The Baltimore Conventions. We give a short account, in another column, of the proceedings of the two Democratic Conventions, which met at Baltimore last week. Want of space prevents us, this week, from referring to the proceedings of the Conventions or their candidates. The disputes between the two branches of a divided Democracy are family quarrels to be settled by themselves, and with which we have neither right nor inclination to interfere. We present the proceedings more particularly for the purpose of showing how each candidate was nominated. Douglas was nominated by a Convention, representing a less number of electoral votes, than were represented in the Chicago Convention, The same may be said of Breckenridge. Douglas was mainly nominated by the votes of Northern delegates, as was Breckenridge by the full vote. In Arkansas both sets to be Southern delegates. Each, so far as the mere admitted with the power of the original del. form of nomination is concerned, was sectional, whilst each was nominated in a sectional spirit. Henceforth the cry against the sectionalism of the Republican Party is an empty one, and can have neither force nor effect in view of the position of the Democratic Party, which has been loud in its boasts of its Nationality. Que wing of the Democracy must inevitably defeat the other. The triumph of the Republican Party is no longer a question of doubt, and the only question with the factions of the Demcoratic Party will be, which shall come strongest out of the conflict, after Lincoln's election. Two electoral tickets for Douglas and Breckenridge insures the triumph of Lincoln in every Free State and renders quite probable a triumph in the States of Delaware and Missouri. Let the Republicans gather hope and encouragement from the acts of the past week and buckle on their armor for a decisive victory.

THE HONESTEAD BILL VETOED .- On Satur day last, President Buchanan sent a message to the Senate vetoing the Homestead bill, which passed the Senate and the House. Two votes were wanting in the Senate to pass the bill over the President's veto by a two-third vote. Had the bill reached the House a two thirds vote in its favor was in readiness. The President assigned as a reason for his veto the constitutional objection, that the Government had no right to give away the public lands .--Does not the venerable old gentleman know, that the bill provides a price in certain cases six delegates from Maryland, desired to say of sixty-two cents per acre, and in others of they could no longer act with a Convention twenty-five cents? The bill only reduces the that preferred a man to principles. prices for actual settlers. They also assigned as an objection, that the bill, in reducing the he could not say his Democracy dated back to price of the public lands, would operate to the a time of which he had no recollection, he hobby of the Republican party was the slavery political issues of the coming fall election, and on the floor. the triumph of the Republican Party is the safest guaranty of the success of the Home drew from the Convention. stead principle.

THE TARIFF. Will the voters of Pennsylvania bear in mind that after a Republican Committee of Ways and Means had reported Morril's tariff bill, and a Republican House of Representatives had passed the measure, which was approved of by the people of Pennsylvania, a Democratic Senate decided to postpone the consideration of the question until December next. All Republican votes were found in the negative, aided by but two Democratic votes. General Foster, the Democratic candidate for Governor was present, asking that for his sake and the cause of the Demo cratic party in Pennsylvania the bill might be passed. Democratic Senators were inexorable. The bill must be killed, and so it was decided to postpone the consideration of the bill .-Which is the Tariff Party, the Republican or the Democratic Party? The acts of both parties in Congress speak for themselves, and any one, who has any understanding, cannot help but perceive. On which party rests the responsibility of the defeat of the tariff? On the Democratic Party. Will not the honest voters of the State hold them responsible in October and November next?

HOW THE ENGLISH BILL WAS PASSED .-We transfer to our columns a portion of the the testimony taken before the Covode Investigating Committee, showing how the Administration, after being defeated in forcing the bill through Congress, admitting Kansas, under the Lecompton constitution, undertook to force through Congress the English bill. Wendell was printer of the President and of the Senate, and from his exorbitant profits was required to expend immense sums in bribing Administration measures through Congress. We shall hereafter publish Wendell's own testimony, in be read, and let the corruptions of the present Administration be fully understood.

FOSTER'S INFLUENCE.—General Foster went to Washington for the purpose of influencing Democratic Senators to support Morril's Tariff bill and to effect its speedy passage. It was moved that the consideration of the question be postponed until December next. But two Democratic Senators voted with the Republicans against the postponement, Senator Bigler of Pennsylvania and Senator Latham of California. Such was the extent of General Fos ter's influence.

FITZPATRICKT DECLINES.—Senator Fitzpatrick, the candidate for the Vice Presidency on the Donglas tionet, has declined the nomina tion and the National Committee have substituted Herischel V. Johnson of Georgia in his

Monday was spent in discussing a resolution of Mr. Church of New York, calling for a

Committee on Oredentials to report as to the dmission of the secoders, and of those who claimed their places in the Convention as delegates and requiring a pledge of the delegates dmitted to support the nominee of the Convention. Remarks of the Douglas delegates, particularly of Mr. Montgomery of Penna., tended to widen the breach between the two wings of the party, instead of reconciling differences.-On Tuesday Mr. Church's resolution was withauthorized to report as to the claims of the claimants for the disputed seats. On Wednesday the report of the Committee not being ready, the Convention adjourned without the transaction of any business. On Thursday three reports from the Committee on Credentials were received. Is any further argument necessary with persons, who knowing these facts, still persist in denying the truth and publishing falsetie, and ran him across the office. Both were very powerful men, and they kept striking rapidly at each other until Mr. Whiteley fell, Mr. Townsend also falling over him. Mr. Townsend then shook Mr. Whiteley somewhat, lowing untruths, in many cases known to be and said, "Sir, I want no difficulty with you, such and, in other cases, innocently copied and if you will promise to behave yourself and leave me alone, I will let you up." Mr. Whitely replied harshly to this, refusing to make any promise, and still keeping up the struggle. TO PREVENT DOGS GOING MAD .-- An exchange gives the following receipt to prevent dogs going mad: "Mix a small portion of the flour of sulphur with their food or drink, during the spring months. This is practiced in Europe to prevent the disease from breaking Europe to prevent the disease from breaking out among the packs of hounds which belong to the English noblemen, and is said to be a certain preventative." We would suggest, in order to have a "sure thing" on the dogs, the admixture of a quantity of strychnine with the n breaking

A NEW COTTON MILL IN READING.-Messrs. Garner & Co., the recent purchasers and present proprietors of the Rending Cotton Mill, are making arrangements to build a new mill, adjoining the old one. The new structure is to be nearly twice the size of the present mill. It is to be 255 by 90 feet, five stoies high, and will contain 608 looms and 26,-880 spindles, to be run by an engine of three hundred horse power. Its capacity is estimated at 24,320 yards of No. I Cloth, for each working day of eleven hours.

PROFANE SWEARING.—The Revised Pe nal Code, passed last winter, makes all persons, who speak loosely or profanely of God Christ, the Holy Spirit, or the Bible, liable to an indictment for blasphemy, the penalty for which is a fine, not exceeding one hundred dollars, or both, at the discretion of the Court. Persons, in the habit of swearing, had better be careful, as no officer, who regards his oathr of office, can avoid returning to Court all per sons, who are guilty of offence as above spec-

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE.—commences a new volume with the July number, a good time to subscribe. The first Mezzotint engraveing is very beautiful, also many of its pattern and designs. "Aunt Betsey's Bonnet" is a good story, as are all the rest. Besides the great amount of superficial matter, there is published in it an original cook book, which very valuable to houskeepers. SCHWARTZ.—How John Schwartz Congressman from Bertz county, died at Washington on Weingsday afternoon last. Mr. Schwartz had been ill the whole session, but persisted at all lime, if possible, to be found at the post of duty. His constant attendance in the Halls of Legislation may have hastened his departure.

Maj. Schwartz was born in Sunbury, North-Maj. Schwartz was born in Sunbury, North-umderland county, October 27. 1793. He was early in life thrown upon the world an orphan but worked his way up to a high posi-tion by honesty and integrity, having feen successively engaged in the Dry Goods busi-ness, and afterward in the Furnace and Forge business, until a short time before his election to Congress.

During the War 1812, when President Med-ison called for Volunteers, Mr. Schwartz prompt-ly responded to the call, and served as Quar-Jesponded to the call, and served as Quartermaster of the Brigade with the rank of Major under Major Shappell, and was one of the many who left Reading, and remained at Camp Dupont until the danger that threatened Maryland and the adjacent country was over.

In 1858 he was nominated for Congress in opposition to J. Glancy Jones, then one of the most popular men in the Democratic party, and triumphantly elected, which fact more than any other, proves the high estimation in which he was held by his fellow citizens.

At the time of his death Major Schwartz was nearly 67 years old.

ARRESTED.—On Wednesday last, the Gipsy, known by the name of _____ Johnson, and suspected of having stolen the money, $90, of Mr. Weaver, of Emaus, to which reference was had, in last week's Register, was brought to town and safely lodged in jail. Johnson is who has been ailing for some time, and offered to cure him, if he could deposit $100 under certain stone. The money was not at hand, but $90 was finally decided to be sufficient, the amount which Mr. Weaver had with him: four twenty dollar bills, of the Allentown Bank and ten dollars in silver. The money was found afterwards to be missing and th ended Doctor had made his escape. On the night of his escape it rained and he was partly traced by the traces of his wagon in the road. On Wednesday morning last, he was found near Riegelsville, by Samuel Dankle, Constable of Emaus Borough, who had him brought be-fore Samuel Kemmerer, Esq., of Upper Milford, who, after the henring, ordered a commit-ment. Three of the twenty dollar bills were still found in his possession, together with some other money. It would appear, that one of the twenty dollar bills had been changed. The trial of Johnson will come off in August. It would appear, that one of

A GOOD APPEARANCE.—The best possiole style of dress and manner is that which pleases without attracting any particular attention. The highest compliment you can pay to the dress of a lady or gentlemen is, not to remember what it was—only that they were well and appropriately dressed. Even elegance, grace, and beauty become offensive the moment they are in excss. We see people over-dressed, over-elegant, over-polite. But it is not worse to err in the other extreme? The lady who was going up the aisle of a church to be mar-ried, but turned and walked off without wating for the ceremony, because her husband elect had dirty shoes, was probably right? A man who could treat his wife with disrespect. man who could treat his wife with disrespect, rudeness' and indecency then, was not likely to make a good husdand. People who wear long uncombed hair, terrible beards, broad shirt collars and clothing made up in eccentric fashions, have a screw loose somewhere. We show wisdom by a decent conformity to social customs. A pleasing external appearance is not only a matter of self interest, but benevolence. haps, in a woman ..

GAME LAWS.—Now that the time for popping away at the few Woodcocks that remain in our marshes, is drawing near, our gunners are all in a flurry of excitement to be DEAD MAN FOUND.—A laborer, by the game laws nublished that intoxicating drink to excess, and it is confused, and it is now hard to tell when the season commences. We hear certain parties speak of violations of the game law; but for some reason best known to themselves, they refuse to make the proper information that would lead to the detection and prosecution of the depredators. It should be borne in mind that certain kinds of game carnot be killed at this season of the year, and although no true sportsman needs compulsion to aid him in complying with the law, yet means have been resorted to which will have a tendency to carry out its provisions to the full extent. It is that highly essential for the preservation of game that it should be allowed to propagate, and if promiseuous shooters are allowed to range at large during the breeding season, there is but little chance for a prolonged existence of our game.
