The Gold Diggings of Australia.

Australian advices have reached England by the overland mail. From Sydney they reach to the 29th of July, being four weeks later than those previously received. From Port Phillip they are to the 17th of July. In each case they fully confirm the recent accounts regarding the yield of gold in New South Wales and Victoria. As regards the Mount Alexander Mines in the latter colony, it appears that the escort for the week ending the 3d July was expected to bring 100,000 ounces, leaving 40,000 for the Commissioner's tent to be brought on the next occasion. From the influence of the supplies the price had fallen to 60s. or 62s. per ounce, although the miners, being now rich, were generally indisposed to press sales. It was estimated that there was at least £1,000,000 unemployed money in the hands of laborers. At the various mining localities of New South Wales the result continued to be increasingly satisfactory, although the reports from the sister colony caused everything like ordinary success to be treated with indifference. Several parties connected with the companies formed in London had arrived at Sydney, and had proceeded to the Bathurst district. The markets were cleared of most kinds of provisions as fast as arrival took place. Wheat was 8s. 6d. per bushel, flour 4s. 2 1/2 per lb. and hay 40 per ton. Gold at Sydney was higher than at Port Phillip, the quotation being 64s. for the Taron gold and 65s. for that of Mount Alexander. The Port Phillip accounts of the prospects of the wool crop are very unfavorable, and corroborate the remarks in a letter quoted a few days back. "Whole flocks," it is said, "will be driven to the diggings for slaughter, and the fleece and the fat will be burnt." "On many stations next season no attempt to shear sheep will be made." In fact it seems that labor of any kind was almost wholly unobtainable. Among other curious circumstances connected with the state of the markets, it is mentioned that the price of bricks at Melbourne was £10 a thousand, and it was believed that both bricks and coals would be profitably imported from England. The editor of one of the local papers states that it only requires proper machinery to work the quartz in order to develop the surpassing richness of this portion of the Australian gold fields. The total shipments of gold to the 26th July had been £1,750,745, reckoned at the price of 63s per oz.—Gold was selling at 63s 6d to 65s, and the exchange against gold was 12 per cent. discount. The Legislative Council was occupied with the New Duties Bill. The letters from Adelaide, South Australia, are to the 25th of June, but they furnish little news of importance. A person claimed the reward of £1,000, for the discovery of a gold field at Broughton, about 100 miles distant, but an expedition to the spot proved his statement to be a fabrication. The Adelaide market was entirely cleared of goods, and many articles fetched high and mounting prices than at Port Phillip, owing to the forced circulation of the gold in the colony.

The Land Survey in California.

We have been kindly furnished, by Col. Ransom, Deputy United States Surveyor General for this State, with the particulars of his recent visit to the southern portion of the State, made by order of General King, United States Surveyor General. It will be recollected that a meridian line was established upon Mt. Diablo last season, which runs into the ocean to the southward of Monterey Bay. The object of the recent trip to the south was to establish a similar line to lap this on the east and with this view Col. Ransom and party went to San Diego, and from that point to the boundary line between the United States and Mexico. A thorough reconnaissance of the whole country was then made up to Los Angeles. From this last point the party struck out to San Bernardino valley, sixty miles east, where the Mormons have a large settlement of some 500 or 600 inhabitants. This valley is described as one of the finest in California, being finely watered with springs throughout its extent. The amount which the Mormons claim under their purchase from the Lajos is 100,000 acres, for which they paid $23,000 down, and are to pay the additional sum of $83,000 in two years. They have erected one fine grist mill with two runs of stones, driven by water power and another is in progress of construction. The wheat crop this season was slightly injured by mist, but the yield was very fair affording enough for consumption and an overplus. The product of vegetables this season is very large, and of a quantity far superior to that raised in any part of the country. Colonel Ransom informs us that he measured many stalks of corn over 20 feet high. The settlement appeared to be happy and prosperous. From the valley the party went thirty miles further east to the top of Mount San Bernardino. For the want of proper instruments the exact altitude of this mountain was not ascertained, but it was estimated to be between 8,000 and 9,000 feet above the level of the ocean or three times higher than that of Mount Diablo. It is the highest peak in the southern portion of the State. Colonel Ransom has reported in favor of establishing this point to run another meridian line from and his recommendation will doubtless be adopted. —San Francisco Whig, Sept. 28.

T. B. WELCH'S MAGNIFICENT PORTRAIT OF WASHINGTON.
Engraved (by permission) from Stuart's only original portrait in the Athenaeum, Boston.

This superb picture, engraved under the superintendence of THOMAS SULLY, Esq., the eminent and highly gifted artist, is the only correct likeness of Washington ever published. It has been characterized as the greatest work of art ever produced in this country. As to its fidelity, we refer to the letters of the adopted son of Washington, GEORGE WASHINGTON PARK CURTIS, who says, "It is a faithful representation of the celebrated original," and to Chief Justice TANEY, of the Supreme Court of the United States, who says, "As a work of art its excellence and beauty must strike every one who sees it, and it is no less happy in its likeness to the Father of his country. It was my good fortune to have seen him in the days of my boyhood, and his whole appearance is yet strongly impressed on my memory. The portrait you have issued appears to me to be an exact likeness, representing perfectly the expression as well as the form and features of the face." And says SENATOR CASS, "It is a life-like representation of the great original. President FILLMORE says, "the work appears to me to have been admirably executed and eminently worthy of the patronage of the public." Says MARCHANT the eminent portrait painter, and the pupil of Stuart, "your print to my mind is more remarkable than any other I have seen, for presenting the whole individuality of the original portrait, together with the noble and dignified repose of fair and manner, which all who ever saw him considered a marked characteristic of the illustrious man it commemorates."
The property is not sold by the 25th of December next, it will be rented away by Auction for one year from the first of April next.
