Riots at Quebec and Montreal.

Bloody riots have been occasioned in Quebec and Montreal, during the week by the attacks of mobs, composed chiefly of Irish Roman Catholics, upon Father Gavazzi. From the accounts forwarded by our correspondents, and the newspaper reports, we condense the following statements of the origin and results of the unhappy affairs.

On Wednesday evening, June 8th, Father Gavazzi delivered a lecture in the Free Church at Quebec, which provoked the first ebullitions of religious fanaticism. In the course of his remarks happening to say that the Inquisition was extended to Ireland by the agency of Ribbonism, a man in the body of the church exclaimed, "That's a lie." This appeared to be a signal for a large party of rowdies, which was gathered outside the church. A shower of stones first came rattling through the windows, and then an infuriated crowd, armed with sticks and stones, rushed into the church, and attacked Gavazzi in the pulpit, trying to pull him out. The Lecturer defended himself with great coolness and courage, knocking down several of his assailants first with a chair, and afterwards, when deprived of that, with the pulpit bench which he tore up for the purpose. He was at length thrown from the pulpit by one of the assailants, who got hold of his legs, and pitched him over. A further struggle ensued on the floor underneath, when the Lecturer was finally rescued by his friends. Gavazzi's Secretary was also very badly beaten, and will probably die of his wounds. Several ladies and gentlemen of the audience were likewise injured.

A party of soldiers were detached to the scene, and on arriving, quelled the disturbance and cleared the house.

The mob afterwards went to the Parliament House, and called for a member named Brown, who has made himself obnoxious to the Catholics, and after menacing him with their vengeance, left for the lower town.

A later account informs us that the Secretary of Gavazzi is thought to be out of danger. The Padre was not seriously injured.

Father Gavazzi left the city quietly on the same evening. There was some appearance last night of a design to attack the hotel where he was staying, but the precautions of the authorities prevented it.

At Montreal, on the succeeding evening, (Thursday, 9th inst.) the indefatigable preacher commenced a series of lectures on Catholicism. He had obtained the use of Zion Church, and a very large audience assembled—comprising many of the most respectable citizens and their families. In anticipation of disturbance, the Police of the City, to the number of twenty or thirty, headed by Capt. ENMATTER, stationed themselves at the door of the Church.

Groups of men soon assembled in the vicinity of the building. At 7 o'clock, a general attack was made by the mob upon the police, who were soon overpowered, and the assailants then proceeded to make their way into the Church. Repulsed by a body of fifteen or twenty, a severe conflict arose, in the course of which freemans came into requisition. The assaulting party were finally effectually routed; two or three of their number were left dead or severely wounded on the ground, but were shortly afterwards removed in cars by their friends. Soon after this occurrence, a Company of the Twenty-sixth Connerions marched from Craig-street, and were drawn up between the engine-house and that street.

All seemed perfectly quiet, and remained so until about a quarter past 8 o'clock, at about which time the lecture was concluded, and the audience inside the church had begun to leave for home. At this time the troops were marched across Craig-st., and took their position in two lines, across Radeyond-st., one line nearly opposite Zion's Church, and the other some hundred paces nearer Craig-st. A good deal of hooting and noise prevailed at this time, and on the McGill-side of Craig-st., some disturbance with the lowest line of troops occurred, and two or three shots were fired—in other respects, all seemed peaceable.

The Montreal Herald, discussing the same, adds:

We were at this time, at the corner of St. James-street and McGill-street, and had a clear and distinct view of the troops, and of the people in their immediate vicinity. There we saw no violence on the part of the mob—nothing, indeed, but the people hurrying from the church—when, to our utter astonishment, we heard and saw the troops fire two distinct, running volleys, among the apparently to us, peaceable citizens. Thinking it high time to attend to our own safety, we beat a rapid retreat from this apparent scene of wanton and uncalculated slaughter. This, we feel, is not the time to express the indignation with which we saw British troops deliberately shoot down our peaceful and unoffending fellow citizens. We were too far off to speak personally of the conduct of the Mayor and of the officer by whose orders they were fired; but if we are correctly informed by those who were on the spot, there was nothing whatever to justify so rash and cowardly a proceeding. We must not, however, prejudice their conduct on the occasion; but the blood of those who fell, calls loudly for a prompt investigation into every circumstance, connected with the melancholy affair, and, apparently at least, warrants an assize.

General Riley no More.—Brevet Major General Riley died on the 9th of June at Buffalo, aged 66 years. He went to California in 1848, and in 1850 was ordered to take command of a Regiment on the Rio Grand, but he returned home, and being unable, through ill health, to return to active service, settled in Buffalo. He has been suffering for some time from cancer, and leaves a widow and five children. One of the bravest officers in the late Mexican War, has thus been called from amongst us, to join his comrades, where there are no more wars or rumors of wars.

Ohio State Fair.

The Premium list has been issued for the fourth Annual State Fair by the State Board of Agriculture. The Fair is to be held at Dayton on the 20th, 21st, 22d, and 23d days of September. We copy the following remarks and synopsis, which will be of general interest:

The State Board of Agriculture have this year greatly increased the Premium List and offer Premiums not only on domestic animals, the product of farms, and gardens, and household industry and taste, but also on all industrial products of all mechanical and manufacturing operations, the fine arts, &c. The amount of premiums offered exceeds $7,000.

The Board of Agriculture was organized under the law of 1846, with a view to encourage farming interests—with what success all our citizens are aware. The 60 county Agricultural Societies which have been organized subordinate to the Board, under the law of 1845, are in successful operation, and have given an impulse to agricultural improvement, that has already shown marked effects, and will, we think, exercise a far reaching influence in the future.

Our citizens are now reaping the benefits hoped for by the originators of the Agricultural movement in Ohio.

While the Board have taken special pains to foster and promote the Agricultural interests, they have also endeavored, so far as they could with propriety, to lend all their influence to aid the industrial interests of every kind, and in this Premium List they have offered awards on numerous articles, to encourage manufacturers of every kind in our midst, feeling that Agriculture, Manufactures, and Commerce are inseparably connected in every prosperous community.

Daring Plot at Insurrection.

NEW ORLEANS, June 14.

A most daring and villainous attempt at insurrection among the negroes of this city and vicinity, was fortunately discovered last night, and the ringleader arrested by the police. It appears by an account in the Picayune, that after being arrested, this principal of the plot made a full confession of the whole affair, in which he states that the contemplated plan was to attack the city at three different points.

Arsenals, gunsmith shops, and depots of arms were first to be taken possession of. Several parties had been detached to attack and take possession of the powder magazine and United States barracks, situated below the city. The next move was to fire the city in several places, and the flames were thus to be a signal for a general revolt amongst the negroes in the city and the slaves on the several plantations within sight.

The ringleader was a slave belonging to Mr. Rushton. He was on his way to Carrollton when the officers arrested him.

The authorities have promptly taken the necessary measures to secure the peace of the city, by arming the police and calling out a battalion of cavalry.

The night passed off quietly, but armed parties are still patrolling the streets.

The most extravagant statements are being circulated in regard to this affair. The above are the facts as far as ascertained.

One white man and another colored person have been arrested, charged with being at the head of the contemplated insurrection but no positive proof could be brought against them. No further developments have been made.

The military have proposed to act in case their services should be wanted.

The reports already telegraphed are about all that is known, that they came directly from the public.

New Mode of Hatching Shanghai.

The Daylestown Democrat says:—The other day we were shown a handsome brood of young Shanghai chickens, belonging to Joseph Stewart, of this Borough. He informed us that after the hen had been on the nest one week and four days, she was found dead and the eggs cold. Not to be beat out and lose his crop of prodigies in this way, he was determined to make them come whether they wanted to or not. Having an ordinary ten-plate stove, he procured some wood and fired it up. A layer of bricks was then placed thereon, a basket with the eggs enveloped in flannel was set upon them, with a layer of the same kept around it. In this way things went on for three days and three nights, when, from the ten eggs placed in the basket, there came nine real live Shanghai chickens. Thus it will be seen that the operation with the stove and hen was performed in fourteen days, being seven days less than is usually occupied by a hen, when she sets on the nest all the time. The story is a tough one, but we hand it to our readers as it was given to us by Mr. Stewart, who is a young man whose character for truth and veracity we never heard called in question.

Hunker and Barnburner War.—The war now being waged against each other by the Hunker and Barnburner factions of the Locofoco party, in New York, seems to bid fair to become the most bitter and uncompromising which has yet been carried on in that State. Resolutions have been lately introduced in the Legislature of Albany, by a prominent Hunker, to impeach Licut. Gov. Church, Attorney Gen. Chasfield, and Comptroller Wright, all three of whom belong to the Barnburner faction. This Hunker movement serves as an index of the bitter feeling of that faction, and it may be safely inferred from it that nothing short of an utter extermination from power of both factions will end the feud between them.

There are glorious prospects ahead for the Whigs of the Empire State.

Death of a Miser.—An old female miser died at Richmond, a few days ago, and on searching her premises, it is said, that $800 in specie, and $9,000 in bank notes, many of them ruined by worms and bugs, were found.

Does Hanging Prevent Murder?

asks the Columbia Spy. The question has heretofore been widely debated, with great difference of opinion. Hanging may not deter others from crime, but it protects society from known murderers, and prevents such villains as Spring, the Skupinskas, and Langfeld from repeating their outrages upon the innocent security of private life. We would not have such serpents visiting a community twice.

The New York Canal Enlargement.—The following are the points upon which the conference of the two Houses of the New York Legislature have finally agreed, as an amendment to be proposed to article 3, of section 7, of the constitution:

1. The Canals shall be finished by borrowing $9,000,000, without tax, on the strength of the revenue.
2. To borrow $1,500,000 to pay the Canal revenue certificates, making in all $10,500,000.
3. To complete the Canals in four years.
4. To make it imperative that the Legislature shall provide the means.
5. The contracts are repudiated.
6. The work is to be let out to the lowest bidder.

ANOTHER SCIENTIFIC WONDER.—Pepsin? an artificial Digestive Fluid Gastric Juice.
