

LATE AND IMPORTANT FOREIGN NEWS.—The

Arago, from Havre and Southampton, arrived on Tuesday, after a voyage of thirteen days. The intelligence she brings is interesting. The allied attack on Kinburn has been consummated by a three days' bombardment, concluding with the surrender of the place. Its garrison of one thousand five hundred men go as prisoners of war to Constantinople. The London Times announces that General Simpson has been recalled, and that Lieut. Gen. Codrington has been appointed his successor. Sir William Molesworth, British Secretary of State for the Colonies, died on the 22d ult. A fatal accident has occurred to a train of cars on the Lyons railway, by which sixteen persons were killed and three dangerously wounded. Oczakow, opposite Kinburn, has been blown up and abandoned by the Russians. A British Consul at Cologne has been sent to prison for enlisting recruits in Prussia for the Crimea.

The arrival of the Asia on Wednesday morning places us in receipt of three days' later news from Europe. In the Crimea the French and Sardinians were advancing from the line of the Chernaya and the valley of Baidar; and on the 13th ult. the French outposts were said to be within nine miles of Bakhiserai, and close upon positions where, if anywhere, the Russians were exposed to make a stand. To the lines of the Allies the Russians oppose thirteen infantry divisions—one on the north side of Sebastopol, two at Inkermann, two at McKenzie's farm, and the rest along the plateau which stretch toward Aitodor, and thence toward Bakhiserai and the rivers Belbek, Katcha and Alma. The fire from the north side of Sebastopol was very heavy, chiefly against the Malakoff and the French quarters west of the Lavalnaya ravine. English correspondence of the 12th supposed, in the face of this fire, that the Russians were retiring on Perekop. A Russian dispatch states that on the 22d the Allies advanced from Eupatoria toward Toulet, forty thousand strong, but retired behind Aktatshi on the 23d, finding themselves flanked by Russian lancers. The entire Russian militia had been ordered to reinforce the army of the south. Two liners, sixteen frigates and a number of gunboats had entered the Dnieper and the Czar had gone from Nikolai to Elizabetgorod. Preparations were being made for another levy of recruits, and prayers were offered at St. Petersburg for the Emperor's safe return from the Crimea. Florence Nightingale was again in Sebastopol, and the hero of the Redan, Col. (now General) Wyndham, was at the head of the Fourth division. A million of shot and cartridges and half a million pounds of powder were found by the Allies in the south side of Sebastopol. Their land forces, including the sick, amount to two hundred and ten thousand men. At the assault on Kars, the Russian loss was 2,000 men. The Turks lost and retook two of their redoubts four times. They were commanded by a Hungarian.

The London Times has a curious article on American filibusterism. It states that the British West-India squadron is being reinforced to protect British islands from it, calls the United States by the significant name of North America, and dignifies the movement even so far as to speak of an expedition to Ireland. Spain and Italy were suffering from cholera, and rumors were afloat that the King Bomba had committed a gross outrage on some American citizens.

AN ANCIENT FROG.—J. Crabtree, pit sinker to Messrs. Ackroyd, of Burkinshaw Bottom, in sinking a pit at Marley, near Leeds, recently found a live frog in the centre of a large coal, two hundred and thirty feet below the surface, considerably below the Morley tunnel, to which it is close adjoining. The frog is still very lively. When found it was very dark in color, but it is becoming like the every day species. The eyes of it are very bright, and surrounded with a gold ring. It has four claws on its fore feet and five (web footed) on the hind feet. Its mouth is closed, or firmly shut, but it has two vents, apparently nostrils, on the top of its nose. The seam of coal from which it was disinterred was saturated with water; and probably from this circumstance, combined with close confinement, it has been enabled to sustain its half torpid life through countless ages.—Leeds (England) Mercury.

A POLITICIAN'S WISH GRANTED.—Hon. J. W. Coffroth, once a Philadelphia editor, and formerly a "dye in the wool" democrat, recently fell from grace, joined the "Know Nothings," and was re-elected to the California Senate. A contemporary says Mr. C. made the following remark at Berkeley, in 1853: "If ever I desert the democratic party, may my right arm be withered!" On the day after the election he fell from his horse, and so completely shattered his right arm that it was thought he would be compelled to have the limb amputated.

DEATH OF A FIFTY YEARS PRISONER.—A colored man in Baltimore, known by the name of Bob, who was convicted of murder, and, for some extraordinary circumstances in the case, was sentenced to imprisonment for life—died recently at the advanced age of one hundred years. He has been in confinement for about 53 years. He has for the last few years been permitted to have the range of the yard, and amused himself by cultivating a small patch of flowers, &c. He had been so long accustomed to the prison walls that he would not leave them, and that which was designed as a punishment became his happiness by the force of habit.

TO FATTEN FOWLS.—The best food for fattening fowls is to take potatoes and mash them fine while they are hot, and mix the meal with them just before it is presented. They fatten on this diet in less than half the time ordinarily required to bring them to the same condition of excellence on corn, or even meal itself.

"So far so good," as the boy said when he had finished the first jar of his mother's jam.

NOVEMBER ELECTIONS.

State Elections were held on Tuesday in New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Maryland, and Wisconsin. We give the results, as far as the returns received indicate: New-York.—The returns from New-York are yet very incomplete, but such as they are they render the success of the Know-Nothing State Ticket highly probable, with the exception, perhaps, of the Judge of the Court of Appeals for the long term, for which office both branches of the Democratic party voted for the same nominee.

MASSACHUSETTS.—The Know-Nothings have elected their whole ticket for State officers by a plurality of from ten to fourteen thousand, Governor Gardner leading his colleagues nearly five thousand votes. Both branches of the Legislature will be in the hands of the Know-Nothings.

NEW-JERSEY ELECTION.—The result of the election in the State of New-Jersey is a democratic victory. The election was not as important as usual, being confined to the choice of legislative representatives and county officers. The Democrats have elected four of the six State Senators, and the next Senate will be composed of eleven Democrats, five Whigs and four Know-Nothings. The House will consist of thirty-seven Democrats, sixteen Whigs, six Know-Nothings and one Temperance man. Last year, the Democrats were in a minority in the House, and had a tie in the Senate.

MARYLAND.—The news from the different portions of the State indicate the election of the Know-Nothing State Ticket, and that five out of the six Congressmen will be Know-Nothings. In the Sixth District, Bowie, anti-Know-Nothing Whig, is probably elected.

WISCONSIN.—We have partial returns of the vote for Governor from thirteen counties, which show aggregate majorities for Barstow, (Dem.) of 8463, and for Bashford, (Rep.) 7420; leaving the Democrats over 1000 ahead, and making their triumph almost certain.

A BUILT UP CAGED.—Benjamin Patterson was convicted, last week, in the Chester County Criminal Court, of one of the most brutal outrages ever committed in that neighborhood.—He attempted to ravish a young woman named Mary Workman, while accompanying her home through a wood, and upon her resisting him, he attempted to kill her. He beat her on the head with a stone till he thought she was dead, and then went to a house and told them she was lying dead up in the woods; but he did not know who could have done it. Miss Workman, who, although at the point of death, recovered slowly, was the chief witness in Court against Patterson. Her forehead is covered with scars, which she will carry with her to the grave. He was sentenced to six years at hard labor in the County Prison.

DEATH OF A MURDERER.—We notice the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Harker announced in the Huntingdon papers. She died in prison at that place, where she had been confined under the sentence of death since the fall of '53. We do not think that the annals of crime in Pennsylvania furnish such another case as was here. At the advanced age of sixty-five years she committed a double murder, her husband and sister being the victim—in order to become the wife of her sister's husband. She poisoned her husband some time in 1852, and, although there were lively suspicions of the true cause of his death, he was buried without post-mortem examination, and suspicion gradually faded away. A year afterwards, however, her sister—with whom this murderer then lived—was seized with a violent illness, exhibiting marked symptoms of poison, but she recovered. Soon after, she was again seized with the same terrible symptoms, and died in great agony. Still no suspicion rested upon Mrs. Harker. The deed was too foul—the purpose too horrid, to justify the belief that she was guilty; and but for her subsequent unfeeling conduct, she would doubtless have gone down to the grave with the secret of her crime between herself and her God.

Little by little facts were developed until the public mind settled down on the conviction that she was the murderer of her sister. The body of the victim was taken from the grave, a post-mortem examination made, the stomach taken to Philadelphia and examined by a chemist, who found in it enough of arsenic to kill three persons. The body of her husband was also taken up, and although time and the worms had made sad havoc with it, the fatal drug that laid her sister low, was also found in his stomach. She was arrested and tried in Huntingdon in 1853, and the jury, after two hours' deliberation, rendered a verdict of murder in the first degree. She was sentenced to death and remanded to prison; but Gov. Bigler humanely determined that she should not be executed. Her sex and her extreme age plead for her, and she was allowed to drag out a life of remorse and suspense until called by Providence to her final account. Two weeks ago the stern summons came, and Elizabeth Harker, seized by the frosts of age, and charged with guilt such as has rarely stained the fame of mortals, passed to that tribunal where judgment is at once infallible and eternal.—Chambersburg Whig.

A LITTLE BOY WITH DELIRIUM TREMENS.—A man named Taylor, near Winchester, Iowa, has a son only four years old, who is a common drunkard. On the 18th of April the father, who had been fishing, gave the child a bottle of whiskey to carry; he drank too much and was taken very sick, then with a twitching in one arm and side, which was soon followed by the delirium tremens, that lasted for twelve hours. It was a horrible thing to see the little fellow screaming at and jumping from the snakes he thought he saw.

Wives are often foolish enough to sit up for their husbands, when they are out on a beat, but you hear of very few husbands who have the patience to sit up for their wives.

We are glad to see that true merit is not without its due reward. When we first commenced to advertise Dr. L. B. Wright's "Liquid Cathartic," not over three months since, we had some misgivings as to the manner in which it would be received, although assured that Dr. W. was an eminent practitioner of long standing and well deserved merit. But time has completely removed our doubts as to the efficacy of the medicine, as well as its entire success. We believe thousands have reason to bless the Doctor for his really meritorious preparation, and especially mothers, physicians and heads of families, who can administer it to children and invalids without the least inconvenience; instead of destroying and debilitating the stomach from nausea and retching, one rather enjoys it as a pleasant beverage. See advertisement, and purchase while an opportunity lasts.

THE WORLD'S SHIPPING.—The shipping of the world is estimated at 145,500 vessels and the aggregate tonnage at 15,500,000. Hunt's Magazine estimates that at $60 a ton the shipping of the world is worth the enormous amount of $775,000,000. Of this fifteen and a half millions of tonnage, more than ten and a half millions belong to the Anglo Saxon race.—United States 40,500 vessels, and 5,661,416 tonnage, Great Britain 35,900 vessels, and 5,043,270 tonnage.

The Washington Monument, the corner stone of which was laid on the 4th of July, 1848, has been raised to the height of 152 feet, at an expense of $230,000. The original estimate of the cost of the whole work was $1,222,000.

FULL, to Miss ELLEN ALBRIGHT, both of that city. On the 3d of November, by the Rev. Joshua Yaeger, Mr. DAVID H. WHEELER, to Miss DIANA L. QUER, both of Hanover.

To Fanny Fern's 1,000,000 Readers! A new book coming! We have the pleasure of announcing that we have in press, and shall publish about the first of December, a new work of fiction, entitled ROSE CLARK, a romance, by Fanny Fern. The last work, and first continuous tale of this brilliant and fascinating authoress, "Ruth Hall," achieved a success unexampled in the annals of letters. In the language of a leading periodical, it "created a more profound sensation than any which has been issued during a quarter of a century." But it is unnecessary to allude to the merits of "Ruth Hall." Judging from the number of copies of it we have sold, we judge that every body in the United States has read it. As respects the work we have now in press, ROSE CLARK, we can only say that we regard it as, in every respect, a greater, better work; and are confident it will not only sustain, but even increase the reputation of its distinguished authoress. We have reasons for thinking "Rose Clark" will make a greater sensation than did "Ruth Hall." It will form an elegant 12mo volume of over 400 pages. Price $1.25, and a receipt of which copies will be sent by mail, post-paid. It will be for sale by all booksellers. Published by MASON BROTHERS, New York. November 14. ¶—1t

STARTLING, BUT TRUE!

WHAT EVERY WOMAN SHOULD KNOW. How often it happens, that the wife lingers from year to year in that pitiable condition as not even for one day to feel the happy and exhilarating influence incident to the enjoyment of health. THE BLOOMING BRIDE, But a few years ago in the flush of health and youth, and buoyancy of spirits, rapidly, and apparently unexplainedly, becomes a feeble, sickly, and apparently wretched wife, with frame emaciated, nerves unstrung, spirits depressed, countenance bearing the impress of suffering, and an utter physical and mental prostration, arising from ignorance of the simplest and most salutary rules of health as connected with the marriage state, the violation of which entails disease, suffering and misery, not only to the wife, but often HEREDITARY COMPLAINTS UPON THE CHILDREN. "UNTO THE THIRD AND FOURTH GENERATION," Transmitted CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, RHEUMATISM, GOUT, KING'S EVIL, and other and worse Diseases, as a DREADFUL INHERITANCE FROM THE PARENTS.

"And must this continue? Must this be? Is there no remedy? No relief? No hope?" The remedy is by knowing the cause and avoiding them, and knowing the remedies, and benefiting by them. These are pointed out in

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION, BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU, PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN. One Hundredth Edition, (500,000), 18mo., pp. 200. [Not just FARE, EXTRA BOUND, 18mo.] A standard work of established reputation, found in the catalogues of the great trade in New York, Philadelphia, and other cities, and sold by the principal booksellers in the United States. It was first published in 1817, since which time FIVE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES have been sold, of which there were upwards of ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND SENT BY MAIL, attesting the high estimation in which it is held as a reliable popular Medical

BOOK FOR EVERY FEMALE the author having devoted his exclusive attention to the treatment of complaints peculiar to females, in respect to which he is yearly consulted by thousands both in person and by letter. How every woman can discover, by comparing her own symptoms with those described, the nature, character, causes of, and the proper remedies for, her complaints. The wife about becoming a mother has often need of instruction and advice of the utmost importance to insure future health, in respect to which her sensitiveness forbids consulting a medical gentleman, will find such instruction and advice, and also explain many symptoms which otherwise would occasion anxiety or alarm as all the peculiarities incident to her situation are described. How many are suffering from obstructions or irregularities peculiar to the female system, which undermine the health, the effects of which they are ignorant, and in which their delicacy forbids seeking medical advice. Many suffering from prolapsus uteri (falling of the womb), or from fluor albus (weakness, Jolubility, &c.) Many are in constant agony for many months preceding confinement. Many have difficulty if not dangerous deliveries, and slow and uncertain recoveries. Some whose lives are endangered during such time, will find relief in its proper means of prevention, amelioration and relief. It is of course impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly confidential for the married or those contemplating marriage. Reader, are you a husband or a father? A wife or a mother? Have you the sincere welfare of those you love at heart? Prove your sincerity, and lose no time in learning what causes interfere with their health and happiness not less than your own. It will avoid to you and yours, as it has to thousands, many a day of pain and anxiety, followed by sleepless nights, exhausting the mind for its ordinary avocation, and expending those means for medical attendance, medicine and advertised nostrums which otherwise would provide for declining years, the infirmities of age and the proper education of your children.
