Protecotin vs. Free Trade.

Benjamin Bannan, Esq., editor of the Miner's a pamphlet bearing the above title, a copy of which is before us, and from which we make the following: the following extract, which presents facts worthy of the attention of every workingman :-"The tendency of high tariffs and wars is to produce high prices and inflated values, which excite the fears of those who are more prudent Those who fear a fall should never attempt to rise; and those who dread high prices should be always condemned to small profits, cheap labor and its results. We never can enjoy "good times" except by high prices and protection to labor: the road to wealth, pro-pertr, and power is through the busy marts of a well-paid industry; while the road to crash, crisis and ruin is down the ruggel paths of cheap labor and low prices.

Protection necessarily brings high prices at first. Our manufactures have always been in a crippled condition, our factories idle, our exports' scattered, capital diverted, prior to every protime bring all values to a fair standard. This is natural; example proves it; and that such is the result let our cotton manufacturers, who are now able to undersell even England, testify.

Protection never brings on the crash, crisis, and society, and deserving the patronage of the congregation."

and ruin which the over-prudent and timid fear. These grand and frequent climacteries in our history always follow free trade. Would we have suffered the crisis of '57 if the tariff of '42

A Bad Night.—A gentleman we nave suffered the crisis of '57 if the tariff of '42 had not been repealed for free trade? Would we be in danger of repudiation now if the duties on imported goods had been increased in proportion to the direct tax?

A Bad Night—A gentleman was once dining with a friend, when a most dreadful storm arose. In hopes of abatement, the entertainment was prolonged to the latest nogality. It is not, therefore, high tariffs or high prices that we have to fear, but the sudden opening of the flood-gates of free trade, which overwhelms

our domestic industry, and drags down prices and values with a quick and ruinous energy at the moment when our labor is high. The timid capitalist, the prudent merchant, the enterprising manufacturer, and, in fact, the whole domestic industry of the nation, have more, reason to fear the blunders and folly of our statesman than the effect of high prices.—Sudden changes in value from the high prices of protection to the low prices of free trade

But why should these ruinous changes be made, when history example, reason, and all our best interests admonish us not to make them? Political economy teaches us that such steps are from prosperity to adversity, and that our lawgivers must descend from the sublime to the riliculous to accomplish the fall. It is a greater sin to be a fool than a knave, if wilful ignorance bears the blame. If we vote for pot-house poliicians with more "brass" than brains, and elect the mere demagogue to Congress who is incapa-ble of making a living in business pursuits, and who is not practical enough to understand the laws of trade, can we expect him to display the wisdom of Solomon or the sagacity of Ulysses? We are a self-governed people, and responsi ble for our actions. If we make lawmakers of our fools and babblers, sending them to Washington, and keep our business men at home, we should most be dreaded by all.

nust expect to suffer for our ignorance and want of discernment. The emigrant who comes to this country does it with the intention of bettering his condition, -to save himself and family from the cheap labor and dependence of Europe, and to obtain the benefits of free labor and independence in America. Yet how many of them, charmewith the name of Democracy and its policy of free trade, cheap goods, and States' Rights, are cheated by a sham, and made dupes by their ig-deprive him of all the benefits to be derived from free labor, the profits of labor, and the superior resources of this country.

The questions which the working-man should solve are these:—
'Shall I vote for free competition with the cheap labor and labor-saving machinery of Europe, and necessarily bring down the standard of my wages to the starvation prices of the Old World, by allowing them to sell their goods in my markets in open competition with I sell my labor to make iron; and if the products of my labor sell cheap, I must necessar ly work cheap. The English manufacturer can convey his iron from England to New York a cheap as ours can be sent to the same point or to market generally. He has more capital than my employers have, and more machinery, and can get as many hands as he wants at fifty cents a day. Now, it is clear to my mind that he can undersell my employer unless I work for English prices. Free trade, therefore, is dead against my best interests. I do not want many foreign goods. Ten cents per day will buy all the foreign manufactures I need. It will be a bad trade indeed to reduce my pay from two dollars per day to the miserable pittance of fifty cents in order to save forty per cent. duty on TEN CENTS' worth of goods. On the contrary, if I protect my labor and prevent my old taskmasters from selling in our markets, I shall not only have plenty of work to supply a growing demand and what they would otherwise sell, but I shall have good wages, because here I have part of the profits of my la bor, can choose my own occupation, change is when I please, and enjoy all the advantages to be derived from the superior resources of this nagnificent country.'

Of what avail will all these advantages be,these productive soils, these vast fields of coal and mountains of ore, these wonderful provisions of bountiful Nature, these blessings of Provi dence, if we allow the nobles, kings, emperors, and all the other drones of the Old World, who have devoured the fruits of the poor and grown fat on the sweat and tears of millions, to fil heir coffers at will from our mineral and agri cultural treasures, by their ability to buy from us cheap and sell to us dear, as long as they can make slaves of the working-man and compel him to labor for his miserable fare of black bread and peasant's "blouse"?

We do not wish, however, to monopolize the gifts of God, or to prevent the oppressed and poor of the world from sharing our blessings, our comfort, and our independence; but we de most seriously, manfully, resolutely determine that our brethern in the Old World shall not make our wealth the means of further increas ing the power of their taskmasters and our ene mies, the enemies of all free institutions. They shall not drag us down to their pitiful level while ncreasing their own burdens and riveting their

We cordially invite them, however, to come to us and share our liberties and our happiness: but they must leave their masters, their hondage, and their burdens behind: we will have one of them. Here there is room enough for the poor and oppressed of the world; but there s not space for one of its patent nobility. Here all men may aspire to the highest nobility of Nature; but none can claim their greatness from the prerogatives of blood and birth. America for all men, with equal rights, equal opportuni ties, and equal inducements; but even here, ignorance is the slave of intelligence:

Let I know she was a flirt

By the jaunty airs she put on

As she swung her 'tilting skirt.' THE WRONG SIDE.—A minister of a western village, found, one Sabbath, a notice, which had been cut from the Saturday's newspaper, and tective tariff or "protective war:" consequently it required the inducement of high prices to start the ruined furnaces and mills, open the mines afresh, and bring back the labor. But the same slip the advertisement of a certain shoe-many factors and the domain of the difference of the same slip the advertisement of a certain shoe-many factors. prosperity follows high prices, and the demand dealer, a prominent member of his church, and for the products of labor increases. Want of competition then keeps up these prices; but, as the advertisement met his eye, the good man compension then keeps up these prices; out, as the domestic manufacturer is the great purchaser of our agricultural productions, the denand for these increases in the same ratio, and the values, though high, become equal.

A Model Grammar School .- "Did you r study grammar?" "1 did, sir." "What case is Mr. B——?"
"He's an objective case."

"How so?" "Because he objected to pay his subscription, hat's been owing over three years and a half."
"Right. What's a noun?" "Don't know, but I know what a renoun is."

"Well, what is it?" "Running off without paying the printer, and getting on the black list as a delinquent." "Good. What is a conjunction? "A method of collecting outstanding subscriptions in conjunction with the constable, never employed by printers until the last extremity."

"That's right. Go to your seat and quit shocting paper wads at the girls." THE WAY TO AVOID CALUMYY .- "If any one speaks ill of thee," said Epictecus, "consider whether he hath truth on his side; and if so, reform thyself, that his censures may not affect thee." When Anaximander was told that the very boys laughed at his singing, "Ay," said he, then I must learn to sing better." ing told that he had many enemics who spoke ill of him, said: "It is no matter; I will live so that none shall believe them." Hearing at an other time that an intimate friend of his, had spoken detractingly of him, he said: "I am sure he would not do it if he had not some reasor for it." This is the surest as well as the noble. way of drawing the sting out of reproach, and the true method of preparing a man for that great and only relief against the pains of calum-

HARD ON WARREN COUNTY .- The Jersey City Times tells a story of an old lady in Webster; Mass., who upon having gas pipes introduced to her residence, artlessly inquired how often the must put in new wicks; and then proceeds to say: "This is not quite as good as the story of the member of our Legislature, two or three years since, from Warren county. He sat for a long time, the first evening the gas was lighted for an evening session, admiring the great chan-delier in the Assembly chamber, and then said wonderingly to his next neighbor, "Well, that's a cute contrivance, but how in thunder do they get the ile into the darned thing?"

An invalid once sent for a physician, and after detaining him for some time with a description of his pains, aches, etc., he thus summed up. "Now doctor, you have humsummed up. "Now doctor, you have hum-bugged me too long with your good-for-nothing pills and worthless syrups; they don't touch the real difficulty. I wish you now to strike at the cause of my ailments, if it is in your power to reach it." "It shall be done," said he doctor, at the same time lifting his cane and demolishing a decanter of gin that stood on the side-board.

An old clergyman, one Sunday, at the close of the sermon, gave notice to the congre-gation that in the course of the week he expectd to go on a mission to the heathen. One of is parishioners, in great agitation, exclaimed, "Why, my dear sir, you have never told us one word of this before. What shall we do?" "Oh, brother," said the minister, "I don't expect to go out of town." "Mamma," said a little fellow, whose nother had forbidden him to draw horses and
