

The Right Kind of a Speech.
Governor Reeder, in one of his speeches during the last canvass in Kansas Territory, gave utterance to the following. It has the ring of true metal, and sounds pleasantly to the ear. Let the first sentence in the last paragraph never be lost sight of, to the silencing of that cursed spirit which howls about Abolitionism, whenever exigencies arise in relation to this delicate yet important question.

The great issue to-day before the American people—and especially before the people of Kansas Territory—is whether Free or Slave Institutions are better in harmony with American Independence—with the provision of the Constitution—with the highest interests of humanity—and the prosperity and glory of our common country!

These are questions entering into the formation of society here, and are of the highest concern to man everywhere. No man among us can feel indifferent to the condition of political affairs in this Territory—for next to the obligations a man is under to his family and his God—are the duties he must discharge to the society in which he lives. These duties are upon us by virtue of our relations to the community in which we live, and cannot be laid aside or transferred to another. You are the men—and this is the day when these important duties are to be discharged. And no man has the right to pray to be excused or fail to meet the crisis. In making up your minds whether this should be a Free or a Slave State, we may be instructed by all the lessons of the past—and the richest expressions of "Freedom's struggles" for two thousand years are laid out before us.

There have been as regular a succession of the rise and fall of nations as there have been of the waxing and waning of moons!

It has become so plain that "he who runs may read" that the elements of prosperity in a State, are virtue, integrity, industry and labor, and that labor to be successful, must be intelligent, educated and free. Decide, then, what state of society is best adapted to promote these ends, and your work is just begun. Who can fail to see that there is such a chain in human society—so linked is the individual with the masses—the poor with the rich—the capitalists with the laborer—that "whatever link you strike, tenth or ten thousandth, breaks the chain alike."

When the laborer loses his dignity as a man when the dignity and respectability of labor are destroyed,—when the lights of literature and science are shut away from his mind, and the darkness of neglect and ignorance enshroud the understanding—when the light of hope, and love of country cease to impel a man to action and effort, then you have the form of humanity without the Man! The great motive power is lost, and all elements of success and prosperity destroyed. Now then, I ask, what does Slavery do with the laborer, but strike him down.

To shut out the lights of science, literature, hopes, love of country, and of man, away from his understanding and heart, dooming him to the darkness and grave of the brute. Can that prove a source of prosperity to a State which cripples its industry, and undoes the laborer?—making Masters of one class, and Slaves of another?

Let it be distinctly understood that this is not a question whether we will interfere with existing institutions established in other States—but whether we will plant and nourish, incorporate and perpetuate institutions so degrading to labor—so destructive to personal and general prosperity—so much at variance with the spirit and genius of American constitutions in the early days of the Republic? It is simply a question whether we will, while the eyes of the Nation are upon us, and in the face of our anxious countrymen, so offend against their earnest sentiments—so disregard the teachings of history and experience—so blot out the hand writing of the Declaration of Independence, and turn away from the sweat and blood and tears of the fathers of the Revolution! as to throw over our State the dark shadow of Human Slavery, and thus incorporate into our very midst, the elements of our destruction.

TAB A REMEDY FOR HORSE DISTEMPER.
Thomas W. Ladd, of Smithfield, Jefferson county, Ohio, writes to the Ohio Farmer that he has found a remedy and cure for "distemper" in horses. He says:

"Having three sick with this disease, an experienced farmer told me to use tar, and he thought that the sick colts would soon recover, and that those who had not taken the disease would not have it at all, or but lightly. I followed his direction to my entire satisfaction. I gave the colts morning and evening, as much as I could readily get into their mouths with a paddle. After a few applications, the sick ones commenced running at the nose, their appetites returned, and in a short time they had entirely regained what they had lost from disease. The others never took it to my knowledge. Some prefer mixed fish-oil with the tar, but I used it alone, and I believe it to be entirely sufficient, if the article be good, pure tar. I would have no faith at all in the coal tar, now in use in some places."

THE CORN CROP.—The demand for new corn cobs this year, to hold the extra yield of this cereal, is quite general—a very significant fact it is too. The price of the article still keeps up to a remunerative point for the producer, to the perplexity, somewhat, of the consumer.—This is a world of ups and downs, and it's fair for the farmer to have his "good times" occasionally. It will stimulate improvement, and increase the future capacities for production—at least it should have that effect.

TO PRESERVE DEAD GAME.—Take out the intestines and fill the inside with unground wheat, and place the fowl in a heap or cask of the same grain in such a manner as to insure its being completely covered. In this way fowls may be preserved perfectly sweet for months. The feathers should be removed.

Release of Passmore Williamson.
U. S. DISTRICT COURT, Nov. 3.—Judge Kane. The Passmore Williamson Case, Final Contempt purged and defendant discharged.
This morning, Passmore Williamson's counsel came stating that he desired to purge himself of the contempt for which he is now in prison, and was willing to make true answers to interrogations addressed to him by the Court in relation to the matter. After some preliminary discussion, the following answer to the writ of habeas corpus was offered by Williamson's counsel.

"I did not seek to obey the writ by producing the persons therein mentioned before the Court, because I had not, at the time of the service of the writ, the power over, the custody or control of them, and therefore it was impossible for me to do so. I first heard of the writ of habeas corpus on Friday, July 21, between 1 and 2 o'clock, A. M., on my return from Harrisburg. After breakfast, about 9 o'clock, I went from my house to Mr. Hopper's office, when and where the return was prepared.

"At 10 o'clock I came into the Court as commanded by the writ. I sought to obey the writ by answering it truly; the parties not being in my possession or control, it was impossible for me to obey the writ by producing them. Since the service of the writ I have not had the custody, possession or power over them; nor have I known where they were, except from common rumor or the newspaper reports in regard to their public appearance in the city or elsewhere.

Mr. Vanduyke excepted to this answer, and at the suggestion of the Court, it was amended as follows:—

I did not seek to obey the writ by producing the persons in the writ mentioned before this Court.

I did not seek, because I verily believed that it was entirely impossible for me to produce the said persons agreeably to the command of the Court.

The answer was then accepted by the Court and ordered to be filed.

Judge Kane then said:—"The contempt is now regarded as purged, and the party is released from custody. He is now reinstated to the position he occupied before the contempt was committed. Mr. Williamson is now before me on the return to the writ."

Mr. Vanduyke said he had some further remarks to make in relation to the writ of habeas corpus, and in order that there should be no mistake, he had reduced them to writing. He now appeared as one of the counsel for John H. Wheeler.

The purport of his remarks was, that Mr. Wheeler intended to institute a suit against Williamson in another branch of the U. S. Court, for the recovery of damages which have accrued by the tortious acts of the defendant towards his person and property.

PRIVILEGES OF THE CONFESSORIAL.—A trial was had in Richmond, of John Cornin, for the murder of his wife for unfaithfulness to her marriage vows. He had inflicted such injuries as to cause her death. Previous to her death, but when there was no immediate danger of that event, she had confessed to her priest, in the presence of her husband, that the charge against her by her husband was untrue. The statement made in the sacramental confession, the priest declined to divulge, as it was not consistent with his duty as a Catholic minister. Knowledge obtained in his civil capacity, as an individual and citizen, he would freely impart, but as questioned in his capacity as a Catholic minister, he was bound to keep the secrets of the confessional. Not even the Pope himself could induce him to violate that secrecy, though death were the penalty for refusal. The Court sustained the witness. The Judge said he regarded any infringement upon the tenets of any religious denomination, as a violation of the fundamental law, which guarantees perfect freedom to all classes in the exercise of their religious duties. To encroach upon the confessional, which was well understood to be regarded as a fundamental tenet in the Catholic Church, would be to ignore the Bill of Rights, so far as it is applicable to that Church. In view of these circumstances, as well as a series of other considerations connected with this subject, he felt no hesitation in ruling that a priest enjoys a privilege of exemption from revealing what is communicated to him in the confessional. The jury returned a verdict of voluntary manslaughter.

A SNAKE AND BEE FIGHT.—The Romulus (N. Y.) Eagle, Oct. 24th, says that Mr. J. Millman, of Cato Four Corners, while returning from a visit to Romulus in his carriage, recently encountered a pair of immense rattlesnakes, engaged in fighting a bee's nest. The snakes used their tails to beat off the bees, and in a short time were in possession of the honey of their antagonists. Mr. M. attacked and killed one of the snakes, which measured 35 feet, and had 67 rattles in his tail. The skin and rattles may be seen at his residence at Cato.

PLAYING WITH HOT COALS.—The Charleston Mercury says, "we have had enough of this 'Glorious Union.' A thoroughly organized Disunion Party is the desideratum, and until such is formed at the South, all time devoted to political discussion will be time wasted."—This is what we call fanaticism of a kind which the most ultra abolitionist never dreamed of.

PROLIFIC.—Mr. Robert A. Curry, of Augusta county, has produced one of the wonders of the season, being six ears of corn and a nubbin, all the product of a single grain of corn. The entire number of grains produced from the one planted is more than three thousand.

SIGNS AND TOKENS.—The Indians regard a thin husk on corn as an indication of a mild winter. This being true, the one just approaching will be of the gentle kind, as the husks are said to be very thin.

Frightful Railroad Accident—Terrible Loss of Life.
St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 2.
The Pacific Railroad was to-day to be opened to Jefferson City, and this morning an excursion train, consisting of eleven cars, containing between six and seven hundred persons, left this city to be present at the celebration at Jefferson City. The road crosses the Gasconade river, about one hundred miles west of this city, by a bridge, which, unfortunately, gave way and fell with a tremendous crash, carrying ten of the cars with it. The particulars of the loss of life are not yet known, and there are various rumors, some saying that hundreds have been killed and wounded. The greatest excitement exists here and at the scene of the calamity, and it is impossible to tell what is the extent of destruction of life.

PRESIDENTIAL MOVEMENTS.—The Oregon Statesman nominates Gen. Joseph Lane, of that Territory, for President of the United States, "subject to the decision of the Democratic National Convention."

The Kingdon (Tenn.) Eagle brings forward Stephen A. Douglas for President, and A. O. P. Nicholson for Vice President.

The Clarion Democrat hoists the name of Hon. James Buchanan for the Presidency.

The Harrisburg Keystone has raised the name of George M. Dallas. So has the Doylestown Democrat.

KANSAS.—The majority for Whitefield, the Missouri candidate in Congress, from Kansas, is reported to be 3,800 votes. This decisive success is supposed to have been attained by 4,000 Missourians voting for Whitefield, and two hundred for Reeder. These two hundred extempore Reeder men were retained for Whitefield, and only gave their votes for his opponent, because it was thought that it would look better to throw some votes for Reeder, in order to give the affair an aspect of a contest. Now, whether this Whitefield will be admitted to a seat in Congress, remains to be seen. A bogus Legislature and an illegal election, are certainly bad recommendations for the admission of this member elect.

MUSIC BY STEAM.—A Mr. Stoddard, of Worcester, Mass., has constructed an instrument for making music by steam. It consists of a series of whistles like those used on locomotives, being made of different sizes, so as to produce the desired tone corresponding with each note. This completes the machine, with the exception of a cylinder similar to those used in a common hand organ or music box, containing cogs, which, when properly arranged, will, if turned by hand, or otherwise, operate upon the valves in such a manner as to play any tune desired, by simply changing the position of the cogs.

THE MISSING AERONAUT.—The Cincinnati Times says that on the 2d inst., a number of persons in that city plainly saw a balloon in the air, which, by a powerful glass, was discovered to be a wreck, and infers that it may have been the balloon of the missing aeronaut, WINCHESTER, who made an ascension at Newark, Ohio, on the 24th ult., and has not since been heard of. The mystery involving his fate has excited a wide-spread interest and curiosity, which possibly may never be satisfied. The most plausible explanation is that he probably fell into Lake Erie over which he was last seen, and that his balloon afterwardswandered uncontrolled through space till its gas was expended.

BRANDY STEPS.—The New York Courier says: "By the North River and Canal Boats yesterday, there were 31,000 barrels of Flour, 106,000 bushels Wheat, 60,000 bushels Corn, 17,000 bushels Oats, 23,000 bushels Rye, and 1000 barrels pork and beef, being the heaviest arrivals of the season. By the Erie Railroad for the past two days there have been nearly 8000 barrels of Flour."

ALL ON ONE SIDE.—Elk is one of the counties, and until heard from, the opposition never gives up the State. This year it has gone for the Democracy, and, of course, the Know-Notthings are "flummoxed." The returns, like the Irishman's pig,—fattened by alternate starving and stuffing—present "a strake o'fat an' a strake o'lane." See a few of the townships given below:

GRAPE CULTURE.—The Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, in a recent report on the business of that city, states that there are not less than 2000 acres of Catawaba vines in cultivation in the vicinity of Cincinnati, of which 1600 acres are in full bearing; and that, by the average production of the past few years, this area will yield 700,000 gallons annually, and in a very short time must be greatly increased.

A HINT FOR WASHING-DAY.—A little pipe-clay dissolved in the water employed in washing will clean the dirtiest clothes thoroughly with about one half the labor, and full one-half the soap. Besides, the clothes will be improved in color.

PEARS.—Bartlett pears have been selling in New York market at wholesale for $9 per barrel. One cultivator of this delicious fruit realized at the rate of $2,200 per acre from his orchard; he plants 104 standard and 336 dwarf pear trees on each acre.

BIG ONION.—An onion weighing two pounds seven ounces and measuring nineteen and one-half inches in circumference, was brought from California by the last steamer.
