The Red Lion.

What's the matter? what's the fass? what's loose what's up? what's up?
What's the cause of this mighty commotion!
Is the Jordan on it e? is the Lohigh dried up?
Have the mountains been set all in motion? What does Jack vell about? what is got into Brown

Why is all the world racing and running?— It is the Red Lion, he lays himself down With an air full of comfort and cunning; He shakes his thick mane as if in great anger But not with intent to devour,

For he merely rears out: where is friend Gange.

And asks him the very same hour: Who says that you had been chased out of the Square, 'Cause fifty more rocks had been kicking? cannot be true, for it would not be fair, Unless through some partisan tricking.

This pleases old Gaugwere, and puts him in cheer.
And he sings out: we'll make it all right, sir.
Had I but continued to take some one's beer,
I could stay where I was, without doubt, sir. T cy Usink that the square is a magnet of might, Surpassing the North Pole's attraction, And draws to its focus, by day and by night The friends of a pure Malt-Decection.

My "Pretzels" have always been splendid, they say, And so was my "Swietzer"—by Jingo! And Segars that I'v frequently given away, Are selling at 3 cents in Mingo.

And had I not served up so "bully," indeed, It would be "by golly" no wender, That no one would follow me over the street, When others do serve over vonder.

Now, many, troms and negative access And meet at the Red Lion nightly.

Your old daddy Gaugower has plenty of room
You'll find none so clever and sprightly.

And should his new cellar take fire, the flame Could be quenched with delicious lager
And the fire in the stomach his lunches will tame,
Then mind and look out for

10t. JAMES B. COLEMAN'S CERTIFICATE.
The Wine Crackers manufactured by A. Exton, of Trenton, N. J. are composed of wheat flour, sugar, butter, lard, lemon and common salt. The delicacy of taste, lightness and crispness depend altogether upon the parity of material, mixing and baking.— They are easy of digestion, untritive, and palutuble, are excellent food for the sick as well as those in per-fect health. The Water Crackers are equally pure. Their superior quality is owing to the skill with which they are manufactured. JAMES B. COLEMAN. Allentown, March 14, 1860.

possessed by Sweden. He restrained the enor-nious privileges of the nobility, abolished the mous privileges of the nobility, abolished the power of the Senate, and administered laws on this own authority; in a word, he changed the Constitution of the country, which had been an oligarchy, and forced the government to confer upon him absolute authority. Besides this; he was a man of an enlightened mind, He had just lost his wife, Ulrica Eleanora. Although his harshness to this princess had.

it was said, hastened her end, he esteemed her much, and appeared touched at her death : a weakness scarcely to be expected in so cold a heart. Since this event be had become himself up to business with an application which betrayed a craving desire to rid himself of painful thoughts.

Towards the end of an autumn evening, he was seated in his dressing-gown and slippers, before a large fire in his cabinet at the Palace of Stockholm, attended by his chamberlain the Count Brahe, whom he honored with his favor, and his physician, Baumgarten, who, be it said, en passant, would have had the world doubt everything except the power of medicine. This evening he had been called medicine. This evening he had been called ing corpse, robed in the insignia of royality.—in about some trifling indisposition, the name On its right stood a little child, with a glistenwas drawing to a close and the king, contrary to his custom, had not yet given them a sign that it was time for them to retire. With lowered head, and eyes fixed upon the dying embers, he kept a profound silence, tired of the throne several persons of a grave and austered demand, but fearing, he knew not why, to be alone. The Count Brahe preceiving that his presence was not very agreeable, had already several times expressed his fears that his distance of the throne several persons of a grave and austered demeanor, draped in long black robes, and who appeared to be judges, were sented before a table, loaded with huge folios and parchament.
