

Change in the Shipment of Produce.

The St. Louis papers state that it is difficult to obtain a New Orleans cargo there.—Prices are down to the very lowest figure. The river is in fine condition, but boats are frequently compelled to go out less than half freighted. The leading staples of the country, such as tobacco, hemp, lead, corn, whiskey, provisions, and many other articles of grain and produce, are being shipped to the Ohio river, or eastward by way of Chicago and the railroad routes, and thus it is that the business of St. Louis is taking new and almost unthought-of channels.—Tobacco, hemp, lead and provisions by the hundred and thousands of tons, and grain by the boat load has been sent to the Lakes and to the Ohio river which, by the previous course of trade usually went down the Mississippi to New Orleans.—This speaks well for railroads and other inland communication, but it augers no good to the commercial and business prospects of the Southern metropolis. The ascendancy of New Orleans over the trade of the West, in the shipping and forwarding business, is being diverted to other channels.

A Joyful Meeting.—We clip the following incident connected with the late railroad collision, from the Aurora Guardian:—A resident of our place, Mr. Scarfford, was expecting a son home from Michigan. On receipt of the news of the collision, he posted off immediately to Chicago. Arriving there he found that the dead had all been buried. One unknown young man was described. The dress, color of his hair, age, and size tallied with remarkable precision. A pocket book taken from the pocket of the unknown body was produced, it was the boy's. The father returned home to tell the story to other aching hearts, but failed to see the body. Next day he returned again to Chicago, and while in search of the coroner met his own son in the street alive and well. On comparing pocket books, such was the similarity that it was hard to distinguish one from the other! The joy of that meeting may be better imagined than described.—Young Scarfford had been to Michigan for trees, and would have returned in the unfortunate train but was late to get on board.

General Washington's Motion.—In 1817, in a debate in the house of delegates, on the bill relative to a map of Virginia, in which something was said of military roads. Mr. Mercer L. related an anecdote of General Washington which he had received from one of the members of the Convention that formed the Constitution of the United States. The subject of power to be given the new congress, relative to a standing army, was on the tapis. A member made a motion that Congress should be restricted to a standing army not exceeding five thousand at any one time. Gen. Washington, who, being chairman, could not offer a motion, whispered to a member from Maryland, to amend the motion by providing that no foreign enemy should invade the United States at one time, with more than three thousand troops.

Lebanon Valley Railroad.—The City Councils of Reading have ordered an election to be held on Wednesday, the 15th of June next, to decide for or against a municipal subscription of $200,000, or four thousand shares, in the stock of the Lebanon Valley Railroad.

Delaware, Lehigh and Wyoming Valley Railroad.—The Engineers have reached the summit between Wilkesbarre and the Lehigh, and we are informed the highest grade necessary will not exceed sixty-two and a half feet to the mile. This is very favorable, and it is thought possible to reduce it slightly.

Stamped Envelopes.—The Post Office Department will have the new stamped envelopes ready by the 1st of June; but we will not expect to see them distributed before the 1st of July. They are to be sold at $3.20 per hundred—$3 for the stamps, and 20 cents for the envelopes.

Morus Multicaulis.—The Fowl Fever is prevalent in the western part of New York. At Rochester, last Monday, "one Drama Pouter crower and two hens," sold for $150; chickens, four weeks old, $1; Eggs, 50 cents each.

Fashion.—The 'Barber Pole' pattern of pantaloons will be out this week; the stripes ascend spirally round the leg, giving the wearer the appearance of a double-barrelled cork-screw.

Large Exports of Breadstuffs.—The exports of flour from New York, from January 1st to May 1st, were 520,925 barrels, against 230,661 barrels same time last year; and of wheat, 840,341 bushels, against 449,129 bushels last year.
