WHAT IS TO BE DONE NOW?

The second campaign of the rebellion has been closed. The first was conducted under the supposed administration of Jeff. Davis, with Gen. Lee as the leader of his army, and ended in the surrender in April, 1865.

Now that the game of the Democrats has failed, the mask is thrown aside. President Johnson, having failed to help them to power, is unhesitatingly repudiated, and all pretense of supporting him is discarded.

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

The Chicago Times, which has been for years the most zealous and unscrupulous organ of the Democratic party in the country, now urges that party to insist upon "impartial suffrage," which means negro suffrage in the Southern States.

The Democratic party has always sacrificed all public interests and measures to its own ends—that it judged all policies and all principles by their bearing upon that specific end.
