Speech of Col. Benton.

Col. Benton delivered a very characteristic speech at Jackson, Mo., on the 30th of October. He thanked his constituents for returning him to Congress, and then, "still harping on my daughter," said:

"I have been sold out of the State and a conspiracy had been formed to keep me out and to destroy me in the good opinion of my fellow citizens. I was not of a temper to submit to such outrages. That was a personal reason for standing the election; there were also public reasons for doing so; there was a party among us plotting to join the State to a Southern confederacy; and I did not deem it right to abandon the State to their machinations. There were good men among us deceived and I did not deem it right to leave them in error. The friends of the Union called for my help, and I could not be deaf to their call. Thus I was made a candidate in spite myself, and those who plotted my destruction, as standing in the way.

"I have been successful!—no! I have been successful! and I saw the effect of this success both at home and abroad upon the public mind. I have traveled since the election, and witnessed an unusual spectacle—almost national congratulations on the event of an individual election!—a public rejoicing on the mere return of one man to the national councils. Everywhere, from the Mississippi to the Potomac, have I met congratulations; and not political friends only, but good men of all parties."

After dwelling long and quite eloquently upon himself, Colonel Benton proceeded to discuss the subject of Reform. With his usual modesty, the ex-Senator says the public voice has turned to him to effect reform. "I am opposed says Col. B., to all abuses and ready to act with any administration, Whig or Democratic, in the great work of their total extirpation."

The expenses are to be brought down from 20,000,000 of dollars under Franklin Pierce.

"Party warfare, we are told, throws the blame of these sixty millions on the present whig administration. But we are assured that inexorable history will have to qualify that reproach! and to tell that democratic majorities were in both houses of Congress when that appalling sum was voted! And further, that it would have been seventy, instead of sixty millions, if the "lower" house

(as it is called) had sanctioned all the appropriations voted for in the "upper."

The ocean line of steamers come in for a new share of notice, and we are told that—

"Every hard dollar which the hard hands of our farmers can dig from the ground, and save from their families, and carry to the land offices for ten years to come—every dollar of it is to go to millionaire speculators in ocean steam lines. Surely these gentry ought to be made to pay the expenses. But no. We, the people—you the farmers—pay the cost, and then make a present of the net proceeds." We quote further—

What it Cost to Defeat Cass, Bachman, Douglas, &c.

I have fully spoken of Legislative abuses at Washington, and the usurpation of national legislation by a band of intrusive and high trading agents. There is another branch of abuse which requires attention that of the usurpations of elections by caucuses and conventions, which has also grown up a new power, and now nearly control all elections from President of the United States down to the most inconsiderable county officer, and generally without regard to the popular will and with an eye to their own advantage. "I cannot explore the abuse which strikes at the foundation of all elective governments, nor trace it through all the States or the counties I can only speak of the Presidential conventions, and what I heard at Washington that sixty thousand dollars were expended in the last one at Baltimore in three houses in the entertainment of delegates; of course to get at their understanding through the medium of their stomachs. Fasting and praying would have been a better preparation for the discharge of their duties. Fortunately neither of these three houses carried their man.—The lot fell upon one for whom no money had been expended to procure a nomination. But that was an accident, and we have no right to expect such good fortune again.—President making has become a regular art or trade followed by old politicians, and at the expense, and without the consent, or even knowledge of the people. Who knows, except the initiated, that the last Democratic convention elongated itself by appointing a committee to sit until 1856? Yet they did it! made a committee of their own body—thirty-one in number—one for each State—so sit four years—their duties slight upon the record—great in the performance.—And with what design? Very comprehensive from the complexion of the gentleman appointed and of whom you may judge from the specimen in this State. If things go on at this rate, the people of the United States will have no more hand in the selection of their Presidents than the subjects of the European monarchies have in begetting the child who is to become their.

Interesting Discoveries in Persia.

We have had the pleasure of listening to a letter written in Persia to a gentleman in this city, which gives an account of some recent and most interesting discoveries in that country. The writer is a recent gentleman of the highest standing, an American, and one whose position in Persia is a pledge of the correctness of his details.

The line between Persia and Turkey has not been defined with that exactness which peace and security demand, and soldiers have by both governments, been placed upon the disputed territory to defend the rights of Turkey and Persia. And for many years the soldiers have been in the practice of coming into collision. To avoid this bloodshed, and settle definitely the boundary line between the nations, England and Russia have induced Persia to consent to a mixed commission, which should embrace England, Russia, and Persia. That commission is now engaged in establishing the line between Persia and Turkey. Col. Williams, well known to many Americans, and a man of character and talent, is the English commissioner.

In the prosecution of this work the commissioners have come upon the remains of the ancient palace Shushan, mentioned in the sacred books of Esther and Daniel, together with the tomb of Daniel, the Prophet. The locality answers to the received tradition of its position, and the internal evidence arising from its correspondence with the description of the palace recorded in the sacred history, amount almost to demonstration. The reader can turn to Esther, chap. I, v. 6, there he will read of a "pavement of red, and blue, and white, and black marble in that palace." That pavement still exists and, as described by Col. Williams, corresponds to the description given thus in the sacred history. And in the marble columns dilapidated ruins, the sculptured and the remaining marks of greatness and glory that are scattered around, the commissioners read the exact truth of the record made by the sacred penman.

Not far from the palace stands a tomb; on it is sculptured the figure of a man bound hand and foot, with a huge lion in the act of springing upon him to devour him. No history could speak more graphically the story of Daniel in the lion's den. The commissioners have with them an able corps of engineers and scientific men, and most interesting discoveries may be expected. The Persian arrow-heads found in the palace and the tomb. Glass bottles, elegant as those placed upon the toilet table of the ladies of our day, have been discovered, with other indications of art and refinement, which bear out the statements of the Bible. Thus, twenty-five hundred years after the historians of Esther and Daniel made their records their histories are verified by the peaceful movements of the nations of our day.

BOYERTOWN IRON ORE.—Messrs. Reeves, Beck & Co., of Phoenixville, Chester county, have leased the iron ore mines at Boyertown, Berks county, and have commenced mining operations on an extensive scale. The ore is said to be of superior quality. It is hauled six miles by teams, and then conveyed by railroad or canal to Phoenixville, to supply the anthracite furnaces at that place. The ore beds are thought to be inexhaustible.

Agricultural Meeting.

In pursuance of a public notice, a meeting of the "Lehigh County Agricultural Society," was held at the Court House, on Monday November 29th, 1852.

Edward Kozler, President, presiding.

On motion of Jacob Dillinger, it was Resolved, That it be expedient to purchase a piece of ground of not less than 4 nor more than 7 acres, for the establishment of a permanent Fair ground, for the use of this Society.

Resolved unanimously, That said ground named in the foregoing resolution be selected at or near the limits of the Borough of Allentown.

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed, whose duty it shall be to receive proposals for the purchase of ground, taking in view the price and situation of the same, and report thereon at our next meeting. The committee to consist of Charles Wittman, H. J. Schantz, E. D. Leisenring, Charles Foster, and Paul Galliet.

Resolved, That Rev. Joseph Dubbs, A. L. Ruhe and J. M. Line, be appointed a committee to draft By-Laws in conformity with the constitution, to bring it in shape, in order that the same may be incorporated at the next February term of Court.

On motion the meeting adjourned to meet again on the first Tuesday in February.

J. M. LINE, Secretary.

Raising Pigs.

Raising pork, if made a prominent portion of a farmer's business, will bring in as much ready money, and produce as much net profit, as any one branch of business.—Breeding pigs for market is profitable, and those of the most approved kinds will always meet with a ready sale at fair prices. It was formerly thought that there was some risk in attempting to raise pigs, for it was frequently the case that a portion of the litter would die when a few days old, and sometimes the sow would eat a portion of them as soon as they were born. But since "book farming" has become so common, remedies have been found for both these evils, and now there is no more risk in raising pigs than in raising calves. The pigs and sometimes the sow dies from over feeding, and by the use of improper food immediately after her accouchment. No milk or greasy slop should be given three or four days.—The food is a thin gruel of scalded Indian meal dealt out in rather small quantities.—When the pigs are a week old you may feed on whatever your wish to give them, and as abundantly as you please.

A pig requires both animal and vegetable food, and when her appetite is not gratified she will sallow it on her own off-pring. A breeding sow should therefore be well supplied with meat or fish of something with her other food, especially for a week or two prior to the birth of the pigs. Regard these rules and all risk of losing young pigs vanishes.

ANOTHER SCIENTIFIC WONDER.—Fishes! an artificial Digestive Fluid Gastric Juice; A great Dyspepsia Curer, prepared from Rumen, or the fourth stomach of the Ox, after directions of Baron Liebig, the great Physiological Chemist, by J. S. Houghton, M. D., No. 11, North Eight Street, Philadelphia, Pa. This is a truly wonderful remedy for Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Constipation, and Debility, curing after Nature's own method by Nature's own agent, the Gastric Juice. Great Hat, Cap and Fur Store

IN ALLENTOWN.

Wm. Keck,

Truly thankful for the liberal patronage heretofore extended to him by his friends, and a generous public, requests a continuation of that patronage from them and that they should now call, and examine the most extensive stock of

HATS, CAPS AND FURS.

That has ever been brought to the public, at his established and lately refitted Hat Emporium, one door East of Schourman's Store, in west Hamilton street. He has just returned from the City of Philadelphia, with the latest Fall style of Hats and Caps of all kinds and varieties.

The Ladies he would particularly invite to an examination of his new and select stock of Furs; consisting of

of Fitch, Lynx, Goat, Stone-Martin, Silver-martin and Siberian Furs, Swans-down, all-splendid in quality, superb in appearance, and cheap in price.

The people of this neighborhood, have found it expensive to go to the great neighboring cities. Hereafter, to think themselves in either of them, will be very cheap. They will merely have to call into the above mentioned Hat store, observe the low prices, and bear of the uncommonly low price, when at once, their imagination will impress them with the belief that they stand in one of the best and cheapest Hat stores of New York or Philadelphia.

Call, see, examine, judge, inspect, choose, price, and buy for yourselves.

TO HUNTERS.—Highest cash prices paid for all kind of furs.

The Saturday Evening Post

THE LEADING LITERARY WEEKLY.

Over thirty-One Years have now elapsed since the Post began its weekly round of blended instruction and amusement, and marked in all that period, by its judiciously selecting undeniably the largest circulation, by many thousands, of any paper of its class in the Union, its subscribers have the best reasons for believing that it stands upon a permanent basis, and that they will receive the full value of every dollar entrusted to its publishers. In announcing the close of our preparations for the coming year, we may begin by stating our connection with Mrs. SOUTHWORTH, a writer who in vigor and fertility of genius, is not surpassed by any male or female, in the Union. Mrs. CAROLINE LEE HENTZ, a lady whom it would be almost superfluous to praise, in view of the general popularity of such tales as "The Mop Cap," "Eoline," "Linda," "Roma," etc., also is enrolled among our contributors.

We are now engaged in the publication of a story entitled,

Clara Moreland, By EMERSON BENNETT, author of "Viola," "Prairie Flower," "Baudits of the Osage," etc., etc.

And at the opening of the ensuing year we design commencing the publication of the following Novels:—

MISS THUSA'S SPINNING WHEEL By Mrs. LEE HENTZ, of Florida, author of "Eoline," "Linda," "Roma," etc.

This novelt we design following by a story entitled,

A Stray Patch from Aunt Hannah's Quilt.

By Mrs. FRANCES D. GAGE, of Ohio, widely known as the author of some admirably written and very effective household poems sketches, &c.

After this we expect to be able to commence

THE LOST HEIRESS;
A STORY OF HOWLET HALL.

By Mrs. E. D. E. N. SOUTHWORTH, author of "The Curse of Clifton," "Virginia and Magdelene," "Shannondale," "The Deserted Wife," etc., etc.

In addition to these and other ORIGINAL TALES, involving a large expenditure of money, we shall lay before our readers, as heretofore, choice Tales, Sketches, Essays, Narratives, &c., from the English Magazines—such as have given the Post a name for the excellence of its selections.

ENGRAVINGS.—In the way of engravings we present at least two weekly—one of an instructive, and the other of a humorous character.

AGRICULTURAL ARTICLES. Miscellaneous matter, General News, Witty and Humorous Sketches and Anecdotes, Letters from Europe, Editorials, View of the Produce and Stock Markets, Bank Note List, etc., etc.

It is of course, we shall maintain for the Post the character it has acquired, of being a strictly moral paper—not ridiculously squamish and straight-laced, but really and moral—such as may be taken into the family circle without fear. Advertisements of an improper character shall be, as heretofore, rigorously excluded.

CHEAP POSTAGE.—The postage on the Post to any part of the United States, when paid quarterly in advance is now only 25 cents a year. And we trust that the public generally will show their appreciation of this commendable reduction of postage, by largely increasing the number of papers taken at the various offices—that thus the Post Office Department. This will insure a continuance of the present reduced rates.

TERMS.—The terms of the Post are Two Dollars if paid in advance, Three Dollars if not paid in advance. For Five Dollars in advance, one copy is sent three years. We continue the following low terms for Clubs, to be sent in the country, to one post-office.

2 copies, $5 00 per annum; 3 copies, (and one to Agent, or the getter up of the Club), $10 00 per annum; 13 copies (and one to Agent, or the getter up of the Club), $15 00 per annum; and 20 copies, (and one to Agent, or the getter up of the Club), $20 00 per annum.

The money for Clubs always must be sent in advance. Subscriptions may be sent at our risk. When the sum is large, a draft should be procured if possible—the cost of which may be deducted from the amount. Address, always post-paid

EAGLE HOTEL.

The subscriber respectfully informs his friends and the public generally, that he has taken the newly erected three story brick tavern of Jesse Grim, at the north west corner of Market Square, in the Borough of Allentown, called

THE EAGLE HOTEL.

The House is known as one of the most spacious and convenient in the State—none more so out of Philadelphia—and contains 44 rooms. He therefore feels assured that he can accommodate satisfactorily all who may favor him with a call.

His "TABLE" shall at all times be supplied with the best of the season and the markets afford, and the Bar with the choicest Wines and Liquors.

The Beds and Bedding, together with all his furniture being entirely new, the patrons of this house may rely upon finding those two great essentials—cleanliness and comfort.

The Stabling is large and commodious, and as he will have none but kind and attentive Ostlers a due regard will be had to the proper entertainment of the House as well as his master.

In short, the subscriber intends to spare neither pains nor expense to keep his house in the best manner, and he therefore respectfully invites the public to give him a liberal share of patronage.

BOARDERS will be taken on reasonable terms, and as the rooms are spacious and well adapted to their wants, they can be accommodated in a satisfactory manner. Families from town or county accommodated with Boarding.

EMPORIUM OF FASHION!

Edward Stell er,

Takes this method to inform his friends and the public in general, that he has opened a new and fashionable

TAILORING ESTABLISHMENT, in Allentown, in the new building of Mr. Peter Weikel, corner of Market Square and Allen street, where he will be ready to receive those who may favor him with their custom, to whom he will feel grateful.

He is in the regular receipt of the Fashion Plates, after which he cuts and makes up; he superintends himself, and can therefore stand good for the work he turns out, and his prices will be cheaper than any other establishment in town.

He returns his thanks to his old customers, and feels confident that the durability of his work and the moderate prices will induce a further continuance of their support.
