

A DOUBT EXECUTION IN KENTUCKY.—The Cincinnati Commercial has a long account of the execution of Stephen Short and William Hanning, for murder, at Greenburg, Ky., last Friday. They were both, according to the Commercial, worthless drunken fellows, and each had a large family. The same paper gives the following speeches and incidents at the gallows:

Short arose and said:—"I want all of you to take warning by me. See what whiskey and bad women has brought me to. I have been to a good many hanging scrapes myself, and thought it was great fun, but I never thought I'd be hung myself. This is the word of Capt. Whiskey. I am willing to die for the life of the man that I took. Talk of pleasure—I have tried all kinds of it—about shanties drunk and everywhere else—but I have had more real pleasure up in that old jail, than ever before in all my life; and chains on my legs, big heavy chains at that. I just took off this old coat, and whipped Satan clear out, fair. I've made my election sure, I think. Yes, sir, I think my election is sure. [Sure one in the crowd called out, "If you are safe, I don't think there is much danger for the rest of us!"] I am perfectly willing to die. The man you have got in jail for aiding me is perfectly innocent, and ought to be let go; but that Blair deserves all that I've got. [Blair was the man who told him to shoot.] He was as much to blame as I was."

Some one inquired—"Are you willing to die, Steve?" Said he, "Yes! I hate this world and my own life!" and he continued, with an air that was nearly exulting, "and I'm going to leave it; I'll be in Paradise before sundown.—Now, farewell! farewell! meet me in the other world. I want to see you all in Heaven!" An old man, somewhat drunk, pressed upon him—Short said, "Whiskey brought me to this; I expect you along in a few days!"

Hanning, then, quaking in every limb, got up and said—"I haven't got anything against any man in the world, and I hope nobody's got anything against me now."

Short repeated this remark. Large numbers of his acquaintances crowded about, shaking hands with him and asking questions, until the last moment. He knew all his old friends, and exchanged smiles and words of good will with them until the white cap was drawn down over his face. He stood up firmly as the wagon was driven away, and said, at that instant, very distinctly—"farewell! all my friends!" when the fatal noose checked his utterance.

SINGULAR RECOVERY OF A WATCH.—An August Eyer Wire.—Nearly a month since a gentleman of Philadelphia had a gold watch and chain stolen from him during the festivities attending a fancy ball—and, though a large reward was offered, this failed to effect its return. On Saturday the wife of the owner recognized the chain on a man as she was passing the corner of Fourth and Market streets. She immediately accosted him, inquiring what time it was. He brought out the watch, when he, suspicious eyes were confirmed, and she claimed it as her husband's property. The man seemed anxious to escape, and attempted to enter an omnibus, but the lady seized hold of him by the coat, and a gentleman taking her part, he was detained. The lady minutely described the watch, giving the maker's name and number, so that there could be no doubt of its being the property of her husband, and it was given up to her. The man accounted for its possession by having bought it from a person, the description of whom tallied with one who was suspected of having stolen it. The lady, perfectly satisfied with the result of her daring feat, agreed to his liberation, and went away rejoicing.

A STRANGE SUICIDE.—The Providence Journal relates the singular story that a boy about ten years of age hung himself in his father's cellar, in that city, on Tuesday evening. He had gone off with a gun against his father's consent, and on his return he said that he would go down into the cellar and make believe he would hang himself, so that his father would not punish him. His father came home in an hour, and upon going into the cellar found his son hanging, dead. He had mounted upon a sack and fastened a rope around his neck, and it is supposed that the sack fell over and the little fellow was left suspended.

HOW SADLY TALES!—The Syracuse Standard says: "When a rakish youth goes astray, friends gather around him in order to restore him to the path of virtue. Gentleness and kindness are lavished upon him to win him back again to innocence and peace. No one would suspect that he had ever sinned. But when a poor, confiding girl is betrayed, she receives the brand of society, and is henceforth driven from the ways of virtue. The betrayer is honored, respected, esteemed; but the ruined, heart-broken victim knows there is no peace for her this side of the grave. Society has no helping hand for her, no smile of peace, no voice of forgiveness. These are earthly moralities unknown to heaven. There is a deep wrong in them, and fearful are the consequences."

DURATION OF VEGETABLE LIFE.—Lord Lindsay states that, in the course of his wandering amid the pyramids of Egypt, he stumbled on a mummy, proved by its hieroglyphics to be at least 2,000 years of age. On examining it after it was unwrapped, he found in one of its closed hands a tuberous or bulbous root. He was interested in the question how long vegetable life could last, and he therefore took that tuberous root from the mummy's hand, planted it in a sunny soil, allowed the rains and dews of heaven to descend upon it, and in the course of a few weeks, to his astonishment and joy, the root burst forth and bloomed into a beautiful dahlia.

According to the last census returns, there are 4,971 Mormons in the State of Michigan, the most of whom are on Beaver Island.

RELIEF FOR THE POOR.—The Ladies' Ball given at New York on the 17th inst., in aid of the poor, was far more successful than was anticipated by the most sanguine friends of the enterprise. The sales amounted to $10,129 and the expenses to only $1,288, leaving the balance for distribution of $8,840. This sum, the largest ever collected in this country for charitable purposes from a public entertainment, has been distributed in sums ranging from one hundred to five hundred dollars between twenty-seven different charitable associations in the city of New York, which seemed to be in most direct contact with the destitute.

LATEST FROM CALIFORNIA.—The steamship Daniel Webster, has arrived, bringing California dates to the 9th inst. She brings $80,000 in specie, and 200 passengers. The California Legislature met on the 1st inst., and was duly organized. The 10th inst. was fixed for the election of a successor to Dr. Gwinn, in the U. S. Senate. The message of Gov. Bigler exhibits a flattering state of affairs. Advice from the Sandwich Islands, bring information of the death of King Kamehameha, and that his son had been declared the successor of the throne.

A SNAKE IN THE STOMACH.—The Petersburg (Va.) Express gives what purports to be an account of the election of a live snake from the stomach of a man named Wade, who, during the past summer, was in the habit of slaking his thirst from a rivulet in a field where he was at work. The Express says the snake was almost transparent, had reddish eyes of great brilliancy, and was five and a quarter inches long. Mr. W., it is said, had for some time been troubled with a feeling of suffocation and unusual fullness of the stomach.

A FREAK OF NATURE IN VIRGINIA.—We saw yesterday, says the Norfolk Herald, Jan. 2, an instance of a curious freak of nature in a young cat, about half grown, having no appearance of hair on any part of its skin, an opossum's tail, and hind quarters similar to those of a rabbit. The skin on the upper part of the body and the head is of mouse color, and that on the belly and legs of a pale red. The cat which bore it had four other complete kittens at the same hour.

MARRIED.—On the 1st of Feb., by the Rev. Mr. Yeager, Mr. JAMES B. REYNOLDS, of Lower Saucon, to Miss HENRIETTA MOYER, of Upper Saucon.

DIED.—On Monday night, in Allentown, of fever, TERESA EISENBRUNN, aged 18 years, 1 month and 28 days.

The deceased was a young lady of uncommon excellence. Young, beautiful and beloved, with charming manners, lovely disposition, a sprightly and dignified address most attractive—a true gentleman—Miss Eisenbrunn will always be remembered by her friends and relatives with affection and tender admiration. She was with every sense beautifully alive to the enjoyments of society, giving generously, and ready to receive, all the happiness the world and her friends could bestow on her, an ornament and a delight. The knowledge of all this only renders her death more keenly painful to her family and friends. But we must not grieve as "one who hath hope;" and we must dwell on that which she left behind her: remembrance alone that she has passed away from us, untouched by the disappointments and sorrows that might have come to her in a long life. One so keenly alive to happiness as she was would have suffered fearfully if affliction had visited her, and from worldly life's manifold visitations she is now mercifully spared. But God's ways are not ours. In the morning of life the swift messenger of death was sent to call her hence. However deep the sorrow of her friends and relatives may be, it should be tempered by the fact that she died in the triumphs of the Christian faith, and now constitutes one of the jewels of her Redeemer! Therefore "our loss is her gain;" though we cannot help murmuring, "Behold in peace is our bitterness most bitter."

Though gone thy smile to come no more,
Thy voice forever still;
Yet 'till our hearts thy memory dear
Must have its gentle will;
And thought returns to those blest hours
Which nevermore may be—
When thou couldst listen to our tones
And we could look on thee.

STARTLING, BUT TRUE!

WHAT EVERY WOMAN SHOULD KNOW.

How often it happens, that the wife lingers from year to year in that pitiful condition as not even incident to the enjoyment of health.

THE BLOOMING BRIDE.

But a few years ago in the flush of health and youth, and buoyancy of spirits, and apparently untainted by any disease, she became pale, thin, and apparently fatigued, with frame emaciated, nerves unstrung, and spirits depressed, countenance bearing the impress of suffering, and an utter physical prostration arising from ignorance of the simplest and plainest rules of health, as connected with the marriage state, the violation of which entails disease, suffering and misery, not only to the wife, but often to her children.

HEREDITARY COMPLAINTS UPON THE CHILDREN.

"And must this continue? Must this be? Is there no relief? No help?"

The remedy is by knowing the causes and avoiding them, and knowing the remedies, and benefiting by them. These are pointed out in

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION,
BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF MEDICINE OR WOMEN.

One Hundredth Edition. (200,000), 1860, pp. 250.
[FIVE PAPER, EXTRA NUMBER, $1.00.]

A classified work of established reputation, found classed in the catalogue of the great trade sales in New York, Philadelphia, and other cities, and sold by the principal booksellers in the United States. It was first published in 1837, since which time

FIVE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES
HAVE BEEN SOLD, OF WHICH THERE WERE AS MANY AS ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND SENT BY MAIL, attesting the high estimation in which it is held as a reliable popular Medical

Here every woman can discover, by comparing her own symptoms with those described, the nature, character, causes of, and the proper remedial for, her complaint.

The wife about becoming a mother has often need of instruction and advice of the utmost importance to her future health, in respect to which she receives no reliable consulting a medical gentleman, will find such instruction and advice, and also explain many symptoms which otherwise would occasion anxiety or alarm as all the peculiarities incident to her situation are described.

How many are suffering from obstructions or irregularities peculiar to the female system, which undermine the health, the effects of which they are ignorant, and for which their delicate forbids seeking medical advice. Many suffering from premenstrual (falling of the womb), or from fluor albus (weakness, debility, &c.). Many are in constant agony for many months preceding confinement, and slow and uncertain recovery. Some whose lives are hampered through-out life, will each find in its pages the means of prevention, modification and relief.

It is of course impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married or those contemplating marriage.

Reader, are you a husband or a father? Is your wife or mother? Have you the sincere welfare of those you love at heart? Prove your sincerity, and lose no time in learning what causes interfere with their health and happiness not less than your own. It will avoid to you pain and yours, as it has to thousands, many a day of pain and anxiety, followed by sleepless nights, incapacitating the mind for its ordinary avocation, and exhausting those means for medical attendance, medicine and advertised nostrums which otherwise would provide for declining years, the infirmities of age and the proper education of your children.

In consequence of the universal popularity of the work, an authorized by its extraordinary sale, various imitations have been attempted, as well on bookellers as on the public, by malicious and unscrupulous editors, and unscrupulous imitations of copyright, and other devices and deceptions, it has been found necessary, therefore, to
