Arrival of the Asia. Rumored Turkish Victories.—Despatches were received to-day at the Turkish Embassy from Vienna confirming what was said yesterday about the defeat of the Russian General Ushakoff, the retreat of his corps on Bessarabia. It is also stated that the forts had to be captured and are still in the hands of the Turks; that the Turks have crossed the Danube at a point between Nicolopolis and Ruscunk; that 20,000 Turks are on their way to Trajan's-wall or Rassoava, and 25,000 for the same direction from Shumla. All these movements were spoken of yesterday and the day before, and they are again announced to-day. Reports are also rife about advances near Kalafat. But all these have to be confirmed officially. The Patrie states that the account of an advantage having been gained by the Turks on the Lower Danube appeared to be confirmed. "It is positive," says that journal, "that the General-in-Chief of the Russian army, after the passage of his troops into the Dobrukscha, considered his position so critical that he demanded reinforcements from Bessarabia, Odessa, and even Sebastopol."

but as they have been repudiated, other expedients for reaching Guthrie's spoils must be adopted, or the funds will continue to increase upon his hands. Still, we suspect that Congress will let the tariff of 1846 alone for another year, upon the principle that an overflowing treasury is no serious inconvenience to the public interests after all. We may yet want this money for Santa Anna, or for Cuba. Who knows?

Intoxicated Monkey.
Jack, as he was called, seeing his master and some companions drinking, with those initiatory powers for which his species is remarkable, finding half a glass of whisky left took it up and drank it off. It flew, of course, to his head. Amid their roars of laughter, he began to skip, hop, and dance. Jack was drunk. Next day, when they went, with the intention of repeating the fun, to take the poor monkey from his box, he was not to be seen. Looking inside, there he lay, crouching in a corner. "Come out," said his master. "Afraid to disobey, he came walking on three legs, the fore-paw that was laid on his forehead saying, as plain as words could do, that he had a headache. Having left him some days to get well and resume his gaiety, they at length carried him off to the old scene of revel. On entering, he eyed the glasses with manifest terror, skulking behind the chair; and on his master ordering him to drink, he bolted, and he was on the house-top in a twinkling. They called him down. He would not come. His master shook the whip at him. Jack, astride on the ridge-pole, grinned defiance. A gun, of which he was always much afraid, was pointed at this disciple of temperance; he ducked his head, and slipped over to the back of the house—upon which, seeing his predicament, and less afraid, apparently, of the fire than of the chimney-top, and getting down into a flue, held on by his forepaws. He would rather be singed than drink. He triumphed; and although his master kept him for twelve years after that, he never could persuade the monkey to taste another drop of whisky. [Rev. Dr. Guthrie's Old Year's Warning.]

Philadelphia Market.
SATURDAY, April 29.
The Flour market is dull to-day, and only about 1000 barrels found buyers, at $3.02 for straight brands, and $3.57 to $4 per barrel for extra; holders generally are free sellers at these rates. The demand for export is limited within the above range of prices. CORN MEAL and RYE FLOUR are but little inquired for, and held at previous quotations. WHEAT—There is very little offering or selling, and holders are firm. Some small lots are reported at $2.05 for Red, and $2.10 for White good quality. CORN is steady; with further, sales of 5 to 6000 bushels at 86 cents, afloat. RYE is scarce at 98 cents. OATS are dull at 53 cents for Southern, and 55 to 56 cents for Pennsylvania, afloat. SEEDS—Very little doing. WHEAT is selling at 27 cents for barrels, and 29 cents for bids.
