To all questions ing all these pins, neddles, nails &c., to it, whil as to his name, his origin, &c., he was dumb. Yet the "old man" had a history—and if those who were so anxious to read his innocent thoughts, had loved the "wild wood" more, and sought the forest and the mountain to "commune with nature," they might have known him better. It is the old story over again-and oh, how often must it be told-that drove the old man to his mountain home: "man's inhumanity to man!" Disgusted with the perfidy, the baseness, the cruelty of man, he sought in the deep recesses of the forest, far away from the habitation of man, to live a life of solitude, preferring to associate rather with the inhabitants of the wilderness. And yet the "old man" was of noble origin, for could you but have seen, in that lone forest, the expression of his fine features, as he spoke the fire of his glance, the puissant energy, the high authority of every gesture—his sceents deep, and passionate, and thrilling-his attitude, at the same time, so calm and so imperious. But the "old man of the mountain" is no more. He died, as he had lived the best part of his life, solitary and alone, without one friend chase his fevered brow, or to speak words of sympathy and consolation. One bright and beautiful spring morning a hunter passed the "old man's

> A CONDUCTOR ON A COW-CATCHER.—Our readers will doubtless recollect reading a thrilling incident published by us some time since, ing incident published by us some time since, of an engineer, upon some western railroad, having crawled down upon the cow-catcher of the engine and saving a child, which was playing upon the road, from destruction, by throwing it off the track. An incident of precisely similar nature, and displaying as much heroism, occurred on the Pensylvania railroad last Friday, the particulars of which we gather from the Hollidaysburg Standard:

As one of the freight trains coming rounded a sharp curve, near Barree Siding, house," and found that his soul had been wafted to a station about twelve miles west of Hunting-the "spirit land." He was buried where he had don, the engineer saw a small child sitting in the "spirit land." He was buried where he had lived, far away from friends and home, and nothing marks his grave but a few rough stones.

Here, the first honse that greets the view is the splendid residence of Robert Sayre, Esq. It is situated on the hill, just above the bridge, and in architectural taste and ornamental work surpasses anything in this part of the country. Perhaps a quarter of a mile further west we find the Hydropathic Institute, at present under the care of Dr. Oppelt. It is delightfully situated, short distance looks quite romantic. A short distance from the Institute, in a south east direction, is the residence and farm of 0. H. Wheeler Esq., and a little west of this, (also on the mountain sope,) we find the splendid residence of Mr. Flot, with its tasty grounds, hot houses, &c. Mr. Flot, in honor to his native country, has named the place of the coverage of in henor to his native country, has named the place embankment; some twenty or thirty feet from "Fontainblean Farm." HOSTETTER'S

STOMACH BITTERS.

The proprietors and manufacturers of HOS-TETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BIT-TERS can appeal with perfect confidence to physicians and citizens generally of the United States, because the article has attained a reputation heretofore unknown. A few facts upon this point will speak more powerfully volumes of bare assertion or blazoning puffery. The consumption of Hostetter's Stomach Bit-ters for the last year amounted to over a halfmillion bettles, and from its manifest steady norease in times past, it is evident that during the coming year the consumption will reach near one million bettles. This immense amount could never have been sold but for the rare medicinal properties contained in the preparamedicinal properties contained in the prepara-tion, and the sanction of the most prominent physicians in those sections of the country where the article is best known, who not only recommend the Bitters to their patients, but are ready at all times to give testimonials to its efficacy in all cases of stomachic derangements and the diseases resulting therefrom.

This is not a temporary popularity, obtained by extraordinary efforts in the way of trum-peting the qualities of the Bitters, but a solid estimation of an invaluable medicine, which is destined to be as enduring as time itself.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have proved a Godsend to regions where fever and ague and various other bilious complaints have counted their victims by hundreds. To be able to state confidently that the "Bitters" are a certain cure for the Dyspepsia and like diseases, is to the proprietors a source of unalloyed pleasure. It removes all morbid matter from the stomach, purifies the blood, and imparts renewed vitality to the nervous system, giving it that tone and energy indispensable for the restoration of health. It operates upon the stomach, liver, and other digestive organs, mildly but powerfully, and soon restores them to a condition essential to the healthy discharge of the functions of nature.

Elderly porsons may use the Bitters daily as per directions on the bottle, and they will find in it a stimulant poculiarly adapted to comfort declining years, as it is pleasant to the palate, invigorating to the bowels, excellent as a tonic, and rejuvenating generally. We have the evidence of thousands of aged men and women who have experienced the benefit of using this preparation while suffering from stemach de-rangements and general debility; acting under the advice of physicians, they have abandoned all deleterious drugs and fairly tested the merits of this article. A few words to the gentler sex. There are certain periods when their cares are so harassing that many of them sink under the trial. The relation of mother and child is so absorbingly tender, that the mother, especially if she be young, is apt to forget her own health in her extreme anxiety for her infant. Should the period of maternity arrive during the summer season, the wear of body and mind is generally aggravated. Here, then, is a necessity for a stinulant to recupe-rate the energies of the system, and enable the mother to bear up under her exhausting trials and responsibilities. Nursing mothers generally prefer the Bitters to all other invigorators that receive the endorsement of physicians, because it is agreeable to the faste as well as certain to give a permanent increase of bodily strength.

All those persons, to whom we have particularly referred above, to wit: sufferers from fever and ague, caused by malaria, diarrhosa, fever and ague, caused by malaria, diarrhos, dysentery, indigestion, loss of appetite, and all diseases or derangements of the stomach, superannuated invalids, persons of sedentary occupation, and nursing mothers, will consult their own physical welfare by giving to Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bittors a trial. CAUTION.—We caution the public against using any of the many imitations or counterfeits, but ask for Hostetten's CELBURATED STOMACH BITTERS, and see that each bottle has the words "Dr. J. Hestetter's Stomach Bitters' blown on the side of the bottle, and stamped on the metallic cap covering the cork, and observe that our autograph signature is on the label.
