To convey an idea of the suffering in this boat, we give a portion of the history as published in the N. Y. Tribunc.

"Shortly after leaving the ship a storm passed over them, accompanied by thouder and lightning. The passengers lay hudded in the middle of the boat and scarcely a world was interchanged between them. The lightning revealseemed surely impending death. Thus passed the night. Daylight revealed to them an open, it was determined to be sparing of the very meagre supply of provisions and water on board the boat.

A single cracker was voted as a day's rations for each one, and a mouthful of water. To insure adherence to this latter limitation, it was agreed to suck the water through the cork of the demijohn. In partaking of this first frugal there was some merriment felt by a few, at the boat was permitted to drift allday. Everybody kept looking for a sail, but night came without any sail having appeared. At night the boat got into some ice; but, by pulling to the windward, they soon fetched themselves into an unobstructed sea. They pulled all night, with but little intermission.

The eighth day opened with only increasing sufferings from hunger, thirst and cold. It rained, but nearly all were too weak to catch any of the descending moisture. Mr. Nye caught some of the rain in an oilcloth cravat, which was partaken of with the wildest imaginable frenzy. But there was not enough to satisfy their burning thirst. Salt water was drank by every one, excepting Mr. Nyc. His not drinking salt water he considers the only thing that preserved his life. During this day four passengers and the boatswain died. On the morning of the 20th of February, Mr. Nye was the only one of the original thirteen on board the boat that remained alive. He had not the strength to throw overboard his dead companions. He managed, however, to crect an oar in his boat, with two shirts and a silk handkerchief placed on the top as a signal. At about 1 P. M. he saw a sail advancing from the south. The sail turned out to be the packet ship Ger-Pharamacopoeas, when Science, deep diving the small boat, with its now sole living occupant was fortunately seen.

Cantain Wood, of the Germania, ordered C. H. Townsend, chief officer, to lower a boat, and with four seamen proceed to the boat, which These were also taken out, and after proper care the four were decently buried from the boat. A DEAD MAN COME TO LIFE.—The Boston Traveller tells of an Irishman who was laid out in Hanover street, a few dayssince, on the supposition that he was dead. The Overseer of the Poor of the ward was applied to for a coffin at the expense of the city, and having obtained of burial of deceased, he filled out one of the usual cured in many instances by only a FRW BOT the coffin. On carrying this grave article of furniture to the house, the supposed dead man was found sitting up in bed, with a woman (his wife) in a chair at his side, greeted his eyes. It appeared, on explanation, that after the funeral arrangements had all been mad c, the dying man suddenly revived and began to grow better very fast, with some prospect of ultimate recovery; so that all the preparations for a wake and funeral were hastily abandoned.

The best way to treat slander is to leave it alone and say nothing about it.

WARREN'S IMPROVED FIRE AND WATER PROOF COMPOSITION ROOFING.

Joseph Clewell, Allentown, Agent for Lehigh Co.

Joseph Clowell, Allentown, Agent for Lehigh Co.

Your attention is respectfully solicited to the above method of Roofing, now much used in Philadelphia and vicinity, and which has been extensively in use in many of the cities of the West, during more than eleven years past, during which time it has been tested under every variety of circumstances, and we confidently offer it to the public as a mode of Roofing unobjectionable in every important particular, while it combines, in a greater degree than any other roof in use, the valuable requisites of cheapness, durability, and security against both fire and water.—
This is rapidly superseding the use of all other kinds of roofs, wherever it has been introduced, giving general satisfaction, and is highly recommended by all who have tested its utility. These roofs require an inclination of not more than one inch to the foot, which is of great advantage in case of fire, and for COURT PROCLAMATION.
WHEREAS the Hon. Weskington McCartney,
President Judge of the Third Judicial District of Pennsylvania, composed of the counties of Northampton and Lehigh, and Peter Haas and Charles Keek,
Esquires, Associate Judges of the Court of Common Pleas of the county of Lehigh, and by virtue of their offices Justices of the Courts of Oyer and Terminer and General Juil delivery, and Court of General expense than any other. In case of defect or injury, expense than any other. In case of defect or injury, from any cause, there is no roof so easily repaired.

The materials being mostly non-conductors of heat, no roof is so cool in summer, or so warm in winter. Those wishing to use our roof, should give the rafters a pitch of about one inch to the foot. For further information apply to Joseph Clewell, at Allentown, our agent for Lehigh and Carbon counties, who is prepared to execute all orders at short notice.
