As Professor Anderson was looking over the various American and European newspapers, which are to be found in the publication office of the Boston Daily Times, he saw that he was closely scrutinized by a gentleman of tall stature and and rather swarthy appearance; evidently not a Bostonian. This individual, after a short | gain of four. space had elapsed, at length mustered courage, and thus addressed the Wizzard : "I say! are you Professor Anderson, hey !" Yes sir." "Wall of workmen. you're a tarnation smart man, I hear. You ain't got that bottle of yourn with ye, have you ?"-

"No sir." "Well, I'm from down East, having been raised in Maine, and I should like to purchase a duplicate of that ere bottle, as I am go. ing out stumping for _____, I guess if I had | pal Church, at Savannah. your bottle, or its twin. brother, I'd soon swamp-

I'll tell you how it was, stranger, as near as I can.-I used to take a red cent and change it into a ten dollar gold piece." "Oh," said the Professor, as I forget hom, will you show me ?" at the same time handing a cent to the Wizzard.

"Oh yes, sir, if it will oblige you, I will show you in a moment." "Hold your hand," said the Wizzard. "This is your cent is it not !" "Yes sir." "Close your hand." The Down Easter closed his hand fast- "Are you sure you have it ?" said the Wizzard. "I guess I have," said he, and I'll bet a dollar you can't change it into a ten dollar gold piece." "Done," said the Wizzard. "Now hold fast." Yes sir ! I reckon I will-but stop ! down with your dollar ! here is mine !" said the Yankee. The Wizzard covered his dollar. "Now, sir are you ready !" said the Wizzard. "I ain't nothing else !" said the Down Easter. "Change," said the Wizzard --"Now, sir, open your hand." He did so and to his utter astonishment he held a bona fide ten dollar gold piece ! "Well, sir, said the Wizzard, "You see you have lost your dollar !" "I guess I have," said he; handing over the two dollars. "Now," says the Professor, "I'll bet you another dollar Pil change the ten dollar piece into your .cent again, and much quicker." "No yer dou't said the gent from Maine, placing the ten dollars in his pocket, and buttoning it up tight, "I'm much obliged to you Professor, but I reckon I'll leave it as is.
