

Terrible Sufferings.
One of the most remarkable instances of preservation from shipwreck at sea, just happened in the loss of the ship William Laytin. This vessel put to sea from New York on the 16th of February last, freighted with a rich and well assorted cargo, bound for Antwerp. On the 29th of February a severe gale which lasted for some days, completely wrecked the vessel, and lashed to her floating and helpless hull, the captain and crew passed six days and nights, without a single drop of fresh water and without a mouthful to eat, excepting a single rat that was found swimming about the wreck, and which was fortunately caught and shared among the sufferers. The account furnished by the captain says:

For our better security, we each of us lashed ourselves to the wreck, with whatever of the rigging or ship's ropes we could get hold of. This alone saved us from being swept away. In this condition, tied to the wreck, and constantly drenched and almost smothered with breaching seas, we remained six long days and nights, each minute of which was almost an eternity of agony. We were unable to loosen ourselves or stir about the ship, for fear of being carried overboard. We waited, but in vain, for a lull in the sea or tempest. The first day passed at our lashings and we were weak with hunger. The second day, and the gnawings of hunger made all other sufferings insignificant in comparison. The third day and our thirst and hunger together, held us in tortures, but little short of the pains of hell itself. Death at this time would have been a relief. In the meantime the hatches of the ship had burst open, and the cargo was floating around us, but none of the provisions within our reach.

The knowledge that our ship's hold was full of provisions, and we were starving and unable to reach it, only added to our sufferings. Still, to aggravate our pains the potash in the ship was dissolving, and making a ley that was eating into our flesh. Having no water, we each took a piece of cold lead into our mouths, and was found to be a great relief.

At this period of our sufferings, a rat was seen swimming near enough to one of the sailors, it was captured. Never did hunter secure his game with greater satisfaction than did the seaman secure this drowning rat. The rat was shared among the company, and never was a morsel received with better relish. All that we had in addition to this rat, were the boots and shoes upon our feet, which were mostly used up at the time of our rescue.

On the third day of our suffering—the 25th of February—a vessel hove in sight, and we were all elated with the prospect of relief. In this, however, we were again disappointed. This vessel, the name of which I do not remember, came within hailing distance to us, and speaking to the captain, I asked him to send me a boat. The reply was, he could do nothing for us; and leaving us to our fate, we were compelled to see this vessel sail away from us. The sea was running very high at the time this vessel spoke to us, but to have laid to and waited for a calm, or to have made some show of a disposition to help us, we thought was not too much to expect. When the vessel was beyond our sight all hope seemed surely gone.

Still all the crew kept up their spirits, as indeed they did to a remarkable degree during the whole period of their sufferings. During all this time the weather was cold enough to make ice. What was the most remarkable, after the third day our hunger seemed to abate.

On the fifth and sixth day some of the crew said they did not feel so much the want of food as they did on the third day. This was the feeling of most if not all of us. The fourth day and night passed, and no assistance came. On this day we were hailed by the barque Sylph, Capt. Hellox, from Guadaloupe, bound to St. Peters, Newfoundland. This vessel spoke to us, and learning our situation, promised to lay by till the storm abated. It still blew a gale, and the sea was very heavy. This promise revived us. During the night of our sufferings—the 27th of February—the Sylph drifted away from us, and the next morning was out of sight.

I cannot describe our feelings when the next morning dawned up, and again showed us nothing within our vision but the tempestuous ocean. Capt. Hellox, however, upon ascertaining, on the morning of the 28th, that he had lost us, crowded on all the sail his barque could carry and commenced the search for us. He was successful, and found us after a few hours search, and at 10 o'clock on the morning of the 28th we were taken from our lashings, and taken on the board of Sylph. When relieved, none of us were able to stand, although all of us retained our senses. One of the crew when taken from his prison of ropes, lost his toes, which dropped from him as he was lifted from the ship. The potash ley had eaten the feet of the sufferer to this effect.

TEA AS A WASH FOR THE HAIR.—An infusion of tea, when not too strong, is said to be very useful in preventing the hair falling off. The best plan is to pour boiling water on the leaves after they have been used for a meal. A tablespoonful of any perfumed spirits may be added to every half-pint of the wash. A little glycerine mixed with it, answers the purpose of oil; its offensive smell is corrected by the perfumed spirits.

Pennsylvania Common Schools.
We have received from Harrisburg a supplement to the new Common School law. This was passed at the last session of the Legislature, and as much interest is felt in the subject, we copy the marginal synopsis of the details of the act. Independent school districts are continued until June 1st, 1856. Courts of Common Pleas are authorized to continue existing independent districts permanently, if desired, to determine the rights of property. Ten days' notice of the application and time and place of hearing, in such cases, must be given to the School Directors of the district. When independent districts are continued, the assessors are to designate the taxables therein, for the information of tax collectors and County Commissioners. Provision is made for the election of new directors in districts where none had taken place, and old directors are continued until the expiration of their term. If twenty taxables petition for the formation of a new independent district, the Court of Quarter Sessions must appoint commissioners to view and make reports as in case of new townships, the costs in such cases to be paid by the new district, if it be erected, or if not, by the petitioners. Court of Quarter Sessions are to determine the rights of property, and to decree the payment of money in the nature of a judgment. County Commissioners are to cause separate assessments for school tax in new districts, and send to the Superintendent of Common Schools a list of the taxables therein. In any county where a majority of the school districts shall apply to have the salary of their local Superintendent increased, the State Superintendent shall call a convention of the whole county to decide thereon. The Pennsylvania School Journal is designated as the official organ of the State Superintendent, to contain current decisions, circulars, explanations, &c. One copy of it is to be sent to each board of School Directors in the State. All boroughs and townships now connected in the assessment of county rates and levies are hereafter to be separate. The school tax is limited to subjects certified by county commissioners. School directors and treasurers are exempted from serving as tax collectors. The State appropriation to the respective school districts is to be paid for less than four months' schooling in districts where bona fide efforts have been made to comply with the provisions of the law requiring the schools to be kept open four months in the year, but have failed, from want of teachers, or timely knowledge of the late law, or other causes, which may be just and satisfactory to the Superintendent. Many of these provisions are very important to the school districts of the interior, and will be found useful in practice.

PERCUSSION CAPS.—The Percussion Cap manufactory at Washington is a curiosity. A thin strip of brass or copper, as thin as deers paper, is put into the machine; a plug, in shape like a club spot on the common playing card, is punched out; this is driven by a punch into a socket; it is thumped off the end of the punch, by a spring which is worked by the same machinery, and falls into a hopper a perfect cap. This is filled by machinery equally simple and as inexplicable as the cap seems to one who does not understand the process of its construction. An intelligent lad of about twelve years old, who is instructed in the operation, would manufacture a peck of them in an hour.

IMPLEMENTS OF WAR.—The manufactory at Harper's Ferry turned out, last year, 9,000 percussion muskets and 2,751 percussion rifles. At the Springfield armory the manufactures include 11,000 percussion muskets, and 2,000 cavalry muskettoons. The cost of the finished musket at Springfield armory, during the year, is reported at $10 61, and at Harper's Ferry at $11 98; that of the finished rifle with steel barrel is stated to be $12 32.

STARTLING, BUT TRUE!
WHAT EVERY WOMAN SHOULD KNOW.
How often it happens, that the wife lingers from year to year in the most pitiable condition as not even for one day to feel the happy and exhilarating influence incident to the enjoyment of health.
THE BLOOMING BRIDE.
But a few years ago in the flush of health and youth, and buoyancy of spirits, rapidly, and apparently inexplicably, becomes a feeble, shabby, sorrow, debilitated wife, with frame emaciated, nerves unstrung, spirits depressed, countenance bearing the impress of suffering, and an utter physical and mental prostration, arising from ignorance of the simplest and plainest rules of health as connected with the marriage state, the violation of which entails disease, suffering and misery, not only to the wife, but often hereditary complaints upon the children.

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION,
BY DR. A. M. MAURICIAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.
One Hundredth Edition, (500,000), 18mo., pp. 204.
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BOUND, $1.00.]
A standard work of established reputation, found in the catalogue of the great trade sales in New York, Philadelphia, and other cities, and by all the best booksellers in the United States. It was first published in 1841, since which time
FIVE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES
have been sold, and upwards of
ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND SENT BY MAIL,
attesting the high estimation in which it is held as a reliable book for the Medical Profession.
BOOK FOR EVERY FEMALE
The author having devoted his exclusive attention to the treatment of complaints peculiar to females, in respect to which he is yearly consulted by thousands both in person and by letter.
Every woman can discover, by comparing her own symptoms with those described, the nature, character, causes of, and the proper remedies for, her complaints.
The wife about becoming a mother has often need of instruction and advice of the utmost importance to her future health, in respect to which her sensitiveness forbids consulting a medical gentleman, will find such instruction and advice, and also explain many symptoms which otherwise would occasion anxiety or alarm as all the peculiarities incident to her situation are described.
How many are suffering from obstructions or irregularities peculiar to the female system, which undermine the health, the effects of which they are ignorant, and which their doctor forbids seeking medical advice. Many suffering from prolapsus uteri (falling of the womb) or from fluxus albus (weakness, debility, &c.) Many in constant agony for many months preceding confinement. Many have difficulty if not dangerous deliveries, and slow and uncertain recoveries. Some whose lives are hazarded during such time, will each find in its pages the means of prevention, amelioration and relief.
It is of course impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married or those contemplating marriage. Reader, are you a husband or a father? A wife or a mother? Have you the sincere welfare of those you love at heart? Prove your sincerity, and lose no time in learning what causes interfere with their health and happiness not less than your own. It will avoid to you and yours, as it has to thousands, many a day of pain and anxiety, followed by sleepless nights, incapacitating the mind for its ordinary avocation, and exhausting those means for medical attendance, medicines and advertised nostrums which otherwise would provide for declining years, the infirmities of age and the proper education of your children.
In consequence of the universal popularity of the work, as evidenced by its extraordinary sale, various imitations have been attempted, as well on bookellers as on the public, by imitations of title page, spurious editions, and surreptitious infringements of copyright, and by other devices and deceptions, it has been found necessary, therefore, to
