The Harper's Ferry Insurrection. In another column will be found a brief account of an insurrection set on foot at Harper's Ferry, Virginia, by a dozen or more Abolitionists for the purpose of securing freedom to the slaves of that and adjoining States. The attempt was unlawful, because Slavery, however wrong, is entitled to the protection given by the laws of the several States. The man again, who would force freedom upon an unwilling slave, is in point of morals equally criminal with the master, who would hold the slave against his will. The bloodshed and evil results attending an insurrection would results attending an insurrection would more than counter-balance all the possible good, to be hoped for from the liberation of our slave population. The attempt in the Harper's Ferry case was a rash one, because every game man could have predicted none other than the unfortunate termination to the insurrection, which has just been the insurrection, which has just been ment as adopted in 1810. You will perceive that the possible ment as adopted in 1810. You will perceive that the possible ment as adopted in 1810. You will perceive that the possible ment as adopted in 1810. You will perceive that the possible more must have been "a resident and a citisen." If he loss of the mill mothing. The loss of making citisens immediately preceding and on the maki the insurrection, which has just been brought about. We condemn therefore the atempt of Ossawottamie Brown and his coworkers, as in violation of law, as uncalled for by circumstances, as entailing an amount of misery in its prosecution, even if successful, more than equal to all the good to be accomplished, and as impolitic, because impracticable, and doomed to a signal failware. Whilst such is the view, which must be taken of the sad affair by every dispassionate and well-balanced mind, there are we will be taken of the sad offiar by every dispassionate and well-balanced mind, there are not Democratic Journalists wanting, who was deed to hold the Republican party responsible for Brown's acts, and to heap offiam on the party in consequence. What are the simple facts f. Letters found in possession of Brown show, that he was assisted by Fred Douglass and Gerrit Smith, the former a black, and the latter a white man, both Abolitionists of the North, combined with others of like kidney. Whilst the Abolitionists of the North seek to interfere with slavery in other States, some down who where the founders of the kidney. Whilst the Abolitionists of the North seek to interfere with slavery in other States, some obly peace allowed man and others by force, the kidney. Whilst the slavery will be appeared the sum of the service of the servi able means and others by force, the Republican party is committed by its platforms. its past professions, and its acts, to the doctrine of opposition to the extension of slavery beyond its present limits and of non invention with slavery in the States, except by the State themselves. The Abolitionist condemn the Republicans, because not coming up to their radical and insane notions, and Gerrit Smith at the last Gubernatorial election in York State ran as a candidate for Governor, with the purpose of defeating the Republican and electing the Democratic nominee. Republicans stand on the doctrines of Jefferson and other sages of the revolution, whilst Abolitionism is the creature of a later day. Opposition to the fur-ther extension of slavery has been the policy of our government from the adoption of the constitution down to the year 1854, when the Democratic party under the lead of Douglass by the repeal of the Missouri Compromise opened the door to all the troubles, which ever since have distracted and divided the country. Kansas, dedicated as free territory by the compromise of 1820 was opened as a field, in which the friends of free and slave territory might mutually battle for supremacy. Emigrant Aid So-cieties poured into the territory from the North emigrant settlers, who wished to North emigrant settlers, who wished to make the territory a free State peacefully by the ballot-box. The South poured into by the ballot-box. The South poured into pursued, unmolested, the various avocations the territory ruffians, bent on making it a of life, with more than usual prosperity. The slave State by violence and fraud. Peace-able settlers, who would not surrender their manhood, were driven to measures of re-sistence, and Kansas became the theatre of sistance, and Kansas became the theatre of civil strife, in which acts of violence were but the past has been a year distinguished for perpetrated, that have had no parallel in our history, and which might well stir a our rural districts. Our country has been fever even in the blood of age. No wonder, that the old man Brown, who suffered the abodes of tranquility, and blessings innu der, that the old man Brown, who suncred merable have clustered around our domestic so much, and two of whose sons lost their merable have clustered around our domestic hearths. The South Carolina Amendment.

In answer to the cry raised by Demooratic Demagogues against the Massachu setts Amendment for the purpose of seburing the foreign vote, we copy below an amendment to the Constitution of that intensely Democratic State, South Carolina
It will be seen, that the South Carolina Amendment not only requires foreigners to reside in the State two years after naturalization, before being entitled to vote for zation, before being entitled to vote for members of the Legislature, but also requires a property qualification, unless the voter be a resident of the election district for six months preceeding the election .-The following is the Amendment:

Amendment Ratified 20th December, 1856. Amendment Ratified 20th December, 18th the amendment of the fourth section of the irst article of the Constitution of this State, ratified 9th December, 1810, be altered and amended to end as follows: Every free white man of the age of twenty one years, paupers and non-commissioned efficers and private soldiers of the army of the United State of the party of the United State of the party of the Constitution and resiofficers and private soldiers of the army of the United States excepted, who hath been a citizen and resident in this State two years previous to the day of election, and who has a freehold of fifty acres of land, or a town lot, of which he hath been legally seized and possessed at least six months before such election, or, not having such freehold or town lot, hath been a resident in the election district in which he offers to give his vote six months before the said election, shall have a right to vote for a member or members to serve in either branch of the Legislature for the election district in which he holds such property, or is so resident.

I would be pleased to know that you had received this explanation.

Very respectfully, your ob't serv't.

If the passage of the Massachusetts Amendment is to be used as an argument with foreigners against the Republican party we ask in all fairness, that the South Carolina, Amendment have equal effect against the Democratic party.
