

A Business Sketch of a Business Man.

Very extraordinary man, from an editorial in the N. Y. Sun:—
"As an illustration of business tact and talent, we may point to the career of Professor HOLLOWAY, the proprietor of the most popular medicine of the age. This man has no parallel during extraordinary man have had no parallel during the present century. He has visited nearly every Court in Europe, and obtained permission for the sale of his preparations from most of the crowned heads of the Old World. The queens of Spain and Portugal, the kings of Naples and Sardinia granted him audiences; and in St. Petersburg which city he visited a short time before the commencement of the war, he was treated with marked consideration by the late Czar and the nobility.
"Travelling in an elegant private carriage, attended by a courier, his equipage attracted attention in the towns and villages through which he passed. The hotels where he lodged were besieged by persons of the first distinction, and the best society on the continent courted his acquaintance.
"The subject of these remarks is unquestionably an ambitious man, and his skill and enterprise have placed him far in advance of all his predecessors and contemporaries in the same profession. He stands alone, and the fact that he can maintain his high position, despite the interested assaults of envy and presumption, proves that his medicines have an intrinsic value, which the world understands and appreciates.
"The sums expended in advertising by Professor HOLLOWAY would be incredible if they were not authenticated by his books. His payments to the press range from $150,000 to $200,000 per annum. There is no printed language in which his advertisements do not appear.
"The ramifications of his business extend from the focal point—his vast establishment in the Strand, London—over the whole face of the earth.
"This extraordinary man is now in this country—in this city. The Tribune, in a just tribute to his matchless enterprise, says, that having, like Alexander, subdued the Old World, he is now preparing to conquer the New.
"Professor HOLLOWAY has not been tempted hitherto by a thirst for gain—for his wealth is sufficient to satisfy the most ardent worshipper of mammon. He is a philanthropic man, who extends the benefit of his medicines among a people whose character he admires. Everybody is, of course, anxious to see the greatest advertiser in the world. In a very short period, the American reputation of HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT will rival their European fame."

Republican Convention, at Pittsburg.

The Republican National Convention assembled at Pittsburg last week. John A. King, of New York, was called to the chair, as temporary President. About three hundred delegates were present. A Committee of one from each State was appointed to report a list of officers for the permanent organization of the Convention. On permanent organization, Francis P. Blair, of the District of Columbia, was chosen President.
Several gentlemen were called on to address the Convention, and among others, Mr. Gill, of Ohio, and Mr. Orceley, of New York. The latter, in response to the most enthusiastic call, came forward and said he was glad to have an opportunity to address the Convention. He had been at Washington for several weeks; and, he said, our friends there counselled extreme caution in our movements. I am myself a cautious man, (laughter) but at the same time I think we are bound to act in such a manner as to show to the South that although we are not the earnest opponents of slavery, we are not governed by hostility to the South. It was governed by the interest of Missouri that Kansas should be a free State, and he believed an honest majority of the people were in favor of freedom. His friends in Washington wished him to counsel extreme caution. The Federal forces are in the hands of our implacable enemies. Let us, therefore, be cautious, and keep within bounds.
Mr. Greeley did not believe the American organization was friendly to the Republican organization. They would nominate a candidate, but for his part, he could only sympathize with the cause in favor of making every foot of our Territory free. He held that what their policy on the tariff and other questions might be. He was concluded by detailing the wrongs of the Free State citizens of Kansas, and the tyranny of the slaveocracy.
Mr. Spaulding, of Ohio, spoke at considerable length. Altho' an impulsive man himself, he approved of the words of Mr. Greeley this morning. Let us be cautious how we address the voters, if we wish the people to act with us like an avalanche. He held ultra views on the subject of slavery, but would not enforce them. Let us combine all the anti-Administration forces and drive the vandals from the country. Let not Abolitionism or Free Soilism dissent from the resolutions to be proposed, because they will not keep up to their views.
Mr. Kimball, of Ohio, moved that a committee of one from each State be appointed to report a plan for the organization of the Republican party.
Passmore Williamson was introduced, amid tremendous applause. He appeared greatly embarrassed, and after returning his thanks, begged permission to retire.
Mr. Giddings arose amid hearty cheers and made a brilliant speech. He said that for 20 years he had been called a fanatic so often that he almost believed it himself. Had he been told then that he should live to see a light like this, he would have called his informant a fanatic. Years seemed condensed into hours, when he saw the progress this cause had made, when there was yet a consummation to be reached, when the present generation, one of the most pleasant recollections of his life was the belief that the battle of Bunker Hill, to nominate candidates for President and Vice President.

Case of the Cold.

In a communication to the Scientific American, Mr. T. BARRETT, of Dedham, Mass., alludes to the intense cold of this winter, stating that he never saw the sky so brilliant and clear by day and night before. He attributes the cause of the cold to the hundreds of thousands of tons of powder which have been burned at Sebastopol and other places; having put into circulation large quantities of nitrous gas. "If saltpetre and salamoniac," he says, "be put into a given quantity of water at 50° Fahr., it will rise to its temperature 50°." He therefore concludes that the gases of the exploded gunpowder named have exerted a great cooling influence upon the atmosphere, both in Europe and America. On account of the pure cold air this winter, he is of opinion that cholera, yellow fever, and the potato rot will not be so prevalent during the present year.

A Monkey Trick.

A keeper of a restaurant in the lower part of the city, has a ring-tailed monkey for a pet, which he usually leaves at his place of business on looking it up for the night. When the doors and shutters were opened yesterday morning, nothing was to be seen of the monkey, but no aperture was to be discovered by which he might have escaped. This mysterious disappearance baffled search for some time, but Jack being loudly called was at last observed peeping through the door of the store, into which he had crept for comfort after the fire expired.—Commercial Advertiser.

Saved by a Dog.

The Grand Rapids (Mich.) Enquirer states that the dwelling of Mr. Alfred Sayles, of Cascade, Kent Co., was destroyed by fire last week in the night, while Mr. and Mrs. S. were absent. Five children were sleeping in the house, one of whom was awakened by a faithful dog, who went to his bed and actually scratched his face with his paw till the blood came, before he could awaken him. The bed, wherein two girls slept, was already on fire, and one of the girls' arms badly burned, without awakening her. They all escaped, but had not reached the road before the roof fell in, carrying everything with it to the ground floor.

Fusion of Old Parties.

As a striking evidence that the Whig and Democratic parties have died out, we point to the singular fact that when MILLARD FILLMORE was President, ANDREW J. DONELSON was editor of the Washington Union, the opposition organ. Now they are before the nation on the same ticket for President and Vice President.—Ex.

WARREN'S IMPROVED FIRE AND WATER PROOF COMPOSITION ROOFING.

Joseph Clewell, Allentown, Agent for Lehigh Co. YOUR attention is respectfully solicited to the above method of Roofing, now much in use in Philadelphia and the vicinity, and which has been extensively used in many of the cities of the West, during which time it has been tested under every variety of circumstances, and we confidently offer it to the public as a most desirable and economical mode of roofing, while it combines, in a greater degree than any other roof in use, the valuable requisites of cheapness, durability, and security against both fire and water. This is rapidly superseding the use of all other kinds of roofs, wherever it has been introduced, giving general satisfaction, and is highly recommended by all who have tested its utility. These roofs require an inclination of not more than one inch to the foot, which is of great advantage in case of snow and for drying purposes. They are offered at a price considerably less than any other roof in use, while the amount of material saved, which would otherwise be expended in extending up the walls and further important reduction in the cost of building. Gutter can be formed of the same material as the roof, at much less expense than any other. In case of defect or injury, from any cause, there is no need so easily repaired. The materials being mostly non-conductors of heat, no roof is so cool in summer, or so warm in winter. These roofs will, in no case, should give the rafters a pitch of about one inch to the foot. For further information apply to Joseph Clewell at Allentown, or to Joseph Clewell and Carbon counties, who is prepared to execute all orders at short notice. H. M. Lochman's AMBROTYPE PHOTOGRAPHY.

No. 9 West Hamilton street, Allentown, Pa. B. LOCHMAN respectfully informs the citizens of Allentown and vicinity, that he is now prepared to take AMBROTYPE photographs in connection with Daguerreotypes. His Ambrotypes are far superior to those of any other operator in town—however much they may be talked of the "Patent" Ambrotypes, to the contrary notwithstanding. The Ambrotypes is a new and beautiful style of picture taken on glass, and unequalled by any other style. They are without the glare of the Daguerreotype, and cannot be injured by the action of water. They can be seen on either side of the plate, are not reversed, and show everything in its true position. Their cost is but a trifle more than a Daguerreotype, and are indestructible to the action of water, the atmosphere, and cannot be injured by rubbing or washing. Both Ambrotypes and Daguerreotypes taken in an unsurpassed style without regard to weather. By long experience, arduous toil, a desire to please, and heavy investments of capital, he feels assured that any one who may favor him with a call will receive in return a perfect picture, not to be excelled in point of artistic beauty, by any one in this section of country. He would also invite attention to his new and splendid stock of cases, which range in price from 75 cents to 10 dollars. Please bear in mind, that pictures can be taken in clear or cloudy weather.
