which to teach their schools.

Directors are authorized to appropriate a portion of the public funds to the support of endowed Common Schools, and if they do so the law reserves the right to the Directors to visit the school at any time, in order to see whether it is "conducted in conformity with the common school system, so far as the same is applicable thereto." The law does not design that they shall have any further control over endowed schools than is expressed in the foregoing. But they can not be compelled (they are merely authorized) to "appropriate so much of the district fund to said (endowed) school as they may think just and reasonable." They are not required to appropriate any sum whatever, and therefore, unless they are entirely satisfied with management of the school, may arbitrarily refuse any assistance.

Missouri Election.

The St. Louis Republican, in commenting upon the recent election of Col. Benton to Congress from that district, says:

Such a contest has never been witnessed in the United States, as Col. Benton has the right to claim as great a votum d'Etat as Louis Napoleon. He has gained a triumph, and won a position by means and under circumstances that we did not think any portion of the American people were capable of submitting to, and to which no other population than that of this city and district would have submitted. Certainly no other American statesman would have hazarded his success upon such a plan of a political campaign as the Colonel has done.

He started out with a determination to brow-beat, bully and lash his opponents, more particularly those in his own party, and indulged in the most unusual language of vituperation, abuse and denunciation. From the beginning to the end, he has not thought to conciliate, palliate or even defend his acts, but by the application of the most severe invectives, the most unqualified and harsh denunciations of all opposition to himself (for he ran without the aid of a nomination) he has forced the party with which he has acted, into entire submission and an obedient and zealous support of him. His especial opponents, the Anties, he hubbed, by an abuse unparalleled in the history of stump oratory, into the most obsequious obedience. He called them "dogs," and treated them as such, and claimed that they would feel themselves honored by the "licking" he gave them. The result shows that he understood the men he had to deal with. He never thought to conciliate with them, and his triumph is the greater from the fact, that he has literally whipped them into servility to him.
