WORKING GIRLS. WORKING GIRLS.

Happy girls—who can but love them? with hecks like the roses, bright eyes and elastic tep, how cheerfully they go to work. Our reputation for it, such girls will make excellent wives. Blessed indeed will those men be who secure such prizes. Contrast those who do nothing but sigh all day and live to follow the lashions, who never earn the bread they est or the shoes they wear—who are languid and lazy from one week's end to another. Who but a simpleton and a popinjay would prefer one of the latter, if he were looking for a companion. Give us the working girls. They are worth their weight in gold You never see them mineing along, or jump a dozen feet to steer mineing along, or jump a dozen feet to steer felear of a spider or a fly. They have no affectation—no silly airs about them. When they meet you, they speak without putting on a flowing to the putting of to better dezen silly airs, or trying to show off to better advantage, and you fiel as if you were talking o a human being and not to a painted fallen langel.

If girls knew how sadly they miss it while they endeavor to show off their delicate hands and unsoited skins, and put on a thousand airs—they would give worlds for the situation of the working ladies, who are so far above them in intelligence—in honor—in everything—as the heavers are above the earth. Be wise then you who have made tools of vourselves through you who have made tools of yourselves through life: Turn over a new leaf and begin, though late, to live and act as human beings—as com-panious to immortal man and not playthings and dolls; in no other way can you be happy, and sudserve the designs of your existence.
