AGITATION. With many opponents of the Republican party it is urged as an argument against the the subject of slavery and disturbing the peace and harmony of the country. Nothing can be wider of the truth. The disturbance comes all from the other side. Pro-slavery propagandists endeavor to force their nefariou schemes upon the country and because Republicans will not silently and tamely submit to these iniquities, they are accused of agitation. Reference need but be had to the opening scenes of the last session of Congress, to be convinced that the Republican party is not guilty of agitation. The Republicans chose as a candidate for the Speakership an able representative, a friend of a protective tariff, and a rising statesman, who in his past career had demonstrated, that his mind was capacious enough to sieze hold upon all the live questions of the times, to understand and grasp them all, lose sight of none, and to run to extremes on none, Hon. John Sherman of Ohio. He had advocated a protective tariff, denounced the corruptions and extravagance of the Administration and in the contest upon the Lecompton Constitution had denounced the effort of the Administration to force upon the people of Kansas a constitution against their will simply because it was a pro-slavery instrument. With the exception of the latter in stance he had scarcely opened his mouth in Congress upon the subject of slavery. His views were known to be moderate, constitutional and conservative. And yet despite all these have their political clubs. The Wide Awakes ment already countenance the slave-trader in well-known facts the batteries of the South an Abolitionist and even threats were made of disunion in case of his election as Speaker .--Republicans sat quietly in their seats. THE ISSUES. The Republican party in its platform adopted at Chicago, explicitly laid down the issues upon which it expects the support of the American people in November. It arrays itself in the first place against the frauds and corruptions, which have been practised by the Democratic party for the past eight years. These frauds and corruptions are admitted by the Democracy and the only way of relief from the charge for the two wings of the Democratic party, is to condemn the administration the party has elevated to power. But it matters not how severe that condemnation may be, if either Douglas or Breckenridge is elevated to the Presidential chair, the same class of men. who have rioted on spoils under Pierce and Buchanan, will ask for a continuance of riot and revelry in office, without having learned the lesson of economy and honesty, which a party out of power and fresh from the people is likely to have learned. The Republican party in its platform also placed itself on the record as in favor of Free Homesteads, a sale of the public lands at low prices to actual settlers for the purpose of encouraging emigraparty, that the party is constantly agitating and Representatives in Congress pretty generally have opposed the Homestend measure. The Republican party again has proclaimed itself in favor of a protective tariff. Upon this subject the Democratic party by its past acts and record stands committed against the Republican party upon the question of protection to American Iudustry. Upon the question of slavery the Republican party stands cemmitted to the doctrine of opposition to slavery-extension. For this purpose Congress should prohibit slavery, where Congressional interventian is called for, and is necessary to accomplish the end. A Republican Administration will lend all its influence and patronage in the territories in favor of free labor, in. stead of being committed as the Administration af Pierce and Buchanan have been committed to the interests of pro-slavery Border Ruffians. The influence of the administration in this direction will be felt in all its appointments from the Supreme Court down. In this light the doctrine of opposition to slavery extension becomes not an abstraction, but a practical question, which the American people have an interest in deciding, and which they will decide this fall in the election of "Abe Lincoln."

The party apparently has split upon principles, a difference upon which would prevent all union. ple, and crys and threats of disunion will be The cause of difference in reality is more a hushed. We believe that such is their deter- difference as to men, and a quarrel as to mination, and that the election of Lincoln is spoils. Hence men with the principles of the Breekenridge wing have come out in support of Douglas, and men with Douglas principles support Breckenridge. Mayor Wood always was an extreme pro-slavery Administration Democrat in principle, at Charleston favored the seceeders, and yet now supports Douglas, Senator Brodhead of Easton always sided with the South in the difficulties in the Democratic Party, and yet now supports Douglas. Senators Johnson of Tennesee, Fritzpatrick of Alabams, Senator Clingham of North Carolina, were adherants of Douglas, and yet now have declared for Breckenridge. The strange change may be partially accounted for by the reason, that these politicians want to maintain them selves by keeping in the majority at home. Another reason may be also assigned. Men have declared for Douglas, in order that they may wheedle the followers of Douglas into such a course of action, as will result not in the election of Douglas, but in the success of Joe Lane. Douglas cannot possibly be elected try at the ballot-box,—a freedom and a right, by the people. If there be no election by the people, his success is equally hopeless in the House of Representatives or the Senate of the United States. As a Presidential Candidate he s entirely out of the question. It is doubtful, whether he will carry a single state. If however the people fail to elect, it is equally evident that the House of Representatives must fail. Here each State has but a single vote, and neither party can command a majority,-The fourth of March comes on and the Senate then selects from the two candidates for the Vice Presidency, having received the largest number of votes. Hamlin will be one of those candidates and Everett or Lane may be the other. Lane, we beleive, will be Hamlin's whereas it is evident that the question of the competitor in such a contingency and would extension or restriction of slavery is to be an be elected. Those then, who in heart are in favor of Breckenridge and Lane, will do anything, which would prevent the election of Lincoln by the People. Hence their ready willingness to support the Fusion ticket in abiding attachment for the Constitution of the Pennsylvania. It can do Douglas no good, it may possibly elect Jo Lane. The contest then practically is a contest between simon-pure the formation of a great and glorious Union Republicans, and full blooded pro-slavery and which has so long preserved it. We are gratified to announce that with in the last three weeks, we have added forty new names to our subscription list. While uch accessions to our list evidence that our forts are appeciated, it is also the best stimlus to their continuance. We regard the increase of our readers as an addition sponsibilty, and as an increase of the necessity o employ all our means for the purpose of improving character of the "Register." An proving character of the "Register." An audience so large and so respectable as we weekly address deserves all the labor that can be expended in their service; and while congratulating ourselves on present success, we are sensible that there never was so great a necessity for zealous, liberal and consciencious exertion. We could have no better incentive to this than the ready generous manner is ut came to late for this weeks insertion, they to this, than the ready, generous manner is which our past exertion has been met by the public, and we trust we need offer no further guaranty for its continuance than may be found in looking back over the past history of the Journal with which we have been connected for the past year. We shall continue to make it our object to furnish the citizens of Lehigh county, with a good family newspaper one that will prove worthy of the support of he county of whose interests it shall be the faithful guardian, and of whose advantage it shall be the unbiased representative. To the host of friends who have so readily lent us a helping hand, we take this occasion to return mest thanks, with a renewed assurance that we shall spare no effort to justify the interest they express in our humble enterprise.
