Good Times, Good Times

are before the doors of the people of Lehigh, Northampton, Bucks and Carbon counties, for the Railroad is now completed from New York and Philadelphia to Allentown. On Monday last the train of cars ran over the entire road for the first time, and there were something less than 100 cars in the train, and I suppose they have all stopped at

JOSEPH STOPP'S CHEAP CASH STORE.

In Allentown, at No. 41, corner of Hamilton and Eighth streets, near Hegenbuck's Hotel, for I passed his Store, and by the looks of the tremendous quantity of goods, and his clerks were unpacking I am sure that the depot must be right at his Store, and that the whole train of cars must have been loaded with Goods for Stopp. We all stopped and looked with astonishment at the piles of Shawls, De Lains, Silks, Merinos, Persian Cloth, Cashmere, Alpaca, Galicoes, &c. from the floor to the ceiling, the goods all new styles. Then I looked to the other side of the Store, and lo, and behold, my eyes were greeted with perfect mountains of Goods, consisting of Cloths, Cassimeres, Satins, Kentucky Jeans, Flannels, Muslins, Table Diapers, Toweling, Stocking Yarn, and Stockings, Gloves, Mittens, Woolen Comforts, Carpets, Oil Cloths, Glass and Queensware, Looking Glasses, Knives, Forks, Spoons, &c., &c. The one of the clerks showed me in another room, there he had piles of Ready Made Clothing.

such as coats, vests, pants and over coats, all of their own manufacture, and showed me the prices of some of their goods, then I said I don't wonder that all the people say that Dan Rice has the best show and Joseph Stopp the cheapest Cash Store.

Poetical.

I Can't do Without a Paper.

What! do without a paper? No. I've tried it, to my sorrow; So, to subscribe for one I'll go, Or wait until to-morrow. Shou'd lovers drown, or hang themselves, Or cut out other foolish capers, I never get to hear of it. I do not take the paper. Why, there's my neighbor, old John Stout, He always hears the news, And having news to talk about, He never gets the "Eurus." While others yawn in cummi, His mind is light as vapor! The cause is plain to half an eye, He always takes the paper. While neighbor Stout hears all the news, And knows the current price, And always minds his P's and Q's, By taking good advice, I cannot tell the price of calves, Of poultry, coffee, tape, or Any kind of merchandise, Because I take no paper. Though I have studies, which require Much time and mental labor, Yet I can spare a little time, As well as Stout, my neighbor; Though time is precious, I can use A longer midnight taper. And thus take time to "read the news," Therefore I'll take the paper.

Miscellaneous.

American Wine Culture.

The Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce in a recent report on the business of that city, remarks as follows: Another business which has grown up, almost entirely since 1850, is the making of Wine; and which promises to equal in amount that of the finest provinces of France. By consulting the statistics of the Horticultural Society with the fact, that numerous vineyards have been set out, in the last year or two, we may confidently state that there are not less than 2000 acres of Catawba vines in cultivation, in the vicinity of Cincinnati, of which 1600 acres are in full bearing. By the average production of the last few years, this area of vines will yield 700,000 gallons, and in a very short time it must be greatly increased. Already dry and sparkling wines, and brandy commanding the highest prices, are made here, and the demand for them is greater than the supply. Mr. Longworth, the famous wine grower of Cincinnati, has just published an article in which he says: Ours is the region for grape culture and manufacture of wine. The wine countries of Europe have no native grapes. Our hills and valleys are covered with vines, producing hundreds of varieties of grapes.—Yet our Solomon has told us that our soil and climate is not calculated for the culture of the grape and the manufacture of wine. I can parrot that opinion at the north, where they have the Fox and Frost grape only; but I now feel assured that I have on trial a few kinds of grape belonging to a cool region—that of the northern part of the State of New York, and Vermont, which will be valuable for wine. I am not prepared to judge with certainty of the quality of many kinds I have now on hand.—But I hope this fall to submit some wines to a select committee, made from new grapes, that shall compare with some of the wines of Europe, of the same age. If our temperance men can be induced to respect the doctrines of the Bible, and not interfere with the culture of pure wine, not many years will elapse till we cannot only supply the United States with wine, but include all Europe.

Three Things.

Three things that never become rusty: The money of the benevolent, the shoes on a butcher's horse, and a fretful tongue.

Three things not easily done: To allay thirst with fire, to dry the wet with water, to please all in every thing that is done.

Three things that are as good as the best: Brown bread in a famine, well water in thirst, and a great coat in winter.

Three things as good as their better: Dirty water to extinguish fire, an ugly wife to a blind man, and a wooden sword to a coward.

Three things that seldom agree: Two cats over one mouse, two scolding wives in one house, and two lovers of the same maiden.

Three things of a short continuance: A boy's love, a chip fire, and a brook's flood.

Three things that ought never to be from home: The cat, the chimney, and the housewife.

Three essentials to a false story teller: A good memory, a bold face, and fools for an audience.

Three things seen in the peacock: The garb of an angel, the walk of a thief, and the voice of the devil.

Three things that are unwise to boast of: The flavor of ale, the beauty of thy wife, and the contents of thy purse.

Three miseries of a man's house: A smoky chimney, a dripping roof, and a scolding wife.

Fashion vs. Symmetry.

The most common cause of a high shoulder is to be found in the abominable practice of undressing girls' necks as low as the hanging of their shoulders will permit. Instead of the Wild Honey Gathering.

Wild honey, or, as the natives call it, "choo-ger bag," is collected by a small stingless bee, not so large as the common fly. The honey-nest is generally found at the summit of remarkably high trees. When the lynx-eyed native discovers it from below, there he will stand, with his head up, making a dead point at it until it is attained by his gun, who immediately begins with a small tomahawk, and by a rapid action of the wrist, to cut a notch in the bark of the tree, large enough for her great toe to rest upon. Winding her left arm round the body of the tree, she adroitly raises herself to this notch, and there rest the ball of the great toe of the right foot. She then cuts a notch above her head, and quickly ascends to this; so on in like manner until she reaches the dizzy height to which she is directed from below, exhibiting, throughout the most astonishing stretch and pliancy of limb, and the most wonderful absence of all fear of danger. She recklessly advances towards the extremity of a fragile bough which appears ready to break. If she can reach the honey, she seizes it, and places it in a sort of calabash slung round her neck, at the same time holding her hatchet in her mouth.—Where she finds it impracticable to reach the honey, she cuts off the branch, which, with its mellifluous appendage, falls to the ground at the feet of her sable lord, who stands below.—The honey is of delicious flavor, after it has been carefully separated from the comb, the cells of which are generally filled with small flies. The natives, however, devour it just as they find it, and are very fond even of the refuse comb, with which they make their favorite beverage called "bull," and of this they will drink till they become quite intoxicated.—Brown.

Recipe For Making Tailors.

Take one handful of the vine called Runabout, the same quantity of the root called nimble-tongue, a sprig of the herb called Backbite, (at either before or after dog-days,) a tablespoonful of don't you tell-it, six draclums of Malice, a few drops of Envy, which can be purchased in any quantity at the shops of Miss Tabitha Tea-table and Miss Nancy Night-walker.

Stir them well together and simmer them for half an hour over the fire of Discontent, kindle with a little jealousy—then strain it through a rag of Misconstruction, and cork it up in the bottle of Malvolence, hang it up on a skein of Street-yarn, shake it occasionally for a few days, and it will be fit for use. Let a few drops be taken before walking out, and the subject will be enabled to speak all manner of evil, and that continually.

Invention of Glass.

Glass is made by melting together sand or flint, and an alkali, either potash or soda.—The invention has been known to man many hundred years, perhaps before the Christian era. Neither the date nor the mode of its discovery are certain, though it is sometimes stated that it was found out by an accident; and that some sailors making a large fire on the sea beach, the potash contained in the ashes of the wood they used, united by the heat with the beach, and melted into glass. This occurrence is supposed to have taken place on the coast of Syria, where it is certain the first glass was manufactured.

Items for the Ladies.

Lady readers, will the following hints be useful? Britannia should be first rubbed gently with a woolen cloth and sweet oil, then washed in warm suds, and rubbed with soft soap and whiting. Thus treated, it will retain its beauty to the last. Now iron should be gradually heated at first; after it has become incured with the heat it is not likely to crack. It is a good plan to put new earthenware into water, and let it heat gradually until it boils—then cool again. Brown earthenware, particularly, may be toughened in this way.—A handful of wheat or rye bran, thrown in while boiling, will preserve the glazing, so that it will not be destroyed by acid or salt. Clean a brass kettle, before using it for cooking, with salt and vinegar. The oftener carpets are shaken, the longer they will wear. The dirt that collects under them grinds out the threads. If you wish to preserve fine teeth, always clean them thoroughly after every meal. Wash your face at night with warm water, and rub it with soap and water.
