town tenement konse.—A scene of misery and starvation was last evening revealed in an up-town tenement house, which, for actual horror is rarely equalled in fletion. As Officer Duncan, of the 11th precinct, was going his round of patrol duty, at 11 r. x. Last evening, he was informed that there was a evening, he was informed that there was a tained from an adjoining room. The scene that presented itself was terrible to look upon. The man, too inanimate to rise, wassented on the floor. By his side lay his wife, was sented on the neor. By his side hy his wild, bolding in her arms an infant two months old The mother and child were perfectly nude; an old and faded quilt was their only covering. The wife was too ill to speak above a whis-per. In a bed room adjoining were three children lying sound asleep—a boy and two oirls their near yeaving from four to nine per. In a hed room adjoining were three children lying sound asleep—a boy and two girls, their ages varying from four to nine years. They were lying on the slats of a bed-stead with not a particle of bed clothing upon her. No food or fuel was in the room. The only furniture was a stove, a shackly table and the furniture was a stove, a shackly table and the miserable apology for a coverlid which covered the wife and child. Through the officer's kindthe wife and child. Infougn the oncer's kind-ness a fire was soon kindled in the stove, nour-ishing soup provided for the sick wife, and proper food obtained for the husband and children, with abundant supplies of clothing. This morning the wife was sent to the Bel-lovue Hospital, and the children to Randall's Island. The husband has been left to take care of himself. His name is George McFar-lan. He was born in Ireland, and is thirty years of age. He has been living in Boston several years, until seven months ago, when he came with his family to this city. For a few came with his family to this city. For a few weeks he obtained work in the Manhattan Gas Factory, but has been out of work over a month. He is a temperate man. He says he has ap-plied for work at all the city department and elsewhere about the city. Gradually he has pawned and sold all his furnitare. The parting between him and his wife was very affecting, as the latter, this morning, was conveyed his inability to pay his rent, and to-day he and his family were to have been turned into the street.—N. Y. Post, 22d. New York had a debt of $17,801,489. On April 30th, 1845, Boston had a debt of $8, 954, 949,77. Of the funded debt of New York, the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund hold

"THE TRANCE OF LOVE"-ROMANTIC INCI-DENT IN THE LIFE OF A YOUNG GIRL .- Some time last August, a promising young lawyer of this city, while on a professional visit to Springfield, Illinois, met the daughter of one of the most prominent citizens of that place at the house of a mutual friend, and being charmed with her fine personal appearance and varied accomplishments, made her an offer of his heart and hand, and was promptly accepted. At length the lover awoke to the fact that he had so ne business engagements to meet in this city the latter part of last week, and was therefore compelled to bid her a reluctant farewell. The second day after his departure, the girl, to the great surprise of her parents, sud-denly disappeared, and all efforts to ascertain whither she had gone were unavailing. After spending a day without learning anything of her whereabouts, they telegraphed the fact to her lover, who immediately returned to assist in unravelling the mystery. To his great joy he found her once more among her friends, and learned the particulars of her mysterious disappearance and recovery, which are substantially as follows : After their separation, a few days before, she felt an unaccountable inclination to follow her lover ; but knowing how imprudent such an act would be, she battled against it with all her will till the next day, when some irre-sistible power impelled her to this course.-Hastily collecting a few articles of clothing, she made her way unobserved to the railway depot, and took the cars for Lafayette, Ind., where she knew her bethrothed would remain two or three days on his way home. From this time till her arrival in Lafayette, she seems to have been in a state of partial uncon-sciousness, and has no distinct recollection of that transpired. After walking about the streets of that town for some hours.

The officer immediately went to the place and number of the room indicated. Knocking at the door and receiving no answer, he opened it. The room was dark. A man in feeble woor asked him what he wanted. Making known toe object of his visit, a light was ob-tained from an adjoining room perish, as it seems probable that she must have been without food or shelter for nearly three days. How a woman of her years could en-dure such an amount of hardship is a marvel indeed. The Alla Californian, speaking of the the habitable Globe. progress of San Francisco, says there are eleven foundries and iron works, furnishing Ions of syrup per month. There is a woollen factory employment 30 operatives; 2 gold re-fineries; 8 private assay offices; 3 chemical works: 7 camphene distilleries; 2 maccaroni factories; 1 rice mill; 1 barrel factory, with a capacity to make 250 barrels per day; a glass foundry; and an infinity of other industrial institutions too numerous to mention. The great car of industry moves ever onward in

While lying in this position, she floated several rods, making all the time the most desperate efforts to get under water. She only succeeded in getting her head water. Sne only succeeded in getting her head j under several times, and seemed glad enough on each successful occasion to get it out again. While engaged in this interesting employment she was picked up by a small boat, and pulled out, groaning and lamenting that she could not be allowed to have been our way. be allowed to have her own way. She had no thanks to offer her preservers, and evidently did not appreciate very highly the favor they had rendered in pulling her out. She said she had experience enough of this world's troubles, and wanted to be out of it, all of which was doubtless true enough, for she looked forlon and poverty-stricken. It would have been impossible to have saved her if she had sunk, but on account of the manner in which she floated it was impossible to drown her.--Detroit Free Press.

THE OIL SPRINGS .- The excitement attendant upon the discovery of the oil springs in Ohio and Pennsylvania, does not subside in the least, and probably will not, so long as the yield increases. The Zanesville (Ohio) Courier in relation to these oil districts save that some years since a stream running through Plynouth township, in Huron county, was turned from its course in order to quarry stone from its bed. The stone was taken out to the depth of eight feet, when it was found so thoroughly saturated with oil as to be useless. The work was abandoned and until the oil excitement sprang up in Ponnsylvania, but little was thought of it. Now, however, it is becoming of importance, and although the river at pres ent is so high as to prevent working, still the ground is leased, and will be carefully exam-ined and bored, with hope of success. Of the oil in Mecca, Trumbull county, we learn that the principal workers have bored as deeply in one shaft as they deem necessary and will im-mediately erect a pump and draw up the oil.

A SHARP TRANSACTION .- An exchange paper states that a fellow in Vernango county, Pa., profited in the following manner by the "oil excitement" now prevailing so extensive-ly in the Western and Northwestern part of Pennsylvania. He bored a hole on his land, poured a barrel of oil in it, and then called his neighbors to see the large vield. The real Kennel ared 2 verr. his neighbors to see the large yield. The re-sult was that he sold his land for $2,000 in cash, pocketed the money, oiled his boots and "slid."

The challenge of Mr. Secreiter, the bil-liard player, against the whole world, to play a match for $5000 a side, has been acconted by Mr. Lynch, of San Francisco. The terms are to the following effect: The match to come off in San Francisco-Mr. Lynch pay-ing Secteiter's passage to that city.
