Tinker passed a terrible night, and this morning about 8 o'clock, he died in spasm.-After his death some papers were found in his stocking, one of which revealed the fact that he had poisoned his two little children, and that they were in the room formerly occupied by him, in the old Medical College building. On going fo the room the two little girls were found dead—laid out—their little hands folded across their breasts

It seems that Tinker, on Tuesday, administered laudanum to his children in some oysters, in the room where they this morning were found; that he staid by them until they died—and after straightening them out left them, and took poison himself. It was a terrible. sight to look at the children as they lay on an old straw bed-with froth at their mouths from the effects of the poison. The mother of the children came to see her off-spring-looked at them carelessly—and went away with little or no emotion. There is a history connected with this whole affair which we cannot now stop to publish-we may do so some other

The indignation of the populace was aroused this morning against Dr. Searles to such an extent that is was deemed best by the officers, for the personal safety of the Doctor, to pu him into the Penitentiary. We know not to what extent the Doctor can be or is implicated in the matter, but from what we learn, he thinks his position is anything but a comfortable one.

THE GREAT BREACH OF PROMISE CASE.—The case of Miss Carztang against Mr. Shaw is again in course of trial at St. Louis.

It will be remembered that on the first trial of this case a verdict was given for the plaintiff assessing her damages at $100,000 ter, an epitome of which follows.

The plaintiff, Miss Effie Catharine Carztang, has lived in comparative obscurity till the commencement of the present proceedings.— She went to St. Louis in the year 1854, and Scaman, her sister. Her acquaintance with Mr. Shaw commenced during the year 1856, and the promise to marry is alleged to have been given in November, 1856. In personal appearance Liss Carztang is rather tall in figure and withal graceful, has dark hair, brilliant eyes, blonde complexion, and a firmness of features indicating the decision of character which has marked her participation in the present suit since its inception. PAINFUL MEETING.—We learn from the Pittsburg Chronicle, that for some time past a house of ill-fame has annoyed the citizens of a village on the line of the Cleveland and Columbia railroad, and it was determined that the house should be broken up. On Thursday night the Marshal of the village made a dent upon the house, took the inmates in cus tody, and on Monday morning they were taken before a magistrate for examination. There were three girls among the prisoners, and as ie magistrate fell upon one of then he grew deathly pale and hastily adjourned the Court. The question, is he rich? now too gen erally determines his position, a man is to assume in society. If it be answered in the affirmative, no matter how deficient the individual may be in moral worth, in social quali-ties, or integrity—he is rich and therefore en-titled to favor. He may be deficient in intellect, and mental cultivation—half fool and half knave-and still, if by some wild freak of fortune, wealth has been cast upon him, or has external Wounds, Cuts, Swollings, Sprains, Bruises, even been obtained by dishonest means, such or Eruptions on Man or Beast. It is so far a modiis its power that society excuses, justifies or denies his faults, and is ever ready to award him the highest places in her favor. But if by some ill-wind or change of fortune, riche take wings and fly from him, and he is made self dependent, how instinctively society casts ignorance, folly and crimes then present themselves to every one. Poverty has taken him to her cold embrace, and no longer he has an abiding place in popular favor.

HUMANITY AT A DISCOUNT .- Capt. Avis the jailor who endeared himself to the hearts of the humane everywhere, hy mingling some grains of humanity in his dealings with John Brown and others, while prisoners under his charge, is about to suffer for his kindness of heart. Upon presenting his bill for outlays in the matter of fuel, lights, &c., to the Auditor of Public Accounts, he had the mortification of seeing the bill rejected. Strange to say, the bill was for expenses incurred fer the benefit of the jail guard having in charge the prisoners. Virginia has tens of thousands to bestow upon the folly of Gov. Wise, but not one cent for necessary expenses incurred. To such despicable straits are the honorable and chivalric Cloverseed, people of Virginia driven by their fears. ----

REMARKABLE PRECOCITY IN CRIME.—Two defendant applied for a new trial, which, after defendant applied for a new trial, which, after a longthy argument, conducted on the part of the defence by Edward Bates, was granted by Judge Reber.
